System of Arrangement

Records that are responsive to this FOIA request were found in two collection areas— Clinton Presidential Records: Office of the Executive Clerk files and Clinton Presidential Records: Automated Records Management System [Email]. The Office of the Executive Clerk is organized as part of the Office of the White House. However, it is a permanent office common to all presidential administrations. The Clerk is responsible for preparation, review, and disposition of all documents signed by the President. This includes executive orders, proclamations, messages to Congress, and memoranda to the various agencies in the Executive Office. The Clerk is also responsible for receiving all communication from the Congress to the President including enrolled bills, Senate confirmation resolutions, and resolutions for the ratification of treaties. It is also the Clerk's responsibility to deliver all official correspondence from the President to the Congress. This includes all the paperwork, formal documents, and correspondence relating to Senate appointments. The Automated Records Management System (ARMS) is a database that contains email records of the Executive office of the President. This system maintained unclassified Presidential record email. The ARMS dataset is comprised of 6 sub-series of email records called "Buckets." The buckets include NPR, OPD, POTUS, WHO, CEA, and Default. ARMS emails are arranged chronologically by creation date.
