There will be a Women's Mtg on Thursday at 9am in Room 100. Thanks.

The McCain Bill Is Tougher than Ever on Teen Smoking

- The Senate is moving much closer to passing the McCain bill, the toughest anti-youth smoking legislation in history. The McCain bill would save a million lives over the next five years by:
 - Raising the price of cigarettes by $1.10 over the next five years -- the single most important step we can take to reduce youth smoking.
 - Imposing tough lookback surcharges on tobacco companies if youth smoking does not decline by 67% over the next decade.
 - Reaffirming FDA's full authority over tobacco products.
 - Launching major nationwide efforts to reduce youth smoking, including a nationwide counteradvertising campaign to warn young people not to smoke, state and local tobacco education and prevention programs, and tough enforcement measures to stop retailers from selling cigarettes to minors.
 - Taking other important steps to protect against the dangers of smoking, including expanded warning labels on cigarettes, mandatory disclosure of additives and cigarette ingredients, a nationwide ban on smoking in public buildings, and substantial funding for smoking cessation programs.
 - Funding a major increase in health research at the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control, including clinical trials for cancer patients.
- The McCain bill started strong . . . The Administration worked to secure several important improvements to the bill that passed the Commerce Committee by a margin of 19-1 in April -- including stronger lookback surcharges, stronger environmental tobacco smoke protections, elimination of the antitrust exemption and of liability protection for parent companies, and substantial funding for public health and research as well as for states and tobacco farmers.
- . . . and has gotten stronger. The full Senate passed an amendment by Senator Durbin to increase company-specific lookback surcharges still further, and rejected an amendment by Senator Ashcroft to remove the price increase from the bill. The Senate has authorized additional uses for tobacco revenues -- with amendments on veterans health, drug prevention, and (later today) targeted tax relief -- but the core efforts to reduce youth smoking and protect the public health remain fully intact.

Tobacco and Tax Cuts

We did not seek to include a tax cut in the bill. But if a tax cut was necessary for the tobacco bill to pass the Senate, both the Democratic and Republican proposals are as progressive and targeted to working families as we could ask for:

- This version is dramatically scaled-back: Under pressure from Senator McCain and other tobacco bill proponents, Senator Gramm offered a significantly scaled-back version of his tax cut amendment. His original proposal was $54 billion over 4 years. The revised version is $16 billion over 4 years.
- The Republican proposal comes a long way in the Democrats' direction: We would have preferred the Democratic proposal, but the Democratic and Republican proposals are not that far apart. Both include a health insurance tax cut for the self-employed and a tax cut for low- and middle-income married couples. The Democratic alternative costs $30 billion over 9 years and a quarter of the money after that. The Republican alternative costs $46 billion over 9 years and a third of the money after that. (Note: Under the Republican alternative, if the youth smoking targets are met and youth smoking declines by 67% over the next decade, the tax cut can grow to half the money.)
- This is one of the most progressive tax cuts since the EITC: The Democratic alternative gives tax relief to married couples with incomes under $60,000. The Republican alternative is limited to married couples with incomes under $50,000. Both also remove the marriage penalty for married recipients of the Earned Income Tax Credit.
- Opponents of the tobacco bill have no more excuses: Now that the tobacco bill includes a substantial tax cut (and anti-drug provisions), Republicans have run out of excuses to oppose the bill. This will put even more pressure on the Senate to act quickly and the House of Representatives to follow suit.

Tobacco and Drugs

- Just politics: The Coverdell amendment is more a political statement than a serious effort to reduce drug use. It includes a handful of provisions that have little to do with drug use or tobacco -- such as school vouchers for students who have been the victim of violence, infringement on collective bargaining at the Customs Service, and a ban on federal funding for needle exchange programs.
- Just authorizations, not mandatory spending: The Coverdell amendment does not necessarily reduce spending on any other program, or require spending on drug programs. It simply authorizes a number of drug programs that will have to compete with the most popular and central public health provisions of the bill, such as counteradvertising, smoking cessation, licensing and enforcement.

FROM: OMB LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

DATE: JUNE 10, 1998

SUBJECT: LEGISLATIVE REPORT

Budget Resolution/Tax Cuts: There is a continuing dispute between Lott and five Senate conservatives (Ashcroft, Grams, Bob Smith, Inhofe, and Brownback) about the nature of Lott's commitment to them on taxes during the Senate's April consideration of the budget resolution. Lott says he agreed to move towards the House tax cut number (which is $100 billion); Lott is now talking about $60-70 billion. However, in a letter they sent to Lott yesterday, the conservatives assert that "...you promised that the Senate delegation would accept the larger of the tax cuts contained in the House and Senate budget resolutions....You also pledged to push for a reconciliation bill this year and to make elimination of the marriage penalty a top priority." The conservatives say they will oppose a budget resolution conference report that does not include the full $100 billion.

Reconciliation Bill: Domenici reportedly told BNA yesterday that there would be a reconciliation bill this year -- to do tax cuts and mandatory savings -- "if we get a conference report." Domenici's staff confirms that they believe there will be a reconciliation bill this year if they can get agreement on the budget resolution.

Tobacco: 2d cloture attempt failed today 43-55 (17 short of the required 60). A 3rd cloture vote is scheduled for Thursday at Noon. During today's consideration, the Senate passed by voice vote the Gramm amendment relating to the "marriage penalty" after an attempt to table the amendment failed 48-50. While the 2d cloture attempt failed, Daschle said he is increasingly optimistic about the bill's prospects. Daschle said he would accept both a marriage-penalty amendment and the school voucher provision so long as the final version of the bill fulfills the principal objectives of its supporters. Nevertheless, contentious amendments remain involving attorneys' fees, tobacco farmer protections and alternative tobacco tax proposals. Another possibility is an amendment by Jeffords that would establish an $8 billion annual civil liability cap for tobacco companies that contribute to a national fund to finance compensation payments to those suffering from tobacco-related illnesses.

IRS Conference: Conferees on the IRS reform legislation had their opening meeting today at Senate Finance Committee (Roth is chairing the conference). There was no specific mention of the June 2 letter from Rubin which projected a $7.3 billion revenue loss in the first 5 years. But House Ways & Means Ranking Democrat Rangel did mention his concern about a $4.1 billion revenue loss from the suspension of interest and penalties; he also stated his concern about the substantial outyear costs of Roth's IRA provisions. Treasury staff (Talisman) tell us they believe one of the provisions causing the $7.3 b loss may be getting fixed, and they are working on the others. Roth is aiming to wrap up the conference next week -- with Floor action before the recess.

CONGRESS -- TODAY (6/10):

SENATE:

- o Failed (43-55) to invoke cloture on the modified committee substitute.
- o Failed (48-50) to table the Gramm amendment relating to the marriage tax penalty. Subsequently, the Gramm amendment was agreed to by voice vote.
- o Tabled (55-43) Daschle alternative amendment to the marriage tax penalty.

The Senate took the following additional actions today:

- o Adopted H.Con.Res 131 relating to the year of the ocean.
- o Passed S. 1364 relating to elimination of federal reports, w/ a McCain/Levin amendment.
- o Passed S. 2069, the Fort Berthold Indian Reservation bill.
- o Agreed to the House amendment to S. 1900, the Holocaust asset commission bill.

Mary Smith sent a draft letter to you for clearance addressed to Sen. McCain regarding the concern involving Indian tribal sovereignty and the collection of state taxes. Would you please give me a status report. Lynn Cutler and I are meeting with a number of Tribal chairs and others at 1pm tomorrow (you, and Sylvia have been invited) and we will certainly be asked for our support to prevent any real or perceived erosion of tribal sovereignty. IGA feels strongly that we need to lay down an early marker that once again the President is on the side of the Native American Community on this issue. Thanks.

Attached is a slightly edited answer for the voucher question --clarifying that the President opposes using federal funds for vouchers:

Q. The Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled today that the private school voucher program in Milwaukee is constitutional. In light of the President's opposition to school vouchers, what is his view of this decision?

A. The President has not had a chance to review the Court decision. However, the President is opposed to using federal funds for school vouchers because he believes that we must use public funds to strengthen our public schools. We must raise standards, increase accountability, expand public school choice, and invest taxpayer resources in the steps that will make a difference, such as reducing class size, improving teaching, and modernizing our school buildings. He is opposed to diverting federal funds away from the public schools, which serve 90% of the students, when the needs there are so great. The Wisconsin Supreme Court decision does not change these views, nor the President's opposition to private school vouchers.

THE PRESIDENT CALLS FOR PASSAGE OF EQUAL PAY LEGISLATION AND RELEASES COUNCIL OF ECONOMIC ADVISERS' REPORT ON THE WAGE GAP
June 10, 1998

Today the President will commemorate the thirty-fifth anniversary of President Kennedy's signing of the Equal Pay Act and will urge passage of legislation to strengthen the laws that prohibit wage discrimination against women. In addition, the President will release a Council of Economic Advisers' (CEA) report on the gender wage gap, and announce a Department of Labor report that provides a historical perspective of the wage gap. The President will be joined by Dr. Dorothy Height, President Emeritus of the National Council of Negro Women, who was at the signing ceremony of the Equal Pay Act in 1963.

Legislation to Improve Enforcement of Wage Discrimination Laws. The President will call on Congress to pass legislation, introduced by Senator Daschle and Congresswoman DeLauro, to strengthen laws prohibiting wage discrimination. The highlights of this legislation include:

- Increased Penalties for the Equal Pay Act (EPA). The legislation adds full compensatory and punitive damages as remedies, in addition to the liquidated damages and back pay awards currently available under the EPA. This proposal would put gender-based wage discrimination on equal footing with wage discrimination based on race or ethnicity, for which uncapped compensatory and punitive damages are already available.
- Non-retaliation provision. The bill would prohibit employers from punishing employees for sharing salary information with their co-workers. Currently, employers are free to take action against employees who share wage information. Without the ability to learn about wage disparities, it is difficult for women to evaluate whether there is wage discrimination.
- Training, Research, and Pay Equity Award. The Daschle-DeLauro bill provides for increased training for Equal Employment Opportunity Commission employees on matters involving the discrimination of wages; research on discrimination in the payment of wages; and the establishment of the "The National Award for Pay Equity in the Workplace," which will recognize and promote the achievements of employers that have made strides to eliminate pay disparities.

CEA Report on the Wage Gap. The President will announce a report by the CEA that shows that a significant gap between the wages of women and men remains today although it has narrowed substantially since the signing of the Equal Pay Act.

- Gender Pay Gap Has Closed: Today, Women Earn 75 Cents for Every Dollar Men Earn. In 1963, the year that the Equal Pay Act was signed, women earned 58 cents for every dollar men earned. Today, women earn about 75 cents for every dollar men earn -- a 29-percent increase over the 1963 levels. The gender gap has narrowed faster among younger women and among married women with children. And relative to all male workers, wage gains have been faster for black and white women than for Hispanic women.

- Rise in Work Experience And Move To Higher-Paying Jobs Explain Part of Narrowing of Wage Gap. Over the past 20 years, increases in women's average work experience and movement into higher-paying occupations have played a major role in increasing women's pay relative to men's. Changes in family status, in industry structure, and unionization have also worked to narrow the wage gap, while the rising returns to skills and increased wage inequality would have, by themselves, widened the pay gap.
- Much of Gender Gap Is "Unexplained." In the 1980s, about one-third of the gender pay gap was explained by differences in the skills and experience that women bring to the labor market and about 28 percent was due to differences in industry, occupation, and union status among men and women. This leaves over one-third of the gender pay gap "unexplained" by factors such as educational attainment, work experience, and occupational choice.
- Labor Market Discrimination Persists. The evidence is that labor market discrimination against women persists. One indirect and rough measure of the extent of discrimination remaining in the labor market is the "unexplained" difference in pay. And academic studies -- whether looking at pay differences between men and women in very similar jobs or by comparing pay to specific measures of productivity -- have consistently found evidence of ongoing discrimination in the labor market.

Department of Labor Report Provides a Historical Perspective on the Wage Gap. The President also will announce a Department of Labor report that provides a thirty-five year perspective on the wage gap. This report focuses on three periods since the signing of the Equal Pay Act -- 1960-1975, 1975-1985, and 1985-1997 -- and highlights the increased participation of women in the labor force, the changing occupations of women, and the emergence of more women-owned businesses.

- Women's Labor Force Participation Has Increased. Women's labor force participation rate rose from 37.7 percent in 1960 to almost 60 percent in 1997.
- Increased Contributions by Women to Family Income. Between 1995 and 1996 alone, the number of families with two working parents increased by nearly half a million, making equal pay even more of a family issue. In these years, both parents were employed in 63.9 percent of married-couple families with children 18 and younger, while 28.2 percent of these families had an employed father and homemaker mother.

Draft 6/10/98 3pm

June Shih and Jordan Tamagni (note -- this is about 15 minutes long)

PRESIDENT WILLIAM J. CLINTON
□&THE NEW IMMIGRATION:
BUILDING ONE AMERICA IN THE 21ST CENTURY□8
PORTLAND STATE UNIVERSITY
JUNE 13, 1998

I am honored to address the Portland State University graduating class of 1998. Looking around this campus, it is hard to imagine that it all started in a handful of temporary buildings in a shipyard 52 years ago, with a dream to give soldiers returning home from World War II the opportunity to go to college -- and a chance to build a better life. In so many ways, Portland State's mission is the mission of America: to meet the challenge of changing times by holding fast to our founding principals -- to widen the circle of opportunity for all our people, to deepen the meaning of our freedom, and to form a more perfect union.

This Spring, as I speak to graduating students, I am focusing on what we must do in our own era to make the promise of America real for generations to come: defending our security against the new threat of terrorism; advancing opportunity amid the challenges of the Information Age.

Of all the challenges before us, none is more complex than the challenge of our nation's growing racial and ethnic diversity. One year ago tomorrow, I launched a national initiative on race, to engage all Americans in a conversation about the lingering problems and limitless possibilities of our racial diversity.

Today, I would like to talk all of you about the driving force behind this diversity -- the new immigration. Millions of new immigrants are changing the face of America. And I come to you today to talk about our shared responsibility to welcome them -- and our responsibility to ensure that this new immigration strengthens our nation. For while these changes are good for America, they demand more of all Americans. We must redouble our commitment to those shared ideals and values that have held us together, that have made us American, for two centuries and more.

More than any other nation on earth, America has drawn its strength and its spirit from a constant flow of immigrants -- the most restless, the most adventurous, the most industrious people of the world. Together, they built a new nation on a powerful idea: that all men are created equal. Together, each bearing their own memories, each honoring their own heritage, they forged a different and dynamic new culture. Each group of newcomers was met with suspicion, with violence and discriminatory laws, with doubts that they could ever become truly American. But the American ideal proved stronger.

Now, that ideal is being tested again -- by a new wave of immigration, larger than any in a century, far more diverse than any in our history. Each year, nearly one million people come legally to build new lives in America. Today, nearly one in ten people in America was born in other lands; one in five schoolchildren are from immigrant families. In four school districts just miles from the White House, children from nearly 200 countries, speaking more than 100 languages, are learning side by side. Today, largely because of immigration, there is no majority race in Hawaii or Houston or New York. Within 5 years, there will be no majority race in California. And in as few as fifty years, there will be no majority race in America.

No other nation in the history of the world has gone through demographic change of this magnitude, over so short a time. It can either strengthen and unite America, or weaken and divide us.

Let me state unequivocally: I believe the new immigration is good for America. It is revitalizing our cities. It is building our new economy, and strengthening our ties to the global one. It is energizing our culture and broadening our view of the world. It is renewing our values. And it is reminding all of us what it truly means to be an American.

It means working hard, like the teenager from Russia who rushes home after school to babysit so his mother can work the night shift. It means making a better life for your children, like the father from Vietnam who works two jobs and still finds the time to take his daughter to the public library everyday to practice reading. And it means [example of immigrant student at PSU, tk]

We see these new immigrants, and we see the spirit that built America -- the drive to succeed, the commitment to family, the hope for a better life. We see our grandparents ... we see ourselves ... we see Americans.

But too many people do not. They hear the new accents, they see the new faces, and they feel unsettled. They worry that the new immigrants come to our shores not to promote our prosperity but to live off our largesse. They are afraid the America they know and love is becoming a foreign land.

This is understandable. But it is wrong, profoundly wrong.

Let me be clear: No American should tolerate illegal immigration that flouts our laws and strains our tradition of tolerance. We must strictly enforce the immigration laws, and we must continue to bring the rule of law to our borders.

But we should also remember: the vast majority of immigrants are here legally. And in every measurable way, the new immigrants give more to our society than they take. On average, immigrants pay $1,800 more in taxes than they receive in government benefits. And legal immigrants are paying into Social Security at record rates, helping to offset the millions of Americans who will be retiring in the next 20 years.

And they benefit our nation in ways that are not as easily measured.

We should be honored that America -- whether it is called the City on a Hill, the Old Gold Mountain, El Norte -- is seen around the world as a land of opportunity and new beginnings. We should all be proud that people living in isolated villages in far corners of the world recognize the Statue of Liberty. We should be proud that children all around the world study our Declaration of Independence, that, to this day, it is inspiring men and women to join us.

My fellow Americans, it is wrong for people whose ancestors passed through the portals of Ellis Island to lock the door behind them. And it is wrong for those who were denied the rights of citizenship simply because of the color of their skin to deny those rights to others because of the country of their birth. We should treat these new immigrants as we would have wanted our own grandparents to have been treated.

I believe that every American is honor-bound to share our country with immigrants, not to shun them or shut them out. But I believe this as well: We cannot be blind to the fact that immigration of this sweep and scope can threaten our unity. Around the world, we have seen what can happen when people who live on the same land put ethnicity before country.

If America is to remain the world's most diverse democracy, if immigration is to strengthen America as it has throughout our history, then we must say: whether your ancestors came here in slave ships or on the Mayflower; whether they landed on Ellis Island or LAX or have been here for thousands of years, if you believe in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, you are an American. And only that belief, strengthened and renewed in a time of great change, will keep us one America in the 21st Century.

Today, all Americans and all immigrants must recommit to ourselves to the true duties and spirit of citizenship. Immigrants must seek to become citizens; and all Americans, wherever they were born, must act as citizens.

Not just immigrants, but every American should study our Constitution and understand our shared history.

Not just immigrants, but every American should take part in our democracy -- not only by voting, but by going to city council meetings, volunteering in our schools, and perhaps even running for office.

Not just immigrants, but every American should reject identity politics, on our campuses and in our communities. We are Americans first and foremost. We must refuse to be swayed by the voices of division.

And not just immigrants, but every American should recognize that our public schools are not just places where our children learn to read, but where they learn to be American, where they make American heroes -- from Washington to Lincoln to Rosa Parks -- their own. Today, too many Americans, and far too many immigrants, attend crowded inner city schools. Too many young people, and far too many Hispanic young people, drop out of school altogether. With more children from immigrant families entering school than at any time since the turn of the century, we must redouble our efforts to renew our public schools, and give all of America's children the best education in the world.

And we must ensure that all of America's children can speak English. As I told you a minute ago, there are schools in America where children speak nearly 200 languages, languages they should be encouraged to remember. But the sooner they learn English in school, the sooner they will be able to reach their full potential.

I applaud the students here at Portland State who are tutoring immigrant children to speak and read English -- and I call on more Americans to do the same. For in the end, we will only overcome ignorance and fear by reaching out and helping one another: in our schools, in our communities, and across this land. We will only become one America if we come together in the sincere belief that we have much to learn from one another -- and far to travel together toward our common future as Americans.

Today, I offer you, the Portland State University graduating class of 1998, my congratulations . Many of you have sacrificed much to reach this day -- you have held down jobs and cared for your families and still found the energy and the passion to reach for your dreams. You have the right to look back and feel pride in all you have achieved.

But I also offer a challenge: Go out and build the America we all want for our children and their children. Take the knowledge and skills you have earned, and share them, not only with your family and your community but with your nation.

The challenges we face are new and real. But the way we will meet them is as old as America. 140 years ago, in the City of Chicago, immigrants outnumbered native born Americans. Abraham Lincoln asked what connection those immigrants could possibly feel to those who founded our nation. "If they look back through this history to trace their connection with those days by blood, they find they have none," he said. But our founders proclaimed that we are all created equal. And that, he said, "is the electric cord in that Declaration that links the hearts of patriotic and liberty-loving [people] together."

It is the cord that links every graduate here today with every new immigrant and every American who came before us -- and if we act with conscience and courage in our own time, it will light the way for the generations of the 21st Century.

Good luck and God bless you.

FYI--POTUS is in fact consistent on this issue; I checked the statement that Riley put out after the '96 debate (after he said something to the effect of "...if people in Milwaukee or Cleveland want to have vouchers, I say 'let 'er rip)').

According to this statement that was carefully negotiated with his Secretary of Education, the President:

1. opposes the use of federal funds for vouchers
2. believes the use of state or local funds for vouchers are state or local decisions
3. as he said about the 1995 Cal. voucher ballot initiative, the President would personally oppose state or local voucher plans if he were a voter in a state or locality.

The McCain Bill Is Tougher than Ever on Teen Smoking

- The Senate is moving much closer to passing the McCain bill, the toughest anti-youth smoking legislation in history. The McCain bill would save a million lives over the next five years by:
 - Raising the price of cigarettes by $1.10 over the next five years -- the single most important step we can take to reduce youth smoking.
 - Imposing tough lookback surcharges on tobacco companies if youth smoking does not decline by 67% over the next decade.
 - Reaffirming FDA's full authority over tobacco products.
 - Launching major nationwide efforts to reduce youth smoking, including a nationwide counteradvertising campaign to warn young people not to smoke, state and local tobacco education and prevention programs, and tough enforcement measures to stop retailers from selling cigarettes to minors.
 - Taking other important steps to protect against the dangers of smoking, including expanded warning labels on cigarettes, mandatory disclosure of additives and cigarette ingredients, a nationwide ban on smoking in public buildings, and substantial funding for smoking cessation programs.
 - Funding a major increase in health research at the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control, including clinical trials for cancer patients.
- The McCain bill started strong . . . The Administration worked to secure several important improvements to the bill that passed the Commerce Committee by a margin of 19-1 in April -- including stronger lookback surcharges, stronger environmental tobacco smoke protections, elimination of the antitrust exemption and of liability protection for parent companies, and substantial funding for public health and research as well as for states and tobacco farmers.
- . . . and has gotten stronger. The full Senate passed an amendment by Senator Durbin to increase company-specific lookback surcharges still further, and rejected an amendment by Senator Ashcroft to remove the price increase from the bill. The Senate has authorized additional uses for tobacco revenues -- with amendments on veterans health, drug prevention, and (later today) targeted tax relief -- but the core efforts to reduce youth smoking and protect the public health remain fully intact.

Tobacco and Tax Cuts

We did not seek to include a tax cut in the bill. But if a tax cut was necessary for the tobacco bill to pass the Senate, both the Democratic and Republican proposals are as progressive and targeted to working families as we could ask for:

- This version is dramatically scaled-back: Under pressure from Senator McCain and other tobacco bill proponents, Senator Gramm offered a significantly scaled-back version of his tax cut amendment. His original proposal was $54 billion over 4 years. The revised version is $16 billion over 4 years.
- The Republican proposal comes a long way in the Democrats' direction: We would have preferred the Democratic proposal, but the Democratic and Republican proposals are not that far apart. Both include a health insurance tax cut for the self-employed and a tax cut for low- and middle-income married couples. The Democratic alternative costs $30 billion over 9 years and a quarter of the money after that. The Republican alternative costs $46 billion over 9 years and a third of the money after that. (Note: Under the Republican alternative, if the youth smoking targets are met and youth smoking declines by 67% over the next decade, the tax cut can grow to half the money.)
- This is one of the most progressive tax cuts since the EITC: The Democratic alternative gives tax relief to married couples with incomes under $60,000. The Republican alternative is limited to married couples with incomes under $50,000. Both also remove the marriage penalty for married recipients of the Earned Income Tax Credit.
- Opponents of the tobacco bill have no more excuses: Now that the tobacco bill includes a substantial tax cut (and anti-drug provisions), Republicans have run out of excuses to oppose the bill. This will put even more pressure on the Senate to act quickly and the House of Representatives to follow suit.

Tobacco and Drugs

- Just politics: The Coverdell amendment is more a political statement than a serious effort to reduce drug use. It includes a handful of provisions that have little to do with drug use or tobacco -- such as school vouchers for students who have been the victim of violence, infringement on collective bargaining at the Customs Service, and a ban on federal funding for needle exchange programs.
- Just authorizations, not mandatory spending: The Coverdell amendment does not necessarily reduce spending on any other program, or require spending on drug programs. It simply authorizes a number of drug programs that will have to compete with the most popular and central public health provisions of the bill, such as counteradvertising, smoking cessation, licensing and enforcement.

Status of Tobacco Bill
June 10, 1998

	McCain Manager's Amendment	Where We Are Today
Price Increase	$1.10 over 5 years	Unchanged
Penalties: 1. Industry	Industry penalties are based on the number of percentage points missed: $80 million (1-5 points); $160 million (6-10 points); $240 million (11 points or more). Penalties are capped at $4 billion.	Durbin amendment reduced these penalties: $40 million for the first five percentage points by which the industry misses the target, and $120 million for each point missed thereafter. Penalties are capped at $2 billion.
2. Company Specific	$1000 per teen by which the company misses its youth smoking reduction target. This figure (which is equivalent to about $64 million per percentage point) represents twice the forgone profits of hooking a teen. No cap on penalties.	Durbin amendment increased these penalties: $80 million per percentage point for the first 5 percentage points, and $24 million per percentage point thereafter. This figure represents approximately 2.5 times the forgone profits for the first five percentage points, and about 7.5 times the forgone profits for the next 19 percentage points. Penalties are capped at $5 billion.
Youth Smoking Reduction Targets	Reduces youth smoking by 60% over 10 years.	Durbin amendment increased targets to 67% over 10 years.
Full FDA Authority	Provides full authority in a separate title.	Unchanged.
Advertising and Access Provisions	Codifies advertising and access provisions in the FDA rule and adds additional restrictions through a consent protocol.	Unchanged.
Protections of Tobacco Farmers	Includes Sen. Ford's LEAF Act which includes compensation (buyout and/or subsidies) for producers; continues a price support program.	Bill now contains both the LEAF Act and Senator Lugar's proposal to end the subsidy program. Votes are likely to occur to resolve this conflict.
Comprehensive Plan to Use Tobacco Revenue to Protect Public Health and Assist Children	Revenues would be divided accordingly: 22% for medical research; 22% for public health efforts; 40% for the states (half unrestricted and half for designated purposes); and 16% for farmers.	Funding percentages remain unchanged after $16 billion in revenues over 4 years is deducted from the trust fund (see below). Public health efforts expanded to include anti-drug efforts (see below).

	McCain Manager's Amendment	Where We Are Today
Environmental Tobacco Smoke Provision	Includes provisions to protect against environmental tobacco smoke; allows states to opt out only if they have state laws that are equally protective; exempts the hospitality industry (e.g., bars, restaurants).	Unchanged.
Liability Protections for Industry:
1. Liability Cap	$8 billion cap.	Gregg amendment struck the $8 billion cap.
2. Bar on Class Actions	None	Unchanged.
3. Bar on Punitive Damages	None	Unchanged.
Anti-Drug Provisions	At their option, states could use their restricted funds for Substance Abuse Treatment and Prevention programs and Safe and Drug Free Schools.	Same, plus Coverdell amendment would authorize a number of drug programs that will have to compete with public health funding for counteradvertising, smoking cessation, licensing and enforcement.
Tax Relief	None	Gramm amendment would provide tax relief to married couples earning less than $50,000, and a health insurance tax cut for the self-employed. Cost: $16 billion over 4 years, $30 billion over following 5 years, and one-third of trust fund revenues thereafter (if youth smoking targets are met and youth smoking declines by 67% over the next decade, the tax cut can grow to half the money.)

TEXT:

HHS is about to release very positive results from an evaluation of Portland, OR's welfare reform program and wondered whether we might be interested in doing something with this given POTUS trip to Oregon on Friday/Saturday. If not, they'll release next week and I'll just do a weekly on it.

The evaluation, part of the National Evaluation of Welfare-to-Work Strategies, found a 17% reduction in welfare expenditures and 35% increase in earnings, for those in program compared with those in control group. Other positive results: reduced welfare dependency (41% of participants on assistance after 2 years compared with 53% of control group) and increase in quality of jobs (full time, with health benefits). The model is a "mixed services strategy"--most people went through job search, but many also participated in short-term education, vocational training, work experience, and life skills training. Positive results were sustained over 2 years and are expected to hold up for 3rd year. Employment and earnings gains were positive for both more and less job ready participants.

Also of interest, the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities recently released a study on Oregon suggesting that minimum wage increases can boost wages for welfare recipients moving to work.

I wanted to review the bidding on options for a health care event for next Monday and see if we could use Ann's 5 pm meeting on the crime events to reach a consensus on how to proceed. If that doesn't work -- let's discuss in Thursday's Podesta meeting.

Since Helen Hunt is not an option -- here's what I understand the alternatives to be:

Tobacco: Have the President talk about tobacco to the Presidential
