TEXT:

Unz Initiative/Bilingual Education

Q. Today's L.A. Times reports that the President will oppose California's Proposition 227, the Unz Initiative. What is wrong with this proposal, and why has the President decided to weigh in on a state ballot initiative?

A. The Unz Initiative will virtually end bilingual education and instead limit students who do not speak English to a one year English immersion program, after which they must be placed in a regular class.

This is an extreme, one-size-fits-all approach that won't work with all kids. It limits the ability of local schools and teachers to use approaches that will work. If it is implemented, we believe that fewer students who need to will become proficient in English, fewer students will do well in other academic subjects, and more students and parents will be frustrated with the education they are receiving.

This is an important issue, which will have a big impact on the education of children in California. And while this is currently a ballot initiative in California, it is of national significance. The same issue will be faced in other states and communities, and will come up in the Congress. Therefore, the President believes it is important for him to address the issue.

Q. Today's L.A. Times reports that the Administration has decided to oppose California's Proposition 227, the Unz Initiative. Will the President be addressing this when he is in California?

A. First let me say that Secretary Riley will be putting out a detailed statement on the Administration's position early this afternoon. At the same time, Acting Deputy Secretary of Education Mike Smith will conduct a background briefing on this issue for those of you with more specific questions.

In addition, because this is such an important issue, I expect the President will want to comment on it while he is in California starting on Friday. No decision has yet been made about the particular time or place for the President to address the issue.

Q. Today's L.A. Times reports that the Administration will propose to limit participation in bilingual education programs to three years. Is this right?

A. The President believes that we must have a clear goal that students should learn English within three years, and that this goal can be met if we give students the opportunities and help they need--smaller classes, well trained teachers who know how to teach students a second language, a good curriculum, etc. Having a clear goal will help students, teachers and principals, by focusing their attention on what they must accomplish.

But we are not proposing to throw students out of a program designed to teach them English, if they haven't mastered English within that time period. That would be the wrong thing to do, and would make as much sense as throwing out of school any student who doesn't meet academic standards in math by the 8th grade. The right thing to do would be to hold the school accountable, insist that the school use a more effective approach, and give students who need it extra help so they do learn English.

Q. Will the President send legislation to Congress to change the federal bilingual education program based on the three year goal?

A. Congress is scheduled to consider the bilingual education program next year, along with other elementary and secondary education programs. At that time, the President will transmit legislation that will fully accord with his principles for improving how we help students learn English.

The President has already sent the Congress an ambitious package of education initiatives this year--which they have not acted on. The President would like to see the Congress enact his legislation to reduce class size, modernize school buildings, end social promotions, and help low income students make their way to college.

Q. Polls in California show that the Unz Initiative is extremely popular. Does the President expect that his opposition will have an impact on the vote?

A. The President hopes that voters in California will pay attention to his views and consider them when they go to the ballot box.

Q. Many of the Latino groups and others who support bilingual education oppose any sort of time limit for bilingual education. Does the Administration expect these groups to support your position?

A. The President believes that a 3 year goal is the right policy; it is good for students and good for education. Everyone who cares about helping students with limited English proficiency should support this goal.

Q. What is the President's view of bilingual education?

A. The President believes it is critical for all students to learn English. At present, there are approximately 3.2 million students who are not yet proficient in English, and they need extra help. The President supports bilingual education programs that help immigrant students and other students whose native language is not English, become proficient in English.

The President strongly supports the federal Bilingual Education program, because it provides local communities with the funds they need to provide extra help to students with limited English proficiency, while leaving the decision about how best to provide that help to each local school system. In his FY99 budget, the President called for a 17 percent increase -- $33 million -- in the Federal bilingual education program. These funds would help train 20,000 teachers over five years to more effectively teach English in the context of high academic standards.

The President has strongly opposed the provision in the House supplemental appropriations bill that would cut funding for the bilingual education program.

Q. What is the President's view of the DeLay bill that would eliminate the Federal Bilingual education program.

A. The President is opposed to this bill or any other bill that would wipe out the funds needed to give students the help they need to learn English. With nearly 20% of the children in our schools immigrants or the children of immigrants, we should be strengthening our efforts to help students learn English, not ending them.

Q. What is the President's view of the Riggs bill that would end funding for bilingual education programs that don't teach kids English within 2 years?

A. This bill was recently introduced and is being reviewed by the Education Department and the Domestic Policy Council. The review has not been completed, and the matter has not been brought to the President's attention yet.

Saturday's New York Times has an article by Tamar Lewin entitled "Early Aid is Shown to Benefit At-Risk Children". The story cites a RAND study that showed several positive results from nine early intervention programs studied, including higher long-term school achievement, less need for special ed, lower delinquency rates, fewer emergency room visits and less dependency on welfare.

There must be a way we can use this, or refer to this, or do an event around this. How can we use this to promote POTUS' agenda?

Q. What is the Education Department announcing today?

A. The Education Department will announce later today the Administration's opposition to California's Proposition 227, the Unz Initiative. This Initiative would virtually end bilingual education and instead limit students who are not proficient in English to just one year of English immersion instruction before they are placed in regular classrooms. In addition, the Education Department will announce a set of principles the Administration believes should guide a reform of the way in which students are helped to become proficient in English.

PRESIDENT CLINTON SAYS NEW SURGEON GENERAL'S REPORT UNDERSCORES THE NEED FOR COMPREHENSIVE BIPARTISAN TOBACCO LEGISLATION
April 27, 1998

President Clinton said today that a new Surgeon General's report on tobacco underscores the urgent need for comprehensive legislation to reduce youth smoking. Over the last six years, youth smoking has increased by one third. Smoking has increased among young people of all races and ethnicities, growing by a startling 80 percent among African American youth. Today, 40 percent of white high school students smoke, as do one-half of young Native Americans, one third of Hispanics, and one-fifth of Asian and African Americans. Every day, 3000 children become regular smokers -- and 1000 of them will die as a result. This report -- the first to be released by newly appointed Surgeon General David Satcher -- is the first comprehensive source of data on the use and health effects of tobacco among ethnic groups.

The Surgeon General's Report Documents Disturbing Trends in Tobacco Use. African Americans, Hispanics, Asian Americans, and American Indians/Alaska Natives make up nearly one-fourth of the United States population. The report provides a comprehensive analysis on the effect of tobacco on these groups, including that:

- Teen smoking rates are rising in all ethnic groups.
 - Teen smoking rates rose dramatically among African-Americans and Hispanics from 1991-1997. Smoking rates among African-American high school students were up by a startling 80 percent, and smoking rates among Hispanic high school students increased by 34 percent. Smoking among white high school students increased from 31 to 40 percent.
 - The most recent data also shows disturbing trends among Asian American and American Indian/Alaska Native youth. From 1990 to 1995, cigarette smoking increased by 17 percent among Asian American 12th graders and by 26 percent among their American Indian and Alaska Native counterparts.
 - The report also documents that American Indians have the highest adult smoking rates of any ethnic or minority group in the United States -- nearly 40 percent, compared to 25 percent of all adults.
- Cigarette smoking is a major cause of death and disease among all minority and ethnic groups. The report documents that:
 - Lung cancer is the leading cancer death for all four minority groups. The increase in youth smoking threatens to reverse recent progress made against lung cancer among these groups.
 - African-American men bear the greatest health burdens from lung cancer, with death rates about 50 percent higher than whites. Lung cancer incidence has increased substantially among Alaska Natives (93 percent increase for men and 241 percent increase for women) since the 1970s.

-- Smoking increases infant mortality and low birth weight, with the risk of low birth weight babies almost twice as high for smokers than for non-smokers. Among smokers, the rate of sudden infant death syndrome is particularly high among Hispanics, African Americans, and Asians.

- The tobacco industry has targeted advertising and promotion campaigns in ethnic and minority communities that pose serious challenges to reducing smoking among this population. The report found that:

-- Tobacco products are advertised intensively in racial and communities. For example, in one city, 62 percent of billboards in predominantly African American neighborhoods advertised cigarettes, compared with 36 percent of billboards citywide.

- More research is needed to understand racial and ethnic smoking patterns and to reduce tobacco use among racial and ethnic minorities.

-- The Surgeon General's report highlights successful community-based tobacco prevention and cessation programs, as well as successful federal programs that are tailored to the needs of specific minority and ethnic communities.

-- The report, however, demonstrates the need for further research to develop the prevention and cessation programs that will be most effective in minority communities.

The President Renewed His Call for Comprehensive Bipartisan Tobacco Legislation. The President emphasized that this report again demonstrates the need to pass bipartisan comprehensive tobacco legislation to reduce youth smoking this year. Noting that Senator McCain's bill is a strong step in the right direction, the President renewed his call for Congress to send him legislation that:

- Raises the price of cigarettes by up to $1.50 a pack over the next ten years and imposes tough penalties on companies that continue to sell to kids;
- Confirms the FDA's authority to regulate tobacco products;
- Gets tobacco companies out of the business of marketing to children;
- Furthers public health research and goals; and
- Protects tobacco farmers and their communities.

Q: What is your reaction to the fact that Dr. Satcher criticized the Administration's position on needle exchange?

A: The Administration is committed to reducing the transmission of HIV and reducing drug use. We believe that the decision that was made last week was the best way to advance these two goals. The Secretary of Health and Human Services made clear that the scientists, including all the respected leadership within the National Institutes of Health, have concluded that these programs do not increase drug use. We believe that it is extremely important for communities around the country, who are making their own decisions on this issue to know that appropriately designed needle exchange programs reduce HIV transmission and do not encourage illegal drug use. Dr. Satcher said on Friday, "I would not discount the significance of the decision that was made."

Q: But his remarks seem to imply that he opposes the Administration's position on Federal funding on needle exchange. Is this accurate?

A: We do not want to speak for Dr. Satcher who is one of the nation's most eloquent spokesman for public health. However, he did emphasize the significance of the determination that the Secretary made.

We believe that the Administration's decision not to release Federal funding for needle exchange programs was the best approach to ensure that the public was informed about where the science is on this issue in a way that reduced the likelihood of it being politicized. Releasing federal funding for needle exchange would have inappropriately shifted the focus away from communities -- where these decisions should be made -- to the national level. That could have severely undermined or threatened local programs that are currently in place, and hindered additional communities from deciding to put these programs into place. We do believe, however, that having the science available will be extremely helpful for local communities to make decisions in this area.

Q: What is your position on the Solomon Amendment to prohibit any Federal funding for needle exchange programs?

A: We believe that the only purpose of this legislation is to politicize a decision that should be made at the local level. To us that is counter productive and an example of unnecessary and unwarranted micromanagement that many in Congress suggest they deplore. For this reason, we strongly oppose this language.

While we are still reviewing this legislation, we are also concerned that the language is too broadly drafted so that it could conceivably have the potential effect of undermining the ability of local communities to make their own decisions to fund needle exchange programs.

Jen:

Andi King just let me know that the House Democratic Caucus Child Care group has been set up ("at least on paper"). The first meeting is scheduled for this Thursday at 2:30 PM in room HC-9 in the Capitol. I'll get the list of MC's to you as soon as I get it.

Andi suggested that the Admin would probably want to have a presence at this meeting. We should get together and discuss.

Jen: could you contact whomever needs to know about this. Thanks.

Many staff continue to raise with me the issue of why they cannot get copies of the weekly report that is sent into the President. Several months ago we discussed this issue and I believed at the time that we agreed to provide the Team Leaders with copies of the completed weeklies (I also think it would be useful for Christa to receive a copy because it often covers events). However, Team Leaders are not receiving copies and I am having trouble explaining our policy, especially given that Cabinet distributes their weekly to all DPC staffers.

I strongly recommend that we start giving out copies of the weekly at the next Team Leaders meeting.

Please advise.
