Summary

This collection consists of records related to the White House Photo Office. It consists of correspondence, memoranda, forms, notes, envelopes, photos, faxes, greeting cards, and note cards used for sorting the requests. The photo requests are divided into three categories: those coming from the staff, those deemed outside personal, and those described as being professional or in some way dealing with publications.

Scope and Content Note

The materials in 2015-0754-F (segment 1) are a selective body of documents responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult the archivist about related material. The primary responsibility of the White House Photo Office is to photographically document the history of the presidency. It originated in 1961 (along with the position of the official White House Photographer) during the administration of John F. Kennedy. The number of photos associated with each president has mushroomed within a fairly short period of time encompassing a little more than half a century. This progression culminated during the two terms of President Barack Obama when three million photos being taken. A recent revealing article (dated April 24, 2018) appeared in The Winchester Star. The Virginia-based newspaper conducted an interview with Janet Philips, who spent thirty years working as an archivist in Clinton Presidential Library’s web site 2015-0754-F (segment 1) http://www.clintonlibrary.gov 2 the White House Photo Office. The period of her employment stretched from the final six months of the Reagan presidency to the first couple of years of Trump’s time in the White House. That is, from 1988- 2018. Philips told the newspaper her principle job consisted of the identification of everyone in the photos and then cataloging each photo so as to faciltate their rapid and easy retrieval. Early on she knew all the archived material would end up in presidential libraries spread out across the country. Hence, the importance of accuracy with respect to names, dates, and places. Philips fondly remembered the time she spent with every president in the course of her years working in the White House. Philips declared that “of all the presidents I worked for, I probably saw the Clintons the most. They were very inclusive of the staff.” The records in this collection largely related to requests for photos from the White House Photo Office. These requests were divided into those originating with the staff, those deemed to be outside personal, and those coming from publications and what is described as “other professional uses.” In each instance, all the incoming material was sorted by month. The documents took the shape of forms, correspondence, faxes, photos, greeting cards, memoranda, notes, envelopes, and emails. Typically, forms tended to be the way individuals requested photographs. There were photo orders utilized by staffers and others, intern photo requests, volunteer photo requests, and note cards entitled “The White House Photograph Request Form” that included a section asking for a “detailed physical description” along with a photo of the requestor. A sizable portion of these records consisted of schedules of President Clinton and the First Lady. They were often accompanied by a form called “Residence Event Task Sheet.” Information found here was specifically directed toward the photographer assigned to document the occasion. “Special instructions” helped the people tasked with documenting the events by telling them about receiving lines, bleachers, stanchions, press pens, and so forth.

System of Arrangement

Records that were responsive to this FOIA request were found in this collection area—Clinton Presidential Records: White House Staff and Office Files. Staff and Office files are maintained at the folder level by staff members within their individual offices and document all levels of administration activity. Staff and Office files are processed at the folder level, that is, individual documents are not selected and removed from a folder for processing. While this method maintains folder integrity, it frequently results in the incidental processing of documents not wholly responsive to the subject area.

Access

Collection is open to all researchers. Access to Clinton Presidential Records is governed by the Presidential Records Act (PRA) (44 U.S.C. Chapter 22, as amended) and Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) (5 U.S.C. 552, as amended) and therefore records may be restricted in whole or in part in accordance with legal exemptions.

Copyright

Documents in this collection that were prepared by officials of the United States government as part of their official duties are in the public domain. Researchers are advised to consult the copyright law of the United States (17 U.S.C. Chapter 1) which governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material.

Provenance

Official records of William Jefferson Clinton’s presidency are housed at the Clinton Presidential Library and administered by the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) under the provisions of the Presidential Records Act.
