SUBJECT: Tobacco Farmers

TO: Elena Kagan (elena kagan@EOP [UNKNOWN])

READ:UNKNOWN

TEXT:

Ellena:

A couple of articles about the settlement's effect on tobacco farmers are attached.

The tobacco growers get a very small share of the pie from the sale of cigarettes and have traditionally been screwed by the big companies. If the settlement gave them a small portion, which is chicken feed to the companies in light of the dollars being contemplated but enormous to the farmers, it would make a big difference in these small farmers lives and would help them transition out of the crop. The Administration really has an opportunity to help people (usually good, poor country people that the President and the VP have stood up for -- nobody else does) and do good by making sure the farmers get included in the settlement. The coverage of farmers by the settlement should defintely be included in the President's statement!

I apologize for my southern populist roots showing on this one.

--George

Elena:

Could you have someone fax over whatever briefing papers are available from today's even on tobacco legislation so I can circulate them to the folks here who are following this issue? My fax number is 514-8071.

By the way, I thought the event went very well and you and Bruce deserve a lot of credit. Good work.

Thanks, George===== ATTACHMENT 1 ======

Andy and Elena:

I would be interested in knowing whether you have any comments on the attached, especially on how we propose the AG to respond if she gets a question about whether the federal govt. should be bringing suits to recover the monies federal programs have paid out for smoking related diseases.

(Elena: I will also fax this to you.)

SUBJECT: Indian tobacco provisions -Reply

TO: Elena Kagan (elena kagan@EOP [UNKNOWN])

READ:UNKNOWN

TEXT:

Greg:

I would think the Administration would be opposed to having anyone testify about how specific provisions in the tobacco resolution proposed by the state Attorney Generals should be improved. Such comments imply that the Administration has accepted that proposal as the basis for legislation. The President rejected that approach and instead set out the five principles that should be the cornerstones of any legislation.

Additionally, he met with Congressional leaders this week and suggested that they work together to draft legislation that would meet his five objectives. The WH has been very careful not to address any specifics at this point. The concerns of the Tribal Justice office can be raised during the review of any legislation that emerges from the process the President has suggested for global tobacco legislation.

To provide specific comments on the proposal offered by the state Attorneys General would seem contrary to the tack the president is taking on this.

I have taken the liberty of faxing the proposed testimony to Elena Kagan who is Chief of Staff to Bruce Reed who heads up the Office of Domestic Policy in the White House. This will get to them quicker than it would through regular channels.

Thanks, George
