SUNSETTING THE TAX CODE A SERIOUS RISK TO OUR ECONOMIC PROSPERITY

President Clinton is Committed to Making it Simpler for Americans to File Their Taxes, to Improving the Tax Code, and to Reforming the IRS.

— President Clinton Has Cut Taxes for Middle-Income Working Families and his New Budget Provides New Tax Relief for Child Care, Education, and the Environment.

— Under President Clinton, It Is Easier and Simpler for Millions of Americans to File Their Tax Returns Electronically and Over the Phones; and — The President Signed the Taxpayer Bill of Rights into Law and Wants Congress to Send Him Comprehensive IRS Reform Legislation as Soon as Possible.

The Scheme to Sunset the Tax Code Is Reckless and Irresponsible and Would:

(1) Create Tremendous Uncertainty for Financial Transactions in Our Economy, Thereby Threatening to Reduce Business Investment and Cost Jobs.

(2) Place at Risk Families' Health Insurance and Home Values, and Eliminate Incentives for Retirement Savings.

(3) Threaten to Take Away the Child Tax Credits, Hope Scholarships, and Expanded IRAs that Families are Counting on.

(4) Gamble With The Fiscal Strength the Nation Has Worked So Hard to Achieve and that is So Critical as the Retirement of the Baby Boom Approaches.

Broad opposition to this proposal:

- As Chamber of Commerce chief economist Martin Regalia said, “It's more than a little dangerous” [Commercial Appeal, 3/22/98].
- The President of the National Association of Realtors, Layne Morrill, denounced the sunset idea as “disastrous for American home owners.” [Commercial Appeal, 3/22/98]
- The Tax Executive Institute, a nonpartisan association that represents approximately 5,000 in-house tax professionals employed by 2,800 leading companies in the U.S. and Canada, has said the proposal would “threaten major disruptions of the economy and the lives of the American people.” [TEI letter to Chairmen Archer and Roth, March 23, 1998]

IN 1993, PRESIDENT CLINTON PUT IN PLACE A THREE-PART ECONOMIC STRATEGY OF CUTTING THE DEFICIT, INVESTING IN THE FUTURE, AND OPENING MARKETS ABROAD. FIVE YEARS LATER, THE ECONOMY IS THE STRONGEST IN A GENERATION.

- The Unemployment Rate Is Now 4.3 Percent. The lowest in 28 years -- and more than 16 million new jobs have been created.
- First Surplus In A Generation. In 1992, the deficit was a record $290 billion. This year, OMB projects the surplus will be $39 billion -- the first surplus since 1969.
- With Lower Interest Rates, Business Investment Has Boomed. Under President Clinton, real business investment has increased 12.2 percent per year -- the fastest since John F. Kennedy was President.
- Smallest Tax Burden Since 1976. This year -- because of the tax cuts signed into law by President Clinton -- the typical middle-income family of four will face the smallest Federal tax burden in more than two decades (1976).

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

IT IS IMPORTANT TO MAKE IT SIMPLER FOR PEOPLE TO FILE THEIR TAXES, TO IMPROVE THE TAX CODE, AND TO REFORM THE IRS.

- Cutting and Simplifying Taxes. President Clinton proposed and signed into law 40 tax simplification measures. The balanced budget agreement ensures that 99 percent of homeowners will not pay capital gains tax on the sale of their home and over 90 percent of corporations, especially small businesses, do not have to worry about the alternative minimum tax.
- Making It Easier to File Taxes. The Administration is aggressively pushing its innovative programs to have people file their tax returns simply and easily by computer or telephone. For this year's filing season, 18.5 million taxpayers have filed electronically, up 29 percent from last year. Another 6 million taxpayers have filed by telephone this year, an increase of 27 percent compared to last year. The typical call takes about ten minutes.
- Reforming the IRS. The President signed into law a taxpayer bill of rights and has been urging the Congress to send him a responsible IRS reform bill as soon as possible.

THE PROPOSAL TO ELIMINATE THE TAX CODE, WITHOUT KNOWING WHAT THE REPLACEMENT SYSTEM WOULD BE, IS DANGEROUS AND WOULD CREATE TREMENDOUS UNCERTAINTY, THREATENING TO DERAIL THE ECONOMY FROM ITS SUCCESSFUL COURSE:

- The Value of Family Homes Could Fall by Thousands of Dollars because the future of the mortgage interest deduction would be completely unknown for the 30 million homeowners who claim it.
- People's Health Insurance Could Be Threatened because the exclusion from income for employer-provided health benefits would be in jeopardy. Over 165 million Americans are covered by employer-provided health benefits.
- Family's Retirement Security Would be Less Solid with the Potential Elimination of Tax Incentives for Pensions, 401(k)s, and IRAs. This would result in less employer-sponsored retirement savings and less promotion of retirement saving vehicles, which many believe would harm retirement income security. About 60 million Americans and retirees participate in employer provided pension plans structured around provisions in the income tax code and about 22 million have established IRAs.
- Critical Enacted Tax Relief Would Be Threatened. The balanced budget the President delivered provides a $500 child tax credit to 26 million families and $1,500 HOPE Scholarships to 5.8 million students. This proposal places these tax cuts at risk.
- The Uncertainty Created Would Harm Business Investment Decisions. Every plan to purchase a piece of equipment or build a factory has tax consequences. The uncertainty about the future of the tax system will raise interest rates, slow investment, and cost jobs. Moreover, there are over $3 trillion in investment costs that have yet to be recovered. The proposal would make future recovery uncertain and would necessitate very complex transition rules.
- The Proposal Would Create Tremendous Uncertainty for Charitable Institutions of all types -- churches, cultural institutions, medical research institutes, colleges and universities, and relief organizations -- that rely on $80 billion in deductible charitable contributions each year.

FOR MANY IN THE CONGRESSIONAL MAJORITY, SUNSETTING THE TAX CODE IS A DEVICE TO BE USED TO IMPOSE EITHER A NATIONAL SALES TAX OR A FLAT TAX. All of these proposals would either: undermine fiscal discipline and drain surpluses that could be critically important to saving Social Security first or raise taxes on tens of millions of working families.

President Clinton: Defending the Economy From a Reckless Scheme

As President Clinton has said:

“We put in place a three-part economic strategy rejecting these false choices from the past:

- First, restoring fiscal discipline and conquering the deficits that hobbled growth, spiked interest rates, and robbed our economy of capital for investment throughout the 1980s.
- Second, investments in our people, in science and technology, in education and job training, and health care, so that everyone has a chance to reap the rewards of growing prosperity.
- And third, we responded to the global nature of the new economy by opening new markets to our goods and services.

The strategy is clearly working. There is renewed confidence in the American economy. Its stability, its strength, its steady growth are the envy of the world.” [Speech to Mortgage Bankers Association, March 2, 1998]

Automated Records Management System

The nation is enjoying the strongest economy in a generation: the lowest unemployment rate, 4.3 percent, in 28 years, the first surplus since 1969, and more than 16 million new jobs created. The reckless attempt to sunset the tax code poses a direct threat to our economic prosperity. As President Clinton has said:

“All that would be certain about this proposal is uncertainty. And again I say, as all of you in this room well know, uncertainty is the enemy of economic growth. We live in a world where there is a lot of change and unpredictability and uncertainty, by definition, in the nature of this new economy. But to do well, you have to at least know what the rules are.

Our economy is growing because consumer confidence and business investment are at record highs.... What people think is going to happen, as all of you know, in an economy, is just as important as what in fact is happening today. Almost every business investment has tax consequences. With no ability to predict the consequences, businesses might decide to postpone, cancel, or pare back on plans to buy new computers, build a new factory, hire new workers. How could you plan, construct, or finance a new apartment complex or shopping center if you couldn't calculate the return on investment because you couldn't determine the tax consequences?

Business growth would stall in that kind of uncertainty. And economic uncertainty is no friend to families. The scheme to abolish the tax code could threaten nearly every American family's best-laid plans for the future.” [Speech to Mortgage Bankers Association, March 2, 1998, emphasis added].

Broad Support for President Clinton's Stand Defending the Economy

- As Chamber of Commerce chief economist Martin Regalia said, "It's more than a little dangerous" [Commercial Appeal, 3/22/98, emphasis added].
- The Tax Executive Institute, a nonpartisan association that represents approximately 5,000 in-house tax professionals employed by 2,800 leading companies in the U.S. and Canada, has said:
 - the proposals "illustrate the folly of making tax policy by sound bite and should be rejected."
 - "a company that otherwise would invest millions of dollars in a multi-year expansion of its manufacturing facilities might well demur if the pending legislation were enacted because of uncertainty over whether or how, after December 31, 2001, it would be able to recover its costs. (There are an estimated $ 3 trillion in unrecovered costs of existing property, and of course the current economic expansion is dependent on sustained future investments.)"
 - Similarly, individuals who would otherwise invest and save toward retirement might pause because of uncertainty over how their retirement earnings would be taxed. To repeal the Internal Revenue Code without specifying a replacement system – to exalt the exhilaration of 'doing it now' over the necessity of 'doing it right' – is to threaten major disruptions of the economy and the lives of the American people." [TEI letter to Chairman Archer and Roth, March 23, 1998, emphasis added]
- The President of the National Association of Realtors, Layne Morrill, denounced the sunset idea as "disastrous for American home owners." [Commercial Appeal, 3/22/98, emphasis added].
- Harvey Hirschhorn, a portfolio manager and chief economist at the Chicago-based investment house of Stein Roe & Farnham, told Investors Business Daily that: "If the Tax Code Termination Act were to pass, the markets would experience significant volatility," He also said that, "there's no question about it. The stock market simply doesn't like uncertainty." [Investors Business Daily, 3/24/98, emphasis added].
- On March 5, 1998, Bob Dole said, "I'm not certain about saying we're going to sunset the IRS by the year 2001, unless you've got something to put in its place." [Tax Analysts' Highlights and Documents, March 6, 1998]
- Joel Slemrod, a tax expert at the University of Michigan Business School, has called sunsetting the tax code: "A crazy idea" [The Christian Science Monitor, March 9, 1998].
- Letter from former Commissioners, Democrats and Republicans, of the IRS to Roth and Archer: the sunset proposal "does not meet the standards of reasoned and responsible legislation." [Letter from former Commissioners to Chairmen Roth and Archer, March 19, 1998, emphasis added].

PRESIDENT CLINTON:
REDUCING YOUTH CRIME AND INCREASING ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE

June 17, 1998

"We all agree that our children should have teachers and responsible adults as role models, not drug dealers and gang leaders. I am confident that Congress will act soon to fully fund the 21st Century Learning Centers Initiative, and help our children say no to drugs, alcohol, and crime, and yes to reading, soccer, computers and a brighter future. That is the kind of bipartisan support America needs to meet our greatest national challenges. Whenever we choose progress over partisan politics, the American people win."

President Bill Clinton
June 17, 1998

Today, at a Rose Garden event, President Clinton is joined by First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton, Attorney General Janet Reno, Secretary of Education Richard Riley, Senator James Jeffords (R-VT), and Rep. Leonard Boswell (D-IA) in announcing new grants to establish and expand after-school programs across the country through the 21st Century Community Learning Centers Program. The President will also release a report by the Departments of Justice and Education which shows that after-school programs can work to lower juvenile crime rates, reduce tobacco, drug, and alcohol use among children and improve academic performance.

A DEMAND FOR AFTER-SCHOOL PROGRAMS. Reports show that over 28 million school-age children have both parents, or their only parent in the workforce. At least 5 million, and possibly as many as 15 million children are left alone at home each week. Incidents of violent crime by juveniles more than double in the hour after most schools let out and our children are at the greatest risk of being the victim of a violent crime in the hours immediately after school lets out. Experts agree that school-age children who are unsupervised during the hours after school are far more likely to use drugs, alcohol, and tobacco, commit crimes, receive poor grades and drop out of school than those who are involved in supervised, constructive activities.

A PRESIDENTIAL PLAN FOR ACTION. Today, the President announces new grants to establish 21st Century Community Learning Center after-school programs for our nation's children. The grants will be disbursed to 315 schools in 36 states who will provide programs for children after school, and during the weekends and summers, in safe, drug-free and supervised environments. This was one of the most competitive grant programs ever managed by the Department of Education; over 2,000 applications were received, but only 1 of 20 applicants could be funded.

AFTER-SCHOOL PROGRAMS CAN REDUCE JUVENILE CRIME AND BOOST ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE. The President will release a new report issued by the Departments of Justice and Education, which shows the positive effects after-school programs can have on children:

- Many communities that have adopted after-school initiatives have experienced lower juvenile crime rates and lower tobacco, drug, and alcohol use among young people;
- Quality after-school programs improve academic performance -- helping more children stay in school, increasing aspirations for college, and lowering the number of children who must be kept back.

A CHILD CARE AGENDA FOR THE 21ST CENTURY. The President's child care agenda proposes a dramatic investment in the 21st Century Community Learning Centers Program to benefit up to one-half million children each year. The President's proposal requires that schools work closely with community organizations in establishing these programs, and provides funding for community-based organizations to establish or expand their own after-school programs. The 21st Century Community Learning Centers Program is part of the President's historic child care initiative to help families pay for child care, improve the safety and quality of care, and promote early learning.

MEMORANDUM TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM: GENE SPERLING
SALLY KATZEN

RE: BANKRUPTCY REFORM LEGISLATION

Last week, the House passed, by a veto-proof majority, a bankruptcy bill that your administration said it "strongly opposes." A better, but still flawed, bill (voted out of committee 16-2) may be taken up by the Senate before the July 4th recess or soon thereafter. Both bills were changed recently to address concerns that you, the First Lady, and others have raised about their impact on debtors' capacity to pay child support and alimony, although some problems still remain.

After an NEC interagency review, your advisors have reached a consensus that some bankruptcy reform is important. These bills contain many provisions that are beneficial, including a cap on state homestead exemptions, debtor education pilots, penalties for unjustified creditor activities, measures to discourage bad-faith repeat filings, and provisions to improve data collection and audit procedures. However, certain controversial provisions of the current bills need significant changes to satisfy our objectives and concerns. We propose to advance quickly an Administration proposal in hopes of influencing the Senate bill on the floor and giving the Administration greater leverage in conference. The proposal would address three issues: (1) limitations on access to Chapter 7; (2) new nondischargeable debts and their impact on child support and alimony payments; and (3) new provisions to protect against coercive creditor behavior and to require more responsibility from creditors in extending credit. The group also has identified alternatives to parts of this proposal on which we could compromise, if necessary.

I. BACKGROUND

Rising Consumer Bankruptcies: Despite what Goldman Sachs recently called "the best economy ever," personal bankruptcies have continued to rise sharply, from roughly 800,000 in 1994 to nearly 1.4 million in 1997. Recent figures for the first quarter of 1998 showed another 20 percent increase over 1997's pace.

Disputed Causes: There is much dispute about the cause of this increase, but little definitive evidence. Creditors assert that lawyer advertising, reduced social stigma, and increased information about the financial advantages of bankruptcy have encouraged an increasing number of consumers to walk away from debts they could pay back. Consumer advocates argue that lenders have irresponsibly extended too much credit to families who are ill-prepared to handle it, and that most bankruptcies happen when unexpected events push such a family over the financial edge; indeed, rising bankruptcy rates track closely rising levels of unsecured debt, although causation cannot be proven.

Potential for Abuse: Under current rules, some debtors with high incomes walk away from their debts entirely, even when they have the capacity to repay at least a portion of those debts; other debtors file repeatedly without any intention of completing bankruptcy, for the purpose of delaying bona fide collection activities; and generous state exemptions (including unlimited homestead exemptions in eight states and exemptions for items like race horses and silver spoons in Virginia) prompt some to shift assets to exempt categories prior to a bankruptcy filing to avoid making payment to any unsecured creditors. Consumer advocates argue that these cases are not the norm and should not prompt limits on those who genuinely need bankruptcy's fresh start.

Consumer Impact: Regardless of who is to blame, higher levels of debt charge-offs appear to raise the cost of credit for everyone. One industry study suggests that bankruptcies cost every American household between $300-400 per year. Higher credit costs disproportionately fall on lower-income families, since they are more likely to carry a balance on their card. While in the past credit card interest rates did not always rise and fall with market rates, the industry is now more competitive, so that reduced bankruptcies are likely to translate to lower interest rates and increased access to credit for those who pay their bills.

Legislative Momentum: The popularity of these bills can be explained by the system's vulnerability to abuse and the apparent consumer costs, as well as an extremely effective and well-financed industry campaign and legislators' fears of being labeled protectors of deadbeats.

II. LIMITATIONS ON ACCESS TO CHAPTER 7 BANKRUPTCY

Current Law: Today, there is little limit on debtor's access to Chapter 7's full and immediate discharge of debt (usually with no payments to unsecured creditors); however, in some circuits, courts find, on their own motion, that it is "substantial abuse" for a debtor with the ability to repay 20% of their unsecured debts over three years, after taking account of all necessary expenses, to go through Chapter 7 rather than a Chapter 13 repayment plan,

House and Senate Bills: Both bills would require those with the capacity to repay a portion of their debt to do so under a Chapter 13 plan. We opposed the House bill because it determines access to Chapter 7 under a rigid "means test" that does not take into account the unique circumstances of individual debtors. The Senate approach is more flexible, building on the abuse test in use in some circuits. The Senate bill would authorize a bankruptcy judge to apply this test to any debtor with income above the median and, for the first time, allow creditors to file the motion seeking a determination of abuse. Creditors would have to pay debtors' attorneys fees if their filings were not 'substantially justified' or were brought to coerce a debtor to waive a right.

Administration proposal: We propose a variation on the Senate bill whereby the bankruptcy court would have discretion to determine whether or not a debtor's use of Chapter 7 is abuse; however, there would be a presumption of abuse if a debtor has an income above the median and the capacity to repay either at least 30% of her debts or some specified amount (such as $5000) over three years. (No debtor would be denied access to Chapter 7 unless she had the ability to repay a minimum of $50 a month in unsecured, nonpriority debt. Any lesser amount is too small to merit the Chapter 13 administrative costs or to risk the chance that the creditor was pursuing the motion to coerce the debtor to forgo another bankruptcy right.)

We also would provide that, if a debtor moved more than $50,000 from nonexempt to exempt assets within one year of the filing, she would be subject to a presumption of abuse, regardless of income. In determining a debtor's capacity to repay, we propose to explicitly exclude luxuries (e.g., expensive cars or boats) from necessary expenses.

These presumptive guidelines could be overcome if the court determined, e.g., that the debtor faced unusual but necessary expenses or could not be expected to maintain reliably her current level of income. Such presumptive guidelines have proven to be highly effective in promoting uniformity and fairness in establishing child support award amounts. Since the average debtor under Chapter 13 repays 20% of her debts and has income below the national median, those who meet this higher threshold are the most likely to succeed under a repayment plan.

III. NONDISCHARGEABLE DEBT AND ITS IMPACT ON CHILD SUPPORT AND ALIMONY

The Bankruptcy Code makes debts nondischargeable only where there is an overriding public purpose, as with child support, alimony, educational loans, tax obligations, or debts incurred by fraud. The House and Senate bills have provisions that would broaden the categories of nondischargeable credit card debt, although the largest new category has been dropped and the two remaining categories narrowed. These provisions raise two questions: (1) Do the additional debts made nondischargeable by these bills rise to the same level of public priority as other nondischargeable debts? and (2) What impact does the protection of new categories of debt have on the ability of the debtor, post-bankruptcy, to repay existing categories of nondischargeable debt (e.g., child support and alimony, educational loans, and taxes)? They also force us to recognize that consumers use credit cards today for many purposes that were inconceivable only a few years ago (e.g., groceries or paying student loans). This Administration envisions -- and, in fact, encourages -- greater use of electronic commerce.

Debts incurred to pay other nondischargeable debts.

Current law: If a debtor uses a credit card to pay federal taxes, the credit card debt is nondischargeable.

House and Senate bills: Both make a debt incurred to pay any nondischargeable debt nondischargeable, although the Senate effectively eliminates the provision if the debtor is a single parent or owes child support and/or alimony.

Administration Proposal: We propose that the current law remain unchanged; however, if a debtor paid a nondischargeable debt with a credit card, it would be a factor in determining whether the debtor's use of Chapter 7 was abuse.

Debts incurred in the period immediately before bankruptcy.

Current Law: Debts for luxuries over $1000 owed to a single creditor within 60 days of bankruptcy are nondischargeable. There is some evidence that this provision and other anti-fraud provisions do not prevent some debtors from running up debt knowing that a discharge is likely.

House and Senate Bills: Both would make all debts incurred within 90 days of bankruptcy for luxuries be presumptively nondischargeable. In addition, they would make presumptively nondischargeable debt above ($250 in the House; $400 in the Senate) per credit card for necessaries during the same period.

Administration Proposal: We propose to agree to make debt for luxuries within 90 days of bankruptcy presumptively nondischargeable; however, a cap of $250 or $400 on necessary expenses incurred prior to bankruptcy is inappropriate. One can easily imagine a family, in the months prior to bankruptcy, paying for rent, school clothes, and even groceries on their credit card. Courts can easily compare current spending patterns to prior spending and determine whether charges are truly for necessary expenses.

Child Support and Alimony Considerations

We should note that the current bills have seven different new provisions designed to either mitigate the impact of the additional nondischargeable debt on payment of child support and alimony or to give child support and alimony additional protections in and after bankruptcy. Some experts we have consulted argue that the benefits provided by these additional provisions outweigh any modest harm to child support and alimony payments that remains from the nondischargeability provisions. On the other hand, the women's groups continue their opposition to these bills. Moreover, these provisions, which focus only on child support and alimony, do not address our policy concern that new nondischargeable debt will now compete with other types of existing nondischargeable debts, such as educational loans. For these reasons, the Administration proposals described above would allow only one small category of new nondischargeable debt (luxuries purchased 90 days before bankruptcy) where there is a policy argument against allowing run-up prior to bankruptcy; for the remaining categories, we would leave current law or address the problem a different way.

IV. ADDITIONAL CONSUMER PROTECTIONS AGAINST PREDATORY CREDITOR PRACTICES

Your advisors are particularly concerned about the unequal bargaining power of the creditor and debtor and how the changes in bankruptcy rules could further shift the balance and create opportunities for coercion and consumer harm. To address this concern, and to ensure legislation requires responsibility of both debtor and creditor, we propose new consumer protections.

Reaffirmations of Unsecured Debt

Although debtors in Chapter 7 have a right to have their unsecured debts discharged, some debtors reaffirm one or more debts. While there may be some circumstances in which it is in the debtor's best interest to do so (e.g., as a condition of obtaining a line of credit needed for a small business), those cases are few. The risk is real, however, that debtors are pressured into reaffirming their debts by aggressive creditors. After Sears recently paid large penalties for such practices, another Bankruptcy Judge (Fenning) said she scrutinized her court records and found evidence of widespread coercive reaffirmations. Since debts reaffirmed survive bankruptcy, they compete with child support and alimony in a post-bankruptcy world. Eliminating coercive reaffirmations also would help to reduce the current level of competition child support and alimony payments face.

Current Law: Disclosures are required and the court must determine that a reaffirmation does not impose an undue hardship on the debtor or a dependant and is in the debtor's best interest; however, an affirmation of the debtor's attorney to that effect suffices.

House and Senate Bills: No related provisions.

Administration Proposal: We propose to require the court itself to find that there was a compelling reason for the debtor to reaffirm a debt, without reliance on counsel affidavits. We also propose to bar reaffirmation of debts that add attorneys' fees and costs to the debt, to increase penalties on attempts to enforce invalid reaffirmations, and to clarify on that the automatic stay bars threats to file abuse motions and solicitations of reaffirmations.

Credit Card Minimum Payment Disclosure

We also believe that some signal should be sent to creditors about lending practices that entice debtors to get further and further into debt.

Current Law: Most debtors believe that by making the minimum payment on their credit card they are slowing working off their debt. However, depending upon the interest rate, they may be falling further and further behind. Creditors are increasingly offering minimum payment plans that amortize debt over decades, if at all.

House and Senate bills: No related provisions.

Administration Proposal: We propose a process for subordinating debt if the creditor did not disclose clearly to the debtor the time period over which the debt would amortize at the minimum payment level. The subordinated debt would only be paid, in a Chapter 13 plan or a Chapter 7 liquidation, after all other unsecured, nonpriority debt. In most cases, this will mean it will never be repaid.

Other Non-Bankruptcy Steps to Improve Consumer Credit Practices

We also are exploring whether there are other non-bankruptcy steps we can take to clamp down on predatory lender practices and better help consumers to understand their own borrowing. We have consensus on a proposal that requires all lenders to disclose the time period over which debt is amortized by minimum payments. This proposal, and others under review, fall under the jurisdiction of other committees. Thus, it is not feasible to insist that Congress include these proposals in the bankruptcy bill at this time. However, we might unveil these proposals in connection with a campaign to educate consumers about the use of credit, using the bully pulpit the way we have done to encourage retirement savings.

V. ADVISORS' RECOMMENDATIONS

All your advisors recommend we proceed as described, including CoS, NEC, Counsel, OPL, OLA, OMB, CEA, DPC, First Lady, DoJ, Treasury, Commerce, and Education.

- The NEC believes that requiring greater responsibility of both creditors and debtors is the best way to address the “unclean hands” of some of the legislation’s proponents.
- Treasury and CEA emphasize that needs-based reform will decrease the cost of, and increase access to, credit for those debtors who do pay their bills by limiting opportunistic bankruptcy among those higher income debtors who do not.
- DoJ supports the plan and stresses that other provisions of these bills, like the cap on state homestead exemptions, measures to discourage bad faith repeat filings, and provisions to improve data collection and audit procedures, are important reforms.
- OPL believes that, while consumer advocates oppose any bill, reforms limiting access to Chapter 7 and stemming coercive reaffirmations appear valid. OPL wants to see us fight for aspects of our proposal that protect against any impact on child support (before or after bankruptcy) of new nondischargeable credit card debt.
- The First Lady’s Office strongly supports advancing proposals that achieve more balanced reform by calling for responsibility on the part of the creditor as well as the debtor, and recommends that we continue to focus on the child support issue to ensure that protections in this area are as strong as possible.

- OLA stresses the popularity of bankruptcy reform and advises that we advance proposals that have a realistic prospect of inclusion, or we may find ourselves faced with overwhelmingly popular legislation that fails to satisfy our announced concerns.

TEXT:

This email is from Stephanie Streett, Amy Weiss Tobe, Jen Palmieri, Cherie Carter, Karen Skelton and Me.

We have come together to organize a celebration for our Women friends on their way to new and exciting opportunities. We will be honoring the following WH Women:

Sylvia Mathews
Maria Echaveste
Susan Liss
Minyon Moore
Audrey Haynes

Linda Moore

We would like to include you all as part of our organizing committee to throw a festive party for our top girls as they embark on their new journeys. We have made the following arrangements:

Date: June 25, 1998
Time: 7pm - 9pm
Place: Music City Roadhouse
1050 30th Street NW (Georgetown)
Refreshments: Vittles and Beer will be provided

As part of the organizing committee we have the following obligations to pull off a successful and enjoyable celebration:

1) Invite women in your department that you think should be invited because of their relationship or work with one of the women being honored.

2) Invite any women outside the WH that you know are close with any of the women being honored.

3) To contribute $50 towards the overall cost of the party (if possible cash to Jen Palmieri would be great -- but we will get back to you on that.)

4) To show up!! And discourage gifts to any of the above honorees.

5) To offer any suggestions or ideas on how to make this celebration a night that our sister girls can always remember!!

Thanks for your participation with this, it will be a fun night! Please feel free to let any of us know if you are unable to participate as part of the organizing committee. Thank you.

HOUSE RULES COMMITTEE IS SCHEDULED TO MEET TODAY AT 4PM ON THE ENERGY & WATER APPROPRIATIONS FY99 BILL. ATTACHED IS A DRAFT SAP FOR YOUR REVIEW. PLEASE PROVIDE COMMENTS BY 3:30PM.

H.R. 4060 -- ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT
APPROPRIATIONS BILL, FY

1999

(Sponsors: Livingston (R), Louisiana; McDade (R), Pennsylvania)

This Statement of Administration Policy provides the Administration's views on the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Bill, FY 1999, as reported by the House Appropriations Committee. Your consideration of the Administration's views would be appreciated.

The Administration appreciates the challenges faced by the Committee in funding a wide array of needs within tight budgetary constraints. However, we are concerned that the $723 million increase provided by the Committee for Army Corps of Engineers projects has come at the expense of other priority programs.

Army Corps of Engineers

We urge the House to redirect some of the unrequested funding added by the Committee for Army Corps of Engineers construction activities to fully fund priority Corps activities at their requested levels, such as the Columbia and Snake River salmon recovery efforts and Everglades restoration, and to ameliorate harsh cuts in other priority programs funded by the bill.

Renewable Energy

The Committee mark eliminates the Administration's requested increase for the solar and renewable energy program, effectively freezing it at its current level and eliminating funding for many valuable cost-shared projects with industry. The Committee has also cut requested new funding for fundamental research into carbon sequestration and climate-change dynamics in half, a reduction of $13.5 million from the President's request. These funding levels result in a reduction of about one-third -- $107 million -- in the President's total requested increase for development of clean, non-greenhouse gas power sources. These changes would seriously undercut the Department of Energy's (DOE's) ability to move into the next phases of some of the most promising research now underway, eliminate accelerated introduction of clean power sources, and restrict our ability to lower greenhouse gas emissions levels. The Administration strongly opposes these reductions. These programs provide numerous benefits including greenhouse gas reduction, increased industrial competitiveness, increased job opportunities, reduced energy costs for consumers, increased energy independence, and improved air quality. We will work with the Congress to restore funding in this critical area.

Department of Energy Defense Activities

The Administration strongly objects to the Committee's $358 million reduction to the request for nuclear weapons activities. The Committee states that $305 million of that reduction is to come from the use of prior-year balances. Such large balances are not available. This cut would force real reductions in critical programs needed to ensure the safety, security, and reliability of America's nuclear deterrent.

The Committee has cut $15 million from the request for the Worker and Community Transition Program and has added $16 million for the unrequested acceleration of decommissioning activities at old facilities used for Naval Reactors Development. The Naval facilities are in safe shutdown conditions and are not a threat to the environment. The Administration objects to the shifting of funds needed to assist displaced workers to accelerate low-priority activities.

Science and Fusion

The Administration appreciates the Committee's efforts to fund fully the majority of the Science accounts.

However, the Committee proposes to eliminate all funds for the Next Generation Internet (NGI) program at the Department of Energy. The NGI initiative, announced by the President last fall, provides the R&D necessary to revolutionize high-speed networking capabilities in the United States. Some DOE laboratories will be among the facilities to benefit from the 1,000-times faster network to be established by the NGI. Further, the multi-agency NGI effort will suffer without the participation of the Department's expert network and user communities.

The Administration strongly objects to the $57 million reduction in the request (down to a level of $100 million) for construction of the Spallation Neutron Source (SNS) in FY 1999. The Administration is committed to providing the resources required to complete the SNS at cost and on schedule.

Finally, the Administration objects to the elimination of funding to participate in the extension of the international planning process that led to the international design effort for the International Thermonuclear Experimental Reactor (ITER). This action would have a serious negative impact on U.S. participation in future international fusion efforts. Moreover, since the United States hosts the international design center in San Diego, California, the Administration is concerned that a U.S. withdrawal from the ITER-planning process would undermine the credibility of the United States in future negotiations on international science projects.

Environmental Management

The Administration objects to the $230 million reduction in the Defense Environmental Management Privatization account. These funds are needed to meet required milestones and complete nuclear waste cleanup of DOE facilities. The Administration also opposes the $47 million reduction in the Uranium Enrichment Decontamination and Decommissioning Fund. This reduction would significantly delay environmental restoration efforts at the plants covered by the fund, thereby increasing the cost for these activities.

Nuclear Waste Disposal

The Committee's reduction of $30 million to the request for the civilian radioactive waste program, and its directive to reduce support services by ten percent, would significantly reduce the quality of data and analysis for the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) at Yucca Mountain. A quality DEIS, which is an FY 1999 milestone, is a necessary prerequisite to an FY 2001 Site Recommendation.

Bureau of Reclamation

We urge the Committee to fund fully the request for the California Bay-Delta program. Less than full funding could delay Federal and State efforts to restore this important ecosystem. We also urge the Committee to restore the reductions totaling over $60 million in other Bureau of Reclamation programs, in particular $16 million for the environmentally important, user-financed Central Valley Project Restoration Fund and $11 million for vital dam safety work.

Other Issues

The Administration strongly objects to the Committee's providing only $5 million of $34 million requested for the Nuclear Energy Research Initiative and the Nuclear Energy Plant Optimization program and urges that the full amount of the request be restored.

As drafted, the Committee's transfer proposal could leave a gap in safety and health oversight at the Lawrence Berkeley facility. Specific statutory authorization may be needed to provide either OSHA or the State of California with appropriate jurisdiction for regulating occupational safety and health. In consultation with congressional authorizing committees, the Administration is developing a plan for oversight of both occupational and nuclear safety within the DOE complex.

The Administration is concerned about the bill's reduction to the program direction accounts in Departmental Administration. The Administration would like to work with the Committee to ensure that the Department has the necessary work skills within its work force and that reductions in force are not needed.

The Administration objects to the Committee's elimination of all appropriations for the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). TVA's non-power programs should receive Federal appropriations just as similar programs in other regions of the Nation are financed by appropriations to other Federal agencies.

Finally, the Administration objects to section 306 of the Committee bill which appears to impact adversely efforts at national laboratories to stimulate cross-cutting developments in the private sector.
