I know you had said last week that we needed to oppose the Repub. bill limiting lawsuits where volunteers are involved. But I seem to recall a newspaper article in the past few days saying some kind of compromise was struck which allowed 99 Senators to vote for it. I think it protected the volunteers themselves but not organizations. Do you know if we have moderated our position to support this new version?

TEXT:

fyi-- Diana may have updated you on this, but the product of the Lott-sponsored bipartisan negotiating process for the IDEA reauthorization will be marked up at the full committee level tomorrow morning in both the House and the Senate. Assuming the mark-ups go smoothly, in the afternoon, Secretary Riley will have a press conference (tentatively 3 pm) to praise the legislation, with probable attendees including Sens Lott, Jeffords, Coats, and Harkin, and Reps Goodling, Riggs, Castle, L. Graham, Clay, Martinez, and Miller. Sen. Kennedy might also participate--see below. Floor action on the bill is expected next week, on Tuesday in the House and on Thursday in the Senate. If all goes without a hitch, we could be looking at the potential for a bill signing as early as May 22 or 23.

The main question mark for tomorrow is Kennedy; late in the process he began pushing to give DOJ authority to investigate IDEA matters without having them referred from Education, as a means of toughening enforcement. There has been lots of back and forth between Kennedy and Lott's staff; as of late today it wasn't clear whether Kennedy would pursue this tomorrow, and if he does (and fails) what it would mean for his support for the bill overall, which is getting praise as very balanced from both education and disability advocacy groups. Meanwhile, Kennedy has irritated the Republicans, notably Riggs, for raising the DOJ issue so late. Riggs has made noises about pushing harder on an issue of his own (having to do with services to students in adult prisons) that had already been raised and addressed in the negotiating process, but ED thinks at this point he probably won't.

On one of the biggest sticking point from the last Congress, cessation of services/discipline, my understanding is that the agreement that has been worked out would overrule the 4th Circuit decision and explicitly require states to provide services to special ed students who had been suspended or expelled from school.

TEXT:

Gene Sperling and Rahm Emanuel would like to compile a report of all of the activities undertaken as a part of the budget rollout since Friday, May 2.

Please send a reply email to me by noon tomorrow (Wednesday) with a list of what you, your office, and your principal have accomplished since Friday. Specifically, your list should include a report on those activities and calls listed on the strategy document that was circulated on Friday as well as any other activities or calls that you have completed (e.g., press calls, outreach calls, documents faxed).

Please also list the activities that you, your office, and your principal plan to conduct in the days ahead (e.g., constituency briefings, conference calls, follow-up press calls). Following up on this effort -- and on your reports -- we plan to hold a meeting later in the week to discuss further budget rollout activities.

Thanks very much, both for your timely response to this email, as well as for your patience and efforts on Friday.

TEXT:

House action on the supplemental has apparently been pushed until next week.

In the Senate, there's a rumour that Sen. Gramm is afraid he'll the vote on the Texas welfare amendment, so he may offer the amendment but then say his delegation has asked for a meeting with the White House chief of staff for next week and that out of respect for Bowles he will withdraw the amendment until the face to face meeting. A counterveiling force seems to be that Sen. Hutchison still wants to push for a vote.

The meeting is set for 11:00am in room 472. As I mentioned, it will be a small, informal meeting to bring us up to speed on the issue generally and give some of the legislative background.

Thanks.

Q&As on Welfare Meeting with Texas Delegation
5/7/97

If no decision has been made regarding a meeting between Chief of Staff and Texas delegation:

Question: Did you get a letter from Senators Gramm and Hutchison and Representatives Arney, Delay, Archer, Stenholm, Hall, and Johnson asking for a meeting next week with the President's Chief of Staff? Do you plan to agree to the request?

Answer: We have received the letter, but no meeting has been scheduled yet.

We have never stated publicly the bracketed information, but this was the line taken by the agencies in this meeting with Commissioner McKinney. This distinction does not apply to Temporary Assistance to Needy Families, i.e., cash welfare, which the new welfare law explicitly allows to be privatized.

[These Q&As assume the Chief of Staff agrees to meet with the members of the Texas delegation.]

Question: Did you get a letter from Sen. Gramm, Rep. Archer and other members of the Texas delegation asking for a meeting next week with the President's Chief of Staff? Do you plan to agree to the request?

Answer: We did get the letter. We do plan to meet with these members of Congress to discuss the response we have given to the state of Texas. We do not intend to re-open the issue of the Texas request at this meeting, but instead to discuss with members of Congress the position we will have already discussed with state officials.

Last week, HHS and USDA officials met with the Texas Health and Human Services Commissioner. They told him that the state could release an RFO subject to written guidelines that will be provided by the agencies. By the time the Chief of Staff meets with members of Congress, the agencies will have conveyed these guidelines, which will make clear what federal statutes and regulations allow -- and what they prohibit -- with respect to privatization.

[In general, Texas will not be allowed to privatize eligibility determination or information gathering functions. The state, however, will be able to contract with a private party to do outreach and to revamp computer and other automation systems.]

We have never stated publicly the bracketed information, but this was the line taken by the agencies in this meeting with Commissioner McKinney. This distinction does not apply to Temporary Assistance to Needy Families, i.e., cash welfare, which the new welfare law explicitly allows to be privatized.

As you know, Texas wants to create a state-wide system of offices, run by a private contractor, where residents would apply for Medicaid, Food Stamps, welfare, and other public assistance.

On Friday, HHS and USDA officials met with the Texas Health and Human Services Commissioner. They told him that the state could release an Request for Offers seeking private contractors to operate welfare offices subject to written guidelines that will be provided by the agencies later this week. These guidelines will make clear what federal statutes and regulations allow -- and what they prohibit -- with respect to privatization. In general, Texas will not be allowed to privatize eligibility determination or information gathering functions. The state, however, will be able to contract with a private party to do outreach and to revamp computer and other automation systems.

Yesterday, Senator Hutchison filed an amendment to the supplemental appropriations bill which would allow Texas to create a state-wide, privately-run benefit eligibility system. We have sent a Statement of Administration policy to the Congress saying we strongly oppose this amendment, that we are working with Texas to resolve these issues, and Congressional action is inappropriate at this time. Meanwhile, some members of the Texas delegation, including Rep. Stenholm, Chairman Archer, and Senator Gramm, have sent Erskine a letter requesting a meeting on the subject next week.

Subject: Section 508 issue

Several of us just got a fairly baffling memo from Judy Heumann/Howard Moses of the Education Dept. about a "Section 508" issue. It is a bit of a mess, so I will do my limited best to summarize what is going on.

Section 508 is part of a 20-year-old law (the Rehab Act). It requires that federal computer purchases be accessible. A group of federal appointees with disabilities, led by Howard Moses of Education, has been arguing for months that the Administration (OMB) has not done nearly enough to make sure that agencies are living up to this.

Now there is a bill from Rep. Eshoo that may get added to a larger workforce bill. It would mandate that OMB has some role in all this -- I think to certify that agencies were complying. The Education Dept's memo proposes that we support the bill, and it cc's all the most prominent disability advocates in the administration, including those at the National Council on Disability, who are not entirely internal to the Administration.

It seems very odd to me that we would support a bill that requires us to enforce an existing law. I have told Education this, but they will push hard that it is the only way to get OMB to take any action. It seems like we ought to be able to satisfy them without supporting a change in the law.

Reactions? Corrections?

Update on Juvenile Justice Bill

H.R. 3, the Juvenile Crime Act of 1997 is scheduled for House floor consideration on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning. The version of H.R. 3 currently scheduled for consideration is a narrowly-crafted measure that would amend federal procedures for prosecuting juveniles and provide incentive grants to states, counties and localities for juvenile detention facilities, juvenile prosecutors and juvenile courts. The measure does not include any funding for the prevention of juvenile crime, nor does it include any Administration-proposed firearms measures such as a requirement that child safety locks be sold with every firearm and a provision that establishes a gun purchase disability for juveniles who have committed serious drug or violent offenses. Consequently, the Administration is likely to oppose House passage of H.R. 3 unless it is amended significantly.

The Administration has been negotiating with the House Republican leadership in an attempt to insert several key provisions, including authorizing significant amounts of funding for juvenile crime prevention programs, into a Manager's Amendment that will be offered when the bill is considered on the floor. If the negotiations are successfully concluded, every major component of the Administration's original proposal - prevention, intervention and tough enforcement - would be well-represented in the bill. Chances for a satisfactory settlement, however, as is often the case with crime legislation, are uncertain at best. It is expected that negotiations will conclude, one way or the other, later today.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

Today, the House of Representatives is missing an important opportunity to fight and prevent the scourge of juvenile crime. I oppose passage of H.R. 3, the Juvenile Crime Control Act, because it fails to provide a comprehensive plan to crack down on youth and gang violence.

As I began my second term as President, I made juvenile crime and gangs my top law enforcement priority over the next four years. I called on every police officer, prosecutor, and citizen in America to work together to keep our young people safe and young criminals off our streets.

My Anti-Gang and Youth Violence Strategy declares war on gangs, with a requirement that dealers sell child safety locks with firearms, to protect our kids from using guns to hurt each other or hurt themselves; targeted funding for additional local prosecutors to pursue, prosecute and punish gang members; a Brady Law extension so violent teen criminals will never have the right to purchase a gun; and targeted resources to keep schools open late, on weekends, and in the summer, so young people have something to say yes to.

H.R. 3 fails to provide any of these necessary measures to give law enforcement, prosecutors, and families the tools they need to combat gangs and youth violence in their communities.

Four years ago, we made a commitment to take our streets back from crime and violence. We had a comprehensive plan of 100,000 new community police officers on the street, tough new penalties on the books and keeping guns out of the hands of criminals with the assault weapons ban and the Brady Bill.

Our plan is working. Last year, violent crime came down for the fifth year in a row. And for the first time in seven years, the rate of young people arrested for violent crime and murder has gone down. But we cannot waste this opportunity to bring down violent juvenile crime even further. I will continue to work with Congress to ensure passage of legislation that will give our children the safest and most secure future as possible.

TEXT:

Elena: Remember when you said we should go get a cup of coffee some time? (That was probably 18 months ago). Well, the bill has come due. Instead of a cup of coffee, or reminiscing about those precise and analytical questions you drafted for Justice Ginsburg, you have to read this e-mail about one of your favorite issues concerning the constitutionality of the Amtrak Board of Directors...

After languishing for months we are now in a big hurry to move the Amtrak reauthorization bill to the Hill by the beginning/middle of next week if we can. The sole remaining issue that needs to be ironed prior to transmittal is OLC's concerns about the constitutionality of the appointment of Board members.

We are meeting on Monday at 2 p.m. to try and resolve the issue. Our goal for this meeting to hopefully end up somewhere near to where we were at the end of the last go around -- that is, no proposal to modify the Board of Directors.

DoT has drafted a response to the OLC comments (let me know if you want a copy). This draft discusses the problems of relying on the Lebron decision and the heavy political and financial price which would be paid by supporting OLC's views (it makes it easier to argue that Amtrak's liabilities should be Federal liabilities in event of a bankruptcy). Neil Kinkopf from OLC and perhaps his boss will be coming to this meeting Monday and Bill Marshall from WH Counsel, along with other folks from DoT. We suspect that this issue will again require WH Counsel to weigh in and dissuade OLC from its current views. Any thoughts you could share with us, or Bill on the background of this subject would be helpful. Also, any opinions you have on the best way to proceed (especially opinions which reaffirm your previous wise conclusion on this issue) would be appreciated.
