To clarify the topics for Friday's 12:30 meeting on a variety of welfare reform topics, the agenda items are:

1. "All or none": this is the question, I believe, of whether the law allows states to pick and choose among classes of legal immigrants as they make their Jan. 1 Medicaid/TANF/SSBG decision. (Elena, I'd be interested in your take on this.)
2. $500 million: this is the HCFA admin money for eligibility. HCFA has promised to share their approach with the states next week (no paper). This is the issue where the states will want a straightforward formula distribution of this money, but HCFA wants to use some of the money to reward states that do a good job on eligibility/outreach. So states may not be happy.
3. 1931 b vs. d waiver issue: This once-major issue has boiled down to having a very minor impact (really just Nebraska) regardless of the legal theory HHS chooses to interpret the law, but there is still a political overlay, in that the states will be mad if they choose one interpretation; and Chafee/advocates will be mad if we choose another.

4. The issue formerly known as "the California issue": they will have a preliminary take on whether they think states can become a TANF state and get the money early, but defer compliance with time limits, etc., until the first Federal dollar is drawn down.

(Note to the Medicaid types: we are getting a copy tomorrow (at the meeting) of their draft manual issuance. They want to share it with states on Wednesday of next week, so are seeking our comments by COB Monday. I don't know what issues are lurking in it. I assume the health division will come to tomorrow's meeting.)

TEXT:

Dorothy will be calling people's offices to set up a meeting late Friday (or maybe early Monday) for us to discuss the technical corrections package for welfare reform. Dorothy will be circulating an updated package to you today, that we got at a meeting with Tarplin and an assortment of agencies.

The goal of the meeting is to just quickly highlight among ourselves what issues are embedded in the package. OMB has many, many concerns, especially in trying to coordinate this thing, but this meeting would be more to focus on any genuine policy issues. Jeremy and I will take a shot at highlighting them at the meeting in case you don't get time to look at the package, but we can't promise we won't miss something.

HHS wants this to go to the Hill Fri. the 22nd, so they want to wrap this up on Wednesday.

Tarplin wants to consult w/Hill staff in advance on a few delicate items, to make sure we don't walk into anything unexpected, but Keith asked that they hold up on that until OMB has had more time to look at it. So we need to get back to them. For those who care, the Medicaid bucket issue is embedded in here. So if we include it, we are giving up on our other avenue. So that has to get settled.

Here's where I think we are on the various items we need to respond on to HHS this week:

1. Q/A from 10/23 -- KEITH: I just sent over to you some edits from HHS to their draft from last week. I had told John your staff would be working with the ACF and ASMB folks today and tomorrow with the goal of signing off early this week.
2. MEDICAID issues: Please check the following summary:
 - (b)/(d) waiver issue -- I think we are all OK with HHS option #3. I will give them the go-ahead on that this morning
 - all-or-none issue -- I sense a sea change in our view on this issue. I will let HHS know that they do not have the go-ahead to go with the "all" answer. We should regroup by phone on this this morning
 - Medicaid Manual -- we need to let them know by Tues a.m. if there is anything we want them to pull out of the manual before the meetings this week with the states. DIANA: can you check in with OMB and get back directly to Sally
 - Paper on $500M and on TANF/Medicaid eligibility: same as manual. Need to let HHS know if we have any objections to their approach. DIANA: can you coordinate with OMB and get back to Sally directly?
3. TANF state plan issues
 - Six states with minor timing issues: unless Keith/Elena Diana/Emily get back to me this morning with a significant problem on their proposal, I would like to give them the goahead to proceed on the six states with minor TANF timing issues
 - NY/NJ/CAL -- bigger issues; everyone should read this paper closely, and I will schedule a conversation on this for Wednesday.

4. Technicals

I will call Rich this morning. I will tell him our general framework on timing: i.e., won't be done this week; will try to get something out by next week -- LRD in charge, but I will give him a few big comments like drop the bucket, drop the change in penalties, and drop the Title XX transfer. After that, I will tell him, his staff needs to work through LRD. Goal is to have at least a small package up there next week.

PLEASE LET ME KNOW IF THERE ARE ANY PROBLEMS WITH THE TIMETABLES

I personally believe that HHS is wrong on this one. I have never been comfortable with the all or nothing requirement on optional benefits. I believe it puts us in a position where some Governors may say, for example, I would not kick those elderly immigrants out of nursing homes if the Feds did not make me cover every eligibility category in order for me to prevent this. I simply do not have the money for everyone. Along these lines, the all or nothing approach serves, in my opinion, as a disincentive for some states to even consider covering these optional benefits.

As I understand it from Pauline and Nancy Ann, Diana, you did not reach final closure on this one yet? What is your reading on the state of play? What is your feeling on this issue at this point?

I don't remember the specifics of that part of the conversation although I remember the meeting. We were primarily talking about expansions when we talked about states being able to expand. However, let me strongly state I think it is wrong to go with all or nothing. The stories that could come out in the newspapers in the states are as bad as Chris indicates and worse. Financially many states will not be able to cover all without making some very serious cuts in other parts of medicaid or other parts of state budgets and with the public climate such as it is about immigrants I can assure you states will be politically forced to cut all if that is their only choice from the federal government. Thanks for the update.

TEXT:

We can -- and will -- pull back on this one and regroup. I understand the arguments that have been put forth, and think they are good ones. Let me state a few arguments on the other side, though, just to make sure we are thinking of all the angles. First, based on admittedly limited knowledge, it appears that most states are prepared to ante up on this. Therefore, giving them the option to pick and choose may open a door and encourage them to do so, and thereby reduce coverage we would otherwise get. Second, unless I am missing something, state budgets already assume at this point that they will cover all of these people. Governors may argue in the future that deficits have arisen, and they need to cut back in this area to reach balance, but at the moment I don't think anyone has an argument that covering all legal immigrants will cost them money they weren't planning to spend. (I know, that doesn't mean they won't make such an argument publicly....) Finally, I understand the general desirability of offering options to states on Medicaid, and recognize that states may well try to shift blame onto us if we make them cover all legal aliens. But the state option we would offer them here is to offer citizens one Medicaid package and legal immigrants another. You could say we already crossed the line on making distinctions by citizenship status when we signed the bill... but immigration does have more of a Federal interest to it than many other state options.

Anyway, food for thought.

Elena --

Thanks for sending down the Proposition 211 draft. Just before I got your letter incorporating Bruce Lindsey's comments, I received some suggestions from Jennifer O'Connor on the language. Her comments are represented in red, within and following the text below. Should we amend the letter or can we leave it the way it is?

Thank you very much for writing to me about Proposition 211, the California ballot initiative regarding securities lawsuits.

I opposed this Proposition because I felt it would undermine the balance between the federal and the state governments with respect to the regulation of widely traded securities. As my veto of last year's Securities Reform Act attests, I believe strongly in the need to protect the rights of defrauded investors. But after careful consideration, I determined that Proposition 211's creation of a novel cause of action, broader than any now recognized, would have gone too far in the other direction, deterring companies from providing useful information and thereby harming American investors.

Thank you again for giving me your views. Needs something addressing preemption. (I believe we didn't ever do anything and we should say so.)

I've included Chris/Pauline on this for the first time so you can see where I think some of the Medicaid issues are.

Special Flags:

* Elena: as far as I know still no movement on Means Tested, right? Anything we can do?

* Diana: December is here. Will the disability reg on naturalization get out this month?

* Keith: I'll call you about this, but can HHS have go ahead on questions 1,2,3,5 of the 10/23 Q/A?

Thanks. Please email with corrections/updates. Implementation meeting will be tomorrow at 3:00 in room 211.
