Scope and Content Note

Melanne Verveer served as Deputy Assistant to the President and Deputy Chief of Staff to the First Lady from January 1993 to May 1997. She then served as Assistant to the President and Chief of Staff to the First Lady through the end of the administration. Ms. Verveer was the First Lady's chief assistant for her international activities, took the lead in establishing the President's Interagency Council on Women, and was instrumental in creating the Vital Voices Democracy Initiative. Verveer traveled extensively with the First Lady, and corresponded with various government agencies, foundations, and nongovernmental organizations. Verveer helped plan the many foreign trips of the First Lady, coordinating her schedules and speaking engagements with foreign leaders and institutions. The material in this collection illuminates First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton's involvement in social policy issues both domestically and internationally, and includes such topics as the arts, children, health, family planning, education, economic sustainability, human rights, humanitarian aid, and women's issues. The First Lady’s involvement in the arts, both domestically and internationally, is evident in this collection. There are records concerning the National Endowment for the Arts, the National Medal of Arts Recipients and nominees, the National Arts and Humanities Month Awards Ceremony established in October, 1994, and the subsequent celebration of Art Day every October afterwards. There are also records concerning Arts in the Embassies under the auspices of the State Department, including the nonprofit, Friends of Art and Preservation in the Embassies (FAPE), which was founded in 1986. Also included are records related to the Save America's Treasures initiative established in 1998 in concert with the White House Millennium Project, and chaired by Hillary Clinton. There are records on the Save America's Treasures Tour, including background material on location sites and grant information for each selected project. The collection also highlights the First Lady's involvement in health care, including children's health, teen pregnancy (including teen pregnancy rates in America and the launch of a teen pregnancy program by the White House), women's health, AIDS, and the study of Gulf War Illnesses. There are records concerning the government's efforts to fund, research, and create medical advancement in mammograms in breast cancer detection and treatment, with the partnering of federal agencies and the science community. Also included are records of health care meetings between the First Lady and members of Congress. The collection includes materials related to various domestic and international issues on child care and children, including child abuse, child welfare (specifically budget cuts to programs related to child welfare and the child care block grant), the economic well-being of children, youth violence, the Parental Rights and Responsibilities Act, child support, the plight of children in orphanages, children and television, the U.S. ratification of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, and the Symposium on Children of the Americas. In addition to an abundance of material relating to the First Lady's foreign travels, there are records concerning Ms. Verveer's travels to Russia and the Ukraine, relating to the ten year anniversary of Chernobyl, and the humanitarian efforts in Ukraine post-Soviet Union. There are records relating to the United Nations Fourth World Conference on Women in Beijing, including background material and talking points relating to human rights, girls' education, gender, population, and social development. There are also records concerning delegate assignments, calendars of events, planning, staff participants, the history of the conference, funding, and newspaper clippings. Records in this collection include foreign travel by the First Lady on goodwill missions, including trips to Bosnia, Ireland, South Asia, Africa, and Latin America. The records highlight the humanitarian aid initiatives, including U.S. government aid and support for democratic states. There is also material on the Post Dayton Peace Accords: The Women's Commission for Refugee Women and Children of Srebrenica, a project co-chaired by Ambassador Swanee Hunt and Queen Noor. The records include many more topics, and reveal Ms. Verveer’s support of the First Lady in all aspects of her travels and activities. The material includes correspondence, memos, schedules of the First Lady, news clippings, reports, invitations, speeches, faxes, email, notes, and publications.
