FYI: USDA sent us and OMB paper outlining the options for allowing states to count food stamp toward work wages for families with kids under age 6. Elena, the options are as Bonnie O'Neil laid out to us verbally:

1) Advise states they can use the Simplified Food Stamp option to import TANF rules -- such as work requirements -- into the Food Stamp program for dual eligible individuals. Downside: could alert states that they could adopt TANF's less restrictive worker protections in the food stamp program.

2) Notify states that USDA will grant waivers to exclude able-bodied recipients from food stamp workfare exemptions. Downside: states will have certain reporting requirements because of the "experimental" nature of the waiver (some of these could perhaps be waived);

3) Propose legislation to require able-bodied TANF recipients to participate in workfare. Downside: could encourage Congress to legislate a different solution such as a subminimum wage.

Next steps -- let me know what you think:

1) I will ask OMB to examine which waiver requirements they would feel comfortable exempting so we could see how "painless" we could make the waiver option;

2) I will ask USDA to prepare (if they haven't already) legislative language so we'll have it ready;

3) Then, we will need to choose:

a) We could simply inform states of their options. This will allow us to play the "honest broker" informing states of our interpretation of the law;

b) We could suggest a particular intermediate step for states (either Simplified Program or waiver) and push for legislation as the longer-term solution.

c) We could suggest either Simplified Food or waiver and not push for legislation but share legislative language with others who want to do so.

d) We could suggest either Simplified Food or waiver and not push for legislation but wait and see what happens in the Senate.

Mary Bourdette called me earlier this week to tell me HHS is about to award grants to states to continue or enhance the evaluations of waivers granted under the Clinton Administration. I see no news for us in this, but I have some paper if you want to see it.

TEXT:

Martha Foley said John Hilley is interested in accepting a House Women's Caucus proposal to help win favor for a potential budget deal. The proposal would exempt families with grandparent and other non-parental family caregivers from the TANF work requirements and time limits established by welfare reform. States that did not do so could be penalized up to 5% of their block grant. Additional block grant funds would be provided to states to keep these families on the rolls after the five year time limit.

As you know, the law now allows states to exempt up to 20% of families from the time limits and to choose which families must work to meet the participation rates. In the last Congress, Republicans fought against Democratic efforts to exempt particular categories of people (i.e., elderly, disabled) and pushed for a straight percentage exemption.

We could push for this option to please the Caucus knowing we will not succeed. But I think that's dangerous because other groups (battered women's and disabled advocates) will be mad at us for pushing an exception for grandparents and not others.

TEXT:

On student loans and service, here's the story. There are 4 types of breaks on student loans you can offer people who serve.

1. Income contingency -- We did this in 1993. It says that if you can take a low-paying service job, your loan payments will be only a limited percentage of your income, and ultimately forgiven after 25 years.
2. Loan deferment -- This predates us. It is used when (1) someone wants to take time off during school but doesn't want to have to start paying back loans during that time; or (2) someone finishes school, but argues they have a good reason they don't want to start paying back their loans. You can get a deferment for up to 3 years. You are eligible if you are unemployed, or if it would create an "economic hardship," which includes service. There is no separate service deferment. There used to be, but the system got so complex that it was simplified in 1992.
3. Subsidize all loan deferments for service-- This is our new idea. This means that no interest accumulates on loans during the period of service. We already do this for subsidized loans, which are about 2/3 of the volume, so this would fix unsubsidized loans and make it universal.

The $7 million cost over five years would allow 12,000 borrowers with unsubsidized loans to get this benefit during their deferment. The average benefit would be $600. This estimate assume that no one is induced to serve. If the program cost doubled to $14 million because the subsidized deferment would be more attractive, the number of beneficiaries would increase to 24,000, each receiving $600.

In answer to your question as to whether we could do this for more than one year of service: This cost estimate already assumes that this could be for up to 3 years. The estimate simply reflects historical data on people who request a deferment due to economic hardship for "service-related" reasons, so it is a mix of people requesting 1, 2, and 3 years of deferments. I don't think we would want to go past the 3 year point.

4. Tax Incentives for Student Loan Forgiveness - This is our existing legislative proposal. It says loan forgiveness for service reasons by non-profit charitable or educational institutions should not be taxable.

Loan forgiveness by public institutions is already not taxable if it is for service reasons.

MEDICARE TRUST FUND TALKING POINTS

April 23, 1997

THE UPCOMING MEDICARE REPORT WILL NO DOUBT CONFIRM WHAT THE PRESIDENT HAS CONSISTENTLY STATED -- THAT REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS SHOULD COME TOGETHER AND ENACT MEDICARE REFORM THIS YEAR.

WE WELCOME CONCERNS ABOUT THE TRUST FUND. PRESIDENT CLINTON HAS BEEN ACTING TO ADDRESS THE PROBLEM SINCE HE TOOK OFFICE.

- The President's 1993 Economic Plan extended the life of the Trust Fund by three years.
- In 1994, the reforms included in the Health Security Act would have strengthened the Trust Fund by five years.
- In 1995 and 1996, the President proposed a Medicare plan that would have extended the life of the Trust Fund for at least a decade.

THIS YEAR THE PRESIDENT'S BALANCED BUDGET GUARANTEES THE LIFE OF THE TRUST FUND FOR A DECADE.

- HCFA's Chief Actuary confirms that the President's Medicare proposals would extend the life of the Trust Fund by at least ten years.

ACTION IS NEEDED -- REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS SHOULD USE THIS OPPORTUNITY TO COME TOGETHER IN A BIPARTISAN MANNER TO ADDRESS THE NEED FOR REAL MEDICARE REFORM.

- The need for responsible intervention to improve the Trust Fund is real. The President has a proposal that addresses this need in a responsible way, without imposing devastating provider cuts, increasing beneficiary costs, or enacting structural changes that devastate the program and the people it serves.
- This report should not be used irresponsibly. The upcoming Trust Fund report should not be used to recklessly frighten the 38 million Medicare beneficiaries and their families into thinking that their benefits are in imminent danger. They simply are not.
- We have time to act this year. Over $120 billion remains in the Trust Fund (as of March 1997). While incoming revenues are somewhat less than outgoing payments, the current balance in the Trust Fund means that there is no danger that claims will not be paid.

IT IS TIME TO PUT PARTISAN DIFFERENCES ASIDE AND AGREE ON MEDICARE REFORMS THAT WILL EXTEND THE LIFE OF THE TRUST FUND AND STRENGTHEN THE MEDICARE PROGRAM.

On student loans and service, here's the story. There are 4 types of breaks on student loans you can offer people who serve.

1. Income contingency -- We did this in 1993. It says that if you can take a low-paying service job, your loan payments will be only a limited percentage of your income, and ultimately forgiven after 25 years.

2. Loan deferment -- This predates us. It is used when (1) someone wants to take time off during school but doesn't want to have to start paying back loans during that time; or (2) someone finishes school, but argues they have a good reason they don't want to start paying back their loans. You can get a deferment for up to 3 years. You are eligible if you are unemployed, or if it would create an "economic hardship," which includes service. There is no separate service deferment. There used to be, but the system got so complex that it was simplified in 1992.

3. Subsidize all loan deferments for service-- This is our new idea. This means that no interest accumulates on loans during the period of service. We already do this for subsidized loans, which are about 2/3 of the volume, so this would fix unsubsidized loans and make it universal.

The $7 million cost over five years would allow 12,000 borrowers with unsubsidized loans to get this benefit during their deferment. The average benefit would be $600. This estimate assume that no one is induced to serve. If the program cost doubled to $14 million because the subsidized deferment would be more attractive, the number of beneficiaries would increase to 24,000, each receiving $600.

In answer to your question as to whether we could do this for more than one year of service: This cost estimate already assumes that this could be for up to 3 years. The estimate simply reflects historical data on people who request a deferment due to economic hardship for "service-related" reasons, so it is a mix of people requesting 1, 2, and 3 years of deferments. I don't think we would want to go past the 3 year point.

4. Tax Incentives for Student Loan Forgiveness - This is our existing legislative proposal. It says loan forgiveness for service reasons by non-profit charitable or educational institutions should not be taxable. Loan forgiveness by public institutions is already not taxable if it is for service reasons.

He wrote about deferral. The President responded in March (Mike Cohen wrote it) that deferments are in fact already available, and that the Department would send him some information on that. We then scoured the area for what more we could do, and came up with this. I am trying to reach Campolo in Hawaii to see what he thinks.

(FYI, Bill Kincaid says reporters are calling the Dept. of Education asking if it's true that the President is going to come out in support of mandatory service requirements at the Summit.)

(Also FYI, Teach for America now stands at 2,200 members. According to Gomperts, Eli "rescued" the program 2 years ago.)

MEDICARE Q&As

Question: Doesn't the Medicare Trust Fund Report just confirm that President has continually demagogued Medicare and failed to address the real needs of the program?

Answer: No. The Medicare Trust Fund Report confirms what the President has continually stated -- that Republicans and Democrats have to come together to enact Medicare reforms to extend the life of the Trust Fund. The President has been addressing this important issue since he came into office.

His 1993 Economic Plan extended the life of the Trust Fund by three years. In 1994, the reforms included in the Health Security Act would have strengthened the Trust Fund by five years. In 1995 and 1996, the President proposed a Medicare plan that would have extended the life of the Trust Fund for at least a decade. And this year the President's balanced budget guarantees the life of the Trust Fund for at least a decade.

Question: Should Medicare beneficiaries worry that the Medicare Trust Fund is in imminent danger?

Answer: This report should not be used irresponsibly. The upcoming Trust Fund report should not be used to recklessly frighten the 38 million Medicare beneficiaries and their families into thinking that their benefits are in imminent danger. They simply are not.

The need for responsible intervention to improve the Trust Fund is real. The President has a proposal that addresses this need in a responsible way, without imposing devastating provider cuts, increasing beneficiary costs, or enacting structural changes that devastate the program and the people it serves.

We have time to act this year. Over $120 billion remains in the Trust Fund (as of March 1997). While incoming revenues are somewhat less than outgoing payments, the current balance in the Trust Fund means that there is no danger that claims will not be paid.

The President believes that it is time to put partisan differences aside and agree on Medicare reforms that will save the Trust Fund.

Question: How do you respond to the Republican criticism that your Medicare plan does nothing but preserve the status quo?

Answer: That is absolutely not true. The President's budget takes important steps to modernize Medicare and bring it into the 21st century through a number of structural reforms including:

- Establishing new private plans including Preferred Provider Organizations and Provider Sponsored Organizations -- available to seniors and people with disabilities.
- Establishing market-oriented purchasing for Medicare including the new prospective payment systems for home health care, nursing home care, and outpatient hospital services, as well as competitive bidding authority and the use of centers of excellence to improve quality and cut back on costs.
- Adding new Medigap protections making it possible for beneficiaries to switch

- Expanding coverage for preventive services including expanding services for mammographies and colorectal screening, improving self-management of diseases like diabetes, and extending respite benefits that are increasingly important to our older Americans.
- Empowering America's seniors to make educated choices about their health care by providing beneficiaries with comparative information on all managed care and Medigap plans in the area where they live. To help make those comparisons meaningful, the budget would create standardized packages for additional benefits.

Question: Does the President support creating a Medicare Commission?

Answer:

- The President has consistently said that we need a two step process to address the financing needs of the Medicare program. First, he has called for Republicans and Democrats to come together immediately to address the short-term financing needs of the Medicare Trust Fund. The President has proposed a balanced budget plan to enact reforms that extend the life of the Trust Fund well into the next decade. He also believes that we need to develop a bipartisan process to examine and make recommendations on the long-term needs of the Medicare program, and he looks forward to working with both parties to develop the best process possible.

Question: Democrats are saying that the Administration has gone far enough with Medicare savings. Are you concerned that your base Democrats will withdraw their support?

Answer: The President has put forth a strong Medicare proposal that extends the life of the Trust Fund to 2007 while modernizing and strengthening the program. The President has always been and always will be opposed to excessive Medicare cuts. He is working with the Democratic Leadership to ensure that any Medicare proposal is based on strong policy rationale and does not excessively or unfairly burden Medicare beneficiaries or the providers who serve them. Democrats have always been responsible stewards of the Medicare Trust Fund, and the President is confident that there will be broad Democratic support for any necessary reforms to the program.

Question: Do you plan to eliminate any of the new benefit improvements in your Medicare plan?

Answer: While everything will clearly be “on the table” in our budget discussions, we are extremely sensitive about making any changes to the important beneficiary improvements in our Medicare plan. Over three quarters of Medicare beneficiaries earn less than $25,000 per year. Improving benefits and fixing flaws in the program which place undue costs on this vulnerable population is a high priority for this Administration. The President’s proposal to cover preventive services is recognized by Republicans and Democrats alike as a sound, cost-effective investment.

Question: The President has included a home health care transfer gimmick in the budget. How can he possibly defend it?

Answer: Let's be clear: our $100 billion in Medicare savings does not include the home health care transfer. The $100 billion ($138 billion over six years) is the net reduction from the baseline that adds to deficit reduction.

The policy you mentioned was in our budget last year, and it was in the House Republican budget in 1995 that every Republican in the House voted for.

Our overall policy to home health visits in excess of 100 out of the HI trust fund is responsible and makes sense: it protects the Medicare Trust Fund till 2007 while not putting harmful cuts on hospitals that would hurt quality or put excessive burdens on beneficiaries -- while balancing the budget in 2002.

Background

Originally designed as a post-acute care benefit for beneficiaries who had been hospitalized, home health has increasingly become a chronic care benefit, not linked to hospitalization. Our proposal restores the original split of home health care benefits so that the first 100 home health visits following a 3-day hospitalization would be reimbursed by Part A and all other visits --including those not following hospitalization --would be reimbursed by Part B.

Question: Follow: If home health transfer is not a gimmick then why don't you include it as part of the Part B premium?

Answer: We have always been concerned about out-of-pocket costs for Medicare beneficiaries. Older Americans spend, on average, 20 percent of their income on health care and three-fourths have incomes lower than $25,000. We have to be careful that as we reform the Medicare program, we do not place undue burden on low-income seniors.

Question: Is the President now considering including it in the premium or imposing copayments on home health services?

Answer: The President is not ruling anything in or out at this point. The President looks forward to continuing our discussions with Congress. However, he will certainly not agree to any change that will place undue burden on Medicare beneficiaries.

Question: Will you tell seniors -- at least high income seniors -- that we can't be giving them this huge subsidy while we are passing debt on to our children?

The President is not philosophically against asking the highest-income seniors to pay a little more. In fact, in 1993, the Administration asked high-income seniors to pay more for their Part A benefits; so he is willing to make those tough choices. But the President has also found that we can present a strong and credible budget without having to start opening the door to premium increases on Medicare recipients.

Subject: taxing workfare/welfare benefits

Cynthia,

It seems to me that IRS will not be getting helpful advice out very soon on the issue of what types of welfare/workfare payments are taxable for income and payroll tax purposes. It might be appropriate to put together a joint DPC/NEC decision process that would develop legislative options in this area and run parallel to the process involving IRS. I could imagine a proposal being developed that would simply codify current practice in the area of taxation and provide some reasonable safe harbors for tax treatment and that would cost nothing in terms of foregone revenue (because the legislation just followed current practice). Alternatively, the exclusion for benefits could be expanded at some revenue cost.

What do you think about this?

Mark

THE WHITE HOUSE AT WORK:
Thursday, April 24, 1997

TODAY: PRESIDENT PUSHES FOR SENATE RATIFICATION OF CHEMICAL WEAPONS CONVENTION

Today, the Senate faces a crucial vote: whether to ratify the Chemical Weapons Convention, which enters into force April 29 even if we do not ratify.

- It will require other countries to do what we are already doing -- eliminate chemical weapons. This treaty is not about getting rid of American weapons -- it's about getting rid of weapons that could one day be used against Americans.
- Ratifying the Convention will protect our troops in the field, make it harder for terrorists to obtain chemical weapons, and help punish rogue states that use them.
- First negotiated under President Reagan, completed under President Bush and submitted to the Senate by President Clinton, it enjoys the support of every chairman of the joint chiefs for the past twenty years, our current military leadership, the overwhelming majority of our veterans, the chemical industry and arms control experts.

Yesterday at the White House, a cross section of American leadership called for ratification: the President, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs General Shalikashvili, former Chairman Colin Powell and Senator Bob Dole.

- Senator Dole had raised concerns about the treaty six months ago. But since January, virtually all of those concerns have been addressed and Dole urged his former colleagues to vote for the treaty.

THIS WEEKEND: PRESIDENT PLAYS MAJOR ROLE AT SERVICE SUMMIT

This Sunday, President Clinton and former President Bush convene the Presidents' Summit for America's Future in Philadelphia, chaired by General Colin Powell. President Clinton attends from April 27-April 28. The Vice President, the First Lady, and Mrs. Gore will also attend.

- At the Summit, the President will call on the nation to restore an ethic of citizenship and civic responsibility through service, especially by encouraging young people to give back to their communities.
- In his weekly Radio Address this Saturday, the President will focus on service and AmeriCorps, the national service program that has allowed 50,000 young people to earn college assistance while serving their communities.

TEXT:

On the cost per AmeriCorps member, here is some info:

Average cost per AmeriCorps member for fiscal year 1996 -- $17,629.
Agreement with Grassley will reduce that to $17,000 for fiscal year 1997;
$16,000 for fiscal year 1998; and $15,000 by fiscal year 1999.

Most of that goes directly to the AmeriCorps member (or a school on his/her behalf):

$6,700 toward a living allowance of $7,600, with the remainder raised by the local sponsor
$1,200 for barebones health insurance coverage and to assist a few members with child-care costs
$4,725 for an education voucher upon completion of at least 1,700 hours of direct service
Total Corporation-funded benefits per member: about $12,625.

Remainder pays for:

governor-appointed bipartisan commissions that run annual statewide competitions among local nonprofit groups wishing to sponsor AmeriCorps members equipment, materials, recruitment, training, and oversight-costs that are being cut as part of the reform agreement with Grassley
the Corporation

The Corporation is touting an alternative to the Teach for America model that they fund based at Notre Dame. For what it's worth, here's the details:

Recruits and trains recent college grads to serve as AmeriCorps members teaching in severely understaffed Catholic parochial schools across the South. Sponsored by Alliance for Catholic Education.

After 2 intensive summer trainings, two years of university courses, and full time teaching, members earn a Masters of Arts in education. Matched with a mentor from that school. Their students do service-learning. 80 members last year; good record with principals.

TEXT:

FYI, you will recall that I had been pushing a draft presidential directive to encourage agencies to implement flexible work schedules to allow federal employees to volunteer. I had an OPM draft circulating, in the hopes it would be ready in time for the summit. However, OMB just informed me that the Labor Dept. has raised a major policy objection to it, saying that it is bad timing with the alternative work schedule bill S4 we are fighting the Republicans over on the Hill, and that it would give ammunition to those we are fighting. I haven't had much time to focus on the merits of this objection, figuring this was probably the death knell for this idea, but I can pursue if you want me to.

We're hearing that Repubs will file a cloture petition on this bill tomorrow which would put it on the floor early next week -- they're timing it for our summit in Philly of course. I've talked to DOJ and National Service folks. DOJ said their statement will be over here tomorrow. I've also talked to Hollings' folks and they think they can offer up an alternative but we'll talk again about what that would look like. Elena and Bruce, can you guys take a look at this Justice stuff tomorrow and let me know if it's going in the right direction, i.e., not conflicting on where we are on product liability? txs
