SUBJECT: Restitution of Art Objects to USSR

262.6141 ics eur ger

The attached accomplished restitution receipt (3 copies forwarded to Department, one copy to Moscow) conclude the matter of the transfer to the Soviets of 5 cases containing 267 objects of art which had been identified as Soviet property in the U.S. Zone of Germany. This shipment was turned over to Major B.I. Kondrachuk, Deputy Chief the Protocol and Liaison Branch of the Soviet High Commission in Germany by Mr. Paul P. Roudakoff, Protocol Chief HICOG BE on July 7, 1953. Both signatures appear on all copies of the restitution receipt forms.

In brief the history of the lengthy negotiations involved in this transfer is as follows: Upon instructions from Mr. Breitenbach of HICOG Frankfurt, Mr. Roudakoff forwarded a letter on May 20, 1952 to Col. I.A. Kotsuba, Chief of the Protocol and Liaison Branch of the Soviet Control Commission in Germany, informing him that American authorities were prepared to turn over a restitution shipment to the Soviets. This letter stressed the necessity of accomplishing a regular quadripartitely agreed restitution receipt form and called Col. Kotsuba's attention to the fact that on a previous occasion (February 2, 1952) his representatives balked at the idea of signing the regular restitution form. A copy of the restitution receipt, with Schedule A listing all items to be restituted, was attached to this letter.

After several oral reminders by Mr. Roudakoff, Soviet representatives finally called at this headquarters for their shipment. When queried, as to whether or not they were ready to sign the regular restitution receipt form, Soviet representatives presented Mr. Roudakoff with their own vastly shortened version, with the statement that it would serve the purpose just as well.

RECORDS BRANCH DCR

Mr. Roudakoff stated firmly that he had received instructions to turn this shipment over to the Soviets as per original quadripartite agreement which had also specified the use of the agreed restitution receipt form and hence he saw no reasonable basis for changing the established procedure. He also referred to his original letter to Col. Kotsuba which had explained in detail conditions under which this restitution would take place. Several weeks later, Col. Kotsuba queried Mr. Roudakoff at a cocktail party as to the possibility of the acceptance by U.S. authorities of the Soviet receipt form. This was reported by Mr. Roudakoff's memo to Mr. Breitenbach and Miss Hall on August 7, 1952.

On November 10, 1952 the Department forwarded additional instructions in A-632. Using these instructions as the basis for negotiating an acceptable restitution receipt form, Mr. Roudakoff held a series of 4 meetings with Col. Kotsuba; the compromise restitution form which was worked out with the Soviets during these meetings was forwarded to the Department on January 24, 1953. The Department's WIROM 4915 to Bonn repeated 498 to Berlin on March 31, 1953 approved the compromise form.

Some more complications, largely dealing with the choice of words used in the receipt form, were encountered but the final draft was agreed on early in June and the Soviets were supposed to pick up the shipment on June 17, 1953. However, East German riots on June 17 with the subsequent imposition of the martial law in East Berlin and the restriction of travel between East and West Berlin further delayed the actual transfer of the shipment. On July 7, 1953 the shipment was finally turned over to the Soviets.

The only interesting aspect of this entire transaction has been the obvious fear and reluctance on the part of the Soviet representatives to sign anything which would in any remote fashion obligate or commit the Soviets. They found para. 1 of the old form completely unacceptable. They did not even want to certify that the items described on Schedule A were taken out of the Soviet Union preferring the word "believes" rather than "certifies". They balked at para. 3 of the old form which stated that the "receiving Government will restore objects which have been delivered by mistake" and became agreeable only after that phraseology had been changed to read "to restore any object which after delivery, Soviet experts determine to have been delivered by mistake". This fear of committing their Government and then being personally held responsible for this commitment, was discernible in every argument used by the Soviet representatives.

Date July 7, 1953

The undersigned, Maj. B.I. Kondrachuk duly accredited representative of the Soviet High Commissioner in Germany, hereafter referred to as the receiving party, hereby acknowledges the receipt on behalf of the Government of the U.S.S.R. from the United States High Commissioner for Germany, on behalf of the Government of the United States, of the items described in Schedule A attached hereto. Since it is impractical to make an itemized inspection at the time of this delivery, the receiving party merely assumes that all items listed on Schedule A are included in this restitution shipment. The receiving party, however, will later acknowledge the receipt of the individual items, after this shipment is properly inspected by competent Soviet experts.

The delivery of these items is made under the following conditions:

1. After a careful examination of Schedule A attached hereto, the receiving party believes that the items described thereon were taken out of that country by the enemy.

2. The receiving party undertakes to restore any object which, after delivery, Soviet experts determine to have been delivered by mistake.

3. The receiving party agrees that the United States of America and all its agents and representatives shall be saved harmless from any claim for loss, damage or deterioration suffered by any item from the time of its removal from the jurisdiction or custody of the country receiving restitution until its return hereto.

Representative of the United States High Commissioner for Germany

MEMORANDUM

TO : GENERAL CLAY

SUBJECT : Madonna of Tischvin

1. On 10 November 1948 we informed you that the Soviets had submitted a claim for the Tischvin Madonna, alleged to have been removed from Latvia by Bishop John of Riga, who is now in the U.S. Zone and has custody of a similar icon. You will recall that we received a cable from Theophilus, Metropolitan of the Orthodox Church of North America, requesting that the property in custody of Bishop John be sent to the United States and that your decision was that this property would not be released to the Soviets but would remain in the U.S. Zone pending final decision.

2. We have made a further investigation of this matter in an attempt to establish ownership, and according to the attached letter signed by John, Bishop of Riga, the Madonna which he has is his personal property inasmuch as it was given to him along with other religious relics at the time that he was ordained by the Archpriest Johan Janson at the Cathedral of Riga.

3. We have definitely established the fact that the Tischvin Madonna now in the U.S. Zone is not the one that is being claimed by the Soviets, and we have refused the Soviet claim.

4. If we are to accept the Bishop's letter at its face value, it would appear that we have no alternative but to release this property to him so that he can take it with him to the States upon his departure from Germany, which I understand will be within the next few weeks.

5. I am personally very skeptical of the truth of the Bishop's statement as it is at variance with his earlier statement. However, in view of the small value of the ikon and the fact that there is no conflicting claim on it, I recommend that we take the course of least resistance and refrain from questioning the Bishop's word.

Soviet Claims for Restitution of Cultural Objects

1	MFA&A Section, Rest Br, ED	Rest Sect., Rest Br, ED	22 Nov 1946

1. We enclose herewith 3 letters from the Soviet Military Administration in Germany, described below, transmitting claims for the restitution of cultural objects.

2. Several of these claims fail to indicate the "last known location of the object on the territory of the Soviet Union". It is suggested that the Soviet Restitution Mission be requested to provide such indication.

3. Several other claims indicate location on territory which, as of 1938, was considered Polish, Latvian, Lithuanian, or Esthonian. It is requested that no release for items in this category be issued until we receive instructions from Washington to that effect.

4. If investigation of the claims mentioned in para 2 above proves them to come within the category of para 3 above, the same caution should be exercised.

1. Forwarded herewith are thirty (30) Russian Claims for looted art objects transmitted to this headquarters by the office of Colonel-General F. A. Kurochkin, Deputy Commander in Chief of the Soviet Military Administration in Germany.

2. It is requested that these thirty claims be checked against the list of the restitutable Russian items ready for shipment at the Munich Central Collecting Point. I. MONUMENTS, FINE ARTS AND ARCHIVES

1. Current Situation

a. As art dealers in Bavaria have been removing from repositories containing their deposits art objects that have included restitutable material, all such dealers' repositories are now being moved to the Central Art Collecting Point in Munich in order to prevent the disappearance, and insure safe custody, of objects that may later become subject to restitution.

b. Material of the Bavarian State Paleontological and Zoological Collections stored in unsatisfactory repositories are being removed to the Munich Central Collecting Point, as the Nymphenburg Castles, which will house a considerable part of this collection, cannot house all of the material.

c. Upon a request of the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs it has been ascertained that the collection of maps and statistics concerning all the caves in Austria is in safe custody at the Bamberg Collecting Point. This collection, formerly under the Austrian Ministry of Agriculture, has been removed by the SS organization known as "Ahnenerbe" to Bavaria and stored, together with similar speleological material from Italy, in Pottenstein, Oberfranken. MFA&A authorities have transferred the entire collection to the Bamberg Collecting Point and are keeping it under custody.

d. An inspection of the wooden sculptures of the "Abteilung der Christlichen Bildwerke" of the State Museum of Berlin, now in the Central Collecting Point in Wiesbaden, revealed that the greatest part of the figures are undamaged and in the best condition. Random inspection of material of other departments of the Berlin Museum containing especially delicate material showed these objects to be in perfect condition.

c. The material of the library of the Yiddish Scientific Institute, part of which had been taken to New York at the time of the Nazi agression on Poland, is identified sorted, packed ready for restitution at the Offenbach Archival Depot, awaiting policy decision on its future. The material was claimed by Rabbi Nadich, advisor to the US Military Government on Jewish affairs, for New York to be united with the portion of the library already in that city.

2. Progress Made

a. 160 items were restituted last week to the Netherlands from the Munich Central Art Collecting Point. They included paintings from Tenier, Berchen, Vlek-Boons, Mumper, and Oreagna and an Alonso Cano, and some fine furniture from the XVIIIth Century belonging to the Mannheimer Collection.

b. A bilateral agreement between British and US authorities has been arrived at supplementing former agreement on interzonal exchange of cultural material, whereby both the British and the US authorities accept the responsibility for screening for loot all cultural material received as interzonal exchange. Henceforth, material returned to the British Zone is not going to be screened for loot, and no restitution will be made from such material, while material returned by the British will be screened and the loot restituted by the receiving US authorities.

c. After their visit to Wiesbaden and Offenbach, the Soviet restitution delegates from White Russia arrived in Munich on 12 June. During their stay, they made considerable progress in identifying Russian looted material at the Central Art Collecting Point. Several hundred icons and other art objects were identified. The search was not restricted to objects originating from White Russia, as originally contemplated, but included all Russian loot. The signing of the receipts and arrangements for the shipping of identified material has been postponed to a later date. The delegation left for Regensburg 18 June, accompanied by a US officer. The purpose of their trip to Regensburg was to recover valuable church regalia looted from White Russia which are believed to be there.

d. The proposed roster for the faculty of the Academy of Applied Arts in Munich has been investigated. In instances where the desirability of a proposed faculty member was questionable, it was recommended that he be given a one-year contract only. This investigation followed closely the screening of the faculty of the Academy of Fine Arts reported last week.

3. Difficulties Encountered

a. A preliminary investigation in the Laender to discover the whereabouts of a list of Austrian art objects requested by the United States Forces in Austria has not produced results. This list contains tapestries sent to Germany in 1938 as "loan" by the Kunsthistorische Museum, and paintaings and other art objects which found their way to the private collection of Hitler, Goering and other Nazi high officials. Most interesting in this latter group are the two Gothic reliefs from the collection of the Academy der Bildenden Kuenste in Vienna, which were given to Goering on his 50th birthday by Baldur von Schirach and a Botticelli madonna from the Palace of Count Lanckoronski, which was seized as Polish property and retained for Goering's private collection.

b. Due to the impossibility of establishing telephone connections with Suttgart and Wiesbaden, progress reports from Land Greater Hessen and Land Wuerttemberg Baden

4. Future Plans

a. A search will be made to determine the present whereabouts and safety of the material of the library and photo collection of the "Deutsches Archeologisches Institut" in Rome. This Institute had not only the world's largest collection of archeological photographs, but many of its material consisted of plates prepared of works of art, monuments and excavation-objects that no longer exist. In the spring of 1944, upon the order of high German authorities, this collection, together with other German collections and libraries in Rome, was packed into 1543 crates, loaded in 13 freightcars and transported to Bad Aussee, Austria. The crates were later transferred to the Alt Aussee saltmines, with the exception of 51 crates which remained in Bad Aussee and 194 crates transported elsewhere. A complete inventory of the shipments is on hand. The United States Forces in Austria as well as Russian and British authorities were called upon to join in the investigation.

b. The library of the "Hochschule fuer Bildende Kunst der Stadt Berlin" (School of Fine Arts of the city of Berlin) which is at present in the Hattorf mines in Land Greater Hessen will be transferred into the British Zone with other library material sent to Duesseldorf under the Interzonal exchange agreement. This move is being made under a special agreement and without establishing precedent, in order to permit the British to restitute the library to the Berlin School of Fine Arts located in the British Sector.

To: Col. Allen, Chief, Restitution Branch, Economics Divison, Office of Military Government for Germany (US) APO 742, U.S. Army.

Dear Col Allen:

As you know, in the vicinity of Munich there are a quantity of Soviet cultural and artistic objects which were looted by the Germans from the Soviet Union. Amongst them there are paintings taken by the Germans from the White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic and particularly objects taken out from the Minsk Picture Gallery of the Grodnensk Museum.

At present in Berlin a Mission arrived from White Russia which would like to identify and localize all cultural objects owned by White Russia Republic and located in the vicinity of Munich in order to make it subject to restitution in accordance with the agreed procedure.

This Mission consists of Col Novick, President, White Russia Union of Soviet Artists.

Commander in Chief of the Soviet Forces of Occupation and Commander in Chief of the Soviet Military Administration in Germany

5 March 1949

Dear General Clay:

An intolerable situation has developed with regard to the restitution of Soviet property from the American Zone of Occupation in Germany. It is a known fact that the Hitlerites removed to Germany huge quantities of valuable property from the temporarily occupied parts of the Soviet Union. It is likewise a known fact that a great part of these valuables were found in the Western parts of Germany, among which is the territory of the present American Zone of Occupation. While retreating under the crushing blows of the Soviet Army, the Hitlerites endeavored to cover the traces of the looting which they committed on Soviet territory. For this reason, Soviet property was usually transferred from the Eastern regions of Germany to the Western.

Almost three years have elapsed since the occupation authorities undertook to implement the agreements on the restitution (return) of property belonging to the despoiled countries. This gave ample time for the restitution of Soviet property from the American Zone to be nearing a satisfactory completion; however, the fact is that work has actually not begun.

According to the reports on restitutions, which was confirmed by the Control Council Bodies, total property returned from the American Zone to all countries which suffered from Hitler's invasions amounted, as of 1 February 1948, to only 126,916,938 marks (this does not include cultural and art treasures). Of this amount the Soviet Union, which suffered the greatest losses, received looted Soviet property amounting to only 201,570 marks. After the aforementioned report was prepared there was no material improvement in the matter of restitution of Soviet property. This is confirmed in the reports published by the American Military Government in December 1948, which states that, as of 31 December 1948 property returned from the American Zone (again excluding cultural and art treasures) to all countries amounted to 299,636,000 marks, out of which, property amounting only to 281,000 marks was transferred to the Soviet Union, that is 0.09 per cent of the total sum. Thus the Soviet property returned amounted to 80,000 marks only, whereas for the same period, property amounting to 174,000,000 marks was returned to other countries, mainly to those belonging to the Western bloc.

Neither is it possible to call normal the situation with regard to the restitution of cultural and art treasures belonging to the Soviet Union. During the whole period of restitution work the American authorities returned to the Soviet Union only about twenty carloads of miscellaneous archives, books and other objects, and only one piece of sculpture *.

* Translator's note: or "one lot of sculptures".

The facts show that the reason for such unsatisfactory results in the restitution of Soviet property from the American Zone of Occupation is the endeavor of American authorities to effectively disrupt the return of Soviet property looted by the Hitlerites.

This is proved by the following instances:

1. Having taken no measures to uncover Soviet property, American authorities obstruct the work of the Soviet Restitution Mission in their search for Soviet property in the American Zone. American authorities, pursuant to obligations assumed under international agreements, ought to have seen to it that all German persons, physical and judicial in the American Zone who have in their possession Soviet property should submit a statement (declaration) to the effect that they possess such property. However, this was not done. The Reparation Division of the Soviet Military Administration received only 827 declarations from the American authorities. Moreover, the majority of objects listed in these declarations were of such little value that the Soviet representative saw no point in submitting a claim for restitution. Among these objects there were for instance, worn shoes and clothing, household bags, etc. For this reason, the Reparation Division of the Soviet Military Administration found it possible to submit claims only on 357 German declarations. The insignificant number of German declarations, as well as the slight value of most objects listed in the declarations, show that large German concerns, and the military and fascist criminals conceal the more valuable Soviet property - equipment, raw material, materials, looted rare and unique cultural and artistic objects. In spite of this American authorities take no measures to uncover Soviet property nor to punish the individuals concealing this property. Pursuant to restitution procedure confirmed by the Control Council Bodies, American authorities were to authorise members of the Soviet Restitution Mission to visit German concerns, archives, museums, picture galleries, and private collections for the purpose of uncovering Soviet property. However, such authorizations as a rule were not issued even in those cases when Soviet authorities possessed information as to the whereabouts of Soviet property. For instance, Soviet authorities know that one of the unique relics of the Orthodox Church, the "Tikhvin Mother of God" ikon is in the American Zone of Occupation and is concealed by one Johan Rishsky. Repeated requests made by the Soviet Restitution Mission and the Reparation Division of the Soviet Military Administration for an authorisation to inspect the ikon and for its return were refused by American authorities. The violation of their obligation by American authorities in regard to the search for Soviet property, as well as the limitations imposed on the activities of the Soviet Restitution Mission prevent the uncovering of the greater mass of the looted Soviet property and its return to the Soviet Union.

2. American authorities, under various pretexts, reject the claims for restitution of Soviet property already submitted to them by Soviet authorities, even in those cases when there are German statements (declarations) to the effect that they are in possession of Soviet property. American authorities concerned with restitutions declare in such cases that allegedly the ownership of the property by the Soviet Union and the fact of its removal to Germany are not sufficiently proved. In this connection, without any foundation, they request that some sort of additional characteristics of the property be submitted, or additional proof of ownership or proof of its removal by force, establish dead-lines in an ultimatum form for the submission of the above-mentioned additional data and if these dead-lines are not met, the claims are considered automatically cancelled.

Thus, the American authorities cancelled Soviet claim No 690, of 10 July 1947, for the restitution of electric-power equipment removed from the Soviet Union by the enterprise firm of "Energiebau [illegible]", despite the fact that Soviet ownership of that equipment, as well as its removal to Germany by force, were confirmed in a formal German declaration. Similar treatment was accorded by the American authorities to Soviet claims No 607, 605, 617, 715, 766, 769, and 569 for agricultural machinery, engines, electric motors and compressors. All these claims had been submitted likewise on the basis of German declarations.

The American authorities in charge of restitution, in their effort to prevent the return of Soviet property, make, in a number of cases, false reservations which alleged that Soviet property looted by German firms, had been brought into USSR territory by the Germans themselves. In so doing, the American authorities were ignoring the fact that the claims of the Soviet authorites to that property were based on German declarations which acknowledged that the property in question was in fact Soviet property.

In other instances, the American Restitution agencies have declared that Soviet property was used by some German enterprises, or that it was sold or stolen. Such a reply, for example, was given with regard to claims No 795, 947, 1124 for rails, 75 cases of thermometers and manometers, etc.

The result of such unfriendly actions, even in the light of data shown in the aforementioned report of the American Military Government of 9 December 1948, was that the American authorities turned down as many as 75% of Soviet restitution claims for Soviet equipment, and raw and other materials.

5. But even the insignificant portion of Soviet owned property which is being returned to the Soviet Union, has been subjected in a number of cases to deliberate spoilage or to theft. For example, towards the end of December 1948, the American authorities delivered to the port of Bremen a shipment of Soviet property of which 60%, to say the least, represented scrap (damaged and smashed tractors, lathes, etc.), even though the declarations by the German firms stated that the property in their possession was in good condition. Upon delivery to the port of Bremen of another shipment of Soviet property, the Soviet representatives discovered that the cases contained pieces of rusty metal instead of leather.

The American authorities are not taking the necessary steps to insure the safety of Soviet restitution property. The Soviet Military Administration is not aware of a single case when the American authorities punished those guilty of damaging or stealing Soviet property.

4. Despite this obviously unsatisfactory overall situation as regards the restitution of Soviet property, the American authorities have at present effectively put a stop to all restitution work in the American Zone, a circumstance which represents a violation of international obligations assumed by the American side. In particular, the American authorities:

a. Have, in violation of agreements concluded by the occupying powers, announced their decision, according to which the restitution of property looted by the Hitlerites and now in the United States Zone must be terminated on 31 December 1948;

b. Have, in violation of a decision of Control Council bodies concerning the establishment of restitution missions, prevented the Soviet mission from attaining full personnel strength, and, since 4 December 1948, have stoped its operation altogether.

5. The American authorities are striving to take advantage of the Soviet Union's interest in the restitution of Soviet property in order to obtain indirect recognition of the American actions with regard to the splitting of Germany. This is proven by letters from the American authorities who are in charge of the restitution of Soviet property. In reply to a request of the reparation division of the Soviet Military Administration for entry permits into the United States Zone to Soviet representatives on property restitution, the Reparation Division of the United States Military Government, in letters dated 18 January and 4 February 1949, stated that the functions of the restitution mission should henceforth be assumed by Consulates to be established, on a reciprocal basis, both in the Soviet and the American Zones of occupation in Germany.

It is evident from this that resumption of restitution work in connection with Soviet property is made contingent by American authorities upon consent of the Soviet Occupation Authorities to the establishment of consulates representing the occupying powers in the various occupation zones of Germany.

The Soviet occupation authorities are unable to consent to a proposal which represents an attempt to compel us to agree to treating the zones of occupation as separate states and to establishing a Western German State. A consent of this kind would obviously be in accord with the views and practices of the American authorities who, ignoring international obligations, are striving to bring about the political and economic splitting of Germany, and who have been for a long time concerned with the creation of a puppet German state. However, such an agreement would be in radical contradiction to the position held by the Soviet authorities who have been consistently defending the unity of Germany and its transformation into a democratic sovereign state and are emphatically opposed to any proposal aimed at splitting the country.

The proposal of the American authorities is devoid of any practicable basis. Indeed, the American authorities desire that the aforementioned consulates should be established and take over, on a reciprocal basis, the questions of property restitutions. But the United States, not having been subjected to German occupation, cannot therefore raise the question of the restitution of American owned property from the Soviet Zone of occupation, or of the establishment of American consulates within the Soviet Zone for this purpose.

6. Having unlawfully detained in the United States Zone Soviet owned property which had been looted by the Hitlerites, including valuable relics of national culture and art, and having allowed actions of Hitlerite criminals who looted Soviet property to go unpunished, the American authorities are causing material damage to the Soviet Union and ignore the national sentiments of the Soviet people. The Soviet people cannot be reconciled to the fact that instead of valuable equipment removed by Hitlerities from Soviet enterprises, and precious and uniq property stolen from museums and palaces in Leningrad, Kiev, Odessa, Kharkov, Minsk, Mogilev, etc., they receive in return valueless and deliberatly damaged items.

All of the aforesaid furnishes ground for qualifying the actions of the American authorities in charge of the restitution of Soviet property as inadmissable and unlawfull. I insist on the removal of arbitrary and unlawfull actions in a matter of such importance and on the continuation of the restitution work in accordance with the procedure approved by the Control Council.

I assume, General, that you will instruct the appropriate American authorities:

1. With a view to expediting and completing restitution work on Soviet-owned property, to make it possible for the Soviet Restitution Mission to continue its work by increasing its staff (to 15 persons) and by establishing mission branches consisting of three persons in each of the Laender of the United States Zone of occupation.

2. To render to representatives of the Soviet authorities all necessary assistance in locating Soviet-owned property.

3. To provide members of the Soviet Restitution Mission, in accordance with the decision of the Control Council, with the opportunity to inspect German enterprises, archives, museums, picture galleries and private collections, as wellas to examine pertinent documents with a view to locating Soviet-owned property.

4. To eliminate any delay in connection with the transfer of Soviet property already located.

5. To take measures to prevent the concealment or deliberate spoilage of Soviet property and to prosecute any person committing or encouraging such acts; and to replace any damaged property with other property of equal value.

Sincerely,

Note for Record -
Received word from [illegible] that letter had been delivered to SMA 24 - 10 March 1949 11 1600 hours.

Dear Marshal Sokolovsky:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of 5 March 1949 regarding the restitution of Soviet property from the American Zone of occupation in Germany.

I agree with you that sufficient time has elapsed to implement the agreements on the restitution of properties belonging to the despoiled countries and I am glad that our efforts to expedite the program in the U. S. Zone have brought it to substantial completion. I have been pleased with the expressions of appreciation which we have received from several of the nations which participated in this program.

Of course, I find it impossible to reconcile your statement without supporting data that the return of restitution properties to your Government has not begun with the actions which we have taken to process the claims filed by your Government.

As to your comments regarding the restitution of cultural and art objects to the Soviet Union I must point out that valuable cultural properties which were returned to your Government during the past three years include silverware, ikons, sculptures, paintings and religious paraphernalia and some 600,000 books including many rare books. In addition to the return of properties located as a result of the investigation of claims submitted by your Government we have also returned a number of paintings for which no claims were filed. We believed this action on our part was a positive demonstration of our desire to fulfill our obligations to restore looted properties.

Your statement that American authorities are endeavoring to disrupt the return of Soviet properties is a misrepresentation of the facts. We have applied the same procedures for the restitution of properties to your Government as were applied to the other fourteen nations engaged in the restitution program. The procedures for the declarations of properties subject to restitution were carried out fully in accordance with the quadripartite agreements to which your Government was a party. However, it is pertinent to note that since establishment of the Missions in 1946, the Soviet Restitution Mission has been subject to continual shifting of personnel, with long periods elapsing between the departure of one group for Berlin or Moscow and its replacement by another group. Because of this the work of the American authorities was hampered. This matter was repeatedly called to the attention of the Soviet representatives to no avail.

Furthermore, I cannot agree with your statement that restitution has covered only items having little value, as the records reveal that thousands of items having considerable value have been restituted.

I would remind you that the Allied Control Council did not provide a procedure whereby independent investigations and searches would be made by Allied restitution missions. I do not understand that such unrestricted searches have been permitted in your Zone. In fact, the few of our special missions which you have received have been strictly limited in the locations in which they could proceed. The restitution investigations and searches have always been considered the responsibility of the Zone Commanders of the respective Zones. I believe that this is a general principle to which you always adhered.

As to your comment regarding the large percentage of rejections of Soviet claims, I can say only that the Soviet claims were not prepared as carefully as were the claims filed by other nations. This matter was repeatedly called to the attention of your Restitution Mission, but little, if any, additional supporting data was furnished to support subsequent claims. We have thus had to return some claims without processing because there was insufficient information furnished to establish either the location or adequate identification of properties claimed.

Your representatives have also presented claims for the restitution of properties which were taken into Russia by the German armies and were removed by those armies at the time they were driven from your country. Inasmuch as these properties were never dispossessed from Allied countries or peoples, they do not fall under the provisions of the London Declaration of 5 January 1943, which is the basis of all restitution.

You have referred to your specific claim for the "Tiechvin Madonna" icon. I have already informed your headquarters that this claim is still under investigation by our field forces. However, we have not found or identified this icon.

I cannot accept your implication that we are deliberately permitting restitution properties to be damaged. The procedures which we have established provide for the full protection of such properties from the time they are taken into the custody of Military Government. Damage to these properties, therefore, seems almost certainly to have been incurred before they came into our custody. Damaged properties, in accordance with normal procedures, are returned to the claimant nations without undergoing repairs.

Your statement that we have put a stop to all restitution work in the American Zone is not a correct statement of fact. Your headquarters has been informed that we will continue to receive and process claims of especially meritorious nature.

As to further restitution work of your representatives in the U. S. Zone of Germany, I must repeat that it may be performed by your Military Mission now stationed in the U. S. Zone, until such time as you are willing on a reciprocal basis to establish Consulates as proposed to your headquarters in a recent communication.

In view of the accreditation of these Consulates to Military Government, I regard your charges that their acceptance contributes to the split of Germany as nebulous.

I am surprised that you charge the U. S. authorities with failure to carry out our restitution obligations in accordance with quadripartite agreements. The last reports filed quadripartitely in February 1948, covering the deliveries for restitution through January 1948, record that whereas the USSR had delivered for restitution properties totalling only 45,146,621 RM (1938 value), deliveries from the U. S. Zone to the claimant nations totalled 126,915,935 RM (1938 value). The statement in your letter that much of the properties looted from the USSR by the German forces had been taken to the Western part of Germany, is not consistent with the fact that of the 45,146,621 RM of property then reported as restituted by your forces f from the Eastern part of Germany, nearly 50 per cent, or 20,235,380 RM was delivered to the USSR. For your information, since the filing of the above-mentioned quadripartite reports, deliveries of restitutable properties from the U. S. Zone of Occupation of Germany to the countries occupied by the Germans, have reached more than 300,000,000 RM which does not include the probably greater value of the large volume of returned cultural properties.

Your attempt to relate the restitution program to the political and economic splitting of Germany as a whole is without foundation. The record of negotiations entered into by the four occupying powers to achieve agreement on the treatment of Germany as a whole both politically and economically clearly fixes the responsibility for the existing conditions in Germany and mere statements of charge can not alter the record or deceive those who study it.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

570 Lexington Ave

New York, N.Y.

March 31, 1947

Lieut. General Lucius D. Clay,
Commander-in-Chief,
European Commander
OMGUS, Berlin
APO 742, Postmaster, N. Y.

My dear General Clay:

In behalf of the International Labor Relations Department of the A.F. of L., I am writing you on a matter of great urgency and vital concern to us.

As you know the A.F. of L. is making redoubled efforts to help restore the democratic labor organizations of Europe. In connection with this vital work for the rehabilitation of democracy in Europe and in line with our country's foreign policy our efforts are directed to aid in every way possible the truly democratic forces.

Towards this achievement, our department must have at its disposal considerable material dealing with the labor movement in various countries -- background, historical as well as current information. It would be extremely helpful to us in this work, if we were in a position to utilize freely the library belonging to the Paris branch of the International Institute of Social History. This library, as you know, was seized by the Nazis during their occupation of France and shipped to Germany in its entirety. A considerable part of this library is now stored in Offenbach, near Frankfurt on the Main.

We would be extremely grateful to you, General Clay, if you would be kind enough to obtain this library. Since Offenbach is situated in the American Zone, our plan is quite practical. Before the war, the Institute for Social History had central headquarters in Amsterdam with a branch in Paris. This Branch occupied twelve rooms on Rue Michelt and a house in the country near Ambroise on the Loire River. The director of this branch was Boris Nicolaevsky, author of numerous books on the Russian and international labor and social movements. This branch possessed a large library and archives containing numerous unpublished documents, which in quantity and systematic selection of material, was amongst the best collections dealing with the history of political and socialist movements, particularly the history of the labor movement in the 19th and 20th century. The number of books, pamphlets, periodicals and manuscripts in this collection totaled at least 100,000. The importance of this collection may be gathered from the fact that it included the entire library of Karl Kautsky, renowned theoretical leader of democratic socialism. A part of this collection was owned by B. Nicolaevsky as an individual. The rest belonged either to the Paris branch of the Institute or was entrusted to its care.

The Nazis were well aware of the importance of this collection. The moment they entered Paris they seized it and shipped the library and archives to Germany. It was then officially stated by the Nazis that the library had been requisitioned "on orders from Rosenberg". An American journalist who saw this Nazi literary hoard found considerable material in the Rosenberg requisition belonging to the Paris branch above mentioned and much material in Russian belonging to "Socialist Courier", organ of the Democratic Russian Socialists, now published in New York. This clearly shows that the entire Nicolaevsky and Paris branch collection is now in Offenbach.

It is with extreme regret that we learned that American officers now sorting out this material are planning to ship much of what belongs to the International Institute of Social History to Russia -- merely because it happens to be in the Russian language. We understand that there has been given a summary order to ship all Russian material to the U.S.S.R. This would mean that much of the material which does not belong to Russia and which belongs privately to Mr. Nicolaevsky and to the Institute of International Social History would go to the Soviets to whom it does not belong.

We, therefore, request of you General Clay, that you be kind enough to help us in securing the following:

1. To permit Mr. Nicolaevsky, director of the International Institute of Social History, and owner of part of the material, to visit Germany at an early date and together with Army officers under your direction sequester and claim the material which belongs to the Paris library and to himself.

2. After the establishment of the clear identity of ownership of books, documents, manuscripts, pemphlets belonging to the International Institute of Social History and to Mr. Nicolaevsky, they should be turned over to their rightful owners.

3. The trip by Mr. Nicolaevsky would be only for a few weeks, limited to the purpose of investigating the material in question and establishing their proper identity. Expenses entailed in this trip would be defrayed by the Institute of Social History and Mr. Nicolaevsky.

We consider the return of this material to its rightful owners only a matter of simple justice. We are most interested in having access to the valuable contents in order to further our contribution towards the establishment of a healthy democratic way of life throughout the world.

Sincerely and appreciatively

My dear Mr. Woll:

In answer to your letter of 31 March 1947, may I assure you that every effort is being made to accomplish exactly what you propose. The Offenbach Archival Depot, where all restitutable books are gathered, has been working steadily and efficiently to return books to their rightful claimants, and to identify those claimants correctly by every possible means.

I am at a loss to understand the reported statement that books are being sent to Russia merely because they happen to be in the Russian language, since this is contrary to our established policy and procedure and, obviously, would make no sense. No such order as you report has ever been given, nor have our officers ever proceeded in this manner. In fact, restitution actually consists of returning looted items to the country from which they were looted. It is surprising that some unnamed American journalist should report finding "considerable material belonging to the Paris branch" of the Institute of Social History when competent archivists, searching the depot for many months, have only been able to find two books belonging to the organization. There is no indication whatever that the entire collection is now in Offenbach.

It is not impossible that a visit from Mr. Nicolaevsky might be of some assistance to the Director of the Offenbach Archival Depot, once any quantity of the items from the collection are found and provided he were properly accredited by the Commission de Recuperation Artistique of France.

: - Mr. Eric G. Gration

February 5, 1952

O:BE: - Mr. Paul P. Roudakoff

stitution of books to Soviet Government

In accordance with your memorandum to this office dated November 23, 1951, concerning the restitution of certain books to the Soviet Government, I wrote to my Soviet counterpart on December 5 as per attached copy of the letter.

You will note from the last paragraph of my letter to Colonel Pirogov that a special precaution was taken by attaching a copy of the restitution receipt for information of the Soviet authorities.

On January 9 Colonel Pirogov replied to our letter indicating that the Soviet representatives are ready to examine the books in order to determine their origin and to receive those which were removed "by the Hitlerites from the libraries of the Soviet Union." Copy of the translation of this letter is attached.

This office informed Major Robinson in Frankfurt to ship these books and periodicals to Berlin, and the books eventually arrived here on January 25 at which time we informed the Soviets that the books were ready to be turned over to them.

The new Chief of Protocol, Colonel Kotsiuba, who replaced Colonel Pirogov, asked to examine these books which was arranged for the morning of January 29. Colonel Kotsiuba together with the Liaison officer, Mr. Akopov, a civilian, and another grey, furtive civilian whom I have never seen before appeared at the Lichterfelde West railroad station.

Mr. Akopov and the stranger pawed around the five boxes of books. Watching over their shoulder, I noticed that there was a number of communist propaganda books dating back to the 1924, 26, 28 era including a small biography of Stalin dated 1926. Both examiners were spasmodically raising their eyebrows as they were running through the early editions of their propaganda material. Colonel Kotsiuba, after examining, was extremely evasive and refused to commit himself as to when he would arrange for a truck to pick up the books, promising to let us know not later then the next morning.

Since there was no reply from the Soviets, I telephoned them on February 1, suggesting that they either pick up the books or tell me in writing that they do not choose to take them. On Saturday, February 2, at 1120 hours the Soviets telephoned indicating that they were ready to pick these books at noon. I agreed to the date. However, Mr. Akopov and senior Lt. Sheskin, another Liaison officer, did not arrive at the station until 1310 hours.

Once again the boxes had to be opened and a cursory examination took place after which Mr. Akopov, evidently the senior spokesman, indicated that they were ready to accept the books. However, when I produced the restitution receipts, Mr. Akopov with considerable alarm refused to sign them despite the fact that he spoke English well enough to understand the gist of the stereotyped wording of the receipt. He suggested that he would sign a plain piece of paper instead.

A protracted argument ensued with Mr. Akopov maintaining that he was not informed by his authorities that he was to sign "some unusual legal paper". Due to a cold and the seventy minute waiting period, my disposition had somewhat worsened, and I told Mr. Akopov that he will either sign the receipt or I would return the whole shipment back to Frankfurt. This visibly frightened Mr. Akopov and he agreed to comprise by signing the receipt on the schedule page of the restitution sheet form (Schedule A). The receipts were signed and the shipment accepted by the Soviets at 1400 hours.

Four copies of the receipt forms are attached. Translation of the receipt form signed by Senior Lt. Sheskin is as follows:

"On 2 February 1952, I received from Mr. Roudakoff five cases containing old books, magazines, and brochures, weighing 397 kilograms."

It is interesting to note that it was not Mr. Akopov, the senior spokesman, but Lt. Sheskin who finally signed the receipt forms.

We refer to a report made by member of your section on an investigation of the icon now in the possession of John, Bishop of Riga, at his chapel in Hersbruck, Germany, also an investigation made by the undersigned concerning this icon which conclusively proved that the original as claimed by the Soviets is not in the possession of Bishop John.

24 November 1948

SUBJECT: Icon of the Tichwin Madonna

FROM : MFA/A Office for Northern Bavaria, Nürnberg

TO : OMGUS, MFA/A Section, APO 403, US Army
Attn.: Mr.Howard

1. On 23 November 1948, the Bishop of Riga gave the following additional information concerning the Tichwin Madonna.

2. He, John, has been Bishop of Riga since 1943. He was born in Riga and lived in Riga until his evacuation in 1944. Ever since his memory, the Madonna now in his custody was at the Cathedral of Riga. He does not know at what date it got there. To his knowledge, the original Tichwin Madonna in a cloister at Tichwin, not far from Petersburg in North Eastern direction. It was rescued by the German Wehrmacht and was taken to Pleskau, which is on the Estonian border, and was preserved at a mission house together with other church regalia which the Germans have liberated. There was some kind of center established at Pleskau for the purpose of preserving such objects. Some were sent there also from Riga.

3. German authorities made extensive propaganda of having reestablished religious freedom . The Wehrmacht distributed for propaganda purposes a reproduction (postcard) of the Tichwin Madonna with the following inscription in German and in Russian: "Pleskau Ikone der Tichwiner Madonna. Das Bild wurde von der deutschen Wehrmacht nach Pleskau gerettet". (Translation: "Pleskau icon of the Tichwin Madonna. The picture was rescued to Pleskau by the German Wehrmacht.") The Bishop has one copy of this postcard. It represents an icon similar to the one in his possession, but with definite differences (design of the crown and halo, of the vestment of both Mary and the Child, of the painted parts, face and limbs of both Madonna and Child appear much lighter, etc.), so that the fact that the two are not identical can be easily established. According to the information of the Bishop, all the assembled church treasures at Pleskau were evacuated to Saulias in Lithuania, when the situation in Pleskau became untenable. It can be surmised that the original Tichwin Madonna was among that material.

4. The Bishop stated that there are many so-called Tichwin Madonnas all over Russia. There is one even in the Orthodox Church in Paris, France. The vestment and crown of the Vergin and the Child on the original Tichwin Madonna are supposed to be of pure gold, while the one in Hersbruck is of silver. The description of the original Tichwin Madonna and the picture of same has been reproduced in a book, published by the Russian Catholic Synod in the times of the Czaristic Russia under a title which approximately meant "Description of all miraculous icons of the Holy Mother in Russia". Another reproduction of the holy icon of Tichwin appeared in the newspaper NIVA in 1913. This had an article commemorating the 300 year jubilee of the siege of Tichwin by the Swedes. A pubj of this publication is in the possession of the Orthodox priest Arcadi Moisejew who lives in a Russian DP camp at Landshut. This reproduction and the description may disprove authoritatively the claim that the Madonna at Hersbruck is the original Tichwin Madonna.

5. The Bishop furthermore related two incidents which may be of interest. Some weeks ago, an unknown man and a woman attended a mass celebrated by the Bishop. After the service, the man came up to the Bishop and asked him, how this Tichwin Madonna came into his possession. He said that he was in the German Wehrmacht and participated personally in the rescuing of the Tichwin Madonna to Pleskau. The Bishop informed him that this Madonna is not identical with the one supposedly rescued from Tichwin. A second incident occurred about two weeks later. The Bishop took the Tichwin Madonna to Ansbach to celebrate a religious service. In one of the Ansbach newspapers, there appeared a long article about the circumstances of the saving of this miraculous icon by the German Wehrmacht. It was related in the article that four German soldiers were dispatched to rescue this Madonna on the front line. Of the four, three were killed and the fourth returned with the icon. He had the impression that both incidents were brought about by Soviet agents.

Sworn Statement

I, John Bishop of Riga, give the sworn statement that the icon of the Madonna which is under my supervision and is known under the name of "Tichwin" was taken by me from the cathedral of Riga, when I was evacuated from Riga on 22 September 1944. I was taking into consideration that, the largest part of my community having already been evacuated, they would need a mental support in the form of this native object of worship. From this time on, the icon has been with me. After the end of hostilities I found refuge in the DP camp at Amberg, in the end of August 1945. On 20 June 1946 I was transferred from Amberg to Hersbruck, where I am now. The icon is with me.

Re: Icon of the Tichwin Madonna

Call from Mr.Howard: The Russian Claim states definitely that the icon in question is at 64 Ambergerstrasse in the first room on the right, that is ~~xxxx~~ the chapel of the Orthodox Church. Although it was definitely established that the icons in that room are not identical with the Tichwin icon, a statement should be obtained from the Bishop ~~xxxxxxxxxxxx~~ as to where the icons in the chapel came from, and what happened to the Tichwin icon according to the Bishop's knowledge. Possibly, documentary evidence should be obtained (maybe a copy of the picture postcard showing the Tichwin Madonna).

Re: Russian Claim for icon of the Tichwin Madonna

Mr. Howard called this office and asked for investigation of a Russian Claim concerning the so-called icon of the Tichwin Madonna allegedly in the possession of the former Bishop of Riga, now living at Hersbruck.

The Bishop of Riga was located in the PCIRO Camp of Hersbruck and was interrogated. He stated that the icon in question was formerly in the cathedral of Riga, later in a nunnery in Riga. He showed a picture postcard of the icon, on which was printed that the icon was secured by the German Wehrmacht at Pleskau. The Bishop showed all the icons he has at Hersbruck. The Tichwin icon is not among them.

Mr.Howard was informed of the findings and advised this office that the claim should be dropped.

1. We refer to a report made by member of your section on an investigation of the icon now in the possession of John, Bishop of Riga, at his chapel in Hersbruck, Germany, also an investigation made by the undersigned concerning this icon which conclusively proved that the original as claimed by the Soviets is not in the possession of Bishop John.

The Metropolitan Theophilus of the United States & Canada
The American Orthodox Church
San Francisco, California

My dear sir:

The Consulate General of Munich, Germany, has received a letter dated 12th January 1949 from Bishop John of Hersbruck, Germany relative to his interest in emigrating to the United States.

Bishop John has indicated in his letter of 12th January 1949 that he is unable to emigrate to the United States until such a time as his mother and adopted son are able to accompany him. If this is the case, it will be necessary for Bishop John to wait until his turn is reached on the Consulate General's waiting list for intending immigrants.

As you know, neither his mother nor his adopted son may be accorded non-quota status such as that to which Bishop John may be entitled by virtue of his profession and your desire for him to join your ecclesiastical staff. Should, however, Bishop John desire to emigrate alone, his case could be considered for non-quota visa. It would be appreciated, therefore, if you would advise the Consulate General in Munich, Germany or State Department in Washington as to your decision in this matter in the near future.

The above information is submitted to you for your guidance and whatever action you deem necessary.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY D. ANASTASAS

MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: The Tichvin Madonna

TO : Mr. Orren R. McJunkins
Chief, Reparations & Restitution Branch
Property Division, OMGUS

1. In compliance with your request, following is the complete report of an investigation which has been made by the undersigned of the former Bishop of Riga, now living at Hersbruck, near Nurnberg; the Bishop of Riga, known as Bishop John, is located in a Displaced Persons Camp outside the town of Hersbruck and was interrogated with respect to a Russian claim concerning the Icon of the Madonna of Tichvin which allegedly is in his possession.

2. Although it was definitely established by the undersigned that none of the icons found in a temporary chapel built by the Bishop of Riga at the D.P. Camp near Hersbruck, is the Tichvin Madonna claimed by the Soviets, the following facts are submitted for your information.

a. A madonna found in Bishop John's chapel which resembles the Tichvin Madonna was designed, copied and painted by one of the student priests or monks of the Cathedral of Riga in the early 19th century. This madonna was presented to Bishop John by the student monks of the monastery near the village of Plavinas, a few kilometers Southeast of the city of Riga, when he was ordained as the Bishop of the Cathedral of Riga. This madonna, which is an imitation of the original, has been under his custody and has been used for religious worship to the present time. When Bishop John was evacuated from Riga on 22nd September 1944 and taking into consideration that the majority of the community was also evacuated with him, this madonna, (together with other religious objects), was carried away by the Bishop from the Cathedral of Riga. From that time on, the icon has been in his possession and has travelled under his custody, from Riga, Danzig, Sudetenland, Pilsen, and finally to the D.P. Camp at Amberg at the end of August 1945. Later, on 20th June 1946, he was transferred from Amberg to the present location at Hersbruck where he is now staying.

b. The original Tichvin Madonna, according to Bishop John, dates back to the first century, a few years after the death of Christ, about 42 A.D. Since remote times, the inhabitants of the villages Palekh, Kholui, and Mistevy in the province of Vladimir, had devoted themselves to the painting of icons. At the end of the 17th century during the reign of Emperor Peter the Great, the icon of Tichvin came into existence. Being an important object of worship in the Greek Orthodox religion, the original has been imitated and copied by every Greek Orthodox church in Russia. In fact, an imitation of the original is now located in the Greek Orthodox Church in Paris, France, which is similar to the imitation which Bishop John now has in his possession. From this time on, thousands of cheap religious prints have been issued in large quantities for the masses. Chiefly, miniatures and postcards have come into existence by the thousands. One of these postcards now in the possession of the Bishop of Riga which is a print of the original Tichvin Madonna, was used as the basis for comparison by the undersigned with the icon now in the possession of the Bishop. This postcard, together with the description submitted by the Soviets, can definitely establish that it is not the original, as claimed by the Soviets. The composition of the icon in the possession of the Bishop of Riga reflects a modern rhythm, not frozen in cold Byzantine monumentality like the original, but fluent, while its colors are softer and warmer. All this, of course, was imitated from the original with a wealth of ornamentation and masterful lacquering equal in quality to the Persian and Chinese.

c. Bishop John stated that the icon in question was formerly in the Cathedral of Pleskau. Later it was evacuated to a monastery at Saulias in Lithuania, together with other church treasures and religious objects. Bishop John also stated to the undersigned that an Orthodox priest, who has been used by the Bishop as his assistant during his religious tours at the Russian D.P. Camp at Landshut, has in his possession, a newspaper article showing the picture of the Icon of Tichvin which appeared in the newspaper Neva in 1913. This article commemorates the three hundredth anniversary of the seige of Tichvin by the Swedes. The newspaper reproduction of the Tichvin Madonna is similar to the picture postcard now in the possession of the Bishop. These two instruments of evidence can definitely prove that the icon now in the possession of the Bishop at Hersbruck, is not the original Tichvin Madonna claimed by the Soviets.

d. Bishop John further stated that he has had no connection with any Germans--soldiers or prisoners of war, nor does he know any further details or circumstances which might assist in the finding of the original icon, St. Mary of Tichvin.

3. Bishop John has been admitted to the staff of the American Greek Orthodox Church, and he has received an appointment by the Patriarch Theophilus of the Metropolitan Greek Orthodox Churches of the United States and Canada. His immigration papers are now in the hands of the U. S. Consulate at Munich through the State Department in Washington. His departure from Germany is to be expected soon, and he indicated to the undersigned that he would be given permission by the State Department to carry with him as part of his personal belongings, all the church regalia, files and correspondence of the Bishopry, which he brought with him from Riga, including the icon now in his possession.

4. Bishop John, during his visits to the several D.P. Camps in the vicinity of Hersbruck, particularly the one at Amberg, has been accosted and questioned by several Soviet citizens as to the origin of the icon which he carries for religious worship to the point of impertinence. He has become uneasy during his travels and worries for his welfare and therefore is very anxious to immigrate to the United States as soon as possible.

1. Reference is made to your letter of 22 November on certain matters with which Bishop John, formerly of Riga, is concerned.

2. The facts appear to be these: Bishop John, not a German national, swears that he personally removed from the original seat of his bishopric certain vestments, church service utensils, records, and an icon, all for the continued performance of his clerical and episcopal duties. Now Bishop John has been appointed to the American Orthodox Church, expects to leave soon for the United States, and requests permission to take the enumerated items with him for the further performance and fulfilment of his clerical duties.

3. There appears to be no objection to this request, and it is desired that you facilitate the solution of the problem for Bishop John.

Dear General Zorin:

In reply to your letter of 6 October 1948, please be advised that, after two investigations, the second of which was based on further information received from Capt. Sidorin, Soviet Restitution Mission, although a madonna of a similar type was installed in the Hersbruck chapel of John, Bishop of Riga, it is not the same as the claimed "St. Mary of Tischvin" which is well known and of which a photograph was made available to our investigators.

In view of the above, and the fact that the icon now located at Hersbruck was found to have been removed from Latvia, we find it necessary to reject the restitution claim made by the U.S.S.R.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Richard Howard:

During our conversation on 22 November 1948 concerning the release of the icone of St. Mary of Tikhvin to the Soviet authorities, you were good enough to inform me that such an icone has been found and that it can be inspected.

I would like to receive from you a detailed description of the located icone. At the same time, I request your permission to go to Nuremberg and personally inspect the icone.

Chief, Soviet Restitution

MEMORANDUM

TO: Major H. D. Anastasas

SUBJECT: Tichvin Madonna

1. Reference is made to your reports on investigation of the icon now in the possession of John, Bishop of Riga, at his chapel in Hersbruck, Germany. As you know, we have previously rejected the Soviet claim for this property and based on the fact as again determined by your investigation this icon is not the original as claimed by the Soviets, we are informing them that our previous decision to reject their claim cannot be changed.

2. In view of the statement of 24 January 1949 furnished to you by John, Bishop of Riga, that he carried the object with him from Riga as one of his personal belongings and that it has been among his possessions in his travels as a refugee, the release of the icon from the custody of Military Government is approved.

3. Enclosed herewith are the Custody Receipts for this icon, dated 17 November 1948, which were executed by Mr. Andre Kormendi, MFA&A Officer for Northern Bavaria and by John, Bishop of Riga. It is requested that you hold these Custody Receipts until advised that Bishop John is about to depart from the U.S. Zone of Germany for the United States at which time you will release the icon from Military Government custody to the personal custody of Bishop John so that he may take this property with him upon his departure from the U.S. Zone.

4. It is requested that this headquarters be advised when the icon has been released.

5. Under no circumstances will any publicity be given to this matter.

My dear sir:

The Consulate General of Munich, Germany, has received a letter dated 12th January 1949 from Bishop John of Hersbruck, Germany relative to his interest in emigrating to the United States.

Bishop John has indicated in his letter of 12th January 1949 that he is unable to emigrate to the United States until such a time as his mother and adopted son are able to accompany him. If this is the case, it will be necessary for Bishop John to wait until his turn is reached on the Consulate General's waiting list for intending immigrants.

As you know, neither his mother nor his adopted son may be accorded non-quota status such as that to which Bishop John may be entitled by virtue of his profession and your desire for him to join your ecclesiastical staff. Should, however, Bishop John desire to emigrate alone, his case could be considered for non-quota visa. It would be appreciated, therefore, if you would advise the Consulate General in Munich, Germany or State Department in Washington as to your decision in this matter in the near future.

The above information is submitted to you for your guidance and whatever action you deem necessary.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY D. ANASTASAS
