Summary

This collection consists of records pertaining to Rahm Emanuel, a close adviser to President Clinton on a wide variety of subjects. Emanuel worked on the issues of education, crime, NAFTA, and health care. The material in this collection includes publications, reports, memoranda, speech drafts, polls, newspaper articles, press releases, pamphlets, emails, talking points, and correspondence.

Scope and Content Note

The materials in 2009-0140-F are a selective, not necessarily all inclusive, body of documents responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult the archivist about related materials. Rahm Emanuel established ties with Bill Clinton by being appointed director of the finance committee for his 1992 Presidential campaign. From there he moved on to the White House, where he held positions of Assistant to the President for Political Affairs and Senior Advisor to the President for Policy and Strategy. In this capacity Emanuel played a leading role in the inception of NAFTA and universal health care. FOIA request 2009-0140-F consists of publications, books, papers, reports, pamphlets, memoranda, polls, notes, emails, newspaper articles, and briefing papers. These materials range across several offices and taken together give a general representation of the type of activities Rahm Emanuel engaged in while serving in the Clinton Administration. Issues he focused on include crime, NAFTA, law enforcement, health care, and education. 2009-0140-F http://www.clintonlibrary.gov - 2 - The records of the Chief of Staff (at least in the case of Emanuel) are comprised primarily of publications, books, and other similar material. For instance, two books detailing the specifics of the Budget of the United States Government for fiscal year 1994 can be found here, numerous publications and the like centered around the issue of crime and its prevention are featured prominently, and the topics of immigration, child support, national drug control strategy, social security, and the environment show up repeatedly throughout this section of the FOIA case. The records of Communications consist principally of correspondence, memoranda, speech drafts, polls, talking points, newspaper articles, reports, graphs, charts, and transcripts. One particular area addresses the issue of NAFTA and possible business opportunities afforded it in the Congressional districts of specific representatives. These documents take the form of reports focusing on the political background of the representative, industries that would benefit from the introduction of NAFTA, and very specific statistics usually supplied by the Department of Commerce showing how and to what extent the denoted industry would benefit from the passage of the new legislation. In addition, in Communications, policy memos can be found. Crime/violence, crime bill negotiations, crime bill votes, assault weapons, crime bill conference, crime bill strategy, and health care can be found. Emanuel outlines in detail what he thinks is the appropriate course of action for each subject. The records of Political Affairs consist largely of books, memoranda, lists, talking points, newspaper articles, correspondence, charts, graphs, press releases, polls, and publications. Emanuel received much correspondence from outside sources about the policy President Clinton should pursue to combat AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome). In addition, Emanuel was tasked with organizing the Northwest Forest Summit held in April 1993.
