Summary

This collection consists of the federal records of The President’s Council on Sustainable Development (PCSD). The PCSD, a federal advisory commission, was composed of members from the public and private sectors who represented industrial, environmental, governmental, and not-for-profit organizations with experience relating to matters of sustainable development. This collection contains briefing materials, transcripts, minutes, debriefings, agendas, logistics, and public comments related to Council meetings. This collection also includes speeches, press releases and kits, and information about public outreach (including the Kodak Project).
