United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator D'Amato:

As a resident of the State of New York, I want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's nomination to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a Federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her appointment is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate 100 years of the United States presence in Puerto Rico.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

As a resident of the State of New York, I want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's nomination to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a Federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her appointment is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate 100 years of the United States presence in Puerto Rico.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I write to you in support of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's appointment to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Judge Sotomayor's credentials are very impressive. After an exemplary academic career, she excelled as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. Her nomination was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 15, 1998, yet her nomination has been awaiting confirmation by the Senate since. Ironically, while her nomination awaits confirmation, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The delay in the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor, a role model for women and for our Hispanic community, is incomprehensible and an outrage.

As we approach the celebration of 100 years of our United States-Puerto Rico relation, I hope that Judge Sotomayor's nomination will be given the priority that it deserves. As such, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998.

I write to you in support of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's appointment to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Judge Sotomayor's credentials are very impressive. After an exemplary academic career, she excelled as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In recognition of her achievements, she was appointed to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York by President Bush in 1992, thus making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a Federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relation Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

In June of 1997, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Her nomination was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 15, 1998, yet her nomination has been awaiting confirmation by the Senate since. Ironically, while her nomination awaits confirmation, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The delay in the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor, a role model for women and for our Hispanic community, is incomprehensible and an outrage.

As we approach the celebration of 100 years of our United States-Puerto Rico relation, I hope that Judge Sotomayor's nomination will be given the priority that it deserves. As such, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

As a resident of the State of New York, I want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's nomination to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a Federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her appointment is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate 100 years of the United States presence in Puerto Rico.

However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her appointment is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate 100 years of the United States presence in Puerto Rico.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

As a resident of the State of New York, I want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's nomination to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a Federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a Federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her appointment is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate 100 years of the United States presence in Puerto Rico.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I write to you in support of the elevation of Judge Sonia Sotomayor to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Judge Sotomayor's credentials are very impressive. After an exemplary academic career, she excelled as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In recognition of her achievements, she was appointed to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York by President Bush in 1992, thus making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

On June of 1997, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Her nomination was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 15, 1998, yet her nomination has been awaiting confirmation by the Senate since. Ironically, while her nomination awaits confirmation by the Senate, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The delay in the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor, a role model for women and for our Hispanic community, is incomprehensible and an outrage.

As we approach the celebration of the 100 years of United States-Puerto Rico relationship, I hope that Judge Sotomayor's nomination will be given the priority that it deserves. As such, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I write to you in support of the elevation of Judge Sonia Sotomayor to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Judge Sotomayor's credentials are very impressive. After an exemplary academic career, she excelled as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In recognition of her achievements, she was appointed to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York by President Bush in 1992, thus making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

On June of 1997, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Her nomination was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 15, 1998, yet her nomination has been awaiting confirmation by the Senate since. Ironically, while her nomination awaits confirmation by the Senate, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The delay in the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor, a role model for women and for our Hispanic community, is incomprehensible and an outrage.

As we approach the celebration of the 100 years of United States-Puerto Rico relationship, I hope that Judge Sotomayor's nomination will be given the priority that it deserves. As such, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I am a citizen of the State of New York and I write to you in support of the nomination of Judge Sonia to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. I also want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sotomayor's nomination.

Judge Sotomayor's academic and professional careers have been truly exceptional. After a successful career both in public and private practice, she became the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental U.S., when President Bush appointed her to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York.

One year ago, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. On March 15 of this year, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a 16-2 vote. Unfortunately, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation, even though the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The fact that the nomination of a qualified, well-respected and admired Hispanic woman has not been moved for confirmation by the Senate makes a mockery of the legislative branch of government.

While I applaud your commitment toward Judge Sotomayor's nomination, I urge you to call on your colleagues for a more expedited process. I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, particularly since that day we celebrate the 100 years of Puerto Rico-United States relation.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

As a citizen of the State of New York, I want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's nomination to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is a particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her elevation is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate the 100 years relation between Puerto Rico and the United States.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I write to you in support of the elevation of Judge Sonia Sotomayor to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Judge Sotomayor's credentials are very impressive. After an exemplary academic career, she excelled as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In recognition of her achievements, she was appointed to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York by President Bush in 1992, thus making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

On June of 1997, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Her nomination was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 15, 1998, yet her nomination has been awaiting confirmation by the Senate since. Ironically, while her nomination awaits confirmation by the Senate, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The delay in the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor, a role model for women and for our Hispanic community, is incomprehensible and an outrage.

As we approach the celebration of the 100 years of United States-Puerto Rico relationship, I hope that Judge Sotomayor's nomination will be given the priority that it deserves. As such, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I write to you in support of the elevation of Judge Sonia Sotomayor to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Judge Sotomayor's credentials are very impressive. After an exemplary academic career, she excelled as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In recognition of her achievements, she was appointed to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York by President Bush in 1992, thus making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

On June of 1997, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Her nomination was approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee on March 15, 1998, yet her nomination has been awaiting confirmation by the Senate since. Ironically, while her nomination awaits confirmation by the Senate, the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is a particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

Dear Senator D'Amato:

I am a citizen of the State of New York and I write to you in support of the nomination of Judge Sonia to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. I also want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sotomayor's nomination.

Judge Sotomayor's academic and professional careers have been truly exceptional. After a successful career both in public and private practice, she became the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental U.S., when President Bush appointed her to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York.

One year ago, Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. On March 15 of this year, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a 16-2 vote. Unfortunately, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation, even though the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit has been declared to be in a judicial emergency. The fact that the nomination of a qualified, well-respected and admired Hispanic woman has not been moved for confirmation by the Senate makes a mockery of the legislative branch of government.

While I applaud your commitment toward Judge Sotomayor's nomination, I urge you to call on your colleagues for a more expedited process. I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, particularly since that day we celebrate the 100 years of Puerto Rico-United States relation.

United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator D'Amato:

As a citizen of the State of New York, I want to thank you for your support and effort on behalf of Judge Sonia Sotomayor's nomination to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

After an exceptional academic career, Judge Sotomayor worked as a prosecutor in Manhattan and then as a litigation partner with the firm of Pavia and Harcourt. In 1992, President George Bush appointed Judge Sotomayor to the United States Court for the Southern District of New York, making her the first Puerto Rican woman to serve in a federal court in the continental United States. Judge Sotomayor has distinguished herself and has developed a brilliant record, as exemplified by her handling of the National Labor Relations Board baseball strike injunction case in 1995.

Judge Sotomayor was nominated by President Clinton for the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit on June of 1997. On March 15, 1998, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved her nomination by a margin of 16-2 votes. However, despite her exceptional qualifications and for reasons not yet clear, the Senate has failed to move her nomination for confirmation. This is a particularly disturbing given the current judicial emergency that exists in the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit.

For all these reasons and because her elevation is of historic importance to the Hispanic community, I look forward to the confirmation of Judge Sotomayor by no later than July 25, 1998, the day we commemorate the 100 years relation between Puerto Rico and the United States.
