Caseloads Continue Their Record Declines: New caseload data show the welfare rolls have fallen below 8 million for the first time since 1969 and have fallen nearly 2 million since last year's State of the Union. The welfare rolls have declined by 43 percent since January 1993, when they stood at 14.1 million, and by 35 percent since their August 1996. The percentage of the U.S. population on welfare is at its lowest in 30 years -- 2.9 percent (in 1968 it was 2.8). The number of people on welfare is at its lowest in 29 years (in 1969 there were 6.7 million people on the rolls). [Note: we're counting years through 1998 since that's when data is from -- we could probably add another year if we wanted to count through 1999 since that's when we're releasing the data]

Attached is the concept paper that Andrea and I worked on re: the ESL/Civics initiative. We are still looking at some of the details, but wanted to get your input, etc. The one more substantive question is whether we want to set aside some portion of the money for a state-only competition, and leave the rest for a competition open to CBOs, churches, etc. Education has argued that the state-only set-aside helps institutionalize the effort and promotes states' leveraging existing literacy block grant funds. The down side is, perhaps, less of a community based focus and less money used for direct services (though we could, i suppose, build in a requirement that the funds be used in a way that is community-based and that the bulk of the grant must be used for services).

We are also not sure how much detail on this part of the initiative we would want to release with the budget or whether this initiative will be part of the SOTU. NEC has indicated that they would like to do a larger literacy event, of which this would be a part. We are following up with them to determine if this is for real.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND CIVICS EDUCATION

Purpose

Many people who are new to America need more than just our welcome: in order to succeed and become full participants in American life, they need to be able to speak and read in English and they need to understand how our American system works -- in the areas of school, work, and community life. The evidence from within immigrant communities demonstrates high levels of enthusiasm for learning English and participating in civic life; however, the demand for instruction in these areas far outweighs the current supply.

Our goal is to help states and communities provide expanded access to high quality English language proficiency instruction, linked to practical instruction in civics, history, and life skills including how to navigate the banking system, the public education system, and/or the workplace. This initiative is designed both to help meet the extraordinary demand for English and civics instruction in immigrant communities as well as to demonstrate the commitment of both immigrants and the larger American society toward full integration of new Americans into our social and civic life.

Rationale

- There is an increased demand for English language instruction in immigrant communities. English language instruction is the fastest growing component in adult education -- enrollment in ESL has increased 72% over the past ten years. Also, many of the more effective ESL programs teach English in combination with more practical skill building, such as how to navigate school, work, public services, etc.
- The link to civic education promotes "One America" goals -- assisting new immigrants to become full participants in American life.
- Because each community has different needs and different populations of immigrants, we should encourage communities to develop English language / civic education projects tailored to their specific needs and populations.

Eligible Grantees

States will compete for $30 million in grants to support ESL/civics instruction on a state-wide basis. These grants would range in value from $3 - $5 million. States could then effectively leverage their own ESL funds in support of this initiative. States would be required to provide a match of at least 25% (consistent with the basic grant)

Community-based organizations, local education agencies, tribally-controlled schools, institutions of higher education (including community colleges), public libraries, and other non-profits (such as unions, churches, and schools) would compete for $40 million in funds. The non-state grants would range in value from $150,000 to $1.5 million.

Total Funding Level

The initiative would be funded at $70 million for FY 2000 -- $30 million for the state competition; $40 million for the competition that includes community-based organization, etc..

How does it work?

The competitive grant project would be run out of the Department of Education's Office of Vocational and Adult Education (OVAE).

Grants can be used for varied purposes related to the program including English language/civics instruction, staff materials, personnel training, and support services including child care and transportation costs for program participants (if not otherwise available).

We would require a strong accountability component: grant recipients will report semi-annually to the Secretary of Education.

Who can we serve?

With $70 million, the initiative will be able to provide ESL/civics instruction (for 8-16 weeks) to approximately 150,000 people. (need to confirm whether there are restrictions on serving only legal immigrants).

Grant application requirements:

(1) English language education should be linked to instruction on the rights and responsibilities of citizenship (including civics and U.S. history); the rights and responsibilities associated with being residents in their communities; and/or navigating various parts of American life, including how to use the banking system, accessing employment and improving work skills, navigating the public school system, using the public transportation system, accessing child care, dealing with housing issues, voting, paying taxes, etc. Each program should provide a contextualized basis for the language instruction itself.

(2) Proposals should identify how the applicant plans to determine the impact of their program; we will expect applicants to have quality controls to assess the impact of their work. State applicants will need to demonstrate a clear need for increased funds for ESL services in their state.

(3) Applicants should consider ways to effectively link with state or local educational institutions.

(4) Proposals should recognize the unique needs of this population by incorporating flexible and non-traditional approaches, such as evening and week-end hours, technology as a tool to expand access, and workplace and/or community-based sites, etc.

- (5) Encourage the use of volunteers, including Americorps and VISTA volunteers, mentors from the students' country of origin, and the Retired Senior Volunteer Corps.
- (6) Encourage partnerships with employers and/or employer groups to help improve the employment and life skills of their workforce.
- (7) Encourage strong links with existing programs at the state, local, and community level, including education, employment, refugee resettlement, housing, and transportation programs.
- (8) Must demonstrate significant unmet need for these services.

Current Initiatives

The Department of Education currently funds a $361 million Adult Education basic grant program. Under this program, the states decide how much of their Adult Education money to devote to ESL. Last year, 46% of these dollars ($166 million) went to ESL programs administered by states. However, in many areas there are long waiting lists.

In FY 99, the Department of Education received $7 million for ESL demonstration programs. They have not yet decided precisely what to do with it. Some of this money could be used to provide research and evaluation of the various programs funded under this initiative.

For the last five years, the Department of Health and Human Services Office of Refugee Resettlement (ORR) has operated the Community and Family Strengthening Program which addresses the needs of refugees becoming part of the community as well as the community learning about refugees. These projects are designed by the communities to respond to the priorities they determine. However, only about 10% of new immigrants are refugees, so these programs do not reach the vast majority of immigrants.

And here's a list of our welfare announcements overall:

(1) Welfare caseloads have fallen below 8 million (down 43% since he took office and 35% since he signed the welfare reform bill)

(2) 10,000 companies have joined the Welfare-to-Work Partnership,

(3) The federal government has met our goal of hiring 10,000 welfare recipients by 2000 (we have to round slightly to get there)

(4) The budget will include $1 billion more in Welfare-to-Work funds and to help those welfare recipients still on the rolls who face the greatest challenges get jobs and succeed in the work force, with a new emphasis on increasing the employment of low income fathers so they can better meet their responsibilities to their children.

(5) Announce the availability of $240 million this spring for the third round of Welfare-to-Work Competitive grants focusing on individuals with the greatest challenges (substance abuse, low basic skills/ESL, disabilities)

(6) 25,000 more welfare-to-work housing vouchers,

(7) $150 million for Access to Jobs transportation,

(8) $20 million for Individual Development Accounts,

 Subject: A reminder about guidance

A plea to those of you who provide guidance. Please remember that our deadline for guidance EVERY DAY is 11:00am unless you hear otherwise. There are no exceptions. It is unfair for us to expect Joe to prepare adequately in less time than the 11:00 deadline provides. If, for some reason, and these cases should be RARE, you absolutely cannot get your guidance in, please call me and let me know WELL BEFORE the 11:00 deadline. Thanks so much.

I need to update our form letters regarding the administration's partial birth abortion policy. Do you have any current policy facts, language, phrases, etc. I can use? I don't think we've done anything specific on this in a while, and I'm having a tough time finding any updated info. on it. Thanks!

TEXT:

He still wants to remove "remains committed to protecting tobacco farmers and their communities" and to keep in "to fulfill national commitments" in the Medicaid chapter. he feels strongest about the second, says he worked the language out with Jack but is willing to consider alternative suggestions. I told him no way, we want our edits. He is going to call me again when he returns to the building (he was calling from a loud restaurant which made conversation difficult).

On farmers, he thinks we're making a mistake giving people a sound bite that they quote and follow by saying we did nothing in the budget for them.

On Medicaid recoupment, I think he's totally wrong, but what about proposing back

"work with the states and the Congress to enact tobacco legislation that, among other things, resolves these federal claims in exchange for a commitment by the states to use tobacco money to fulfill national commitments to support national and state priorities including for efforts to reduce youth smoking, public health and children's programs, and affected rural communities"

Protect farmers and farming communities. The Administration remains committed to protecting tobacco farmers and their communities, and is monitoring closely on-going efforts by state, farmer, and industry representatives to provide funding and purchase commitments to tobacco farmers. The Administration will look forward to working with all parties, as needed, to ensure the financial well-being of tobacco farmers, their families, and their communities. Farmers never marketed cigarettes to children; they should be protected.

Since US taxpayers paid a substantial portion of the Medicaid costs that were the basis for much of the state settlement with the tobacco companies, Federal law requires that the Federal government recoup its share. However, the Administration will again support legislation to waive direct Federal recoupment, if states agree to use a portion of funds from the settlement for programs currently financed by Federal taxpayers. is open to will working with the states and the Congress to enact tobacco legislation that, among other things, resolves these federal claims in exchange for a commitment by the states to use tobacco money to fulfill national commitments for efforts to reduce youth smoking, public health and children's programs, and affected rural communities.

FYI. As you know, OMB has been in discussions with INS and DOJ re: whether INS is going to meet their naturalization productivity projections for the first quarter of FY 1999. As of today, INS has yet to produce a briefing for OMB that describes, in detail, where they are and how they intend to meet their goals. However, because the new naturalization fee takes effect at the end of this week (Friday), Doris wants to brief the Hill asap on the status of their naturalization effort. OMB (Deich) and DOJ (Colgate) are very opposed to her doing any kind of briefing on the Hill before we have a better sense of the numbers and before we are all comfortable with how they are telling this story.

I just wanted to give you a heads up on this in case Doris contacts you re: this issue.

TEXT:

Eli's excited about the event and is coming up with CEO ideas.

He stressed that companies now know hiring from the welfare rolls is good for business -- that's why the Partnership's membership has doubled in the last 8 months to 10,000. It's critical that these companies have service providers -- whether they're nonprofits like Goodwill, for-profits, or local governments -- that can help them find and support these new workers so they succeed on the job. The $1 billion in new Welfare to Work money will help do that.

We're picturing the ideal event would include a CEO from a company that joined the Partnership in the last year, perhaps accompanied by a half dozen or so of his employees hired from the welfare rolls (this would also enable us to have a father or two in the group).

1) The CEO speaks, says why hiring from the welfare rolls has helped his business and why we must invest more but the payoff in job retention makes it worth it

2) One of his employees introduces the President

3) The President speaks

If we need someone from the WH to open, maybe it could be Bruce?

Since we have three Cabinet Secretaries involved in the announcements (Shalala -- new caseload numbers; Herman -- new Welfare to Work funds; Slater -- new welfare to work transportation funds) I think it's critical that none of them speak, least we end up with a whole parade. Thus on stage we have the Cabinet Secretaries and the group of welfare success stories?

If we can get more CEOs in town, we'd put them on stage, and maybe have them do a roundtable with the beat reporters?

We're searching for local off-site locations, but suspect that we'd be more likely to be able to import a good example (CEO and workers) than find the ideal spot nearby.

Subject: Welfare to Work Event -- 1/25

I wanted to give you all some information I'm picking up about the upcoming Welfare to Work event on January 25.

We will not be able to hold the event in the House itself due to an event in the evening that will take all day to set up. We should think about either an off-site venue that would work, or if we want to do the event in 450.

I understand that in the message meeting this morning they discussed making this a "big deal" event, and would like to heavily involve Eli and possibly some CEOs.

Let me know if there is more information I can try to get for you, or if you have any questions.

Thanks!

I gather we want to do an accountability event next week. If so, my initial recommendation would be to see if we can go to a school in Maryland--either Baltimore or PG County, in which the state is undertaking the kind of serious intervention we envision in our failing schools policy.

What do you think? I will need to make sure there are failing schools that are now showing signs of success as a result of the state's intervention, and I don't know if we can find enough progress yet. I don't want to start looking if this doesn't seem about right to you.
