Just wanted to make sure you were aware that we did submit three scheduling requests for the President to do something for victims rights weeks and they were all turned down. We asked for him to do a ceremony, a photo, and then a video. The VP has agreed to do a photo-op on Friday, April 18th, but it is a closed press event. Also, that day the Attorney General is holding a ceremony at DOJ.

Q&A on the White House Hiring Plan

Question: When will the White House actually begin hiring welfare recipients?

Answer: We hope to begin actual hiring by mid to late May. Before we are ready to hire we must complete position descriptions, put performance measures in place, and receive candidate referrals. Further, once we target those welfare recipients we plan to hire, they will still be subject to the standard short-term and long-term security screening all White House employees must undergo -- all of which take time.

Question: How does the White House plan compare to other agency plans?

Answer: We encouraged every agency to be creative and develop a plan suited to that agency's unique circumstances and needs. I think every agency did just that, resulting in a lot of very good plans. The White House plan is one such very good plan. Specifically, the White House plan is geared toward hiring welfare recipients and, while they are Federal employees, developing work skills that will carry them through a lifetime of employment. Further, the White House plan will offer its new employees and those who are managing them the support and training to help welfare recipients acclimate to their new work environment and remain in their jobs.

The seven welfare recipients the White House has committed to hiring is comparable to other agency hiring targets when compared to the percentage of each agency's workforce. For example, the Department of Transportation has committed to hiring 206 welfare recipients, the GSA 65 and DoD 1,605--but each is hiring approximately the same percent of its total Federal workforce.

Question: Did you work with Marriot to develop your plan and how does the White House plan compare to Marriot's hiring plan?

Answer: We talked to many people while developing our plan, including representatives from Marriot as well as three local social service agencies including that in the district of Columbia. Like Marriot's plan, which has been touted as a terrific private sector plan, the White House plan will offer job readiness, on-the-job training geared toward skills development, and the supports necessary to help keep former welfare recipients in their jobs.

Question: What type of jobs will the White House actually fill?

Answer: We are currently ready to recruit for seven existing positions, and we expect to target more positions over the coming months. Right now, we expect 1 welfare recipient to work for the Domestic Policy Council doing support work, 3 to work for the Office of Management and Budget primarily as student assistants hired under the student hiring authority (these hires would likely be welfare recipients finishing high school or attending community college and must be at least 18 years old); 1 recipient in the Office of Administration to work in the mail room; 1 recipient in the Office Correspondence performing clerical work; and 1 in the office of Public Liaison, also to perform clerical work.

Question: How did the White House decide which offices would hire welfare recipients?

Answer: All of the White House offices surveyed where they have available and suitable positions and which offices would be able to provide the best support mechanisms to help the employees succeed at their jobs. The above offices have both available positions and staff to offer supervision and support.

CLINTON ADMINISTRATION EFFORTS TO SUPPORT THE DEVELOPMENT OF AMERICA'S YOUNGEST CHILDREN

"Learning begins in the first days of life. Scientists are now discovering how young children develop emotionally and intellectually from their very first days, and how important it is for parents to begin immediately talking, singing, even reading to their infants.... We already know we should start teaching children before they start school."

-- President Bill Clinton, State of the Union Address, February 4, 1997

Preparing our children for the 21st century is among our most important national priorities. Over the past few years, scientific research has demonstrated that the earliest years of life -- before children reach school age -- are critical to their cognitive, emotional, and physical development. President Clinton is meeting the challenge to improve those years by investing in research, supporting parents and caregivers, and strengthening programs that provide early intervention to disadvantaged families.

Increased participation in Head Start, created Early Head Start for 0-3 year olds, and improved program quality. For more than thirty years, Head Start has been one of our nation's best investments. By ensuring that low-income children start school ready to learn, Head Start can pay for itself. For that reason, President Clinton has made expanding and improving Head Start a priority of his Administration. Over the past four years, funding for the program has increased by 43%, and in fiscal year 1997 Head Start will serve 800,000 low-income children four years old and younger. Initiated in 1994, there are now 142 Early Head Start programs across the country, expanding the proven benefits of Head Start to low-income families with children under three. Over the last three years, the Clinton Administration has also invested significantly in improving program quality, providing local programs with the resources they need to attract and retain high quality teachers and ensuring the safety of Head Start centers. The President's 1998 budget proposal provides a $324 million increase in Head Start's budget so that it will remain on course to serve 1 million children by 2002.

Increased participation in WIC program. WIC Supplemental Nutrition Program provides nutrition packages, nutrition education, and health referrals to low-income pregnant women, infants, and children. Over the past four years participation has expanded by 1.7 million from 5.7 to 7.4 million women, infants, and children. The increase in the President's budget proposal fulfills his commitment to achieving full participation in WIC by the end of 1998. Research shows that WIC prenatal services save Medicaid much more than they cost by reducing health care expenses in the first 60 days after birth.

Raised Childhood Immunization Rates to an All-Time High. The President's Childhood

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

Immunization Initiative focuses on five areas: 1)improving the quality and quantity of vaccination delivery services; 2) reducing vaccine costs for parents; 3)increasing community participation, education and partnerships; 4)improving systems to monitor diseases and vaccinations; and 5) improving vaccines and vaccine use. This initiative has achieved notable success: in 1995, seventy-five percent of two-year olds were fully immunized -- an historic high. Funding for childhood immunization has doubled since fiscal year 1993.

Improved Support for Infants and Toddlers with Special Needs. Under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), the Infants and Families Program supports the continuing efforts of States to implement high quality statewide early intervention services for infants and toddlers with disabilities. Over the past four years, funding for the program has increased by 48% or $102.5 million. During the same period, the number of children served increased by 21.5 percent. An estimated 191,000 children will be served in fiscal year 1998.

Enhanced Family Literacy Program. Even Start Family Literacy is a family-focused grant program to improve the educational opportunities for children and their parents in low-income areas by integrating family literacy activities, including early childhood education, adult education, and parenting education. Since 1993, funding for Even Start has increased by over 40% to support programs in every state and the District of Columbia.

Improved Child Care in Public Housing. The Early Childhood Development Program helps to provide quality child care for families living in public housing communities, as well as families who are homeless or at risk of becoming so. The program allows parents or guardians who live in public housing to get and keep jobs by ensuring that their children are cared for. In 1996, $21 million was awarded to public housing sites across the country -- three times more than in 1994.

Providing Funding for Parent Resource Centers in 42 States. In addition to involving parents in the development of state and local education plans, the President's Goals 2000 program provides funding to establish parent resource centers that help parents learn how to help their children meet high standards. The centers provide training, distribute resource materials, and support a variety of programs that strengthen family involvement in education. In fiscal year 1997, funding is available for support centers in 42 states, 14 more than in 1996.

Promoting Parents as First Teachers. The President's America Reads Challenge, a campaign to ensure that every child can read well by the end of the third grade, includes Parents as First Teachers Challenge Grants to fund proven local, regional and national programs that provide assistance to parents to help their children become successful readers. The grants can be used to expand successful programs such as the Home Instruction Program for Preschool Youngsters (HIPPY) and the Parents as First Teachers (PAT) program. They will also fund national and regional networks to share information on how parents can help children to read.

Supported Over 90% of all Children's Research. In fiscal year 1995, the federal government spent an estimated $2 billion on research and development directly related to children and youth.

Spending at The National Institutes of Health (NIH) alone increased 25% between 1993 and 1997. This research has contributed to the recent advances in understanding early learning and language development.

Maintained the Commitment to the Medicaid Guarantee for 10 Million Children Under 6

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

Years Old. This Administration has protected and, preserved -- and now will improve on -- the guarantee of Medicaid coverage for 36 million Americans, including 9 million children under the age of 6. In 1995, the President vetoed the Republican Medicaid block grant proposal that would have ended the guarantee of coverage for up to 4 million children by 2002. At the same time, the President worked with states by granting 15 comprehensive Medicaid waivers and approving many more state plan amendments that improve and expand coverage for children.

Seeks to Extend Health Coverage to Up to 5 Million Children. Although this Administration has made great strides in protecting the health of America's neediest children, there is still much to be done. In 1995, more than 10 million American children, 80% of whom have working parents, had no health insurance. The President's budget takes three important steps to address the problem of children who lack health insurance coverage:

- 1) Provides annual grants to states to cover health insurance premiums for families of workers who are in-between jobs;
- 2) Utilizes state partnership grants to help working families who are not eligible for Medicaid to purchase private insurance for their children; and
- 3) Expands Medicaid coverage by allowing states to continue Medicaid coverage for up to one year even if family income changes, intensifying outreach to children who are currently eligible but not enrolled, and continuing current law expansions of coverage to reach poor children between the ages of 13 and 18.

Increased Child Care Funding. Since 1993 federal funding for child care has increased by 22%, providing quality services for over 660,000 children of whom 65% are under 5 years of age. The newly established Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) has made available $2.9 billion to states. This new program, authorized by the new welfare law, will assist low-income families and those coming off welfare to obtain child care so they can work or attend school.

Eliminating Childhood Lead Poisoning. The Administration has launched a major new effort to eliminate childhood lead poisoning. The campaign includes notification and disclosure to parents who buy or lease older homes so that they get the information they need to protect their children, grants to states to control lead-based paint hazards in low-income privately-owned dwellings, development of a consensus on lead safety standards, and technical assistance to ensure that lead hazard control work is done safely and efficiently.

Reno
Browner or her designee
Glickman
Shalala
Varmus
Duane Alexander
Henry Foster
Riley
Rasco
Secy Cohen (we plan to add a DOD military parent to second panel)
Carolyn Becraft

I would bet both Varmus and Alexander would only be interested in panel 1 and lunch. Their slots could be filled by Joan Lombardi or another HHS person (Rosewater?) or Wofford.

Are you okay with this? You and Bruce may get an earful from certain people at HHS and elsewhere.

Kris, Carrie Filak has list of interagency task force members if you want it for the possible reception.

Our legislaition covers "child care facilities licensed under State law." That excludes many types of child care arrangements (e.g. church-based centers exempt from license requirements in some states; relative care; etc.). OPM has heard complaints about this provision in the legislation, and doesn't want to be as narrow in this directive, but I don't want to move off legislative proposal. I suggest we just say "child care" in the memo from POTUS w/out elaborating. If asked how we're defining (I doubt w e'll be asked), we can state that the agencies will have flexibility and OPM will provide guidance. Does that make sense?

TALKING POINTS ON THE PRESIDENTS' SUMMIT FOR SERVICE AND THE CLINTON'S ADMINISTRATION'S COMMITMENT TO CITIZEN SERVICE

Thursday, April 10, 1997

"The era of big government may be over, but the era of big challenges for our nation is surely not. Citizen service is the main way we recognize that we are responsible for one another. It is the very American idea that we meet our challenges not through heavy-handed government or as isolated individuals, but as members of a true community, with all of us working together."

-- President William J. Clinton, April 5, 1997

Service as a path to good citizenship. The President believes that citizen service is not only an effective answer to a community's problems, it is also an important part of every young person's civic education -- their sense of responsibility for themselves, our community, and our nation. Those who serve gain a greater understanding of their communities and neighbors. In many ways, they learn what it truly means to be an American.

Engaging young people in service through AmeriCorps. While today's challenges require something of all of us, it is especially important that young people take leading roles in shaping their own futures, and gain the sense of citizenship that service helps to provide. That is why the President created AmeriCorps. It is also an important reason for the Service Summit's focus on young people.

AmeriCorps: the basic bargain of opportunity and responsibility. The President often says that one of his proudest moments was creating the Corporation for National Service and AmeriCorps. During the last three years, 50,000 young AmeriCorps participants have earned college tuition by serving their communities, with the basic bargain of getting the opportunity to go to college in return for giving something back to their friends and neighbors.

AmeriCorps: reviving the spirit of service in America. The success of AmeriCorps shows that service can help to meet our most pressing social needs, from renewing our cities to protecting our environment, from immunizing poor children to giving them mentors and someone to look up to. That service often leads to more service -- a typical AmeriCorps member trains or recruits a dozen or more community volunteers. AmeriCorps -- and even larger numbers of Senior Service Corps and student volunteers -- have helped revive the spirit of service in America.

The Presidents' Summit: mobilizing citizen power. From April 27-29, in Independence Hall in Philadelphia, President Clinton and President Bush will convene the first Presidents' Summit On Citizen Service, with the support and leadership of the Corporation For National Service and AmeriCorps, the Points Of Light Foundation, Summit Chairman General Colin Powell and Vice Chairs Henry Cisneros and Lynda Robb. The Summit's goal, like that of AmeriCorps, is to mobilize America's citizen power into a united effort to solve our common problems -- especially those that threaten our young people.

Participation from all sectors of society. Leaders from a broad spectrum will come to the Summit with commitments in hand, concrete pledges of support and volunteers to solve their local problems. In preparation for the summit some of our most prominent corporations and service organizations have already stepped forward.

An unprecedented bipartisan Summit. Every living former President will attend or send a representative. We hope this will serve as an example that there are common national values that unite us all. The idea of service is such a value.

A special focus on children, to help prepare them for the 21st Century. No task facing is more crucial than preparing our children for the future. To do that, we must help our children and families overcome the challenges of society today: the burdens of illiteracy and poor health, the lure of tobacco, alcohol and drugs; the need to acquire the tools to succeed in a global economy. That is why the Summit will have a special emphasis on service aimed at America's children.

In preparation for the Summit, the President has already:

- Announced a new National Week of Service (April 14-20), with AmeriCorps and Peace Corps alumni engaging young people in service across the country;
- Called on all states to make service a part of high school and middle school education;
- Launched his National Service Scholarships, offering $1,000 scholarships (half provided by the government, half by local civic groups and businesses) to help students who perform outstanding service pay for college;
- Highlighted a recent Brandeis study that shows that when you begin to serve at a young age, schoolwork improves and there is a good chance you will keep serving in years to come.

In the coming weeks before the Summit, the President will:

- Recognize service and volunteers working for children at the White House Early Childhood Conference on April 17;
- Recognize service, volunteers, and public-private partnerships on Net Day, on April 19;
- Play major role at the Presidents' Service Summit in Philadelphia, which he will attend from April 27-28. (The Vice President, the First Lady, and Mrs. Gore will also attend.)

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: Melanne Verveer
Elena Kagan

RE: White House Conference on Early Childhood Development and Learning

As you know, on Thursday, April 17, you and the First Lady will host the White House Conference on Early Childhood Development and Learning: What New Research on the Brain Tells Us About Our Youngest Children. The purpose of this memorandum is to provide for you an overview of the Conference and the series of events leading up to it, as well as the likely policy announcements to be unveiled at the Conference, pending your approval.

Conference Overview

The Conference will spotlight the exciting new findings about how our children develop, and explore how we can make the most of this information to give our children what they need to thrive. Central to the Conference will be a discussion of your Administration's accomplishments in this area, such as significant investments in research and programs such as Early Head Start and WIC.

The Conference will be divided into two parts -- a morning session and an afternoon session, each of which will follow the format of a roundtable discussion.

Morning Session

You and the First Lady will make remarks to open the Conference, outlining why this Conference and the issues it will underscore are important. This will also be the opportunity for you to make a policy announcement on child care, outlined below. In this session, you will be joined on a panel by experts who will present an overview of the emerging knowledge on early childhood development in neuroscience and behavioral science. Dr. David Hamburg, President, Carnegie Corporation of New York will help to facilitate the brief presentations of the first three speakers, listed below.

Dr. Donald Cohen, Director of the Yale Child Study Center, will discuss how children's behavior helps us understand their cognitive, emotional and social development.

Dr. Carla Shatz, Neuroscientist at University of California, Berkeley, will explain how children's brains grow and develop in the earliest years of life.

Dr. Patricia Kuhl, Chair of the Department of Speech and Hearing Sciences at the University of Washington, will discuss how children learn language.

Following these presentations, the experts listed below will join the panel and respond to questions generated by a poll conducted by Hart Research for Zero to Three (an advocacy and umbrella early development organization), as well as to questions posed by you and the First Lady (e.g. "does this research suggest that it would be better if women did not work?" or "does this research suggest that adopting an older child is a bad idea?").

Dr. Ezra Davidson, Drew University of Medicine, can address the importance of prenatal and perinatal services.

Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, Harvard University, can discuss the pediatrician's role in early childhood development.

Dr. Deborah Phillips, Institute of Medicine, can address how child care can affect early development.

Luncheon

The luncheon in the State Dining Room will be optional on your schedule, and is intended for informal discussion among the Conference participants.

Afternoon Session

The purpose of the afternoon session is to highlight model efforts that communities are undertaking to support parents and enhance early childhood development. We intend for this panel to be action-oriented, so that you would highlight your Administration's policy achievements and new initiatives during the course of the panel discussion. The discussion participants include:

Dr. Gloria Rodriguez, Avance Family Support Program, San Antonio, TX
Avance is a widely acclaimed family support and education program serving predominantly Hispanic communities.

Harriet Meyer, Ounce of Prevention, Chicago, IL
Ounce of Prevention is a statewide program in Illinois that develops and tests innovative early childhood development programs for replication and runs model Early Head Start and child care programs.

Melvin Wearing, Chief of Police, New Haven, CT

Will talk about a pioneering initiative that trains community police officers to use child development principles in their work.

Arnold Langbo, The Kellogg Company CEO, Battle Creek, MI
Kellogg launched a community-wide effort last fall to provide practical early brain development information to every Battle Creek parent and caregiver.

Rob Reiner, CastleRock Entertainment
Los Angeles, CA
Will talk about the "I Am Your Child" campaign launched this month and the media's role in making early childhood development information available.

Respondents:

Governor Bob Miller, Nevada, Co-chair of the NGA Children's Task Force
TBD Republican Governor

Lead Up to the Conference

The lead up to the Conference may well be our best opportunity to frame the discussion on why issues relating to children's early development are important and why your Administration has invested so heavily to enhance those years of life.

Your radio address on Saturday 4/12 (which you are scheduled to tape on Friday, 4/11) will be an important opportunity for you to introduce the themes of the Conference. On Monday, 4/14, the First Lady will host a roundtable with reporters, in which she will build on your radio address and underscore the themes of the Conference. On Wednesday, 4/16, the First Lady will host an event at the White House to announce an initiative to encourage pediatricians to "prescribe" that parents read to their children, when families visit the doctor. This event will be optional on your schedule, pending activity on the budget.

Policy Announcements

Child Care Proposal

Child care experts believe the Defense Department's child care system is the best in country and possibly also the best in the world. This was not the case as recently as the early 1980s, but legislation enacted in the late 1980s has led to dramatic improvements in DoD's child care and parenting programs. DoD child care is now characterized by: high standards enforced by four unannounced annual inspections and an 1-800 hot line for parents to report concerns; a high percentage of accredited centers; relatively generous wages and benefits that have reduced staff turnover; wages tied to training and an "up or out" personnel policy requiring completion of training requirements; and adequate funding to make quality child care affordable, although there are still waiting lists.

We recommend you hold the DoD child care system up as a model for the nation and issue an executive order at the Conference directing the Secretary of Defense to share the Department's expertise with civilian child care communities by: each military child development center adopting a local civilian child care center to help increase its quality and training; local military bases partnering with state and county governments to provide on-the-job training to welfare recipients in their child care programs; establishing military regional "Child Care Masters Programs" that local civilian child care managers could attend for two to three weeks to learn best practices; publicizing more widely DoD's model designs for child care facilities and playgrounds; and providing DoD's benchmarks for cost, compensation, evaluation, standards against which local child care programs could evaluate themselves. Clearly, most civilian child care systems will come up short against DoD's benchmarks, particularly in terms of salary, benefits and affordability, but a debate on this topic might help build public support for greater investment in child care.

To show that you are serious about the DoD system being a model for civilian child care, the executive order could also direct the GSA to evaluate its child care centers against DoD's model practices and report back to you and recommended actions.

[Elena, based on what I can see, I would not release the RAND report. It does not say it is the greatest thing since sliced bread; it says the Bush Administration legislation has worked to improve the program dramatically. We have not gotten feedback from Joan on these DoD proposals. We are continuing to try to reach Joan.]

America Reads Challenge Early Childhood Kits for Families and Caregivers

You will announce the release of the America Reads Challenge Early Childhood Kits. The kits, named include booklets for families and caregivers suggesting activities for children ages 0 to 5, a calendar listing ideas for daily activities, and a developmental growth chart. The kits will be distributed to early childhood programs and through requests by callers to the Department of Education's 1-800 phone line.

CEO Summit

Kaiser Permanente, whose CEO David Laurence will be in the audience at the Conference, will convene a CEO Summit in the fall of 1997 to discuss what businesses can do to enhance early childhood development -- for their own employees by creating family-friendly workplace practices, for the communities in which they have a presence, and for their own products and services. This effort will be announced at the Conference, with you challenging Kaiser to address at the Summit the themes raised at the White House Conference.

Children's Health Initiative

In your remarks, we recommend that you discuss the importance of insurance coverage for children's health and development, and highlight the Children's Health Initiative in your 1998 budget proposal. In 1995, 10 million children did not have health insurance. Your children's health proposal will extend coverage to up to 5 million of those children by the year 2000. The proposal includes: (1) grants to states to cover workers and their families between jobs; (2) a program to cover children whose families earn too much to qualify for Medicaid but too little to afford private coverage; and (3) efforts to strengthen Medicaid and ensure that all eligible children are enrolled. The deans of academic medical centers will endorse your proposal at the conference.

We are also planning a follow up children's health event, where you will release a study showing the links between insurance coverage, health status and development and learning for children from 0 to 18 years old, talk in more detail about your health proposal, and announce a project by Kaiser Permanente to spend $100 million over the next 5 years to provide health insurance to uninsured children.

President Clinton Acts to Expand Family and Medical Leave
for Federal Employees
April 12, 1997

- Today, President Clinton asked Federal agencies to expand Family and Medical Leave Act benefits for Federal Employees. In September, 1996 President Clinton proposed legislation to expand the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) to allow workers to take unpaid hours off -- up to 24 hours a year -- for child education, older relatives' health needs, and routine family medical purposes. Today President Clinton asked Federal agencies to implement this expanded leave policy immediately for Federal workers.
- Federal workers could schedule up to 24 hours to help care for their children and parents. The President asked agencies to ensure employees can schedule and be granted up to 24 hours of paid or unpaid leave for the following activities:
 - School and early childhood education activities -- to allow employees to participate in school activities directly related to the educational advancement of a child, including educational activities related to child care, Head Start programs, elementary school and secondary school. For example, parents could use leave to attend parent-teacher conferences or meetings with child care providers, or to interview for a new school or child care facility.
 - Routine family medical purposes -- to allow parents to accompany children to routine medical or dental appointments, such as annual checkups or vaccinations.
 - Elderly relatives' health needs -- to allow employees to accompany an elderly relative to routine medical appointments or other professional services related to the care of the elderly relative, such as making arrangements for housing, meals, phones, banking services, and other similar activities.
- The President called on Congress to pass his legislation expanding the Family and Medical Leave Act for all workers. The FMLA currently allows workers to care for a newborn or adopted child, to attend to their own serious health needs, or to care for a seriously ill parent, child, or spouse. The President urged Congress to pass his legislation expanding the FMLA to cover school and early childhood education activities, routine family medical care, and additional activities related to caring for an elderly relative.
- Expanding the Family and Medical Leave Act will help Children ages zero to three...

TEXT:

Here is what I did to try to improve our situation:

1) I decided that I had to tell OMB not to let the amendment go up tomorrow. The Ways and Means Committee said that technical amendments had to be submitted tomorrow, but in talking with DOJ leg types and others, I believe that we can submit it after that, if necessary. And if it is that good a proposal, I am advised that we can submit it as a stand-alone later. The mark-up is not until the 23rd, I believe.

2) This will allow time to set up a meeting with DOJ, SSA, and concerned organizations and individuals to discuss. I have asked Public Liaison, who brought these concerns to my attention this afternoon, to set it up ASAP. It will probably be on Monday. SSA has identified their representatives -- DOJ is trying to figure out who their representatives should be.

3) I got back to several individuals that had called with concerns that the proposal would not go up tomorrow and that they would be contacted shortly to set up a meeting. They are satisfied with this approach.

SSA's concern is that a big story will break soon that SSA is financing the retirement of Nazis.

I am told that DOJ had enforcement concerns about ending benefits that they feel are adequately (although perhaps not completely) addressed in the latest proposal draft. When considered in the context of wanting to end retirement funding for Nazis, they signed off on the language. John Hogan was involved in those discussions and sign-off.

Just how cutting off benefits concretely hurts enforcement has not been clearly explained so far. The predominant theory goes something like this: These are generally elderly -- perhaps feeble -- men who come before a judge for prosecution which could lead to deportation. Early draft proposals apparently would have terminated benefits early in an administrative or judicial process. If the judge knows that the old fellow's income that he needs to live and pay for his defense has been terminated, he is more likely to go easy on him, thinking that that is enough punishment.

This sounds speculative and not very compelling, except that the Jewish organizations that contacted Public Liaison this afternoon and at least one former head of the war crimes prosecution office are adamant that while cutting off benefits for these individuals sounds good on its face, it would be "catastrophic" and "disastrous" for prosecutions. The present head of DOJ's Office of Special Investigations that handles these cases apparently believes that there would be some enforcement implications, even with the language that DOJ has signed off on.

So that is where things stand. If you would like to attend the meeting when it is set up, you would be very welcome. If you do not attend, I probably need to discuss with you how we should proceed to resolve this in the best possible way if this meeting does not settle things. Let me know. And thanks for your help earlier.

I forgot to mention that when I spoke with Janet Forsgren at OMB she said that they needed to circulate the latest language one more time, in any event. It apparently had not been cleared by OMB yet. Because I said that we shouldn't send this up tomorrow to allow time for this meeting, she set the response deadline for 4pm tomorrow. You should receive a copy of the draft with a cover letter to Gingrich this evening or tomorrow morning.

I took the steps that I did because the time was short to handle the situation. I certainly hope that this is all consistent with what you would have done. If there is anything else that I need to do (or to undo) please let me know. thanks

DRAFT -- April 10, 1997

STUDY ON DESEGREGATION TRENDS

Q: This week a group of Harvard researchers released a report that concluded U.S. schools are becoming increasingly resegregated, diminishing gains made since Brown v. Board of Education. The authors blame the Supreme Court, but also fault the Clinton Administration for having a lackluster commitment to integrated education. Is this a fair criticism?

A: I strongly disagree. We have made a historic commitment to improving quality of education for all students, through our strong support for high academic standards for every student, record levels of investment in programs that improve schools and provide extra help to disadvantaged kids, a nationwide call to mobilize a million reading tutors, and vigorous enforcement of the laws that guarantee equal educational opportunity. Moreover, we have strongly enforced laws against discrimination in housing. But beyond that, we are firmly committed to doing everything we can to improve race relations in this country, to bring people together rather than drive them apart.

DATE: APRIL 10, 1997

SUBJECT: LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Today, Senator Graham (R-TX) and Representative McIntosh (R-ID) introduced another balanced budget bill. Their plan has a net tax reduction of $100 billion, saves $100 billion in Medicare, saves $32 billion in Medicaid, and uses OMB assumptions in some instances. The bill calls for higher cuts in discretionary spending than any other balanced budget bill, including Senator Domenici's plan.

CONGRESS TODAY (4/10):

SENATE

The Senate continued consideration of S. 104, the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1997

[SAP sent, 4/7: The President would veto the bill. A package of letters from DOE, EPA, and CEQ were sent to the Hill, 4/9.]

While under consideration, the Senate took up the following amendments: Tabled (72-24) the Reid/Bryan 2nd Degree Amendment to the Thurmond amendment to the Murkowski Substitute Amendment, which would have required express consent from the Governor of a State in order to ship nuclear waste across state lines.

Adopted (60-33) a Frist/Thompson amendment to the Murkowski amendment, to provide that Tennessee's site shall not be available for construction of an interim storage facility.

Adopted (voice vote) Thurmond/Hollings amendment to the Murkowski amendment, to provide that South Carolina's site shall not be available for construction of an interim storage facility.

Tabled (24-69) Bumpers amendment to the Murkowski Substitute, which would have added language saying DOE would not be at fault if the January 31, 1998 deadline to deposit nuclear waste is not met.

Tabled (56-36) Bingaman amendment to the Murkowski Substitute, which would strike the exemptions for Tennessee, South Carolina, and Washington.

On Thursday night, the Senate reached a UC agreement for consideration of the bill: On Monday, April 14th, the Senate will consider the following amendments, with debate limited to one hour each. On Tuesday, April 15th, the Senate will hold stacked votes on the amendments and on final passage of the bill:

Education and Justice finally have agreement on language. These talking points went to the Press Office this morning. Education is sending a clarifying letter to Texas State Sen. Ellis today and is meeting with Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchinson today as well.

As was stated by the Justice Department in its amicus brief before the Supreme Court urging review of Hopwood, the Fifth Circuit panel held that educational institutions in the Fifth Circuit may not consider the race of applicants as a relevant factor in making its admission decisions.

The Administration believes that case was wrongly decided and in direct conflict with the Supreme Court's decision in Bakke. However, it is the position of the United States that, absent further judicial developments, Hopwood is binding law in the Fifth Circuit. [In an appropriate case, DoJ would urge the Fifth Circuit as a whole or the Supreme Court to overturn the panel's decision].

Outside the Fifth Circuit, we continue to believe that it is permissible for an educational institution to consider race in an appropriate manner in its admissions process, consistent with the Bakke decision.

Q: A letter sent by the Department of Education to a Texas legislator seems to indicate that Fifth Circuit schools are at risk of losing federal funds from the Department of Education for complying with Hopwood. Is this the case?

No. There has been some confusion on this issue based on mischaracterizations of Education's letter. To clarify: Educational institutions in the Fifth Circuit are not at risk of losing federal funds for complying with Hopwood. Nor has the federal government encouraged or required any institution in the Fifth Circuit receiving federal funds to engage in race-conscious affirmative action that is inconsistent with the prohibitions in Hopwood. Education has repeatedly made these points in the past few days to clarify any confusion.

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON EARLY CHILDHOOD DEVELOPMENT AND LEARNING:
WHAT NEW RESEARCH ON THE BRAIN TELLS US ABOUT OUR YOUNGEST CHILDREN

Automated Records Management System

Hex-Dump Conversion

"Learning begins in the first days of life. Scientists are now discovering how young children develop emotionally and intellectually from their very first days, and how important it is for parents to begin immediately talking, singing, even reading to their infants....We already know we should start teaching children before they start school."

--President Bill Clinton, State of the Union Address, February 4, 1997

On April 17, the President and First Lady will host The White House Conference on Early Childhood Development and Learning: What New Research on the Brain Tells Us About Our Youngest Children. The day-long conference will highlight new scientific findings on brain development in very young children and point to the importance of children's earliest experiences in helping them get off to a strong and healthy start.

Applying New Findings on Brain Development in the Earliest Years. New scientific research shows that experiences after birth -- particularly in the first three years of life -- have a dramatic impact on brain development. That means that nurturing, talking to, singing to and reading to our youngest children will improve their ability to learn and develop throughout their lives. The White House Conference will focus on the practical applications of the latest scientific research on the brain, particularly for parents and caregivers. The conference will also be a call to action to all members of society -- including the health, business, media and faith communities, child care providers and government -- to use this information to strengthen America's families.

Clinton Administration Commitment to Young Children. This conference builds on the Clinton Administration's investment in children and families. The Administration has invested heavily in research to help us better understand the importance of the first few years of life to child development and learning. Between 1993 and 1997, funding for NIH children's research increased 25%, from $1.3 billion to $1.6 billion.

President Clinton has also strengthened efforts to support families with young children. To take just a few examples, the Administration raised funding for Head Start -- providing low-income children and their families with comprehensive education, health services, and nutrition -- by 43% over the last four years and created the Early Head Start program to support families with children ages zero to three. The President's FY 1998 Budget further increases participation to reach 122,000 more children in FY 1998 than when he took office. The Administration also dramatically increased participation in the WIC Supplemental Nutrition Program, providing 7.4 million pregnant women, infants, and children with nutrition packages and information and health referrals -- 1.7 million more than when President Clinton took office. And his FY 1998 Budget would achieve his goal of full participation in the WIC program by the end of FY 1998.

Conference Program and Participants. During the morning session of the conference, leading researchers and child development experts will discuss the new research and what it means for parents and caregivers. The panelists for this session are: Dr. David Hamburg, Carnegie Corporation of New York (moderator); Dr. Carla Shatz, University of California, Berkeley; Dr. Donald Cohen, Yale Child Study Center; Dr. Patricia Kuhl, University of Washington; Dr. Ezra Davidson, Drew University of Medicine, Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, Harvard University; and Dr. Deborah Phillips, National Research Council. The afternoon session will highlight model community efforts to support parents and enhance early childhood development. The panelists include: Avance Family Support and Education Program, San Antonio, TX; the CEO and Chairman of the Board, The Kellogg Company, Battle Creek Michigan; and Ounce of Prevention, Chicago, IL.

Broad Participation Across the Country. The morning session of the conference will be broadcast by satellite to over 50 locations across the country. The satellite conferences will be co-hosted by regional federal agencies, local officials, and children's and other organizations.

President Clinton Acts to
Expand Family and Medical Leave
April 12, 1997

--- DRAFT---

- Next week's White House Conference on Early Childhood Development and Learning: What New Research on The Brain Tells Us About Our Youngest Children will explore new information that shows the importance of the first few years of life. It will underscore the need to ensure that parents who work outside the home can take some time off to make sure that their young children get the routine medical care they need, to find nurturing child care, and to participate in their children's education.

- To assist families in meeting the needs of young children and other family members, the President called on Congress to pass legislation expanding the Family and Medical Leave Act.
The FMLA currently allows workers to take up to 12 weeks unpaid leave to care for a newborn or adopted child, to attend to their own serious health needs, or to care for a seriously ill parent, child, or spouse. In June, 1996 President Clinton proposed to expand the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) to allow workers to take unpaid hours off -- up to 24 hours a year -- for school and early childhood education activities, routine family medical care, and additional activities related to caring for an elderly relative.

- Today President Clinton asked Federal agencies to implement his expanded leave policy immediately for Federal workers. The President asked agencies to ensure employees can schedule and be granted up to 24 hours of unpaid leave for the following activities:
 - School and early childhood education activities -- to allow employees to participate in school activities directly related to the educational advancement of a child, including educational activities related to child care, Head Start programs, elementary school and secondary school. Parental involvement in a child's education is an important determinant of the child's success. Parents could use leave to attend parent-teacher conferences or meetings with child care providers, or to interview for a new school or child care facility.
 - Routine family medical purposes -- to allow parents to accompany children to routine medical or dental appointments, such as annual checkups or vaccinations.
 - Elderly relatives' health and care needs -- to allow employees to accompany an elderly relative to routine medical appointments or other professional services related to the care of the elderly relative, such as making arrangements for housing, meals, phones, banking services, and other similar activities.

- The Family and Medical Leave Act Works. The bipartisan Commission on Leave reported last year that more than 12 million American workers have taken leave for reasons covered by the FMLA since its enactment in 1993, and 40% of businesses covered by the law find that it's easy to administer and that it costs them little or nothing.

- The Clinton Administration is Building a Family Friendly Federal Workplace.
 - In 1994 the President signed the Federal Employees Family Friendly Leave Act allowing employees to use sick leave for routine medical appointments for family members.
 - Federal employers have authority now to approve employees' requests for time off for school activities, routine medical visits, and elder care. Today, the President asked the Federal agencies to ensure all federal employees have up to 24 hours of unpaid time off for these activities. and to honor employees' requests to use paid time of for these purposes.
 - Federal agencies are working with the Vice President's National Performance Review to further family friendly work arrangements.

Is it true that the FMLA extension will allow a parent to use the time off to find quality child care for the child? We always said it was for a regularly scheduled doctor's appointment, or for a parent teacher conference. This suggests that you could use it to shop around for day care, etc.

Just hooked up with him to get his advice on summit speech. He said he thought we are being way too timid in general these days, saying "what have we got to lose," and pointed to the radio address not calling for the Maryland graduate requirement to go nation-wide as an example. He said that, instead of searching for another minor executive action for the summit speech, we should consider building on and expanding something big that we have already announced -- i.e., talking about next steps on America Reads, which is in danger of disappearing from public view.

President Clinton Acts to Expand Family and Medical Leave
April 12, 1997

To assist families in meeting the needs of young children and other family members, the President called on Congress to pass legislation expanding the Family and Medical Leave Act. The FMLA currently allows workers to take up to 12 weeks unpaid leave to care for a newborn or adopted child, to attend to their own serious health needs, or to care for a seriously ill parent, child, or spouse. In June, 1996 President Clinton proposed to expand the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) to allow workers to take unpaid hours off -- up to 24 hours a year -- for school and early childhood education activities, routine family medical care, and additional activities related to caring for an elderly relative.

Today President Clinton asked Federal agencies to implement his expanded leave policy immediately for Federal workers. The President asked agencies to ensure employees can take up to 24 hours of unpaid leave for the following activities:

- School and early childhood education activities -- to allow employees to participate in school activities directly related to the educational advancement of their child, including child care and Head Start activities. Parental involvement in a child's education is an important determinant of the child's success. Parents could use leave to attend parent-teacher conferences or meetings with child care providers, or to interview for a new school or child care facility.
- Routine family medical or dental appointments -- to allow parents to accompany children to routine medical or dental visits, such as annual checkups or vaccinations.
- Elderly relatives' health and care needs -- to allow employees to accompany an elderly relative to routine medical or dental appointments or other professional services related to the elderly relative's care, such as interviewing nursing or group homes.

The Family and Medical Leave Act Works. Based on data in a 1996 report of the bipartisan Commission on Leave, more than 12 million American workers have taken leave for reasons covered by the FMLA since the law's enactment in 1993, and 90% of businesses covered by the law find that it's easy to administer and that it costs them little or nothing.

The Clinton Administration is Building a Family Friendly Federal Workplace.

- In 1994 the President signed the Federal Employees Family Friendly Leave Act allowing employees to use sick leave for routine medical appointments for family members. The President's action today allows employees to take time off for this purpose even when sick leave is unavailable.
- Federal employers have discretion now to approve employees' requests for time off for school activities, routine medical visits, and elder care. Today, the President urged Federal supervisors to exercise their discretion on a routine basis -- to the fullest extent possible -- to give their employees up to 24 hours of unpaid leave for these activities.
