Senate Republican Crime Bill
Questions and Answers
March 20, 1999

Q: Yesterday, Senate Hatch and other Republicans unveiled an omnibus crime bill, the 21st Century Justice Act, and accused the Administration of cutting funds to law enforcement. What is your reaction to it?

A: While we have not had a chance to review Senator Hatch's bill in detail, we already know that we have one very serious concern: like the Republican budget resolution, the Hatch Bill proposes cutting the President's community policing program (COPS) by about $1 billion. As you know, COPS has provided funds to over 11,000 communities to hire more than 92,000 police officers. It has helped spread community policing methods to thousands of police departments across the country, and it has been credited by countless law enforcement officials as one of the key reasons for the significant reduction in the crime rate over the past 6 years. We simply won't go along with Senator Hatch's attempt to dismantle this program. Indeed, the President's crime bill will propose extending the COPS program by: putting up to 50,000 more police on the street; funding new crime fighting technologies for police departments; hiring more local prosecutors to work with police; and helping to engage the entire community -- including principals, pastors, and parents -- in the fight against crime.

In other respects, most of the Hatch bill is not new. It reauthorizes a series of state and local crime programs, many of which we support. And it includes a number of old proposals on juvenile crime and drugs, which we will continue to discuss and debate on the merits.

As for the recent criticisms by Senator Hatch and other Republicans on the President's law enforcement budget, we will let the record speak for itself. Since 1993, the Justice Department's budget has essentially doubled, and funding for state and local law enforcement has increased by more than 500%. There can be no question that this Administration has provided unprecedented support for law enforcement at all levels -- state, local and federal. By contrast, this year's Republican budget proposal, on top of cutting the entire COPS program, would provide 12 percent less than the President's budget for Administration of Justice programs.

Re:

Crime Mapping and Data Driven Task Force
Steering Committee Meeting
Monday, March 22, 1999
3 p.m. to 5 p.m
810 Seventh Street, N.W.
Room 3500

Jack Fahay can go over with you - - his number is [P6(b)(6)].

Background: This isn't a speech. You don't need to be there for two hours, but it would be great if you could be there to open the meeting at 3pm and stay for 30-45 minutes? Unfortunately Ray Fisher is not able to be there today; Jeremy Travis will be representing DOJ and opening the meeting with you. The purpose of this session is to:

- listen to the reports of the three sub-committees
- hear the first cut at recommendations and
- make suggestions on how to strengthen/improve.

After the feedback, the Task Force members will work to strengthen them, make sure that they are thoroughly thought through and vetted over the next several weeks.

Since you put forward three questions as the "Morley test" at the kick-off event, that should make your role easier at this meeting:

Talking Points:

- * Thank the sub-committees for their work so far.
 - * Revisit the "Morley test"
 - * Will this recommendation:
 - promote the shift to more effective 21st century law enforcement?
 - * make a positive difference for communities?
 - * help reduce and prevent crime?
- * FYI:
- * There are some really important recommendations, here, that will forever change government, for example:
 - * Supporting a more strategic role for US Attorneys - - this supports a direction that Justice is moving in and makes it explicit.
 - * Creation of a National Public Safety Information Infrastructure - - this could not only support law enforcement and emergency response nationwide but also accelerate the development of the foundation for the geographic information that every community needs and wants. Jack, Katie and the Dept of Interior are all excited about the potential for this. And I have spoken to Tom Kalil who is also quite interested.
 - * Shift performance measures for federal law enforcement agencies to more focused on outcomes.
 - * Training of federal law enforcement in the use of GIS - - it is clear from the work of the Task Force that the Feds are lagging behind the locals on this - although Justice is working on this.
 - * Using Distance learning is really new for Justice - - Lynn has gotten them in touch with her cybercast network and they have found some additional great resources.
 - * What isn't in the package that you may want to raise:
 - * Not all the recommendations are included, privacy is a big one that isn't finished yet and needs to be in the final package.
 - * The recommendations are directed more at long term change - - and probably as they stand won't have an immediate impact on crime. Interestingly - - there is no formal or informal way that I have found for Justice to have a strategic discussion with police officials in cities that are having problems reducing their crime rate.
 - * There are lots of data questions that will be included in the final package.
 - * Funding issues will be addressed after the Steering Committee - - the rule from OMB is, however, no new money.

Here is the scheduling request for the President to announce the award of contracts to manufacture more than 150 new FAA-certified explosive detection devices for installation at airports throughout the United States. While this is part of an ongoing effort to strengthen airport security since the Gore Commission report came out in 1996, neither the WH nor DOT has ever done an event on it. Are you OK with submitting this? Let me know, Mary

TO: Stephanie Streett

FROM: Bruce Reed

REQUEST: For the President to announce the award of contracts to manufacture more than 150 new FAA-certified explosive detection devices for installation at airports throughout the United States.

PURPOSE: To amplify the President's commitment to airport security and to help combat terrorism in our Nation.

BACKGROUND: In 1996, the White House Commission on Aviation Safety, led by Vice President Gore, recommended that the FAA purchase innovative security equipment to help insure the safety of the flying public. This announcement would be the purchase of 21 FAA-certified explosives detection systems and 135 trace explosives detection devices, which add to the multi-year deployment of innovative security equipment recommended by the Commission. In FY99, FAA has $100 million to continue this deployment, and the President requested $100 million in his FY2000 budget.

PREVIOUS PARTICIPATION: None.

DATE AND TIME: March or early April

BRIEFING TIME: 10 minutes.

DURATION: 30 minutes.

LOCATION: Roosevelt Room.

PARTICIPANTS: The Vice President
Secretary Rodney Slater
FAA Administrator Jane Garvey
Senators Lautenberg and Boxer and others
Airline CEO's, equipment manufacturers, and members

TEXT:

Q: Today, HHS released guidance clarifying that states with joint applications for TANF and Medicaid are required to furnish Medicaid applications immediately upon request and process the applications without delay. Is this an attempt to compensate for the drop in Medicaid enrollment caused by welfare reform?

A: No. It is to ensure that the statutory requirements of the law are followed to ensure that former AFDC recipients and their children do not lose their Medicaid eligibility as they are moving from welfare to work. It is important to recall that the President vetoed two flawed welfare reform bills that did not guarantee Medicaid coverage to all adults and children who would have been eligible prior to the law's passage. The guidance that we released today is just the latest of our efforts to work with states to ensure that working families moving off cash assistance programs still get Medicaid benefits.

Q: Wasn't the Administration investigating New York City for violating Federal rules about immediate processing of Medicaid applications? Is this guidance targeted at them?

HHS has been working with New York City for several months to ensure that their Medicaid program is serving all qualified applicants, as required by law. In late January, a New York district court issued a temporary restraining order against the city for failing to follow Federal Medicaid enrollment requirements, and has required the city to develop a plan for coming into compliance with current statute. However, the situation in New York is not the reason we released this guidebook. Our goal is to do everything possible to maximize both the number of people with health insurance and the number of people moving from welfare to work.

Subject: ESEA Reauthorization Meetings

We have scheduled two ESEA Reauthorization meetings for next week:

- 1. Monday, March 22 at 5:00PM
- 2. Tuesday, March 23 at 2:30PM

Please hold these times on your schedule. I have confirmed these times with Mike Smith and Bruce Reed's schedules. I will get back to you with a room number and a complete list of attendees when I have them.

Tanya: Please let me know if there is anyone else I need to include from EOP. FYI -- Ann O'Leary is taking care getting the word out to the appropriate Ed folks. Thank you.

Thanks to lots of hard work from Andrea and Eric we are wrapping up the Workforce Investment Act rule with OMB and DOL which will put in place the interim rules for the One Stop employment centers (final rule expected in December after a comment period). None of the issues are ones I think you need to focus on, but we will submit a weekly item Thursday with more information.

This is the meeting that we had discussed earlier in the year to discuss what battles we have coming up in Congress, as well as our proactive strategy.

I'm interested in your input re: the meeting agenda. I thought Caroline could review for us what's likely to be on the floor in the next 6 months; Elena could review where we are on policy (have there been any changes since last year); and Ann could lead a discussion on the politics and message. Specific choice issues we need to discuss include: late-term, child custody protection, Title X, clinic violence, contraceptive coverage. Melanne asked that we have a separate meeting on int'l family planning when she returns from Africa. In addition to the meeting agenda, who have I missed below to invite? Thanks.

In consultation with Sen. Graham and Rep. Jim Davis, I have come up with the following invitation list for the Nursing Homes Bill Signing:

Sen. Graham-lead sponsor

Sen. Grassley--very helpful on this bill, Graham wants him invited

Sen. Roth-helpful, bill went through Finance

Sen. Moynihan--bill went through Finance

Rep. Davis-lead sponsor

Rep. Bilirakis--helpful, went through his subcommittee

Rep. Sherrod Brown--helpful, went through his subcommittee

Rep. Dingell--went through commerce--very helpful

Rep. Bliley--went through commerce

I have a call into HHS to see if they have any further thoughts on this list. Any problem with the above Members? Graham felt pretty strong about inviting Grassley. He has apparently been very helpful on this legislation. Let me know if you have a problem with this. Also, we will probably add Sen. Kohl. Apparently, Sen. Mack has not done much to help on this bill, both Davis and Graham did not think he needed to come.

Subject: Nursing Homes

In consultation with Sen. Graham and Rep. Jim Davis, I have come up with the following invitation list for the Nursing Homes Bill Signing:

Sen. Graham-lead sponsor
Sen. Grassley--very helpful on this bill, Graham wants him invited
Sen. Roth-helpful, bill went through Finance

Sen. Moynihan--bill went through Finance

Rep. Davis-lead sponsor

Rep. Bilirakis--helpful, went through his subcommittee

Rep. Sherrod Brown--helpful, went through his subcommittee

Rep. Dingell--went through commerce--very helpful

Rep. Bliley--went through commerce

I have a call into HHS to see if they have any further thoughts on this list. Any problem with the above Members? Graham felt pretty strong about inviting Grassley. He has apparently been very helpful on this legislation. Let me know if you have a problem with this. Also, we will probably add Sen. Kohl. Apparently, Sen. Mack has not done much to help on this bill, both Davis and Graham did not think he needed to come.

I said if there is a problem they should tell us, at this point we have Treasury, Commerce, Labor, SBA, DOJ, CEA, Leg Affairs, OPL, Counsels Office, and VP agreeing to this. She said she understood. I raised the EEOC money issue -- EEOC would prefer a specific dollar authorization (they want $8 million but will settle for $2 million) and she thought OMB might prefer to put to a dollar on it too. She said her only reaction was that it was "vague" but she understood the utility of that.

We are getting USDA and CEA to do more analysis on these trends and to develop more detailed policy options. Some policies we can do through regulation, but we will need "savers" enacted elsewhere in USDA to pay for them, so I'm reaching out to the Ag folks to see what's available. =====

What is Causing Caseload Reductions in the Food Stamp Program ?

In November 1998, the Food Stamp Program served 18.6 million people. The number of people receiving food stamps fell by over 9 million people, a drop of one third, since March 1994. Part of this drop is due to the strength of the economy and the success of welfare reform. Part of the drop is due to new restrictions on the participation of certain legal immigrants and able-bodied unemployed adults without dependents. However, other factors may also be at work. Between 1995 and 1997, food stamp participation fell five times as fast as poverty, suggesting that many poor families have left the program despite their continuing eligibility. While the program is available to households with gross incomes of up to 130 percent of poverty, 91 percent of program participants have income below the poverty level.

1. Who is Leaving the Food Stamp Program?

As shown in the table below, the largest percentage declines in food stamp receipt were in the two groups whose eligibility for benefits was curtailed by the 1996 law, legal immigrants and childless unemployed adults, which declined by 54 and 44 percent respectively. However, because these groups make up only a small percent of the overall food stamp caseload, their decline was only responsible for 20 percent of the overall caseload decline from 1994 to 1997. (1997 is the most recent year for which we have food stamp caseload data by subgroup, although we have overall data for 1998 as shown below.)

The bulk of the caseload changes comes from AFDC/TANF recipients, who make up approximately 43 percent of the food stamp caseload. Between 1994-1997, this group experienced a 27 percent decrease in participation, which caused 60 percent of the entire caseload reduction between 1994-1997.

Subgroup	Participants in 1994 (thousands)	Participants in 1997 (thousands)	Participation Change 1994-1997 (thousands)	Percent Change in Participation	Subgroup as Percent of 1994 caseload	Subgroup as Percent of 1997 caseload	Percent of Decline from Subgroup 1994-1997
Legal Permanent Resident Aliens	1,537	706	-831	-54%	6%	3.4%	14%
Childless Unemployed Adults	1,148	648	-500	-43.5%	4%	3.1%	8.4%
AFDC/TANF Recipients	13,052	9,442	-3,610	-27.6%	48%	43%	60.8%
All Other Participants	11,697	10,707	-990	-8.5%	43%	49%	16.7%
Total Participants	27,434	21,503	-5,931	-21.6%	100%	100%	100%

July-September Food Stamp Program Quality Control Data for 1994 and 1997

2. How does the AFDC/TANF caseload decline compare to that in food stamps?

CHANGE IN WELFARE / FOOD STAMP CASELOADS

	Change in AFDC/TANF Participation	Percent Change in AFDC/TANF	Change in Food Stamp Participation	Percent Change in Food Stamps
1994 -1997	2,853,000	-20%	5,931,000	-21%
1994 -1998	6,321,000	-44%	9,282,516	-33%

Historically, food stamp caseloads are usually about twice as high as AFDC/TANF caseloads, reflecting the broader eligibility rules for food stamps. AFDC caseloads, which were largely flat from the mid-1970s through 1990, rose 27 percent between 1990 and 1994. But, between 1994 and mid-1998 they fell by 40 percent. In September, 1998, they were at their lowest since 1969.

Food stamp caseloads follow a similar trend. Participation peaked at 22 million during the 1983 recession and then fell steadily with a stronger economy until 1988. From 1988 to 1994, participation increased by 9.5 million, a 52 percent increase. From 1994 to 1998, food stamp participation fell by 9.2 million, a 33 percent decrease.

3. How much of the decline can be attributed to the economy?

The relationship between the economy and food stamp participation has been fairly strong over the last twenty years. Even when forecasters have not been able to predict AFDC caseloads accurately on the basis on economic factors, there are still corresponding patterns of rise and fall in unemployment and the food stamp caseload. But even though economic factors are important, they are not the entire story. There have been periods where food stamp caseload trends varied significantly from unemployment rates.

The unemployment rate has fallen from 6.6 percent in 1994 to 4.4 percent in 1999. Previously developed models of the relationship between the economy and food stamp participation indicate that economic trends since 1994 could account for anywhere from 28 to 45 percent of the change in food stamp participation.

4. How are specific food stamp eligibility changes affecting the food stamp caseload?

At least 20 percent of the decline between 1994-1997 came from two subgroups directly affected by PRWORA. Participation of legal immigrants declined 54 percent between 1994-1997, although most legal immigrants remained eligible through mid-1997, and reflected 14 percent of the entire caseload's decline. Changes in BBA and last year's Agricultural Research Act may have an effect on these numbers as certain groups of legal immigrants become eligible for food stamps. The group of childless unemployed adults without dependents made up 8 percent of the decline in the entire food stamp caseload, as the subgroup registered a 44 percent decline between 1994-1997. Most able-bodied, nonworking childless adults are limited to three months of food stamp benefits in any 36-month period.

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

While the declines from these two subgroups total 22 percent of the entire caseload reductions between 1994-1997, some of these declines, as with other populations, are likely to be due to improvements in the economy. A 28 to 45 percent decline could mean that 6 to 10 percent of the 22 percent would be due to the economy.

5. What effect do other welfare reform changes have on the food stamp caseload?

Historically, the Food Stamp Program has been closely coordinated in local offices with cash assistance programs and the vast majority of the AFDC/TANF recipients were also receiving food stamps. In fact, as shown in the table below, individuals receiving cash assistance have historically been almost twice as likely to receive food stamps than families with earnings who were eligible for food stamps.

PERCENTAGE OF ELIGIBLE INDIVIDUALS PARTICIPATING IN THE FOOD STAMP PROGRAM

Household with earnings	45.8 %
Households with children	85.8 %
Single parents with children/no earnings	96.8 %
Single parents with earnings/children	59%
Households with earnings and children	55.2 %

SIPP, 1994

Thus, one reason for declines in food stamp participation may be that million of individuals moved from cash assistance, where they were nearly certain to receive food stamps, to the workforce, where they are half as likely to receive assistance even though still eligible. In that case, we may want to focus our efforts on ensuring the food stamp program does a better job of serving working families. Recent studies of people leaving the welfare rolls show that between 45 and 65 percent are receiving food stamps once they leave the welfare rolls.

SUMMARY OF RECENT RESEARCH ON WELFARE LEAVERS

Study	Percent of Leavers Receiving Food Stamps
Delaware 1/98	65%
Indiana 1997 11/98	38% 52% (after Year 1) 40% (after Year 2)
Iowa 1993-5 1999	66% 59%
South Carolina 1997	66%
Washington 1/99	45%
Wisconsin 1/99	49%

6. What might all this information tell us?

Combining the information we have on caseload changes, the estimated economic effects on caseloads, and the take-up rates of individuals based on earnings we are able to explain 78 percent of the caseload reductions from 1994-1997. Of the 3.6 million individuals who left the food stamp rolls, 1.6 million or 45 percent could be attributed to economic influences. Of the 2.9 million who left TANF during this period, only 59 percent are expected to continue receiving food stamps if historical trends continue, meaning 1.2 million may not received food stamps although they may be eligible. Combining the economic effect on the caseload and what we know about the likelihood of participation for individuals based on earnings, we can account for 2.8 million of the actual 3.6 million decrease. However, because those who left TANF may have done so because of opportunities created by the growing economy, it may not be fair to add these two effects together. We have USDA and CEA examining this and related questions.

7. What factors contribute to nonparticipation?

Reasons why working families are less likely to receive food stamps include:

- Insufficient or incorrect information about the program. Working-poor families with children often do not know about their eligibility for food stamps given that many such families are not eligible for cash assistance. Lack of accurate program information is also prevalent among illiterate and non-English speaking individuals.

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

- Problems of Program access and administrative difficulties with the application process. Historically, participation rates are often lower among rural and elderly populations because of physical access and transportation barriers. However, recent reports, similar to the illegal NYC access situation, have created questions whether wide-spread diversion or discouragement of food stamp participation is taking place on a broader level. Moreover, working families need to follow somewhat cumbersome procedures to report their earning to the food stamp office and it is often difficult for individuals who are working to get to the office during open hours.
- Small size of the benefit or lack of desire for benefits. As an individual's or household's income rises the potential food stamp benefit declines. At some point, eligible individuals may decide the small amount of the benefit is worth less than the cost of applying. For example, the monthly food stamp allotment for a family of three with $300 weekly income and $500 monthly rent is $40. Other people forgo benefits regardless of the amount because of the stigma associated with receiving or using Food Stamps. The increasing use of EBT could decrease this stigma in the future as the transaction will be similar to credit card use.

8. Possible proposals

Possible proposals for making food stamps work better for working families include:

- Car Ownership. States realize that to successfully seek and retain a job, in most areas of the country people must now own a reliable vehicle. The majority of state TANF programs allow ownership of one car without regard to value, or have a vehicle value limit in line with reasonable local used car values. However, the Food Stamp Program imposes a car value limit of $4,650 once a recipient is no longer receiving TANF assistance. In some instances, families who leave TANF yet need to continue food stamp participation often find that their car now prevents them from being eligible for food stamps.
- Reporting and Verifying Information. Because of the flexibility they have to shape their TANF programs, many states have simplified much of the eligibility and reporting process. They have reduced reporting requirements and made definitions of income simpler. But food stamp polices require in-person recertification interviews as often as every three months. Food stamp rules also require reporting of nearly every change in wage amounts, which often fluctuate substantially over short periods. We are discussing USDA a proposal to administratively allow six-month certification periods as opposed to three -month certification periods and allow working families to submit a complete report every three months but not require the families to report routine changes between quarterly reports.

Automated Records Management System
Hex-Dump Conversion

- Error Rates. Under the Food Stamp program, states must meet certain payment accuracy rates in order to avoid penalties. These rates require the family to predict extremely accurately future earnings which is difficult for hourly employees. The result is that as individuals on TANF move into jobs, state error rates increase, providing states with disincentives to serve these families. We are discussing another proposal with USDA to administratively raise the tolerance for excluding small dollar errors from $5.00 to $10.00. Only those overissuances to eligible households which exceed the $10.00 tolerance figure would be reported and coded in the completion of quality control reviews.

H. R. 1141 – EMERGENCY SUPPLEMENTAL APPROPRIATIONS ACT, FY 1999

(Sponsor: Young (R), Florida)

This Statement of Administration Policy provides the Administration's views on H.R.1141, the bill making emergency supplemental appropriations to assist in Central America's recovery from recent natural disasters, to provide urgent funding related to the situation in Jordan, and to provide vital loans and other assistance to our farmers and ranchers. The Administration appreciates the Committee's consideration of the President's supplemental requests and looks forward to working with the Congress on a bi-partisan basis to complete action on this important legislation soon. However, we have significant concerns with the approach being taken in the House Committee bill and we ask that you consider the Administration's views.

Providing essential assistance to victims of natural disasters and helping our farmers at home with vital financing clearly fall in the category of needs that are urgent, unanticipated, and essential -- that is, emergency requirements. Therefore, they clearly deserve to be funded quickly, fully, and without requiring offsets that could force unacceptable reductions in important programs. We support the Committee's action of providing defense-related emergency funding in response to Hurricane Mitch without offsets and believe that consistent treatment should be applied to non-defense agencies performing similar emergency activities. The Administration would strongly oppose an amendment that may be offered that would require offsets for this defense-related emergency funding.

The Committee bill would rescind $875 million from international affairs accounts, with the largest portion being a rescission of $648 million in appropriations of callable capital from U.S. payments to the Asian Development Bank (ASDB), the World Bank and the InterAmerican Development Bank. Such rescissions would be extremely ill-advised. Rescinding the callable capital funding would send a dangerous signal to financial markets and could require the ASDB and other multilateral development banks (MDBs) to pay a higher premium on their borrowing, which could lead to the restriction of capital flows necessary to strengthen the global economy and expand U.S. exports. At a time when some Asian and other developing economies are beginning to recover, this step would be highly unproductive.

In addition, this rescission of callable capital would call into question U.S. commitment to all multilateral development banks. This could have a detrimental effect on capital flows and economic growth globally, including in Asia, Africa, and Latin America. This unintended consequence would even more broadly delay economic recovery in markets vital to the United States, thereby hurting our own economy.

The other rescissions in the international affairs area would undermine a host of important objectives in many programs. For example, the rescissions would cut support for U.S. exports, undermining our efforts to penetrate foreign markets and provide jobs for American workers. At a time when the United States needs to promote its exports, this is a particularly misguided step. The rescissions would also undercut free market reform and democracy promotion in the New Independent States and in Eastern Europe, areas where it is manifestly in America's interests to encourage reform. The rescission of development assistance would set back efforts in the poorest countries, including possibly in those hit hardest by Hurricane Mitch.

Other rescissions would undermine our efforts to provide peacekeeping operations in troubled areas of the world. The rescission of Global Environment Facility funding would be highly detrimental to the cause of improving global environmental protection. Still other cuts would reduce our contributions to international organizations, where America's reputation as a contributor in good standing is already tarnished.

In addition, we are concerned with the $150 million cut in important nonproliferation programs to reduce stockpiles of excess weapons grade uranium and plutonium in Russia. Since the Department of Energy has already negotiated an agreement with Russia to purchase uranium for $325 million, the entire cut would have to come from the $200 million appropriated for plutonium. That would drastically undercut negotiations that are underway to dispose of 50 tons of weapons grade plutonium in Russia, enough for 15,000 nuclear weapons.

Taken together, these rescissions are so great that the supplemental as a whole would constitute a net reduction in U.S. foreign affairs spending -- a reduction that would seriously undermine America's capacity to pursue its foreign policy objectives and promote our economic security.

Were the bill to be presented to the President with the offsets discussed above, the President's senior advisers would recommend that he veto the bill. We urge the House not to take actions that could result in gridlock and delay, and that would be detrimental both to our allies abroad and our citizens at home in their time of need.

Emergency Relief for Central America

The bill provides $962 million for Central America, $6 million more than the President's request. On February 16th, the President transmitted to the Congress a request for $956 million for International Assistance Programs, the Department of Defense, and the Department of Justice to provide assistance for emergency disaster and reconstruction assistance expenses arising from the consequences of the recent hurricanes in Central America and the Caribbean and the recent earthquake in Colombia. The Administration appreciates the full funding provided in the House bill for this request, which will provide relief from the effects of Hurricanes Mitch and Georges and restore hope to this devastated region.

Hurricane Mitch, the worst natural disaster in the history of the Western Hemisphere, left more than 9,000 dead and drove millions from their homes. Even today, hundred of thousands of Central Americans still cannot return to their homes. Schools, hospitals, businesses, farms and roads were destroyed, resulting in serious economic dislocation. Hurricane Mitch caused $8.5 billion in damages, and Hurricane Georges brings the total to $10 billion. The President's Central America package is urgent, unanticipated, and essential and should be funded as an emergency request.

Funds must be provided swiftly to prevent the spread of disease and to buy seed and plant crops in the fast-approaching Spring planting season, thereby providing food and jobs to many communities, and to demonstrate to Central Americans that they can find jobs and security in their own recovering economies. Much of the rural road system farmers and small merchants depend on for their livelihoods was destroyed. Water and sanitation systems have been disrupted, which can result in disease. Economic destruction and dislocation threaten to undermine the region's achievements of the past decade, as these nations have made tremendous strides toward settling conflicts, strengthening democracy, promoting human rights, opening economies and alleviating poverty. Emergency assistance for reconstruction aid will ensure that their transformation continues and that Central Americans will have cause to view their own futures in the region with hope.

Jordan

The Administration appreciates the Committee's providing the full $100 million for Jordan, fully funding the FY 1999 request. These funds will provide financial support to help promote stability in Jordan and the region during the period of transition subsequent to King Hussein's death. While the administration appreciates the full funding of the $100 million FY request, we are disappointed that the $200 million requested for advance appropriations for FYs 2000 and 2001 has not been provided. In the context of promoting peace in the Middle East, the Administration will continue to press for these advance appropriations.

Department of Agriculture

On February 26th, the President submitted a request for $152 million for urgently needed emergency funds for the Department of Agriculture (USDA). The Administration appreciates the Committee's providing fully for this request. The Administration's request would provide an additional $1.1 billion in farm ownership, operating, and emergency direct and guaranteed loans to help farmers through the Spring planting season. This additional loan authority would provide vitally needed financing for the Nation's farmers in light of the significant increase in demand for USDA loans, due to project continuing low commodity and livestock prices.

Department of the Interior

The Administration is pleased that the Committee provided a total of $21.8 million in supplemental funding for Interior's Indian trust fund management reforms. Of this amount, $6.8 million was included in the President's FY 2000 Budget and $15 million was transmitted by the President with offsets on March 10, 1999. Together these funds will allow the Department to carry out critical activities, including court-ordered requirements in the Cobell v. Babbitt lawsuit alleging past mismanagement of individual Indian money accounts, and continued progress on trust fund management improvements.

Subject: Puerto Rico/Elementary&Secondary Ed Bill

Thanks for the info. I think we need further consideration before proposing unequal treatment of Puerto Ricans in Even Start, Safe & Drug-Free Schools, and migratory children's education. What is the policy reason for such discrimination? The 2nd ranking Dem. on the House committee, George Miller, is concerned about this. So, too, is Puerto Rico's Romero, who's on the committee. Hispanic Members of Congress just wrote the President asking him to propose phasing in equal treatment of Puerto Rico in the (few) programs where it is not now treated equally. Many of the Puerto Rican kids who would not receive equal aid will wind up in the States.

The Administration appreciates the Committee's providing fully for this request. The Administration's request would provide an additional $1.1 billion in farm ownership, operating, and emergency direct and guaranteed loans to help farmers through the Spring planting season. This additional loan authority would provide vitally needed financing for the Nation's farmers in light of the significant increase in demand for USDA loans, due to project continuing low commodity and livestock prices.

Department of the Interior

The Administration is pleased that the Committee provided a total of $21.8 million in supplemental funding for Interior's Indian trust fund management reforms. Of this amount, $6.8 million was included in the President's FY 2000 Budget and $15 million was transmitted by the President with offsets on March 10, 1999. Together these funds will allow the Department to carry out critical activities, including court-ordered requirements in the Cobell v. Babbitt lawsuit alleging past mismanagement of individual Indian money accounts, and continued progress on trust fund management improvements.

TEXT:

Q: What is your response to the story in today's New York Times criticizing HCFA for lax oversight of state nursing home complaint investigations and insufficient penalties for facilities that are out of compliance?

A: One report of shortcomings in nursing home quality enforcement is one too many. Protecting patients in these facilities has been and will continue to be a priority of this Administration. Last July, the President initiated a new nursing home quality initiative that ensures swift and strong penalties for nursing homes failing to comply with standards, strengthened oversight of state enforcement mechanisms, and implemented unprecedented efforts to improve nutrition and prevent bed sores. He also invested over $73.7 million -- an unprecedented increase of 31.6 percent over last year's funding level -- in his FY 2000 budget to support these new efforts.

Nonetheless, we are concerned about the GAO findings that suggest that states and in some cases, HCFA, have not adequately pursued their nursing home quality mandate. In response, just last week, we required States to expedite the investigation of any complaint that alleges harm to a nursing home resident, report all of these complaints to HHS's national database, create a $1,000 minimum fine for facilities violating quality standards, and make it easier for states to impose fines of up to $10,000 for quality violations. To facilitate these actions, we directed HCFA to immediately reprogram $4 million to ensure the adequate financing of these nursing home quality enforcement activities.

Q: Why didn't the Administration testify at yesterday's hearing?

A: That was a decision made by the Department of Health and Human Services. We understand that under both Republican and Democratic administrations, it has been Department procedures for senior Administration officials to testify at the beginning of any hearing. We have been informed that this protocol was established during the Reagan Administration, and HHS believes it is an appropriate practice.

Any additional questions on this matter should be referred to the Department.

Q: Today, the Washington Post reported that the fast track review of Rezulin has led to 28 deaths and liver transplants in 7 others. What is your response? Are you going to insist that this drug be pulled from the market?

A: Each time FDA received confirmed reports about liver damage or other adverse side effects associated with Rezulin, the agency moved swiftly to change the labeling on the drug to recommend more extensive testing of patient liver function. After the labeling changes were implemented, the number of reported adverse side effects has dropped -- however, FDA is still concerned the drug's effect on patient liver function and will be considering this week whether we should further restrict its regulation.

Any further questions on Rezulin should be referred to HHS.

As we discuss whether to do a letter, here is the latest draft of one, attached. I think it effectively rebuts Bolick's arguments while simultaneously presenting a positive portrait of both Bill Lann Lee and the Administration's commitment to charter schools.

To the Editor:

Clint Bolick's article about Bill Lann Lee and charter schools argues that Mr. Lee has "launched a campaign to stop charter schools in their tracks." Some campaign. Under President Clinton, the number of charter schools in America has gone from just one in 1993 to more than 1,100 today.

There is no "campaign" or "battle" against charter schools being waged by Bill Lann Lee or anyone else in the Clinton Administration. Thanks to the leadership of President Clinton, school districts across the country are embracing charter schools as an innovative way to improve the quality of education in America, particularly in distressed areas where the need is so great. Bill Lann Lee, Acting Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights in the Department of Justice, shares the President's vision and supports Administration policy and the law completely.

Fundamental civil rights goals of breaking down segregation and ensuring equal educational opportunities for all Americans can be achieved simultaneously with the development of charter schools. The rapid growth of charter schools during the last six years is proof. For example, in the East Baton Rouge case, the Department of Justice did not oppose the opening of a new charter school. It simply asked the new charter school to take steps to avoid further segregating the community. In the South Carolina case, the government moved to enforce an existing consent decree which closed certain schools to alleviate the isolation of African American students and equalize resources, and the state court agreed. The closed schools are to be replaced by new facilities. In no case has the government acted against any charter school simply because it is a charter school. In every case the government has acted to protect the public interest in desegregation.

Mr. Bolick imagines a "war" against charter schools that simply does not exist. The only battle being waged is by Mr. Bolick and his allies against the nomination of Bill Lann Lee. But their complaint is not really with Mr. Lee. It is with the civil rights laws themselves, which Mr. Lee has been acting to enforce for the past year. His track record of success -- and the Clinton Administration's success in promoting charter schools -- speak for themselves.

Sincerely,

James E. Kennedy
Special Advisor To The White House Counsel

Subject: Domenici/Kasich Reolutions on Tobacco and Welfare

Cynthia Rice had asked whether we had any information on what , if anything, the House and Senate Resolutions might do in tobacco. Based on the materials we have seen, neither resolution appears to include the Budget's tobacco tax increase or recoupment policies, nor specifically addresses tobacco-related programs in the discretionary funding allocations.

Information on both resolutions is generally available for only broad functional categories, so it is difficult to be precise about effects on specific programs. However, since the Senate resolution could produce a 12.2 percent across-the-board reduction for non-defense discretionary (NDD) funding, the President's proposed increases for tobacco spending in CDC and FDA would be in jeopardy. Information available on the House resolution is very limited at this point and it is not possible to speculate what its effects might be.

Subject: OPD SERVER UPGRADE (text for message)

IS&T needs to upgrade the OPD server this Saturday from 8pm until Sunday at 8am in preparation for the NT 4.0 roll-out which begins next week and for the Y2K effort. This upgrade must take place this weekend. Please let me know if there are any serious conflicts with doing this upgrade.
If there are, we may have to schedule it for one night this week. Thank you for your cooperation.

Subject: OPD SERVER UPGRADE (text for message)

The process to upgrade the OPD server will begin Saturday evening, April 3rd, starting at 8 p.m. This step is in anticipation of the NT4 rollout and to assure Y2K compliancy. It is expected this task will be completed by 8 a.m. Sunday morning. During this upgrade period, you will not be able to access any applications running off the server, including Lotus Notes e-mail, nor will you be able to print to any networked printers (local printers are not affected).

If you need to access WordPerfect (which runs off your PC), boot up and log on with your password as usual. You will then receive an error message: " Cannot find file 'Q:\STD\WINDOWS\RWIN\SERVER.EXE' specified in the startup group (or one of its components); check to ensure the path and filename are correct and that all required libraries are available," Click on the OK button that appears in this box and the message will clear itself. Your desktop will then appear where you can select Word Perfect. Again some of your desktop applications will NOT work since they are executed off the server.

You are asked to please logoff and turn off your PC when departing Friday evening or before the upgrade begins.

If you have any questions....

March 22, 1999

Dear Senator Edwards,

Thank you for your thoughtful letter expressing concern about the future of tobacco farmers in this country. As you know, I have made protecting tobacco farmers and their communities one of the key components of my Administration's policy to reduce youth smoking.

While we must work to reduce youth smoking, we also must ensure that we protect tobacco farmers and their communities.

I agree that any recoupment from the state settlements should take into account effects on tobacco farmers. My Administration has proposed an approach that gives states flexibility and discretion over how these funds will be spent. Specifically, we have proposed that states keep 100 percent of the tobacco settlement funds in exchange for a commitment to use a portion of the proceeds to reduce youth smoking, protect tobacco farmers, improve public health, and assist children. We look forward to crafting legislation with the states, members of Congress, and with representatives of tobacco farmers. Without such legislation, not a single penny of tobacco settlement funds would have to be used to reduce youth smoking.

It is possible to protect tobacco farmers and their communities, at the same time that we dramatically reduce youth smoking. I am confident that we will be able to reach agreement on recoupment. I look forward to working with you on this important issue.

Sincerely,

March 22, 1999

Dear Senator Robb,

Thank you for your thoughtful letter expressing concern about the future of tobacco farmers in this country. As you know, I have made protecting tobacco farmers and their communities one of the key components of my Administration's policy to reduce youth smoking.

While we must work to reduce youth smoking, we also must ensure that we protect tobacco farmers and their communities.

I agree that tobacco farmers and their communities must be protected from the effects of tobacco litigation. As was done in the settlement with the state attorneys general, I believe that in connection with any judgment or settlement of Federal claims there should be established a fund to protect them from the unintended consequences of that lawsuit. I am committing my Administration, as any Federal litigation proceeds to judgment or settlement, that we will make sure that adequate funds are set aside by legislation to ensure the financial security of tobacco farmers and their communities. We would of course develop this legislation in close consultation with you and other members of Congress, and with representatives of tobacco farmers, workers, and their communities.

It is possible to protect tobacco farmers and their communities, at the same time that we dramatically reduce youth smoking. I am confident that we will be able to reach agreement with respect any judgments or settlements of federal claims. I look forward to working with you on this important issue.

Sincerely,

March 22, 1999

Dear Representative Boucher,

Thank you for your thoughtful letter expressing concern about the future of tobacco farmers in this country, particularly small farmers. As you know, I have made protecting tobacco farmers and their communities one of the key components of my Administration's policy to reduce youth smoking. While we must work to reduce youth smoking, we also must ensure that we protect tobacco farmers and their communities.

I agree that tobacco farmers and their communities must be protected from the effects of all tobacco litigation. As was done in the settlement with the state attorneys general, I believe that in connection with any judgment or settlement of Federal claims there should be established a fund to protect them from the unintended consequences of that lawsuit. I am committing my Administration, as any Federal litigation proceeds to judgment or settlement, that we will make sure that adequate funds are set aside by legislation to ensure the financial security of tobacco farmers and their communities. We would of course develop this legislation in close consultation with you and other members of Congress, and with representatives of tobacco farmers, their families, and communities.

NATIONAL ORIGIN DISCRIMINATION/LANGUAGE RIGHTS: There are two areas that are relevant to national origin discrimination the based on language that are discussed below.

A. National Origin Employment Discrimination based on Language - The EEOC is focusing its attention on national origin discrimination in the form of "language" issues such as speak-English- only rules and discriminatory practices based on accent. These practices affect a wide range of people suffering from discriminatory treatment by virtue of the way they speak.

1. Goal: The goal is to eliminate employment discrimination based on language issues such as speak-English-only rules and discriminatory employment practices based on accent.
2. Objectives: Promote and enforce Civil Rights Act.
3. Tasks: Promote language rights; educate employers and employees that this practice may constitute discrimination; and develop strategic enforcement of the Civil Rights law.
4. Timing: In two weeks, the EEOC will provide recommendations.

B. Meaningful Access to Government Programs and Programs -

1. Goal: Ensure that Limited English Proficiency (LEP) persons have meaningful access to government programs and services.
2. Objective: To ensure that Agencies are complying with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act as it relates to provision of services to LEP persons. We discovered that Agencies do not have a consistent policy in this area. However, the Department of Justice has filed a brief in a case in which a patient was denied emergency medical services because he was a Limited English Proficiency (LEP) persons.
3. Tasks: (1) The Department of Justice will provide legal guidance as to government agencies responsibilities under Title VI; (2) Agency representatives will consult with their General Counsels as to their compliance with Title VI; (3) develop a strategy to educate the agencies about their responsibilities and to ensure their compliance with Title VI.
4. Timing: In two weeks, the agencies will report on their findings after consultation with General Counsels.

WORKER EXPLOITATION/TRAFFICKING OF WOMEN:

A. Worker Exploitation - On April 23, 1998, a Federal Worker Exploitation interagency task force co-chaired by the Departments of Justice and Labor was established to combat cases of worker exploitation in the United States. The Worker Exploitation inter-agency task force is coordinating the investigation, prosecution and prevention of these cases; establishing a central information bank of information; and establishing a blueprint for addressing the unique needs of victims of worker exploitation where they will be more willing to come forward and report these terrible crimes. The task force has found that while there are a number of laws used to prosecute these cases, current criminal and labor statutes restrict efforts to prosecute these cases and discourages victims of worker exploitation to report these cases. The President's proposed Crime bill will include some provisions that help to address these restrictions. However, the more can be done to Administration to highlight this problem and to encourage victims to come forward by providing adequate protection and assistance for victims. There is press interest in this issue. Parade is working on a cover story on this subject for publication in about three months. Also, the anniversary of the task force is upcoming and may be an opportunity to elevate this issue.

1. Goals: Eradicate the practice of worker exploitation.
2. Objectives: Objectives include: (1) coordinating the investigation, prosecution and prevention of these cases; (2) establishing a central information bank of information; and (3) address the unique needs of victims of worker exploitation where they will be more willing to come forward and report these terrible crimes including the provision of appropriate services to victims of worker exploitation; (4) build support for President's Crime bill proposals.
3. Tasks: The interagency task force working with other agencies including HHS and EEOC and the CRCC will (1) develop a communications strategy to educate and highlight that eradication of worker exploitation is a high priority to build support for the President's proposals and to support law enforcement efforts to prosecute these cases; (2) develop a proposal to ensure the provision of appropriate services to victims of worker exploitation; (3) consider and develop other legislative and administrative proposals to address this issue; (4) identify additional resources to combat worker exploitation.
4. Timing: Ongoing

B. Trafficking of Women and Children - Worker exploitation is often a result of women and children who are victims of trafficking which includes recruitment, transport, and harboring, transfer, sale or receipt of persons within the US and international borders through deception or fraud, coercion or force, or abduction for the purposes of placing in situations of forced labor or services such as forced prostitution or sexual services, domestic servitude, or debt bondage--or any other forms of slavery-like practices. On March 11, 1998, President Clinton issued an Executive Memorandum on Steps to Combat Violence Against Women and Trafficking in Women and Girls that directed the Federal government to increase its efforts within the United States and in partnership with other countries to address this issue. Currently, there is no comprehensive law in the United States that sanctions the range of activities recognized as trafficking or that protects its victims. Law enforcement now relies upon a number of criminal, labor and immigration laws that compose some of the component crimes involved in a trafficking scheme. In accordance with this directive, the President's Interagency Council on Women chairs an interagency working group to develop a strategy consisting of: prevention; protections and assistance for trafficking victims; and prosecution and enforcement against traffickers. There is legislation pending on this issue introduced by Representative Chris Smith (R-NJ) and Senator Wellstone is working on legislation.

- 1. Goals: Eradicate the trafficking of women and children.
- 2. Objectives: Develop a strategy consisting of: prevention; protections and assistance for trafficking victims; and prosecution and enforcement against traffickers.
- 3. Tasks: The President's Interagency Council on Women working with the CRCC will (1) develop a communications strategy to build support for the President's proposals in the crime bill that address trafficking of women is a high priority; (2) develop a proposal to ensure the provision of appropriate services to victims of trafficking; (3) consider and develop other legislative and administrative proposals to address this issue; (4) identify additional resources to eradicate this practice.
- 4. Timing: Ongoing

EEOC BACKLOG/ FEDERAL SECTOR INITIATIVE

A. EEOC Backlog on Federal Cases - Federal sector employees can expect to get the final agency decision on an EEOC claim no less than 659 days compared to 310 days for private sector employees. EEOC has proposed regulations to revamp the federal sector EEO complaint process that is pending final approval.

A. Goal: Reduce the backlog for federal sector employees and to improve the process.

B. Objective: Develop a strategy to reduce the federal sector EEO process and to improve the process.

C. Tasks: Determine the status of the EEOC pending regulation; review the EEOC pending regulations; and determine next steps to reduce the backlog for federal sector employees and to improve the process .

D. Timing: In two weeks, EEOC will give report on status of these efforts.

Not exactly. The meeting is more broadly about the nomination although the groups agreed with our sentiment that we should not be responding to negative pieces in this way.

SCHEDULING PROPOSAL

TODAY'S DATE: 3 /23/99

TO: Stephanie Streett
Assistant to the President
Director of Presidential Scheduling

FROM: Bruce Reed
Assistant to the President for Domestic Policy and Director of the Domestic Policy Council

REQUEST: Equal Pay Day Event and Roundtable

PURPOSE: To highlight the President's support for equal pay; to hold a roundtable illuminating the issues, and to announce a new data collection provision in Senator
Daschle's "The Paycheck Fairness Act."

BACKGROUND: According to the Council of Economic Advisors, in 1997, the gap between men's and women's wages is approximately 75 percent. Accounting for differences such as education and skill levels raised the female/male pay ratio in the late 1980s from about 72 percent to about 88 percent, leaving around 12 percent as an "unexplained" difference. In the last few years, the Administration has gained strong public support by taking steps to further equal pay. Among the actions the Administration has announced in the last two years: endorsement of the Daschle bill; a $14 million equal pay initiative in the FY 2000 budget for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) and the DOL's Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP); publication of a CEA report that shows a significant wage gap between male and female workers; commitments by federal agencies to conduct self-audits; and the creation of an annual report on pay differences to be published by DOL.

PREVIOUS PARTICIPATION: The Vice President held an event on April 2 last year; the President held an event on June 10 last year to commemorate the 35th anniversary of the Equal Pay Act; equal pay was mentioned in the State of the Union; and the President gave a radio address on this topic in January 1999.

DATE AND TIME: April 7, 1999

BRIEFING TIME: 30 minutes

DURATION: 75 minutes (15 minutes for remarks and one hour for roundtable)

LOCATION: The East Room or Room 450

PARTICIPANTS: The President
Secretary Herman
Chairwoman of the EEOC
Members of Congress (Senators Daschle and Harkin, Reps. DeLauro and Holmes-Norton)
Women's groups
Unions and business representatives

TEXT:

I am reviewing the race book sections and have concerns about the race-profiling section.

The draft book indicates that the President will issue an executive order and that there will be exceptions made for agencies like the INS to use race profiling provided they demonstrate necessity for using race.

At the race profiling meeting two weeks ago, I recalled that we decided that we would recommend that the President issue either a directive or EO that indicates his concern about the use of race in law enforcement and will direct the agencies to collect data to determine the extent of the problem and to develop some proposed solutions. I also recalled that we discussed but rejected the idea of a carve out or exceptions for certain agencies at this time and decided to go with the data collection strategy.

My concern is that providing a carve out for the border patrol and using particular example of the Southwest border in the book sends the message that it's okay to use race along the Southwest Border. While I understand that courts have supported the use of race by the border patrol and that the Administration's ultimate conclusion after gathering data and discussing various options may be that the border patrol should use race, I don't think we should come out now and say it's okay and use the Southwest border as an example. Using this example would likely outrage the Hispanic and civil rights communities and invite other questions that are not addressed in the book - what is INS doing at the Canadian border, airports, etc.

I recommend that the directive or EO not include a carve out/exemption for certain federal law enforcement at this time; that we do not put the example of the Southwest border in the book; and we stick to our original recommendation.

The editorial note at the end of the section indicates that there is an understanding that we need to clarify our policy with regard to the border patrol but I wanted to make that this issue is addressed and to know the status of the race profiling issue. I recall there was some other conversations about this issue after our meeting. Has anything changed since we last discussed this issue? Please let me know or if you have any further questions or comments. I will submit all my comments in one comprehensive note but I wanted to run this one by you.

Thanks.
