Summary

This collection consists of the Domestic Policy Council (DPC) records of Sarah Lucas, who worked for the DPC from 2000-2001 as both the DPC Office Manager and the Assistant Director of the Crime and Drug Policy team. The collection consists primarily of published reports by various agencies including the Department of Justice's Bureau of Justice Statistics, Department of the Treasury, the General Accounting Office, and the FBI, among others. It also consists of publications, articles, press clippings, memorandums, talking points, background materials, letters, faxes, emails, and administrative materials like intern applications.

Scope and Content Note

Sarah Lucas worked for the Domestic Policy Council from March 2000 until the end of the administration in 2001. She served a dual role as the DPC Office Manager – coordinating interns and volunteers, ensuring the DPC office was fully stocked with supplies, providing back up to DPC support staff, and handing all paperwork matters – and Assistant Director of the Crime and Drug Policy team. As Assistant Director, she served as a policy analyst and researcher. She also helped write legislative proposals, press and policy papers, memos to Bruce Reed on key issues, Executive Orders, and the Domestic Policy Council weekly report to the President, among other issues. This collection consists primarily of published reports by various agencies including the Department of Justice’s Bureau of Justice Statistics, Department of the Treasury, the General Accounting Office, and the FBI, among others. It also consists of publications, articles, press clippings, memorandums, talking points, background materials, letters, faxes, emails, and administrative materials such as lists of names for clearance to meetings and intern applications.
