Biographical Note

Carolyn Gatz worked in the Office of Policy Development in 1993. The Office of Policy Development was responsible for advising and assisting the President in the formulation, coordination, and implementation of domestic and economic policy. In January, 1993, President Clinton created the National Economic Council, carved out of the Office of Policy Development. In August 1993, he completed the split by creating the Domestic Policy Council. After the split, Carolyn Gatz went on to act as the Communications Liaison for the Interagency Health Care Task Force, in the office of Ira Magaziner. She was manager of the writing process that produced President

Clinton’s health care plan. As of 2015, she is the Director of Metro Engagement on the Development, Finance, and Administration Staff at the Brookings Institution.
