THE SECRETARY OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20201

NOV 21 1994

MEMORANDUM FOR THE HONORABLE CAROL RASCO

As you know, I must nominate up to 15 individuals to the Commission on Childhood Disability, established in the Social Security Independence and Program Improvements Act of 1994, by January 1, 1995. I established a working group representing all agencies within HHS and the Department of Education to identify and assess possible candidates (including the names forwarded by your office), develop the charge, determine staffing and budget needs, and conduct other tasks that are necessary to get this Commission up and running quickly and smoothly.

I have gone over the names this group submitted and seek your input on them. Attached are two lists:

- (1) A diverse set of 19 experts in their respective fields that meet the categories specified in the statute. They come from all regions of the country. There are three minorities, two individuals with a disability, five who are parents of a disabled child, and one whose sibling is disabled.
- (2) A list of 14 potential politicians, three who have a child who is disabled, that could be considered to fill a slot on the Commission or serve as the Chair. In my view, if we select a former Governor or Senator that person would serve as the Chair.

I look forward to talking with you about next steps.

The Honorable Donna Shalala
Secretary, Health and Human Services
200 Independence Avenue, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20201

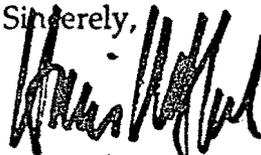

Dear Madam Secretary,

I write to offer my strong support for the appointment of Jonathan Stein, General Counsel at Community Legal Services in Philadelphia, and of Richard Weishaupt, HHS Project Head at CLS to the Commission on the Evaluation of Disability in Children.

Through their nationally commended work in the Zeblev v. Sullivan SSI child disability class action, both men displayed their vast knowledge in this area and their commitment to improving the lives of hundreds of thousands of children across the nation. Mr. Stein and Mr. Weishaupt each have over two decades of Legal Services work and have proven their dedication to children with disabilities through their congressional testimony, policy analyses and recommendations, and their direct work with families with disabled children. Mr. Stein's and Mr. Weishaupt's strong advocacy backgrounds would make them valuable assets to this Commission.

Their experience in advocating for the rights of children with disabilities, and their vast knowledge of the legal aspects of this issue, make Mr. Stein and Mr. Weishaupt excellent candidates for positions on the Commission on the Evaluation of Disability in Children. I urge you to appoint them to this commission.

Sincerely,

Harris Wofford

RE: Commission on the Evaluation of Disability in Children

Dear Secretary Shalala:

I write at the suggestion of SSA Commissioner Shirley Chater, with whom I met on August 12. At that meeting, Commissioner Chater invited input regarding the composition of the Commission on the Evaluation of Disability in Children which is to be established pursuant to Section 202 of the Social Security Independence and Program Improvements Act of 1994. As co-counsel for the nationwide class of disabled children in Zebley v. Sullivan from 1989 until June of this year, I have a keen interest in the mission and the integrity of the SSI childhood disability program. Therefore, I write to recommend the appointment of two excellent pediatricians who have expressed great interest in the SSI program and willingness to serve if appointed to the Commission.

Robert Needlman, M.D. is an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine and an Attending Physician at the Rainbow Babies and Childrens Hospital in Cleveland, Ohio. As you can see from the enclosed curriculum vitae, Dr. Needlman is a developmental and behavioral pediatrician with strong interests in early language development, literacy, the developmental teratology of cocaine, failure to thrive, and temper tantrums. Joseph A. Ley, M.D. is a Clinical Instructor in Pediatrics at East Tennessee State University, Chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at Indian Path Hospital, and practices pediatrics and adolescent medicine in Kingsport, Tennessee. He has particular interests in perinatal care, developmental delay, and speech and hearing impairments. Drs. Needlman and Ley are board certified in pediatrics, Fellows in the American Academy of Pediatrics, and have extensive academic and clinical experience with the medical problems of low-income children. It should be noted that these physicians have no prior association with the Social Security Administration or its adjudicative processes, and thus have the ability to provide fresh perspectives on the problems facing the agency at this critical juncture for the childhood program.

As a close observer of the process by which the Social Security Administration formulated its post-Zebley regulations, and as an attorney who continues to represent disabled children before the agency, I appreciate the gravity of the task which awaits the Commission whose members you will appoint. I urge you to consider these two highly qualified pediatric specialists for membership on the Commission, and trust that its work will lead to improvements in a program which is so vital to our nation's disabled children.

Sincerely,

Thomas D. Sutton
