Summary

This collection consists of records regarding American lobbyist Paul Manafort’s dealings with Russia. It contains a National Security Council (NSC) cable detailing a meeting on a super computer deal involving Manafort that would generate business in Russia

Scope and Content Note

The materials in FOIA 2018-0780-F are a selective body of documents responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult the archivist about related material. This FOIA case concerns American lobbyist Paul Manafort and Russia. Throughout his career as a lobbyist and political strategist, Manafort has had many international business dealings. One National Security Council (NSC) cable has been processed in response to this request. Written by U.S. Ambassador to Mongolia Donald C. Johnson, the cable details a meeting he attended in February 1994 with Deputy Prime Minister Purevdorj. During this meeting they discussed a super computer trade deal in which Manafort was involved. One of the goals was that the deal would generate business in Russia. In August 2018, Manafort was convicted on multiple bank and tax fraud charges.
