Summary

This collection contains transcripts, correspondence, general information, and invitations related to a speech given by the First Lady at Forum 2000 in Prague, Czech Republic on October 13, 1998. The event was the second in a series of conferences that Vaclav Havel, President of the Czech Republic, hosted to discuss the challenges of the new millennium. Mrs. Clinton’s speech focused on globalization and the challenges it presented to economies, governments, and society as a whole. She reflected upon the previous millennium and conveyed optimism for the following one.

Scope and Content Note

The materials in FOIA 2006-0503-F are a selective, not necessarily all-inclusive body of documents responsive to the topic of the FOIA. Researchers should consult the archivist about related materials. FOIA request 2006-0503-F contains documents related to a speech given by the First Lady at Forum 2000 in Prague, Czech Republic on October 13, 1998. The event was the second in a series of conferences that Vaclav Havel, President of the Czech Republic, hosted to discuss the challenges of the new millennium. Mrs. Clinton’s speech focused on globalization and the challenges it presented to economies, governments, and society as a whole. She reflected upon the previous millennium and conveys optimism for the following one. Neither the White House Office of Records Management (WHORM) Alpha Files nor the WHORM Subject Files contain relevant records. The White House Staff and Office files contain correspondence, memoranda, publications, research materials, schedules, and speeches maintained by individual offices and staff members. In the First Lady’s Press Office, the files of Lissa Muscatine contain two transcripts of Mrs. Clinton’s remarks at Forum 2000. In the First Lady’s Speechwriting Office, Laura Schiller was responsible for drafting the Forum 2000 speech. Her files contain correspondence and information pertaining to the event and its host, as well as materials on the subject of globalization. In the Millennium Council, Ellen Lovell's files contain responsive records. These include an invitation for Mrs. Clinton's attendance at the conference, as well as biographical information relating to President Vaclav Havel. The Automated Records Management System (ARMS) Emails contain discussion between White House staff regarding Mrs. Clinton's attendance at the Forum 2000 event, including one draft of her remarks.

System of Arrangement

Records that are responsive to this FOIA request were found in these collection areas—Clinton Presidential Records: White House Staff and Office Files and Clinton Presidential Records: ARMS Emails. As policy, Staff and Office files are processed at the folder level, that is, individual documents are not selected and removed from a folder for processing. While this method maintains folder integrity, it frequently results in the incidental processing of documents that are not wholly responsive to the subject area. The Automated Records Management System (ARMS) is a database that contains email records of the Executive Office of the President. This system maintained unclassified Presidential Records email. The ARMS dataset is comprised of 6 sub-series of email records called "Buckets." The buckets include NPR, OPD, POTUS, WHO, CEA, and Default. ARMS emails are arranged chronologically by creation date.

Access
