The information is divided into the following topic areas: education; children and families; crime; welfare reform; environment; service and volunteerism; consumer protection; farming and the food supply; and aid to small businesses.

I. Education

Charter Schools

- Advocating and Funding Charter Schools. When President Clinton took office there was one charter school in existence, as of the 1997-1998 school year, there are more than 800 charter schools.
 - By the end of the 1997-98 academic year, there will be more than 900 charter schools in existence, with the Administration supporting more than 800 of these schools. Source: Department of Education.
 - The average size of charter schools is 200 students. With over 800 schools currently operating, there are over 160,000 students in charter schools. Source: Department of Education's National Study of Charter Schools.
 - The Administration has met approximately 70% of the estimated need for start-up funding for charter schools. These federal funds represent about 6% of the total operating costs for charter schools. Source: Department of Education.

School Uniforms

- Memorandum on the School Uniforms Manual, Memorandum for the Secretary of Education (February 23, 1996). Helped to deter school violence, promote discipline, and foster a better learning environment by promoting school uniforms. Disseminated Manual on School Uniforms to 15,000 school districts in 1996. In addition, 9,167 copies of the manual were distributed to persons who requested them.
 - In Miami, 196 out of 328 public schools now require school uniforms. Source: Department of Education.
 - In New York City, it is expected that 25% of all public schools will require school uniforms by the end of the 1997-98 school year. Source: Department of Education.
 - In Chicago, 4 out of 5 public schools require school uniforms. Source: Department of Education.
 - In Boston, out of 125 schools, 58 have voluntary school uniform policies and 18 have mandatory policies. Source: Department of Education

School to Work

- School-to-Work Program. Helped prepare students to succeed in the new economy by connecting what goes on in the classroom to future careers, real work situations, and opportunities for post-secondary education training.
 - Local Partnerships report that between December 1995 and June 1996, the number of businesses participating in school-to-work partnerships increased by 50% from 135,000 to 200,000. The number of work-based learning opportunities offered by businesses increased from 53,000 in December 1995 to 119,000 in June 1996. Source: Department of Labor.
 - Of the approximately 13 million secondary school students in the country, state data indicate that one million, or 8%, participated in one or more school-based school-to-work activities between January and June 1996. Based on the national evaluation study, 250,000 of these students could be described as having participated in comprehensive school-to-work activities, i.e., a career major with integrated curricula, and paid or unpaid work experience linked to school. Source: Department of Labor.
 - Of the 111,500 elementary and secondary schools in the U.S., state data indicate that 23 percent offer at least one component of school-to-work as of June 1996. Source: Department of Labor.

Literacy

- America Reads. Recognizing the importance of involving all Americans in the lives of the nation's children, the President challenged colleges and universities to commit work-study students as reading tutors. Over 800 colleges and universities have already committed to provide tens of thousands of work-study students as reading tutors in the current school year as part of America Reads.
 - Americorps members are working in 94 programs across the country to tutor and mentor, set up after-school and summer programs, and recruit parents and community volunteers as tutors. In the District of Columbia, over 1,000 college students, volunteers, seniors, and parents will tutor first grade children in 16 of the neediest schools in the City. The Corporation for National Service is also launching a new "Seniors in Schools" initiative in nine cities using 700 senior volunteers as literacy tutors in some of the nation's poorest elementary schools.
- *Read*Write*Now! Summer Pilot Program*
 - The Department of Education distributed 1.5 million basic *Read*Write*Now!* Kits for grades K-6 as part of the program to have children read throughout the summer. In addition, 120,000 Spiderman workbooks, 63,022 Early Childhood Family Kits, and 23,121 Early Childhood Caregiver Kits were distributed. Thousands of black and white versions of the above products were also distributed, and the kits were also available on the Internet.

- There were fourteen summer pilot sites throughout the country. These sites served 85,000 children with help from schools, colleges, churches, literacy organizations, and hundreds of other community organizations.

Prayer in School

- Memorandum on Religious Expression in Public Schools, Memorandum for the Secretary of Education and the Attorney General (July 12, 1995). Protected the religious expression of students by distributing a statement of principles addressing religious activity and expression in public schools. This statement of principles, Religious Expression in Public Schools, was sent to every public school superintendent; the leadership of private elementary and secondary schools; national religious and school organization leadership; and all chief state school officers.
 - Following the development of Religious Expression in Public Schools, the National School Boards Association reported that inquiries regarding how Christmas celebrations can be accommodated in public schools decreased dramatically.

Internet-Based Education Resources.

- Promoting the Wiring of Schools. Helping to connect every school and classroom in America to the information superhighway. A telecommunication survey in 1994 showed only 9% of schools and 3% of classrooms wired to the Internet.
 - 65% of schools and 14% of classrooms are now wired for the Internet. Source: National Center for Education Statistics.
 - 72% of schools and 29% of classrooms have access to the Internet. Source: Quality Education Data (QED).
- Memorandum on Expanding Access to Internet-based Educational Resources for Children, Teachers, and Parents (April 18, 1997).
 - The Department of Education is chairing an interagency effort to create a gateway to all federal educational resources that will debut in early 1998.
 - A segment of the Justice Department web page entitled Hateful Acts Hurt Kids, which promotes the discussion of prejudice and discrimination among children, parents, and teachers, was unveiled during the White House Conference on Hate Crimes on November 10, 1997. During its first week, the web page received nearly 10,000 hits.
- Educational Technology: Ensuring Opportunity for all Children in the Next Century, Executive Order 12999 (April 17, 1996). Providing access to modern computers for all teachers and students. Launched the “Computers for Learning” program, which is a unique partnership between federal agencies, schools, and non-profits across the country to move more than 70,000 computers into the nation's neediest classrooms.

- Directive on Federal Resources OnLine in Education. More than 30 agencies are participating in the working group and the pilot site will be unveiled in early 1998. The Department of Education's web site receives over 6 million hits a month from over 300,000 computers.
- Internet Summit. Assisting parents in learning about the Internet. The Parents Guide to the Internet was released at the Internet Summit on December 2, 1997. Approximately 200,000 copies of the guide will be distributed by the Education Department's toll-free number request service, Family Partnership for Learning members, and the Consumer Information Center.

Student Loans

- Direct Lending. A total of 2.36 million borrowers have received Direct Loans. 1.86 million of these borrowers were students, 260,000 were parents, and 240,000 were borrowers consolidating their FFEL loans into Direct Consolidation Loans. Source: Department of Education Management Information Reports.
- Reforming Student Loans. Through the period fiscal years 1994-97, student borrowers have saved $1.657 billion from changes in the Student Loan Reform Act. For the period fiscal years 1994 through 2002, the Department estimates total student borrower savings to be approximately $5 billion. Source: Department of Education.
 - An estimated 374,000 borrowers have selected the income contingent repayment plan. Of those who consolidated into Direct Loans, more than one-third chose income contingent repayment. About 41 percent of consolidation loans made as of September 30, 1997, were for borrowers that had previously defaulted on a FFEL loan. Source: Department of Education.
 - During the period fiscal year 1996-98, the Department of Education will spend $407 million for Direct Loan administration, out of a total post-secondary education management budget of $1.8 billion. Source: Department of Education.

Quality Education

- Directive on Improved Teaching. The Department of Education developed Excellence and Accountability in Teaching: A Guide to U.S. Department of Education Programs and Resources. This guide has been widely distributed, including to the Chief State School Officers and to approximately 600 individuals and organizations interested in teacher quality issues; and has been included in the Department of Education's web site. [The Department of Education will soon release a publication that describes the most promising practices in teacher recruitment, preparation, initial licensing, ongoing professional development, teacher recognition, and accountability measures in teaching. In addition, the Department will issue a biennial report on teacher quality beginning next year to report on the nation's progress.].

- New Resources for Teachers. Funded two new centers to improve the quality of teaching: a $7.5 million Center for the Study of Teaching and Policy to serve as a resource to policy makers and a $23 million Partnership for Excellence and Accountability in Teaching that will launch a comprehensive national effort to support and sustain long-term improvements in teaching and learning.
- Keeping Schools Open Late. Provided additional safe havens and extended learning opportunities for children and their families at schools around the country. The Department of Education has developed a guidebook of promising practices and ideas on how to start and organize after-school programs entitled Keeping Schools Open as Community Learning Centers. In fiscal year 1998, the Administration will be able to fund 300 after-school programs serving a total of 30,000 children.
- Memorandum on Preparing Students to Meet National Standards of Excellence in Eighth Grade Math and Improving Math and Science Education, Memorandum to the Secretary of Education and the Director of the National Science Foundation (March 6, 1997). Produced an action strategy for improving mathematics and science education. [The National Science Foundation and the Department of Education plan to formally submit the strategy to the White House in early 1998 and to publicly release it shortly thereafter.] NSF and the Department of Education have each requested an additional $40 million for fiscal year 1999 to support the initiatives laid out in the action strategy.
- Directive on Fixing Failing Schools (October 28, 1997). By early next year, the Department of Education will make available in print and on the Department's web page, a guide for how to turn around low-performing schools.

II. Children and Families

Child Support

- Tax Offset. In 1997, over $2.1 billion has been collected, of which over $1.2 billion is child support debt and nearly $950 million is federal debt. Source: Department of Treasury.
- Memorandum on the Child Support Initiative, Memorandum for the Secretary of Health and Human Services (June 18, 1996). Strengthened child support operations by toughening paternity establishment requirements for applicants for welfare and by enabling states to locate, and withhold wages from, obligors who have taken a job in another state -- reforms that became law along with other tough new rules as part of welfare reform. The Clinton Administration collected a record $12 billion in child support in 1996 through tougher enforcement, an increase of $4 billion, or nearly 50%, since 1992. In 1996, the number of child support cases with collections also rose to 4 million, an increase of 43%, from 2.8 million in 1992. In 1996, the number of paternities established rose to nearly 1 million, almost double, from 516,000 in 1992.

- Requiring HHS and the U.S. Postal Service to implement a policy of posting "Wanted Lists" in post offices of parents who owe child support (1996). In 1997, the following 12 states displayed "Wanted Lists" for delinquent child support offenders: California, Connecticut, Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Oregon, and South Dakota.
- Child Support Enforcement System Web Site (1996). Used the Internet to help people access the child support enforcement system more easily and effectively -- and to help find those parents who are not paying the child support they owe. In 1997, the Child Support Enforcement web page received over 238,000 hits.
- Supporting Families: Collecting Delinquent Child Support Obligations, Executive Order 13019 (September 28, 1996). Facilitated the collection of delinquent child support obligations from persons who may be entitled or eligible to receive certain federal payments or assistance. The first administrative offset was taken on June 10, 1997. To date, 843 payments have been offset, and $186,581 has been collected through the Administrative Offset Program.

Child Care

- Memorandum on Improving the Quality of Child Care in the United States, Memorandum for the Secretary of Defense (April 17, 1997). Directed the Department of Defense to share the expertise and lessons learned from the Military Child Development Programs with Federal, State, tribal, and local agencies, as well as with private and nonprofit groups, that are responsible for providing child care. The October 15 Interim Report to the President on this initiative cited a variety of steps taken, including creation of a toll free number (1-888-CDP-3040) for civilian programs to order DOD training materials and training over 100 personnel to serve as speakers for the DOD Child Development Program Speakers' Bureau.

Protecting Children

- Memorandum on Child Safety Lock Devices for Handguns (March 5, 1997). Required that a child safety lock device be issued to every Federal employee who carries a firearm on official duty. By October 1997, all federal agencies with law enforcement agents reported that they were in compliance with the President's directive, including approximately 30,000 Justice Department employees from the FBI, DEA, INS, and Marshals Service, and about 20,000 Treasury law enforcement personnel. Source: Department of the Treasury; Department of Justice.

- Under the President's leadership, 8 major handgun manufacturers who make the vast majority of handguns in the country, have agreed to provide child safety devices with each handgun sold.
- Memorandum on the Development of a National Sexual Offender Registration System, Memorandum for the Attorney General (July 25, 1996). Improved the safety and protection of children through creation of a national sex offender registry. As of December 1, 1997, 20 states, representing 44.2% of the U.S. population, have contributed to the national registry which now includes information on approximately 27,000 offenders.

Balancing Work and Family

- Memorandum on Expanded Family and Medical Leave Policies (April 11, 1997). In April 1997, the President asked federal agencies to implement his expanded leave policy immediately for federal workers. Source: Department of Labor.
 - In years 1995 and 1996, a total of 226,554 employees took leave under FMLA at the Department of Defense, of which 134,768 (59.5%) were men and 91,786 (40.5%) were female. Source: Department of Defense.
 - In 1995, 33,218 Department of Treasury employees used 410,373 hours under FMLA for family care or bereavement purposes. In 1996, the number increased to 44,060 employees and 535,515 hours. Source: Department of Treasury.
- Memorandum on Implementing Federal Family Friendly Work Arrangements (June 21, 1996). Supported agencies in promoting family-friendly work arrangements including alternative work schedules, "flexiplace" (telecommuting), job sharing, career part-time employment, child care, leave sharing, transportation subsidies, and employee assistance programs.
 - Approximately 46% of the Department of Commerce workforce are working under some form of alternative work schedule. Source: Department of Commerce.
 - Over 50% of the Department of Defense workforce are working under some form of alternative work schedule. Over 300,000 Department of Defense employees are on flex time, and approximately 3,000 employees telecommute. Source: Department of Defense.
 - Eighty-five% of the Department of Labor's employees are on some form of alternative work schedule (flexitime or compressed schedule). In addition, 22% telecommute. Source: Department of Labor.
 - Approximately 95% of the Department of Transportation's employees are eligible for some form of alternative work schedule (flexitime or compressed schedule). In addition, there are currently over 900 employees who telecommute at least once a week. Source: Department of Transportation.

- Over 70,000 employees at the Department of the Treasury use the various types of flex time. Source: Department of Treasury.

Health Care

- Immunization. As a result of the President's 1993 Childhood Immunization Initiative, childhood immunization rates have reached an historic high. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 90 or more of America's toddlers in 1996 received the most critical doses of each of the routinely recommended vaccines -- surpassing the President's 1993 childhood vaccination goal.
 - Immunization-Child Care Initiative (July 23, 1997). Continued to improve child immunization through beginning work on an integrated immunization registry system so that when children change doctors, the new doctor will have access to the child's immunization record. In 1997, the President also announced that all children in federally-subsidized child care centers are required to be immunized.
- Ending Drive-Thru Deliveries (1996). Spearheaded legislation requiring insurance companies to cover at least 48 hour hospital stays following most normal deliveries and 96 hours after a Caesarean section.[For the most part, this is being implemented by the states, and HHS will have no direct program data.]
- Expanded FDA Review and Approval of New Drug Products. Under the reinventing government initiative, U.S. drug approvals are now as fast or faster than any other industrialized nation. Average drug approval times have dropped since the beginning of the Administration from almost three years to just over one year. In 1997, virtually all breakthrough drugs will be approved within six months without compromising safety standards.

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

- Ensuring the Safety of Medications Used To Treat Children (August 13, 1997). Unveiled a new FDA regulation that will protect children by requiring manufacturers to study the safety and appropriate dosage levels of drugs for pediatric populations and requiring proper labeling of drugs for use in children. Even though many drugs affect children differently than adults, most drugs have not been tested on pediatric populations. Many drugs commonly given to children have not been tested on children including: Ritalin, and drugs for asthma, allergic reactions, HIV/AIDS, and ear infections. These drugs, taken together, are given to over five million children each year. The percentage of drugs being tested on children decreased by over one-third between 1991 and 1996.
- Eliminated Gag-Rules in Medicare and Medicaid (February 20, 1997). Ensured that Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries have the right to know all their treatment options by making it illegal for health plans to prohibit doctors from discussing options with their patients. Protected 13 million Medicaid beneficiaries in managed care plans -- children, people with disabilities and elderly Americans -- and Medicare beneficiaries in managed care plans.
- Moratorium on Home Health Providers (September 15, 1997). Placed moratorium on home health providers to allow HHS to enact strong new regulations to keep fly-by-night providers out of the system. This action was consistent with strong evidence that the best way to stop fraud and abuse in Medicare program is to prevent bad providers from entering the program. Home health care is the most rapidly expanding part of Medicare, with nearly 100 new home health providers entering Medicare each month.
- Covered Millions of Uninsured American Through Medicaid Waivers. Approved 18 Medicaid waivers to cover more than two million previously uninsured Americans.
- Memorandum on Importation of RU-486, Memorandum for the Secretary of Health and Human Services (January 22, 1993). Directed assessing initiatives by which the Department of Health and Human Services can promote the testing, licensing, and manufacturing in the United States of RU-486 or other antiprogestins. On September 18, 1996, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) issued an approval letter to the Population Council for mifepristone (commonly referred to as RU-486), when used in combination with misoprostol, for the termination of early pregnancy. The Population Council has not yet submitted the manufacturing control or chemistry information identified as required in the approval letter. When the FDA receives all the information identified in the approval letter, it will have up to six months to make a decision on the application.

Child Worker Labels

- Child Worker Labels (August 1996). Because the child labor labeling programs are relatively recent, and definitive data on costs and benefits as well as consumer demand are not available, the newest report does not attempt to make quantitative assessments of their effectiveness.

Adoption

- Memorandum on Adoption and Alternative Placement of Children in the Public Child Welfare System, Memorandum for the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Commerce, the Director of the Office of Personnel Management* (December 14, 1996). Bipartisan legislation, the Adoption and Safe Families Act of 1997, was based largely on the recommendations of the Administration's Adoption 2002 report. The legislation will help thousands of children waiting in foster care move more quickly into safe and permanent homes. The Act makes clear that the health and safety of children must be the paramount concerns of state child welfare services.
- Children With Special Needs. Signed the Small Business Job Protection Act of 1996, which provides a $5,000 tax credit to families adopting children, and $6,000 tax credit for families adopting children with special needs. Since President Clinton took office, the number of children with special needs who have been adopted with federal adoption assistance has risen by 60%.

Teen Pregnancy

- National Strategy to Reduce Teen Pregnancy. Since 1993, President Clinton has supported innovative teen pregnancy strategies. The National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy, a private non-profit organization, was formed in response to the President's 1995 State of the Union. HHS-supported programs reach about 30% or 1,410 communities in the United States. Data shows that we are making progress in reducing teen pregnancy.
 - The U.S. birth rate for teenagers in 1996 was 54.7 births per 1,000 women aged 15-19 years, down 4% from 1995 (56.8). The teenage birth rate has declined by 12% since 1991 (62.1). Source: National Center for Health Statistics, preliminary 1996 statistics (September 1997).
 - Birth rates for teenagers 15-19 years declined between 1991 and 1995 in all states and the District of Columbia, echoing the national trends during this time. Rates fell by 12% or more in 12 states; declines in 5 states exceeded 16%. Source: National Center for Health Statistics, preliminary 1996 statistics (September 1997).

Domestic Violence

- Violence Against Women. Legislation provides for hiring more prosecutors and improving domestic violence training among prosecutors, police officers, and health and social services professionals. Established a nationwide 24-hour domestic violence hotline providing immediate crisis intervention and local shelter referral to victims that has received over 140,000 calls since February 1996. The Clinton Administration has granted states, territories, and Native American tribes nearly $300 million to support the system of 1,400 emergency shelters, safe homes, and related services nationwide.

Housing Opportunity

- FHA Fees. The President has cut FHA home mortgage insurance premiums four times. One reduction, applying to all first-time home buyers, will save home buyers $200 in closing costs on the average FHA mortgage of $85,000. Another will save first-time home buyers in central cities who participate in home ownership counseling an additional $200. In all, cuts approved by President Clinton have lowered average FHA closing costs for first-time home buyers by $1,200 around the country and will cut closing costs by $1,400 in central cities. Last year, FHA provided financing for 800,000 homeowners, many of whom were first-time home buyers.
 - Making It Easier to Qualify for Mortgage Loans. The FHA has eliminated unnecessary and overly strict requirements under its loan program that made it difficult for many families to qualify for mortgage loans.
- Financing. Provided financing to help 40,000 rural people buy single-family homes, including the construction of 14,000 homes under the Self-Help Housing program, in which low-income people gain “sweat equity” by participating in the construction of their own homes. USDA also financed the building of 7,900 units of multiple-family housing. In total, USDA’s Rural Housing Service invested more than $2.6 billion either as loans, guaranteed loans, or grants in rural housing last year. More than 58,000 jobs were created as a result of housing construction generated by USDA programs. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- Rental Assistance. Provided $540 million in rental assistance to help nearly 40,000 rural, low-income households obtain well-built, safe housing. Fifty percent of the rental program beneficiaries were elderly, with average annual income of less than $7,300. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.

III. Welfare

- Memorandum on Government Employment for Welfare Recipients (March 8, 1997). In seven months, 2,229 employees have been hired off of public assistance by the federal government, about one-fifth of the goal of hiring 10,000 persons by the year 2000. These numbers have not been released yet.

- Coalition to Sustain Success. Vice President has led a new partnership of civic organizations that is working with state and local government to mentor families seeking to leave welfare for work.
- The Welfare to Work Partnership. Mobilized over 2500 businesses to hire welfare recipients.
- Small Business and Welfare to Work. SBA has received 800 pledges from small businesses willing to hire former welfare recipients through the work of Small Business Development Centers.

Food Stamp Fraud

- Anti-Fraud Program. Issuance error rates for food stamps have declined in each of the past three years, resulting in total savings of $660 million. In June 1997, the 1996 error rate dropped to 9.2% from the previous year's 9.7%, resulting in a single-year savings of more than $85 million for the program.
- Pre-Authorization Screening of Retailers; Tougher Post-Authorization Controls; and Stiffer Penalties for Violators. During fiscal year 1997, the Food Stamp Program conducted 4,627 investigations of stores, and fired or disqualified 1,584 retailers for program violations. Of those, 712 retailers, with redemptions of $79.5 million, were identified as having engaged in trafficking, or having exchanged food stamps for cash.
- Operation Talon. Organized a nationwide sting to arrest more than 2,100 fugitives felons who were illegally receiving food stamps. This initiative will save millions of taxpayer dollars. "Operation Talon" was made possible by the welfare reform law which permits local food stamp offices to release the addresses of fugitive felons to law enforcement officers.

IV. Crime

Guns

- Memorandum on Implementation of the Youth Crime Gun Interdiction Initiative (July 8, 1996). Traced approximately 93,477 guns from 27 communities (17 original sites and 10 new sites) through the use of an innovative computer software system that examines crime gun trace information and provides law enforcement officers with crucial investigative leads about the sources of these guns. Source: Department of Treasury. Note: These numbers are updated from the numbers released in July 1997.
- Memorandum on Gun Dealer Licensing, Memorandum for the Secretary of the Treasury (August 11, 1993) This initiative strengthened the system of licensing gun dealers, and assured their compliance with applicable rules. The Brady law and the Violent Crime Act of 1994 codified the directive and further reformed the gun dealer licensing system. As of December 10, 1997, the total number of federal firearms licensees (FFLs) is 106,997, down from 279,839 in April 1994, and the total number of FFL dealers is 88,590 down from 252,799. Source: Department of the Treasury. Note: We don't think these numbers have been released.
- Memorandum on Enforcing the Youth Handgun Safety Act, Memorandum for the Secretary of the Treasury (June 11, 1997). A notice of proposed rulemaking concerning warning signs on guns and juveniles to be posted by federally licensed gun dealers was published in the Federal Register on August 27, 1997. Final regulations are being drafted and are expected to be completed in early 1998.
- Enforcing Zero Tolerance for Guns and Other Weapons in Schools. In October 1994, President Clinton signed into law the Gun-Free Schools Act, and issued a Presidential Directive later that month to enforce "zero tolerance" for guns in schools -- if a student brings a gun to school, that student will be expelled for a year. Under the President's Zero Tolerance gun policy, preliminary estimates show that approximately 6,000 students have been expelled for bringing weapons to schools, and the vast majority of those expulsions involved guns.
- Presidential Initiative Requiring Greater Proof of State Residency Before Purchasing a Firearm (March 5, 1997). Following the February 23 shooting at the Empire State Building, the President asked the Secretary of the Treasury to examine what might be done to prevent unlawful firearms purchases by aliens legally in the United States. ATF responded on April 21, 1997 by amending the firearms purchase form and related regulations to require purchasers to declare their citizenship status, and to require aliens to present photo identification and documentary evidence establishing their 90-day residence in the state of purchase.

[Data, however, is not available on this initiative as gun dealers are not required to report information on denial rates.]

- Ban on Chinese Assault Weapons and Ammunition. In 1994, the President used his authority under the Arms Export Control Act to stop the potential importation of millions of assault-type rifles (SKS) and high-capacity magazines.

Housing

- Memorandum on the "One Strike and You're Out" Guidelines, Memorandum for the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development (March 28, 1996). Denied admission to applicants and evicted tenants in public housing authorities (PHAs) who have engaged in illegal drug use or other criminal activities. The guidance permits PHAs to institute and enforce tough rules to protect the safety of families living in public housing.
 - Of the 1,859 out of 3,192 (58%) total PHAs responding to the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Office of Public and Indian Housing March 1997 survey, 1,392 PHAs had implemented "One Strike" programs. These 1,859 PHAs completed 3,847 evictions in the six months after "One Strike" took effect. [It should be noted that these evictions did not necessarily result from PHAs' One Strike practices, and no eviction statistics for prior years are available for comparison purposes. The responding PHAs also reported that 19,589 people were denied admission to public housing for criminal or drug-related activity in the six months following enactment of One Strike. Again, these actions did not necessarily result from One Strike, and no figures for comparison are available.] Source: Department of Housing and Urban Development's Office of Public and Indian Housing survey (March 1997).
- Boosting Homeownership and Fighting Crime. The "Officer Next Door" program provides incentives for police officers to live in the communities where they work by offering a 50% discount on the purchase of HUD-owned foreclosed properties in designated revitalization areas. HUD has accepted 261 sales contracts and closed 59 deals in HUD-held properties under this initiative.
- Zero Tolerance for Waste, Fraud, and Abuse in Housing. The "Get Tough" campaign has resulted in the debarment of nearly 90 bad landlords -- compared with only 15 in 1996; the debarment of 26 bad public housing officials -- a 100% increase over 1996; and more than 1,400 arrests for crime and drugs in public housing.
- Memorandum on Federal Arrestee Drug Testing (December 18, 1995). Increased drug testing of criminal defendants. In fiscal year 1997, data from 24 districts indicated that 9,308 defendants, or 56% of defendants, were tested, which is a dramatic increase over the 4,929 defendants, or 28% of defendants, tested in fiscal year 1996. 1,252 defendants received drug treatment, which is an 190% increase over the 431 defendants treated in fiscal year 1996. Source: Department of Justice.

- National Community Policing Number of Non-Emergency Calls (311) (July 23, 1996). Assisted in more efficient use of police resources by encouraging use of 311 for non-emergency calls. During its first year of operations in Baltimore, 911 calls for police services have declined 24.8% and 50,000 hours of police officer time has been saved. Dallas and San Jose, CA, have recently announced they are launching 311 systems.
- Promoting Curfews. Promoted increasing the number of curfews in American cities, by disseminating a bulletin entitled Curfew: An Answer to Juvenile Delinquency and Victimization? 71% of 1,649 respondents to the Justice Department's Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention's October 1997 survey of recipients of the curfew bulletin reported that they live in a jurisdiction with a curfew. Source: Justice Department Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention survey (October 1997).
 - In 1997, 276 of 347 cities (80%) have a nighttime curfew, and 72 have a daytime curfew as well. In 1995, 272 of 387 cities (70%) had a nighttime curfew. Source: U.S. Conference of Mayors Survey (1997).
 - 88 percent (263) of the cities reported that curfew enforcement helped make streets safer and 83% (222) reported that curfews helped curb gang violence. Source: U.S. Conference of Mayors Survey (1997).
- Cracking Down on Truancy. The Administration has provided a Manual to Combat Truancy to the 15,000 school districts in the country and to 51,000 other persons who requested copies. A copy of the manual has also been placed on the Safe and Drug Free Schools' web page.

V. Environment

Parks

Saving Yellowstone from Mining. In August 1996, President Clinton announced an agreement to protect Yellowstone National Park from a proposed mine just outside the park which would have endangered the quality and quantity of waters flowing into the park.

Memorandum Ordering Planning (with DOI) for Demonstration Transportation Systems in 3 Parks (April 22, 1996) On Earth Day 1996, President Clinton asked the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Transportation to develop a plan to enhance resource protection and the quality of the visitor experience in national parks through innovative transportation planning. Plans are in place for parks at Zion, Yosemite, and the Grand Canyon.

Protection of the Old Growth California Redwoods. The United States and State of California are acquiring the Headwaters Forest -- the largest privately held stand of old growth redwood trees. Together with buffer areas, the governments will preserve 7,500 acres of significant habitat for several endangered species, including the marbled murrelet and coho salmon. [Negotiations are continuing on the Habitat Conservation Plan.]

Toxics and Pesticides

- Memorandum on Community Right-to-Know Initiatives, Memorandum for the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies (August 8, 1995). President Clinton directed EPA to consider whether to add to the list of industries covered under the Community Right-to-Know Toxic Release Inventory reporting program. EPA published a final rule on May 1, 1997 which added seven industries to the list of industries covered under the reporting program: metal mining; coal mining; electric generating facilities that combust coal and oil; hazardous waste treatment facilities regulated under Resource Conservation and Recovery Act Subtitle C; wholesale chemical distributors; wholesale petroleum distributors; and solvent recovery facilities.
- Restrictions on Pesticides. In 1993, the Clinton Administration stated its commitment to safer biological and reduced-risk pesticides. In 1996, President Clinton signed into law the Food Quality Protection Act (FQPA) which includes a consistent, health-based standard for pesticide residues, use of an additional safety factor to ensure protection of children, and revisions to the pesticide risk assessment process. Since FQPA was passed, EPA has registered 29 new pesticides, 20 of which were safer reduced-risk and biological pesticides.
- Protection of Children from Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks, Executive Order 13045 (April 21, 1997). The executive order directed EPA to ensure that the Agency's regulatory actions address the disproportionate risks to children from environmental threats. In May 1997, Administrator Browner created the Office of Children's Health Protection. In September 1997, EPA hosted the first-ever national conference on "Preventable Causes of Childhood Cancer." In September 1997, EPA and HHS announced $10 million in joint funding for six research centers to examine children's environmental health issues. EPA has drafted regulatory guidance for the Agency to ensure adequate protection of children from environmental threats.

VI. Service and Volunteerism

- Presidents' Summit for America's Future. The 1997 Summit brought together private sector, non-profits, and state and local government in a campaign to promote service. Over 150 cities and states are holding mini-summits.
 - 77 organizations answered the President's challenge and offered to sponsor 10,000 new AmeriCorps members. In June, the Corporation approved 8,900 of these scholarships, ahead of a first-year plan for 5,000 scholarships.
- Cell Phones for Community Watch Groups. The President helped launch Communities on Phone Patrol (COPP) with cell phones donated by the wireless technology industry. One year later, in October 1997, 7,850 watch patrols had received almost 9,000 phones -- allowing 300,000 volunteers to use COPP phones to help protect 50 million Americans.
- National Service Scholarships. Awarded to over 1,600 high school students with outstanding records of community service. Next year, the Administration hopes that 10,000 high schools in the nation will participate -- almost half of all high schools.
- Memorandum on Public-Private Partnerships for Protection of the National Parks (April 26, 1996). In the past five years, the 376 National Park units have benefitted from hundreds of new partnerships. The National Park Service is aided by 93,000 volunteers, 65 cooperating associations, over 150 Friends groups and numerous corporate and philanthropic supporters. Overall, gifts of time and money are worth over $100 million to the National Parks every year.

VII. Consumer Protection

Food Safety

- Comprehensive Food Safety. The President has implemented a comprehensive initiative to improve the safety of nation's food supply and detailed a $43 million food safety program, including measures to improve surveillance, outbreak response, education, and research. Other significant actions:
 - August, 1996 -- Signed Safe Drinking Water Act of 1996. The law requires drinking water systems to protect against dangerous contaminants like cryptosporidium, and gives people the right to know about contaminants in their tap water.
 - July, 1996 -- Announced new regulations that modernize the nation's meat and poultry inspection system for the first time in 90 years. New standards help prevent E.coli bacteria contamination in meat.

- December, 1995 -- Issued new rules to ensure seafood safety. Utilizes HACCP regulatory programs to require food industries to design and implement preventive measures and increase the industries' responsibility for and control of their safety assurance actions.

Consumer Health

- Amendment to Executive Order 13017, Advisory Commission on Consumer Protection and Quality in the Health Care Industry, Executive Order 13040 (March 25, 1997). Established the President's Advisory Commission on Consumer Protection and Quality in the Health Care Industry which promotes and assures consumer protection and health care quality.
 - Report. On November 20, 1997, the Commission issued its Interim Report outlining a proposed Consumer Bill of Rights and Responsibilities.
 - Federal Compliance. Directed the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Labor, the Department of Defense, the Department of Veteran Affairs, and the Office of Personnel Management to review the programs they administer and the plans they oversee to ensure they are consistent with the consumer bill of rights recommended by the President's Health Care Quality Commission. These agencies will report back on the status of this directive by February 1998.

Increasing Seatbelt Use

- Memorandum on Increasing Seatbelt Use, Memorandum for the Secretary of Transportation (January 23, 1997). Requires seat belt use by federal employees on-the-job.
 - The Department is developing a Report to Congress to reflect the activity to date on the Presidential Initiative for Increasing Seat Belt Usage Nationwide. The Report will include the progress made towards reaching the new national seat belt and child safety seat goals.
 - In 1997, three primary seatbelt laws went into affect (Maryland, Oklahoma, and the District of Columbia) bringing the total to 13 states and Puerto Rico that allow a driver to be stopped primarily because the seatbelt was not being used.
Source: Department of Transportation.
 - [There are no new data at this time to reflect a change in safety belt usage as a result of the Presidential Initiative for Increasing Seat Belt Usage Nationwide. Safety belt usage data will not be available until early 1998.]

VIII. Food and Farming

Nutrition and Hunger Programs

- Goal for WIC Program to Reach Full Participation of 7.5 million. Participation in WIC has expanded nearly 30%, from 5.7 million at the start of fiscal year 1993 to almost 7.4 million at the end of fiscal year 1997. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture
- Reducing WIC Costs. WIC state agencies have contracted with infant formula manufacturers to obtain rebates on infant formula. These competitively-bid contracts have reduced food costs, increasing WIC participation without increasing WIC appropriations. In fiscal year 1997, this resulted in $1.2 billion in savings, permitting service to 1.6 million additional participants. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- Gleaning. Helped to feed the hungry through the promotion of food recovery and gleaning.
 - A joint USDA-Department of Defense initiative, announced in September 1997, has recovered over $1.4 million worth of food, and channeled it through 29 state agencies. An additional $10 million of food is anticipated to be recovered over the next 18 months. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
 - Over 15,000 pounds of food have been recovered from USDA's farmers' markets for distribution to food banks. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Assisting Agricultural Communities

- Loan Guarantees. Provided loans and loan guarantees totaling $2.3 billion to over 27,000 family-sized farmers. Direct operating loans totaling $65 million were provided to over 1,900 socially-disadvantaged farmers (SDA), exceeding the initial targeted allocation for SDA farmers by 22%. Direct operating loans made to SDA farmers increased by 11% from fiscal year 1996. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- Emergency Aid. Provided $3.5 million to nearly 4,000 farmers in North and South Dakota whose livestock were in danger of perishing due to severe winter storms. Provided over $22 million in cost share assistance for emergency livestock feed to approximately 30,000 farmers in North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- Expanded Crop Insurance and Crop Revenue Coverage.
 - Expanded the crops covered under the crop insurance program. For the 1997 (1998 citrus) crop year, 29 different crops with permanent programs established were added to the crop insurance program in 343 counties in 25 states. For the 1998 (1999 citrus) crop year, coverage will be expanded on 25 different crops in 144 additional counties in 16 states.

Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.

- The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) Board of Directors approved the expansion of Crop Revenue Coverage (CRC) for the 1997 and 1998 crop years for corn, cotton, grain sorghum, and wheat. CRC is now available on almost 90% of the corn, wheat, cotton, soybeans, and grain sorghum acres in the U.S.

Creating Rural Jobs

- Rural Business-Cooperative Service. Financed the start-up or expansion of 1,183 rural businesses or cooperatives, creating or preserving more than 53,000 jobs in the process. About $936 million was extended by USDA's Rural Business-Cooperative Service as loans, guaranteed loans, or grants to rural businesses and cooperatives. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- Rural Empowerment Zones. Invested more than $60 million in the nation's three rural Empowerment Zones and 33 rural Enterprise Communities. As a result of these efforts, over 7,000 jobs have been created or saved; 1,100 public service facilities have been built or renovated; and more than 700,000 rural citizens are now receiving additional services. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- Telecommunications and Rural Americans. Loaned $380 million for 79 rural telecommunications projects that provided improved service to more than 211,000 rural households and businesses, including more than 43,000 new customers. These investments created over 8,700 new jobs. Source: U.S. Department of Agriculture.

IX. Helping Small Business

- Increasing Small Business Access to Capital and Credit. In 1997, SBA achieved the highest program level ever in its 7(a) business loan guarantee program. SBA guaranteed $9.5 billion in loan guarantees. SBA's combined 7(a) business loan and 504 economic development loan approvals were also the highest ever at $10.9 billion. A total of 49,419 small businesses received assistance in 1997.
- Small Business Investment Companies. SBICs invested a record $2.4 billion in 1997. SBICs financed 2,733 small business, with more than 90% of the investments in the form of equity. Industry analysts estimate that the number of SBA supported investments is 28% more than those made by private venture capital firms.
- SBA's One-Stop Capital Shops. SBA now administers 15 One-Stop Capital Shops in low-income communities across the country. Small business owners and individuals hoping to start a new business can walk in the door and have access to a range of governmental services, business information, counseling and assistance, and lending services.
- Microloans. SBA has provided over 6,300 microloans totaling $65 million through 103 intermediary lenders and 22 non-lending technical assistance providers.

- Regulatory Reform. SBA revised all of its regulations, converting them to plain English and eliminating more than half of the pages. SBA has eliminated more than two-thirds of the total pages in the Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs), from 25,000 pages to 8,000 pages.
- Improving Customer Service. SBA's PRO-Net system – an on-line service to link small businesses with federal procurement opportunities – has gone operational with more than 171,000 small businesses listed on the system. SBA has created ACE-Net – an on-line service that links investors with emerging small businesses seeking equity investments. Eight non-profit operators located throughout the country are now operating the system. The goals are to have an operator in each of the 50 states as issues of consistency with state securities laws are resolved.

Proposed Smoking Cessation Program as Part of the Tobacco Settlement.
You inquired about a recent study in the Journal of the American Medical Association regarding the implementation of a smoking cessation guideline. The study found that full implementation of the HHS guideline to screen all patients for tobacco use and provide cessation assistance to all willing patients would cost $6.3 billion in the first year and would achieve approximately 1.7 million new quitters over and above a baseline quit rate. The study estimated that these results compare favorably with the costs of other preventative intervention programs such as mammography screening. On September 17, you listed expansion of smoking cessation programs as one of the elements that must be included in any national tobacco legislation. The tobacco settlement proposed that $1 billion for the first 4 years and $1.5 billion thereafter would be used to assist individuals who want to quit using tobacco. With respect to the study's conclusions, HHS and OMB believe that there are other methods for implementing smoking cessation programs that might have lower costs such as providing incentives to managed-care plans to offer smoking cessation programs. As part of the legislative process, HHS is preparing a list of cessation resource allocation options and how many quitters each option may produce. They caution that this is a very inexact science.

At the Ann Lewis meeting this morning, the following was decided:

1. The President (maybe with the First Lady) will do service on MLK day. Likely that it will be in D.C. The other details are not yet determined, though I threw out our ideas about Americorps, CityYear, Black & White churches, etc. Those of us interested in planning the service event are going to reconvene sometime on Monday to better nail it all down. People seemed very receptive to the idea of tying the President's service into a national call to service, etc.

Other Principals have been asked to participate in service on that day also. It is contemplated that their service will also be linked to Americorps (and the 60 cities). Cabinet Affairs is going to let the Cabinet members know that they should try to also participate in service on that day. The Advisory Board members have also agreed to do service in their communities on that day. We will try to link them to Americorps as well.

2. In addition to the service event, the President will likely do a Town Hall that evening. The location for this was not determined, but will be determined, at least in part, on what the press wants to do (Sosnick mentioned Nightline involvement). John Lewis has asked that the President do a Town Hall in Atlanta, but other options were discussed (I was advocating Birmingham (Civil Rights Museum; history) or Jackson, Mississippi (Black mayor; history). Part of the reason for doing the Town Hall at all is that the next available time would not be until March, and the President has indicated wanting to do his next one before then.

Because the President will likely do a Town Hall that night, the Advisory Board will not do a town hall later that week (they had tentatively scheduled one for Atlanta).

3. On the actual birthday (the 15th), they are going to arrange for an East Room ceremony where the President awards the Congressional Medals of Freedom. The President can make opening remarks re: MLK day, and the importance of service (all awardees served their country, in one fashion or another) and will thus try to create a bit of a civil rights spin. One of the likely awardees is Jamer Farmer (CORE). We are also going to get a list of all the MLK events going on around the city that day, to see if there is something else that the President can acknowledge or tap into in a lower key way.

Cathy called to ask me about the SW Border meeting at 4pm. I'm afraid I don't know much about it. All I know is that it's w/Rubin and Kelly from Treasury, Reno and Holder from Justice, McCaffrey, and probably Rahm and a few others. As I mentioned, McCaffrey had a meeting w/Reno, Kelly and enforcement types on Tuesday. Much of its was focused on how ONDCP was not planning to put itself in charge of the Border, and that the proposed SW Border Czar would probably be a DOJ or Treasury employee. Also, McCaffrey passed out an organizational chart, different from what he gave EB, that had the agencies listed over the proposed SW Border Czar. Interesting, huh?

Let me know how it goes. I know DOJ and Treasury are talking about the need for their own proposal, but I don't expect them to put anything solid on the table today. I'll shoot over another note if I find anything else out in the next 1/2 hour.

Nothing has really happened this week while we focused on the budget--except for our "breakthrough" on the Women's Leadership Academy earlier today.

I suspect you will want to massage this a good bit; I found it difficult to find precisely the right words to explain our strategy.

Single Sex School in New York City: After meeting with DPC and WHC staff, Secretary Riley has agreed to approach Chancellor Rudy Crew in an effort to explore ways they might work together to support the continuing operation of the Women's Leadership Academy in NYC, in the context of civil rights and Constitutional requirements. Riley has placed a call to Crew and expects to speak with him by the beginning of the new year. Our strategy is to engage NYC officials at the policy level rather than in an investigative and complaint context, to explore the issues around single sex schools and look for ways in which we can together achieve our mutual goal of enabling the Women's Leadership Academy to continue to operate.

December 19, 1997

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: Bruce Reed
Elena Kagan

RE: DPC Weekly Report

Welfare Reform -- Welfare to Work Competitive Grants: In early January, the Department of Labor will release a notice seeking welfare to work competitive grant applications. A total of $711 million of the $3 billion welfare to work funds will be awarded in five rounds of competition, two in FY '98 and three in FY '99. Projects will be funded for up to three years. Both public and private entities may apply, including state and local governments and community and faith-based organizations. We worked with DOL to ensure the notice seeks projects designed to place welfare recipients into jobs quickly and provide the support services and skills training for them to succeed in the work force. Like efforts supported by welfare to work formula funds, these projects must serve long-term welfare recipients with multiple barriers to employment. DOL intends to award about 70 percent of funds to projects in cities with high concentrations of poverty and 30 percent to rural areas. The first round of applications will be due in March.

Crime -- COPS: On December 11, the Justice Department announced grants for $47 million to fund an additional 800 police officers under the Clinton COPS Initiative. The grants went to law enforcement agencies in 32 states, and included a grant to New York City to fund 300 additional officers. The announcement brings the total to 66,000 additional officers funded under the Clinton COPS Program.

Crime -- 3-1-1 Community Policing Number: On Wednesday, Dallas launched a new citywide 3-1-1 non-emergency response system. Dallas residents will be able to call 3-1-1 and request any city service 24-hours a day, seven days a week. The Dallas announcement is less than a month after San Jose, California kicked off its own 3-1-1 initiative. On October 1, Baltimore celebrated its one-year anniversary as the nation's first 3-1-1 project. The 3-1-1 initiative in Baltimore has helped reduce the volume of calls to 9-1-1 by 25 percent; has cut the average response time to emergency calls by two-thirds; and has been credited as one of the reasons for lower crime rates in the city.

Crime -- Brady Handgun Checks: As reported earlier, Ohio has signed an agreement with the Justice and Treasury Departments to conduct background checks for all handgun sales. Arkansas remains the only state that is not currently conducting background checks. Despite an opinion issued by Arkansas Attorney General Winston Bryant that Arkansas has the necessary authority, the Governor continues to refuse background checks. As a result, Attorney General Bryant has asked the Treasury and Justice Departments to make him the designated chief law enforcement officer authorized to conduct background checks statewide. The proposal is currently under consideration by the both Departments.

Tobacco -- Proposed Smoking Cessation Program as Part of the Tobacco Settlement: You inquired about a recent study in the Journal of the American Medical Association regarding the implementation of a smoking cessation guideline. The study found that full implementation of the HHS guideline to screen all patients for tobacco use and provide cessation assistance to all willing patients would cost $6.3 billion in the first year and would achieve approximately 1.7 million new quitters over and above a baseline quit rate. The report on the good manufacturing practices and good agricultural practices is due January 2. Wendy Taylor from OMB called and said that they would like an extension of a week in order to properly analyze it. They have some concerns and since many people will be out of the office for the holidays, they would like a little extra time. I think it would be fine, what do you think? Mary

MEMORANDUM FOR SYLVIA MATHEWS AND ELENA KAGAN

FROM: DAWN CHIRWA AND BILL KINCAID

RE: Rollout of Self-assessment Guidance on Affirmative Action for Institutions of Higher Education.

This week we met with ED and DOJ to review the status of the self-assessment guidance on affirmative action for institutions of higher education. We reached rough agreement on most substantive issues and ED and DOJ are making additions/modifications to make the document more user-friendly and to better convey Administration support for properly conducted affirmative action programs. We expect to have a document ready to go into final by the second week in January. At this point we are working to develop an appropriate roll-out strategy and would appreciate your input.

We believe that the goals of the roll-out strategy should be: 1) make sure that appropriate postsecondary institutions get this information quickly and are able to put it to work, thus speeding and strengthening campus efforts to ensure that affirmative action programs comply with the law; 2) ensure that the civil rights community is aware of the Administration's continued support for properly conducted affirmative action programs in education; 3) demonstrate a substantive step forward that supports the President's Race Initiative; 4) time the release in relation to announcement of the new mentoring initiative and other action steps so it is perceived as part of broader administration efforts to ensure diversity in higher education, and 5) avoid unnecessarily fanning dispute over affirmative action.

We think the following approach should meet these goals. Bracketed elements could be added in depending on how aggressive we want to be in promoting the guidance and building these actions up for the press as a part of the race initiative, although none of the steps outlined are especially high profile. From the perspective of getting the document into the hands of higher education institutions and assisting them to proceed with needed internal reviews quickly and with the least possible controversy, the low-key course is probably best; we know that ACE, the umbrella group for higher ed institutions which is very supportive of this effort, would prefer such a strategy. However, demonstrating action with respect to the Race Initiative might dictate a more visible approach.

- Week of Jan. 12 -- hold briefing at WH to walk through document with small number of key leaders in the civil rights and education community (such as Wade Henderson with the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, Tom Henderson with the Lawyers' Committee on Civil Rights, and Stan Ikenberry with ACE). [Share document with leaders who are asked to close hold and provide comments within a week].
- Week of Jan. 19 -- hold briefing at ED to walk through document with larger number of leaders in civil rights and education community.

- Late Jan. -- appropriately address comments from civil rights and education community.
- [Late Jan. -- Department of Education is working on reports on the value of diversity in higher education and successful approaches to fostering diversity. These reports, if well-done, could be released in build-up to announcement of mentoring initiative and to lay the groundwork for release of self-assessment guidance].
- Jan. 27 to Feb. 3 -- President announces new mentoring initiative in or around the time of the State of the Union Address, and proposed funding for the program will be included in the FY 99 budget submission. In rolling out the mentoring initiative, officials should stress that one important benefit is that it would help open up the pipeline to higher education for more disadvantaged minority students and help foster campus diversity.
- [Feb. 7 -- Provide self-assessment guidance to friendly paper emphasizing how it is part of broader Administration efforts to foster diversity in higher education].
- Feb. 8 -- ED shares guidance publicly at already-scheduled ACE Conference.
- [Feb. 9 -- Secretary Riley sends guidance to higher education institutions and announces the Department will be holding a series of regional forums to assist institutions to review their affirmative action programs. Cover letter could also discuss importance of diversity in higher education and encourage institutions to get involved in mentoring initiative.]
- Early March -- ED holds first regional meeting on affirmative action self-assessment at Penn (already scheduled).

Please let us know what you think of this approach. We would be happy to meet with you to discuss.

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE ON RACE WEEKLY REPORT --

ADVISORY BOARD ACTIVITIES

Advisory Board Meeting. The Advisory Board met on December 17 at Annandale High School in Fairfax County, Virginia. The topic of the meeting was race in primary and secondary education. Secretary Riley gave brief welcoming remarks at the meeting and spoke about the importance of education in creating One America. He also announced an Initiative/Department of Education partnership to conduct several more case studies of promising practices in education, of which the study of Bailey's Elementary School was the first.

The meeting consisted of two roundtable discussions. The morning roundtable featured students, parents, teachers, and administrators from Fairfax County Public Schools and focused on the lessons which may be learned from Fairfax's growing student diversity. The afternoon roundtable featured education leaders and scholars with diverse perspectives on key education issues, including William J. Bennett, former Secretary of Education and present Co-Director of Empower America, James Comer, Professor of Child Psychiatry at Yale University, Lisa Graham Keegan, Superintendent, Arizona Public Schools, Deborah Meier, Principal, Mission Hill Charter School, Gary Orfield, Professor of Education, Harvard University and Diana Lam, Superintendent of San Antonio's Public Schools. In between the two roundtable discussions, the Board members, along with Senator Chuck Robb and Congressman Bob Davis, met during lunch with students, parents, and teachers from Annandale High School to further discuss racial issues.

Angela Oh visits Loreto Elementary School. On December 12, Angela Oh met with representatives of the Loreto Elementary School in Los Angeles. Ms. Oh observed the activities of the school designed to promote diversity. One such activity was to sit in on a discussion with second graders about the problem of exclusion.

Linda Chavez-Thompson visits Bailey's Elementary. On December 15, Linda Chavez Thompson met with 15 parents, teachers and students at Bailey's Elementary School in Falls Church, Virginia. Ms. Chavez Thompson was impressed by the diversity of the school and the self-confidence of the students. Her visit received both television and print media coverage.

Angela Oh meets with Art, Research and Curriculum Associates (ARC). On December 16, Angela Oh met with a group of teachers, administrators and staff who work in the east San Francisco bay public schools. She discussed the Initiative and engaged the participants in a conversation about their concerns and ideas for the Initiative.

The Advisory Board Meeting will take place on the following day.

We have entered into a partnership with the Community Relations Service of the Department of Justice and representatives of the following organizations- the National Conference, YWCA, National Multicultural Institute, Hope in the Cities, Study Circles, and the National Days of Dialogues to develop a "How-To Kit" for conducting dialogues on race. The kit will be available in February.
