Summary

This collection consists of records regarding National Security Council Principals Committee (PC) and Deputies Committee (DC) meetings concerning Bosnia and the Former Yugoslavia from 1993 through 1996. These materials highlight Clinton Administration policy throughout the Bosnian War and the implementation of the Dayton Accords. The files include memoranda, agendas, discussion papers, reports, emails, and other planning materials for the PC and DC meetings.

Scope and Content Note

The materials in FOIA 2012-0798-F are a selective body of documents responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult the archivist about related materials. FOIA 2012-0798-F contains records of National Security Council Principals Committee and Deputies Committee meetings concerning Bosnia and the former Yugoslavia from 1993 through 1996. Following the disintegration of Yugoslavia in 1991, fighting began between the former provinces of Serbia and Croatia and spilled over into Bosnia. Bosnia was the most ethnically diverse part of the former Yugoslaiva, with Muslim, Serb, and Croat populations. While Bosnian Muslim politician Alija Izetbegovic envisioned an independent, multi-ethnic Bosnia, Serbian leader Radovan Karadzic supported Slobodan Milosevic’s goal of creating a greater Serbia. Eventually, militant Bosnian Serbs began terrorizing the Muslim communities, engaging in human rights abuses through what was later termed “ethnic cleansing.” In 1992, the United Nations (UN), at the urging of the United States, imposed an arms embargo against the Serbs and sent in the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) to assist in humanitarian aid. In 1994, the UN expanded UNPROFOR’s mission to the protection of “Safe Havens” around the cities of Sarajevo, Gorzade, Srebrenica, Tuzla, Zipa, and Bihac. The North Atlantic Treaty

Organization (NATO) began to receive request for support from the UN as Serbian forces attacked the safe havens and violated the no-fly zones. In July 1995, Serbian forces under the command of General Ratdko Mladic attacked and occupied Srebenica, killing 8,000 men in an event that the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) classified as genocide. In response, NATO began widespread airstrikes against the Serbs on August 30, 1995. After three weeks of bombing, Milosevic, Izetbegovic, and Croatian President Franjo Tudjman agreed to meet in Dayton, Ohio for peace talks. The resulting Dayton Peace Agreement, signed in Paris on December 14, 1995, maintained the cease-fire and created the modern state of Bosnia and Hercegovina. A NATO-led implementation force (IFOR) oversaw compliance with the military aspects of the agreement. Beginning in January 1993, the Clinton Administration was heavily involved in the Bosnian conflict and instrumental in negotiating the Dayton agreement. At the White House, the National Security Council (NSC) had the responsibility of advising the President on foreign policy decisions. The NSC Deputies Committee (DC), chaired by Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs Samuel Berger, was an interagency forum charged with focusing on policy implementation. From 1993 to 1996, the Deputies Committee met approximately 80 times to discuss the Bosnian conflict. In addition, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs Anthony Lake chaired the Principals Committee (PC), a Cabinet-level interagency body responsible for coordinating, developing, and implementing national security policy. During this same time period, the Principals Committee met more than 70 times over Bosnia. Indeed, the very first PC meeting of the administration, in January 1993, concerned the conflict in the former Yugoslavia. Records responsive to this request consist of memoranda, agendas, discussion papers, reports, emails, and other planning materials concerning Bosnia for the DC and PC meetings. The researcher should note that many of the records released in response to this FOIA request are duplicates of materials that were declassified in October 2013 and are available on the Clinton Digital Library website. In addition, materials responsive to this FOIA are also located in several previously processed FOIA and Mandatory Declassification Review (MDR) requests: 2006-0647-F (Genocide in Yugoslavia) 2010-0533-M (Minutes from NSC Principals and Deputies Meetings on Bosnia) 2013-0682-M (NSC Principals and Deputies Meetings on Bosnia) 2013-0687-F (Alexander Vershbow’s Bosnia Files) 2014-0293-M (NSC Principals and Deputies Meetings on Bosnian War Criminals) Many of the records related to this FOIA case are closed for national security reasons.

System of Arrangement

Records that are responsive to this FOIA request were found in this collection area—Clinton Presidential Records: White House Staff and Office Files. Staff and Offices files were maintained at the folder level by staff members within their individual offices and document all levels of administration activity. Staff and Office files are processed at the folder level, that is, individual documents are not selected and removed from a folder for processing. While this method maintains folder integrity, it frequently results in the incidental processing of comments that are not wholly responsive to the subject area.

Access

Collection is open to all researchers. Access to Clinton Presidential Records is governed by the Presidential Records Act (PRA) (44 USC 2201) and the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) (5 USC 552, as amended) and therefore records may be restricted in whole or in part in accordance with legal exemptions.

Copyright

Documents in this collection that were prepared by officials of the United States government as part of their official duties are in the public domain. Researchers are advised to consult the copyright law of the United States (17 U.S.C. Chapter 1) which governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Provenance

Official records of William Jefferson Clinton’s presidency are housed at the Clinton Presidential Library and administered by the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) under the provisions of the Presidential Records Act (PRA).
