We hear a lot of that anti-Ada Deer sentiment from Tribal leaders. I don't think we should acknowledge.

On the letter you faxed me, maybe we should send them a letter from the POTUS thanking them for their letter, acknowledging their serious concerns, and stating that he has passed this on to the Secretary of the Interior for review and a more detailed response. Can you draft this and e-mail to me. The other option is just to send it right over to interior and ask the Secretary to respond.

Either way, this is a DOI issue -- we can't get into the substance on this. Thanks

MEMORANDUM

TO: Veronica Biggins
FROM: Loretta T. Avent LA
DATE: December 16, 1994
RE: Navajo-Hopi Relocation Commissioner July

Per your request, I am summarizing briefly and hurriedly some politically sensitive observations concerning K.E.'s possible appointment as the Navajo-Hopi Relocation Commissioner.

As I mentioned to you yesterday, the President, unfortunately and I'm sure unknowingly, got slammed in the press on the last name we supposedly were supporting on his behalf. At least he knows K.E. However, we can't afford to have a second rejection for the same commission. Please see all my attached memos regarding the last name that was sent forward and then killed on the hill.

My suggestion (after talking to Craig Smith and Elaine Kamarck, and since there is no likelihood we can come up with a name that both sides will support) is to look at the commission through our reinventing government process and determine what has happened to their $330 million budget over the years and what real progress, if any, can show that it has been cost-effective and beneficial to both the Navajos and the Hopis.

Their real objection is that we and previous administrations make this appointment for political reasons and as political rewards to friends with no real consideration and appreciation to the pain the two tribes have endured over many years because this problem has not been resolved, to both their spiritual satisfaction.

Veronica, you heard from two of our most trusted sources yesterday and their response on the name we floated was a resounding "NO", because it would hurt the President and it would cost us too many political chits to get it confirmed. It's our call on where we want to use up our chits and for whom. This and the attached memos are my views since I work more closely with Indian country than anyone else on the White House staff.

Unfortunately for us K.E. spoke to reporters yesterday and indicated we were recommending her, so the anti-support of her has already started.

Indian country is very unhappy with us in general right now, so we can't afford to create any additional negative conversation. They're furious that we aren't doing a White House ceremony on self-governance (as was mentioned to you yesterday) in January. They will now request a ceremony on the hill which we understand President McCain would be interested in doing.

So, we need to tread gently, lightly, and be politically sensitive on this one because while it only deals with two tribes, all nations have a concern about it. We still have two other real hot potatoes (protection of sacred sites and the protection of natural resources) to go. These are real killer-bees.

I'm on my way out of town (doing a lot of Indian business keeping our loyal troops loyal) but Elizabeth can reach me where ever I am. Hope this helps. Call me if you want or need more information to give to the President.

Peterson Zah is President of the Navajos through January 10. Then President-elect Albert Hale will be the President for the next four years. We can not discuss this with him until after his inauguration on January 10. He has indicated that he would like to sit down with me to discuss this whole situation. Chairman Secakuku's daughter, Kim, told me yesterday that her father would sit down with me and President Hale together. This is a big, big step. Elaine Kamarck just told me (15 minutes ago) that she agrees that we should use our window to look at this commission over making an appointment that causes us political fall-out.

It was also suggested that we should consider other than white individuals, i.e., an Indian is also capable of doing this effectively. It is insulting to them for an American Indian name to have never been suggested.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Veronica Biggins

Eric Senunas

FROM: Loretta T. Avent

DATE: September 20, 1994

RE: Navajo-Hopi Relocation Commissioner Meeting and Hopi
(eleven members of their tribal leadership)

My recommendation is to figure out the best way to bring this to a halt, and give ourselves sufficient time to re-evaluate all of the potential political implications and fall-out from this before we move another step.

In the interest of time, since the meeting is today at 2:30 p.m., we need to reconsider why we want to do what Indian country (with a ground swell of support for the Hopi) thinks we're doing. My only concern is how this plays back on the President. We need to move beyond the person, look at the process, and protect the President and his word as understood by all Indian country in his statements of April 29, 1994. The press interest (three newspapers so far) in this particular appointment scares me.

Eric came by to see me on Friday, and I walked him through the problems associated with moving ahead at this time on their appointment. Concerns that I shared with Eric include, but are not limited to, the following: The Hopis operate as a very theocratic society, (which has its own set of dynamics which I explained to Eric that are very complicated, but I'll share with you before the meeting).

My suggestions as to other options for consideration include possibly having more than one person that can first bring the two bodies together. We need to understand that we are looking to make an appointment that they consider politically expedient for us but that their major interest is what they perceive as their need and usage of the land. That both tribes have sacred needs of the land.

That we shouldn't make this appointment the traditional way (which they perceive as taking care of friends and therefore disrespecting and ignoring their historical and religious traditions as well as their sovereign rights).

They believe we don't understand how tribal people see the land as "Mother Earth", and that man (politicians) can't make an appointment that affects them as a people because we (the politicians) don't own the land.

And since the usage of the land is what's being debated, it is felt that only a group of persons sensitive to both tribes' feelings and beliefs (spiritually) will be effective.

They feel we need a facilitator that will enable the two tribes, with their councils in full support, helping pave the way for positive movement.

That a time table for when the process is going to change should be put in place, because time is a big and key factor. It will not be rectified in a few days. That tribes sense of time and/or perception of time is very different than ours. Their time is based more on a historical time factor than a clock or calendar. They go back in history to move forward. They get very frustrated when we deal with time in hours, as opposed to getting from one point in time to another.

They just want to look at where do they start? Process is where they want to start before an appointment is made. Their feelings are the we (politicians) can't tell them how to rectify this situation. That they MUST be heard and let them (the two bodies) figure out a way to make this work. That we don't understand their government structure and how it is tied into their religion. That their theocratic position includes clanship and smaller societies within the major society and that the dominant force in many cases may not be visible to us, (I'll explain later.)

Chairman Secakuku is a High Snake Priest and that has its own set of dynamics we have to deal with.

I don't mean to rant on but time doesn't present me the opportunity to review and clean this up, but it is a quick and dirty piece to provide you some sense of the enormity of this situation.

NOTE: For almost two years, I have served as the President's key person working directly with Indian country (except on gaming), and we have not had any major problems because I go into time overload trying to understand the guts of Indian country. I've worked with Indian country in some capacity for many, many years, and I know a bad press story when I see it coming. We must think about the President and how this will impact the positive forward movement that took place on April 29, 1994.

Finally, this situation has over 100 years of history so let's really step back before we need a meeting with Pat to really work out the next best step for the President, the process, the Hopi and the Navajo. The three regions of tribes that have been here since Monday and have heard about this stated that they shudder at the thought of our having to deal with this. So do I.

RE: Hopi-Navajo Relocation Commissioner Nominee Peter Osetek

Craig Smith, in asking me to try to move this nomination along, may have given me my greatest challenge to date. But I have at least gotten a first movement going, which isn't a bad start.

I have asked the Chairman of the Hopi tribe to meet with us here, and he has agreed to do so but just wants to meet with the three of us. I need to see if both your schedules are flexible enough to meet next Tuesday, September 20, at 2:30 p.m.

If the three of us could meet from 2:30 until 3:00 p.m., we could then bring in Peter Osetek. I think this is the best way to get that combination together. I need to know as soon as possible because I have meetings today through the second week of October, but this is so important, I'll work it in.

Thanks.

MEMORANDUM FOR LEON PANETTA, CHIEF OF STAFF

FROM: Mike Schmidt, Domestic Policy Council

SUBJECT: The President's Trip to California and Possible Meeting with Cabazon Indian Tribe

Carol Rasco asked that I flag an issue for you regarding the President's upcoming trip to California and a possible meeting/photo-op with the Cabazon Band of Indians. Loretta Avent got a message from Paul Begala this afternoon saying that he had talked to you about having some of the leaders of the Cabazon Tribe get a quick photo-op with the President when he is in Palm Springs this week. Loretta feels strongly that it would not be a good idea for the President to do this photo-op given the extremely volatile nature of the Indian gaming issue in California right now, both in the general public and within the California Indian community (the Cabazons are very visible and politically active gaming Tribe). I would echo Loretta's concern, and point out that in addition to the politics of the situation, the Cabazon Tribe has a lawsuit pending against the U.S. Government over gaming issues.

Subject: Document Request of December 30, 1997 - Hudson Casino

Per Mr. Ruff's request of December 30, 1997, for the subpoena on the Hudson Casino Proposal, I have searched the files in the custody of the White House Office of Records Management. In order to fully comply I searched the ORM computer database, the ORM alphabetical file, and various boxed files, or oversize attachments, as indicated by the computer search.

Attached to this memo is a document production log which indicates the number of a file or name of a case for which material was located. Copies of these files are in attached Folder # 1.

Folder # 2 contains printouts for material that may or may not be responsive. I would ask that the printouts be viewed by Counsel to determine if they are responsive. If there is any interest in any files, please notify me and I will copy for you.

Folder # 3 attached contains searches, notes and memos for the two previous Hudson Casino document requests. These were for the August 4, 1997 C. Ruff Section 8 notice, and for the August 22, 1997 Imbroscio request. The August 4 Ruff request page 2 shows all the boxes that contained material that was copied for you. These were the files of Tom Shea, Elena Kagan, Harold Ickes and Jennifer O'Connor. If you think these boxes should be reviewed again for additional material, please let me know.

In reply to your phone question of January 8, 1998 - there is no record of any boxed material in ORM for Mike Schmidt, IGA; Loretta Avent, OPL; and David Meyers, Ickes Office. The material located previously for these individuals came from the boxed files listed in the August 4 Ruff request.

FROM: LEON FUERTH

SUBJECT: U'wa Letters

[001]

I pass on a word of caution. If we include a reference to a policy towards indigenous people in these letters, we open the door for expanding our engagement on this issue, which could possibly lead us to opening a "can of worms." The "can of worms" being that we would be stuck with an initiative that goes no where and could possibly highlight deficiencies with our own conduct towards Native Americans. I suggest we do not go down that road. Given that and only if you desire, the following sentences could be inserted:

"In the course of evaluating your concerns, I have been surprised to note that there is not a very firm basis in US policy or international law to deal with the rights of indigenous people. I asked the Secretary to send us an assessment of what we do have as policy and a judgement as to whether an elaboration or expansion is either desirable or feasible."

MEMORANDUM FOR THE VICE PRESIDENT

FROM: LEON FUERTH

SUBJECT: U'wa Indian Options

[001]

Attached is additional information that you will hopefully find helpful in formulating your decision on whether you want to directly engage this issue. I see a range of options from doing nothing to directly contacting the CEO of Occidental and/or President Pastrana. And of course there is a wide range as to your message and its forcefulness. It is important to note that sources within both governments (U.S. and Colombia) describe the U'wa leadership as leaders not willing to compromise and set on blocking the exploration for oil on their ancestral lands - oil that they believe is their life blood - at all costs.

Additionally, the USG does not possess any guidance (from either government policies or international treaties) that helps to frame our official government engagement with indigenous people outside our borders. In other words, your direct engagement, if you elect to do so, will need to be careful studies since it could influence the need to be carefully studied since it could influence the ways governments deal with indigenous people in the future. (It is interesting to note that there is a draft international declaration in support of indigenous people that has been floating around the UN, say for the last 10 years or so. It was written mainly by Cubans and calls for various educational opportunities as well as the rights of indigenous people to secede and to claim ownership of natural resources on their ancestral lands. Only China and Cuba have supported this declaration. There is not chance it will go anywhere as currently drafted.) We will also have to consider the implications that perhaps non-indigenous people may be negatively affected by a decision in support of indigenous people. Additionally, we must take a careful look at our own government's policies with native Americans to make sure our international message is consistent with out domestic conduct. Our most recent cooperation with Colombia may present us with another option that could be helpful to the U'wa and yet does not directly require your participation. As part of the USG support for Plan Colombia, millions of dollars will be used to help them improve human rights. We could see if something could be done in this area that directly or indirectly benefits all of the indigenous people of Colombia and therefore benefits the U'wa. I am not sure what that would be but it might be worthwhile considering. I intend to continue providing you with my thoughts and will help you formulate your decision whenever you are ready.

options paper uwa.doc
March 30, 2000

TO: THE VICE PRESIDENT

FROM: LEON FUERTH

SUBJECT: U'wa

I know you have already seen today's intel. It is attached if you desire to review it.
Here is my take on the options.

Option 1. Take no action.

PRO: Our information gives me no reason to believe that either Occidental or the Government of Colombia have violated Colombian law or skirted due process in Colombian terms. A legal judgement was passed down by the Government of Colombia to grant a license to Occidental to drill. The land that Occidental is interested in is legally not part of the U'wa reservation even though the U'wa claim it. Although the NGO's are asking for a delay to promote a search for compromise, the U'wa are not particularly expressing an interested in compromise.

CON: Experts believe that the U'wa truly believe that oil is literally "the blood of Mother Earth..." At a minimum, there could be deaths

because of clashes between U'wa and the authorities. At worst, the U'wa may follow through on their prior threats to commit mass suicide if Occidental continues to drill for oil.
Your position and influence could convince either the Government of Colombia
and/or Occidental to take another look at attempting to resolve the differences.
This could, although chances seem remote, result in some sort of acceptable compromise for all involved parties.

Option 2. Write or call senior Occidental officials. (The range of your message goes from asking Occidental "to stop explorative oil drilling..." to asking them to "consider some sort of compromise" and to a softer message of "hope you've considered the implications...")

PRO: You are on record for having done something. Your involvement, regardless of the force of your message, could cause Occidental to reconsider its oil exploration in this region.

CON: You would be using the powers of your office without benefit of any national policy in support of your action. Consequently, your action could easily be depicted as a politically motivated form of interference.

Option 3. Weigh in with Colombian Government Officials. (The range of messages remains the same as above.)

PRO and CON: Same as above compounded by its elevation from domestic to international interests.

Option 4. Advocate a USG and/or international policy towards rights of indigenous people.

PRO: There is no USG policy and/or international treaty that helps nations formulate their conduct regarding indigenous people. Intuitively, you would think we should have a policy. It could provide a context for this and for other interventions.

CON: Lessons learned from an already existing draft declaration at the UN are that it will be difficult to get nations to agree on many of the necessary principles. The current draft sponsored by Cuba and supported only by the Chinese, calls for the right of indigenous people to secede and to claim natural resources on their land. The U.S. generally approaches human rights as universal and avoids an approach that ascribes particular rights to specific groups. (Hence, we did not support cantonization in Bosnia and Kosovo.) Finally, any rights we assert for the indigenous of other lands ought to apply to native Americans.

TEXT:

I just completed a hour long meeting with Lynn. It went well. We agreed that March 15 is the date that makes most sense for change. There was no agreement regarding office space; just a recognition that she wants to stay where she is.

Regarding the announcement of this change, I think it would be good for me to begin making calls on this today to key constituents that will be impacted by this change. Lynn indicated she already has had several conversations that have resulted in some "alarm." Have you or John received any calls? I have not.

Please review the draft talking points that Lynn and I discussed below. I think it is important that we all have agreement on how we talk about this change. You may want to share them with her for comment once you have made any changes. In the end, we all need to be talking of the same page. I hope this is helpful.

-Lynn Cutler will become a Senior Advisor to the Vice President for Special Projects and to the COS for Native American Affairs (Indian Affairs? Tribal Government Affairs?).

-This is a significant step forward for Tribal Government leaders and Native Americans. Lynn will work directly with the COS office to ensure that the concerns of Indian Country are addressed at the highest levels of the White House. Lynn's two-years of service with the Native American constituency as deputy director of Intergovernmental Affairs makes her the right choice to continue this important assignment.

-Vice President Gore is very pleased to add the talent and expertise of Lynn Cutler to his staff. Her many years of experience in Washington and with the White House Office of Intergovernmental Affairs will greatly enhance his outreach capacity to women and other important constituents.

-The Office of Intergovernmental Affairs is committed to maintaining the high level of service and contact with the City and County constituents that Lynn was responsible for.

Lynn will remain in her current assignment until March 15 to allow for a smooth transition. She will coordinate WH activity for both the upcoming NACo and NLC winter meetings in Washington.

There is no contest here--Cincinnati would be best in terms of the local officials. Indianapolis is absolutely out--the governor would be very upset. If the idea is to do the university, Carbondale is a great town, but very small and hard to get to.

Has any consideration been given to Minneapolis? It is an incredibly diverse community with Asian, Native American, African-American, Hispanic populations. The mayor, Sharon Sayles-Belton, is African-American, and very interested in the race initiative. With the University of Minnesota and other campuses in the community, I think it would be terrific. TEXT:

sorry to be late, but was out--Mona will look at this, and see if I forgot anything.

INDIAN COUNTRY

We have made sure that the word is going out to Indian Country that we worked very hard to defeat the amendments to the Senate Interior Appropriations bill that were so negative for them. Lynn Cutler is assured by the National Congress of American Indians, the National Indian Gaming Association, and individual tribal leaders, that there will be articles in their next publications that will describe the work of the White House on behalf of you, to stand with them.

In addition, this week Lynn and I met with twenty tribal leaders in the Roosevelt Room. We also included Ron Allen and Joanne Chase from National Congress of American Indians, and several representatives from the National Indian Gaming Association, as well as the three members of the National Indian Gaming Commission. We did this meeting at the request of Cong. Dale Kildee (D. Michigan), who chairs the Indian Caucus in the House. His staff was also present. In addition to several ongoing concerns expressed about anti-gaming amendments, there was universal praise for the access and action that they have had from the White House in the last several months. They reiterated their gratitude for your ongoing commitment to them. We pledged our continuing willingness to be as helpful as possible to them.

NOTE; MICKEY--I THINK YOU MIGHT WANT TO SAY SOMETHING TO HIM HERE ABOUT THE FACT THAT WE DO THE NATIVE AMERICANS. WHENEVER IT COMES UP TO HIM, HE REFERS IT TO MARIA--I DON'T THINK HE'S GOT THIS IN HIS MIND--WHICH IS ANOTHER REASON TO PRESS FOR THE INDIAN OUTREACH MEETING. I'M SENDING OVER HILLEY REPORT FEEDBACK, WHICH SYLVIA GAVE TO ME--BUT NOTE POTUS COMMENT.

NEXTEA

We worked with the Department of Transportation and OPL to do an event with the VP on Wed. in Room 450. Joining the VP was County Executive Wayne Curry of Prince Georges County and Governor Bob Miller of Nevada. In the audience we had several local elected officials, including County Councilman C. Vernon Gray of Howard County, who is VP of NACo, and County Executive Doug Duncan of Montgomery County. The message of the day, in addition to general support for the legislation, was the need to maintain the Disadvantaged Business Enterprise piece of the initiative. The VP was eloquent on the subject of the need to continue to reach out to heal racial divisions and to provide opportunity. JoAnne Payne, who is head of Women First, Inc., a major women's business group, was also a speaker and dealt with the DBE issue very effectively.

CENSUS

We sent material to leadership in the mayors and county groups. They are actively working to have the sampling provisions passed. One of the arguments that we suggest you pursue in the fight on the census is that local communities who suffer from the undercount will pay a big price in terms of state and federal programs for ten years. This should also be connected to the race initiative--if you aren't even counted as a citizen of this country, how can anything else fall into place?

RACE INITIATIVE

We made sure that we had guests from Indian country at the meeting on Tuesday, and were at the daylong session. They are pleased that Laura Harris has been brought on as a senior consultant to the initiative on behalf of Indian country.

MAYORS

We met with Mayor Campagna of Scottsdale, who was very glad to be included in the Arts and Humanities day here at the White House.

Atlanta

We're continuing to work with Mayor Campbell and GSA on the location of the new INS facility. Director Barram is sending people down to the city to survey the situation, and to meet with the Mayor.

Philadelphia

We continue to be involved in monitoring the navy shipyard situation there.

California McLellan

We staffed the VP calls to Mayor Joe Cerna of Sacramento, and Supervisor Don Nottoli of Sacramento County, informing them of a $7 million DOL grant for worker retraining for the displaced workers from the McLellan base closure.

There are several other requests pouring in from cities and counties around the country as grant decisions are made, and we are responding as best we can with help from Cabinet Affairs.

I just got off the phone with Lynn and I wanted to share her comments with you. She felt very strongly that press should not be in the room at the Native American Roundtable Meeting. She wanted the attendees to have the same opportunity as prior groups to have a free flowing, unincumbered discussion with the President.

Also, Lynn will get a tremendous amount of grief from tribal leaders who were not included [REDACTED] and she said she would actually prefer not to have the meeting than to include press. I also mentioned to her the two names we removed and she was fine. She vouched for the remaining names.

TEXT:

In response to your request on the HUD regs (from Dennis Ramon), the issue is this: Secretary Cuomo was prepared to meet the request from Indian Country that the HUD money go in a lump sum to the tribal governments, as opposed to the drawdown system.

His Inspector General, who you may have seen widely quoted in the press lately, refused to go along with the Secretary's wishes on this. She is convinced that the tribes will mismanage the money, and is not trustful about them.

As wrong as all of that is, the Secretary's hands are tied. I have no recommendation, because I can't see any way around this situation. We obviously also cannot say most of this in a response. You might want to check with Andrew's shop to see how they are responding to Indian Country on this issue. It's all most unfortunate.

Mayor Willie Brown really went to the wall to fight prop. 209--and has a great civil rights record on several fronts. Remember that Baca left the Administration severely criticizing it. Mayor Webb had the hate crimes issue, and if possible, we should think about a woman, since there are only three in the meeting. Mayor Sharon Sayles Belton of Minn. has an incredibly diverse city and lots of urban Indians as well. What do you think?

Thanks, Mickey. I was aware of the meeting through Bambi and I assumed you were as well. I will attend.

FYI, after the Houston Town Hall meeting the President met with the three advisory board members in attendance (Winter, Thomas, Johnson-Cook) and Laura Harris. He asked Laura what we should do to assure Native Americans that they are part of the discussion and the Race Initiative. She indicated that he should reaffirm the "government-to-government" relationship through a meeting with tribal leaders. He indicated that he was inclined to spend some time in Indian Country discussing economic development issues. Although he initially indicated he thought he should go to New Mexico or Arizona, he later said he'd spent a lot of time in New Mexico and should probably visit Arizona.

I have asked Laura to prepare a memo to responding in detail to the two issues raised by the President: 1) what should the PIR do (working with WH staff); and 2) where in Indian Country should the President visit (with rationale and priority ordering).

Our stuff got only a little discussion at POTUS Scheduling. Lynn, the Empowerment Zone and Indian Event are both already blocked as confirmed and were not discussed. Secondly, he said he would like to think about NGA. Third, Guam stop still unresolved because India trip still unconfirmed - although it may slip to New Zealand trip (APEC 99) if India trip doesn't happen.

We went all the way through September and the topic that he addressed at length was Arizona and why we were going back to NM a third time (late July on Soc Sec) and not to Ariz. He tasked Craig, Stephanie and me to come up with ideas. He got quite passionate about it "I have said this for 2 years and no body hears me! We won there and never stop there!" I, of course, loved it. We met with him briefly afterwards and agreed on a Oct trip commitment.

On July 20 he doesn't like doing an environment hit in New Orleans and asked instead if we should do a truency/school uniform hit with Mayor Morial. Stephanie and Rahn said they would look into it and draw upon Lynn for advice. Instead we are all collectively looking for a place to do Heritage Rivers and looking for an idea. Recommendations from our guys might be a good place to start.

Subject: Associate Director

Raynell Morris has accepted my offer to become the new Associate Director of IGA. The salary will be $59,500 annually and the start date is August 10. Jaime Uzeta will vacate an IGA position prior to August 10 to free the staff slot for Raynell. I will inform the unsuccessful candidates for this position personally on Monday and announce the selection to the IGA staff Tuesday morning.

Raynell is currently at the Department of Interior, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Office of Economic Development. She comes to us highly recommended by Asst. Secy. Kevin Gover and many others. She is a member of the Lummi Indian Nation of Washington.

I suggest we do more than normal by way of rollout of this selection. It will be well received by Indian Country. Perhaps the President will want to announce it at the Indian Conference he has agreed to participate in August 5. Also, Estela Mendoza can pitch it to the specialty press as well. Sylvia, your thoughts please...

TEXT:

The participants will be chosen by the topics--Millenium people want a mayor because they are trying so hard to expand this into communities. Everyone agrees that there must be a Native American--we're looking at AMericorps young woman who does after school programs at Navajo school, and that will tie into the Indian Teacher Initiative. Everyone else is a real person, kid scientist, or Rosa Parks. They will be diverse. The mayor I want is Joe Riley, because he is the dean of the mayors, is leaving govt. soon, is a big Millenium, arts, racial harmony, everything mayor. That is the universe. If you have problems with it, you need to talk to Maria Echaveste. Other topics are immigration, crime, foreign policy, Americorps, One America, (covered above) and the education piece.

I just completed a hour long meeting with Lynn. It went well. We agreed that March 15 is the date that makes most sense for change. There was no agreement regarding office space; just a recognition that she wants to

Regarding the announcement of this change, I think it would be good for me to begin making calls on this today to key constituents that will be impacted by this change. Lynn indicated she already has had several conversations that have resulted in some "alarm." Have you or John received any calls? I have not.

Please review the draft talking points that Lynn and I discussed below. I think it is important that we all have agreement on how we talk about this change. You may want to share them with her for comment once you have made any changes. In the end, we all need to be talking of the same page. I hope this is helpful.

-Lynn Cutler will become a Senior Advisor to the Vice President for Special Projects and to the COS for Native American Affairs (Indian Affairs? Tribal Government Affairs?).

-This is a significant step forward for Tribal Government leaders and Native Americans. Lynn will work directly with the COS office to ensure that the concerns of Indian Country are addressed at the highest levels of

TEXT:

You'll recall Fred is on travel to the National Indian Gaming Association today and I took this morning's call from the Pentagon.

Asst. Secretary Charlie Kragen called and reported that they are expecting to deploy only 2,000 troops from eight states. He questioned whether the WH would want to raise the visibility of such a small deployment.

I reiterated that one of the arguments for continuing to do a call was the fact that so many governors have been on talk shows and this would provide an excellent opportunity to educate them on the specificity of the mission. He agreed on that point but still reiterated his thought of us raising the visibility of this mission more when we're talking about 2,000 people.

I just sense some mixed signals from NSC and DoD on this. It appears that NSC is fully supportive; DoD seems a bit more hesitant, but they could get there. I'm waiting for Asst. Secretary Kragen to call again this afternoon with more details. Pls. advise on how you wish me to proceed.

SRI LANKA ELECTIONS

December 22, 1999

(NOTE: we want to avoid too much praise for Sri Lankan democracy until we have a better idea of how much fraud there might have been; the jury is still out. But Kumaratunga has been saying all the right things about pulling the nation together and working for peace.)

U.S. reaction to elections in Sri Lanka?

- We were heartened by the high turnout (73 percent) and obvious commitment of the Sri Lankan people to the electoral process in the wake of the tragic bombings at election rallies over the weekend.
- We congratulate President Kumaratunga (coo-mar-uh-toonga) on her victory and welcome her message of reconciliation. We hope she can use her new term to negotiate an end to the war that has killed 60,000 Sri Lankans over the past 16 years.

the Internet Gambling Prohibition Act

Mary: Is the activity described in the first paragraph on page 2 ALWAYS prohibited? For example, would it be prohibited if the subscribers to a closed loop satellite system were entirely intrastate (but nonetheless used the telephone for wagering within the State)? I'm not sure that would solve the problem for the KY horseracing industry, but it's worth asking.

If there is any gray area there, I would urge that we soften that paragraph. While I do not argue with DOJ's legal analysis, we need to recognize that this letter will not sit well with Governor Patton.

TEXT:

I just heard through the grapevine and outside source that we had selected Tad Johnson to nominate for Chair of the Gaming Commission. While I'm thrilled at the prospect, it is really hard for me to be told about this from the outside. This job of dealing with Indian Country is tough enough--looking foolish doesn't help.

Can you confirm for me if, in fact, you were able to talk him into it? It would be wonderful.

This is touchy for a number of reasons. We do have someone selected to Chair the Commission--but you need to get clearance from Bob Nash on this.

I'm not sure that talking to the counsel at the Commission is the right approach. I would suggest that you call David Hays, Counsel to the Secretary at Interior, and seek his guidance on this.

The fact is that the two remaining commissioners have apparently been acting totally without authority and creating a great deal of trouble. That's probably why you have a press call.

So--White House--Nash

Kevin Gover, the new Asst., Secy for Interior, head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs was finally confirmed last night. Is there any way that the VP can swear him in this week in the Indian Treaty Room? We could have the groups there, and the people in the administration who work on these issues and get alot of good out of it. Next week is the annual meeting of the National Congress of American Indians, and it would give us a great boost in Indian Country to be able to say there that the VP swore him in. This could be a very good hit easily done (as opposed to going somewhere) for Indian Country.

This is tough, but I really think Duncan Brown is way out of line in suggesting that the Chairwoman or her people would insult the President by holding protests. I talked to Beverly awhile ago, and she has no intention of allowing any problem. I'd like you to reflect that back to him, and to indicate that she is meeting with BIA on Tuesday to discuss the issue of the Island. On behalf of the tribe, I resent his comments.

MEMORANDUM FOR JOHN PODESTA

From: Lynn Cutler
Re: Job Description

I talked to Ron Klain, and he had a different vision of what I would do in the VP shop. He would like me to take a lead role for them with women, other critical constituencies, and to help with Tipper. I would be a Senior Adviser to the Vice-President.

Since I have such a strong relationship with the mayors and county officials, I would like to propose the following for my role in POTUS staff.

With the new initiatives in livability and economic investment in distressed communities, along with the youth employment initiatives that will concentrate in the cities, as well as the initiatives that we need to get re-funded, i.e., enterprise zones, economic communities, transportation for welfare to work, all of the crime programs, there is a great need to have the full involvement of the mayors and the large urban county executives. They are very excited about these programs and will help to make the President's vision a reality.

The current structure of IGA leaves little time for serious work on these policy matters with our constituents. They get invited to events, get phone calls and faxes, and then often have to go to others outside for in-depth help on the policy and strategy side.

I would like to propose that I be made Assistant to the President for Community Enhancement. In that position, I would do in-depth briefings for the affected local officials, help them to help us by greater consultation, coordinate more closely with the policy shops, the Community Empowerment Board, and CEQ, so that the impact of proposed programs is better known to them, and generally do what I have done in Indian country--help make the proposals a reality. In effect, this office would be a bridge between the policy shops and the elected officials, with the end goal being the enactment of the President's and Vice President's agenda.

IGA would continue to do the casework that the mayors and others require, and to put people into the events with President and VP as is appropriate, and service them as has always been done in terms of their meetings.

I would coordinate closely with whomever takes over these constituencies in IGA.

I would no longer do Indian country. It hurts my heart, but I believe that we've made such strides and that Raynell Morris and Mickey could do well by my Indian friends.

I understand that this is thinking outside of the box, but as we discussed, it is very important to me that I be at the Assistant level. The money is not the issue--in fact, I would want to see my assistant, Mona Mohib, given a raise out of the difference between my deputy salary and that of assistant.

I hope that you feel this can work--I want very much to be able to help the President and the Vice-President to make this agenda real in our communities. It is a wonderful and far reaching plan, and could change the face of America for our children and my grandchildren. I know the power of the local elected officials to help to make that happen, but it requires a different structure than we now have.

I assume that will not vet and POTUS can't talk about that part. Can you find out for me? I just don't know. The package involves the community college setting up a degree in computer skills for four reservations, using distance learning. Gateway does the equipment and Microsoft does the curriculum design in coordination with college. This is the first I knew about Microsoft. I think we can announce the Gateway piece as working with Oglala Lakota college to begin a training program for Indian students in data processing and computer programming, etc. and not talk about Microsoft, if that's how we have to do it. It would all be a year away anyway.

Shannon, as an intern you would not know this, but references to political intent of tribes who come to see us are totally inappropriate. Whether or not we can be of assistance to tribes has absolutely nothing to do with their voting practises or intentions.

In terms of substance, on the IAIA, it is highly unlikely that the White House will send a letter. People here reluctantly included the funding, unfortunately, in the first place. We are facing cuts in health, housing, and very basic rights. I cannot advocate for this over those. The First Lady's office was involved in the funding request, and they should go there.

Gourd's requests basically belong at HUD. He should see Jackie Johnson there in terms of housing. They should go to SBA for small business information--Betsey Meyers' shop.

As of now, the New Markets Initiative has not been enacted--we haven't even sent up the legislation. HUD can tell them how this will work. Please call and tell him this.

I actually had several calls yesterday on this from Chris McNeil, who represents many of the Alaskan natives, and is from there himself. We did a little investigation, and she is not going to a village, but is having the meeting at the home of a major Republican who is opposed to the subsistence issue. We called Susie George, and talked to Kitty Bartels, who said that the Secys. visit is not ever polititical, and pretty much refused to reconsider. I think the Indian issue is not on their screen. Anything Kris or others can do to help would be great. I got some paper from Chris on this late last evening.

There is a growing problem with the Santee Sioux of Nebraska, who would have to be part of the group that Kerrey brings in. The Tribe opened a casino in Nebraska in 1996 with class three gaming which is not permitted in the State of Nebraska. The law governing gaming is clear that no operation on a reservation can exceed the gaming permitted by the state for everyone, unless there is a specific compact worked out with the state.

On October 27th, US Attorney for Nebraska, Tom Monaghan, garnished all tribal accounts, including federal grant and contract funds, to satisfy a $6000 a day penalty imposed on the Santee by the US District court. The penalty was imposed because the tribe would not close the illegal portion of the casino. The tribe has ignored the fines, which are now over one million dollars, because the state won't talk to them. I have dealt with this tribe on this issue since Nelson was governor, and they don't have a legal leg to stand on. There is now a huge letter writing campaign from all over Indian country going on that is petitioning the President to intervene. I really don't think we should do this meeting until this is resolved. By the way, Sen. Kerrey knows all about this. I'm happy to call him if you would like.

I have made several requests for the VP to do larger Indian country venues, so that we can check the box. This was an opportunity to speak to over 350 tribal leaders, and came after we've turned them down three times this year for speeches. I find it hard to believe that anyone really cares about this constituency, which can make a difference in Arizona, New Mexico and other places--aside from the moral questions. I don't know what the other videos were, but I am convinced that given the number of African-American, Hispanic and other minority events we've done, this community doesn't count. I'm very disappointed, as I spend my life fighting for them and the President cares about them. I had hoped we'd have another President that did as well.

It would take twenty meetings to do what this one video could do---

Subject: Re: USDA FY2001 initiatives for Native Americans

Thanks! We've added an additional 2 million to our cross cuts. One thing I'm confused about is the information from the document "Strengthening the American Community...FY2001 Budget Native American Initiative" which states that for USDA "The budget includes $229 million (16 percent over 2000) for Agriculture Department programs serving Indian reservations." The information

I received from the USDA budget office shows a budget of $123,643 million for Native American Specific Programs for 2001 and the budget for "Other Programs that Benefit Native Americans" at $657,153 million. No one here knows where the $229 million figure came from. I guess I need to know what this document is and how I respond if I'm questioned about this when I visit the staff of, the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs this morning (Thursday) about this discrepancy.>> Mary_L._Smith@opd.eop.gov@inter2 02/09 3:10 PM >>>

Lynn,

I apologize for dropping the ball on this one, i thought we had talked about it. It is true that Tad Johnson will be nominated for the Chair of Gaming. I imagine he will only serve for a short period of time and that we will have to recess appoint him in August. My guess is that he will probably only serve until the end of the year.

He wrote on the margin that he would like to meet with her. I'm trying to avoid a whole bureaucratic deal to make it happen, and wondered if you could help.

Audrey and I are back from Bismarck, North Dakota. I thought that the panel presentation before the assembly of the American Indian Higher Education Consortium went very well.

The panel was Carrie Billy, executive director of the White House Initiative on Tribal Colleges (I have to add that into the Talking Points), Audrey Hutchinson, Dr. Lionel Bordeaux, president of Sinte Gleska Univ., and Dr. David Gipp, president of United Tribes Technical College, and one of the elected student leaders, and I were on the panel. (Carrie

After the panel, I drove Audrey to the Standing Rock Sioux Reservation (a little over one hour away - one way) and we had lunch with a tribal council member, David Archambault. I've know Dave for over 10 years, he used to be the president of Sitting Bull College. Thanks to Dave, Audrey and I also went and made a short presentation before the Standing Rock Sioux Tribal Council (plus chairman). Audrey came away from that drive and the panel with a very different understanding of the conditions in Indian country.

One thing that I have already heard buzzing around this office that is a result of the Bismarck trip is: Some PIR staff were surprised that the Indians made comments that even though Pres. Clinton's trip to Africa was great, why can't he come to his own backyard (Indian country) and see for himself what's going on.

I expect to be getting an official letter any day from the Navajo Nation as an official invitation to visit Navajoland.

And, I look forward to the USET meeting later today.

Let me know if you want to talk before that meeting.

Jack Battise, Sr., Elder Advisor. He serves as the tribe's ceremonial elder and was instrumental in bringing Indian dances back to the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation in 1963, 60 years after they were banned by missionaries.

Lawrence Sampson, vice-chairman, a military veteran

Rose Hook, secretary, (Mexican?)

Debbie Herrington, is married to Lt. Cmdr. John Herrington, the first astronaut who is an Indian tribal members (Chickasaw).

Some thoughts on their demand letter (or else, Lynn!):

1. You covered all of their concerns in the March 23rd meeting and you were very clear on what you could respond to and that many of their concerns had already been discussed but that no decision had been made yet (visit to Indian country).

2. Many of their thoughts are not original, to the PIR or to Indian country (I think that they just poach Indian country ideas and none of theirs are original, but, hey, i'm a cynic when it comes to these guys). How to express this non-originality to them w/out insulting and/or inciting them? Maybe this is where you use your network and knowledge of Indian country to show them these ideas have been expressed and you have been working on them.

3. Executive/congressional commission: I wonder what model they are thinking of here, maybe ask them for specifics on this idea. Their level of sophistication on the understanding of how WDC works (two party system and how congress has been attacking Indian country) is a major weakness. In their own way, they are undermining Indian country even further in their inclusion of congress. i would guess that they think that if the administration pairs up with congress then there would be an inherent check and balance - not true.

4. During the Monday night protest thing in Denver, Steve Newcomb came by and asked me how I thought the Monday 3-5 special tribal leaders meeting went. I told him fine for what it was. He asked me if i didn't think that there should have been tribal leaders present. I teased him and said that he's never happy with whatever's being done - he laughed himself about this.

5. How do you give them something w/out letting them feel and show that they have influence? Ask them to come up with more specifics and to name actual Indian people to the commission they are talking about.

Some questions:

Gov. Romer delivered this letter from them? What did Gov. Romer tell them on behalf of the administration?

Other:

Remember that the national AIM doesn't think that Morris is legitimate (or even Indian). In his meeting with you (1-2 on Monday March 23rd) he said that he was representing Confederated Chapter of AIM of Colorado. Maybe ask Morris to explain how the Colorado AIM works with the national AIM.

I received my own letter from the four people I met with--to say it was insulting in tone is to glorify it. I really don't know how best to follow up on the Morris letter as conveyed by Gov. Romer. Are we prepared to create the commission they want? I certainly don't recommend it. I don't think we want to let them be the "winners" on POTUS going to Indian country. I am working on a response--but welcome any help, ideas, etc. My response is due in one week or else.

TEXT:

I spoke to Rhonda Whiting this afternoon. She is interviewing Tuesday but has some time open between 12N - 2:30 and was wondering if you were available.

Also, in regards to the TANF negotiating process her tribe was having problems with (we put her in touch w/Bea Bowman): the gentleman they are having problems with, John Bushman, said they could meet with a "high-powered male official". John Monahan, in turn, told them that John Bushman makes all the final decisions regarding TANF agreements.

The whole process is what concerns them. The process was set up without consultation with the tribes and does not have an appeal mechanism built in. They are cc'ing us on a letter they are sending out regarding this issue.

Also, Loren has given us some names of prominent Native American artists and NA art collectors for consideration.

Do you have any ideas about this board? We really would like to have your input.

Thanks.

Lynn is right....this is a big deal! I am now hearing from officials at Jemez that invitations to attend the ceremony are being sent to Secretary Babbitt and Assistant Secretary Gover. I did not get confirmation that one was being sent to Mrs. Clinton, and I hope the one from Ms. Avent is from the tribe. I can tell you once the Jemez people figure out that she is in the area....they will ask her to come. Jemez request at this point is for us to show them support.. On the 19th the remains will arrive and then transport will start to Pecos with a public ceremony on the May 22 starting at 10:00am. However, this is a big undertaking...it may start later. At the end of the public ceremony...there will be a feast at the site. There are many religious things going on not open to the public or invited public involving during this time Jemez. To show the respect and support a date change for Acoma is really worth considering even though it will mean changes to her schedule again. It is the right thing to do.

Could you take a look at this draft to Tex Hall, and let me know if its ok.

He passed along a book as well as a proclamation and prayer in support of the President's policy in Kosovo. The President will sign this. Thanks.

It was a pleasure to welcome you and other Tribal leaders to the White House earlier this month. I am glad we had the opportunity to discuss so many of the issues important to the Native American community. I look forward to reading Alfred Bowers description of the Okipa ceremony we recreated in the Roosevelt Room -- thanks so much for sharing his book with me.

I particularly enjoyed our conversation about the developments in Kosovo, and I appreciate your passing along a copy of the proclamation adopted by the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain Tribal Leaders. As you know, this region of Europe has been at the center of a world war twice before. But we needn't look beyond America's borders to understand the importance of ending this kind of tragedy before more lives are lost or uprooted. As you are well aware, the terror of ethnic cleansing has touched the Native American community in a very painful and personal way. That is why I was so profoundly moved by your support for NATO's mission.

As you know, I believe that restoring peace to the Balkans is a moral imperative and vitally important to our national interests. If we are to build a brighter future for the 21st century, we must heed the lessons of our history and continue working to defend our ideals and protect our interests. As we pursue these vital endeavors, I'm glad to know that I can count on your help.

Hillary and I are always happy to hear from you, and we send our best.

Lynn-

Thank you for the guidance. Does this work?

It was a pleasure to welcome you and 18 other Tribal leaders to the White House earlier this month. I am glad we had the opportunity to discuss some of the serious challenges facing the Indian Tribes of the Northern High Plains, and I have asked my staff to carefully examine the issues you raised. You can be assured that we will work in the weeks ahead to address the educational, economic, health care, and various other concerns of your community.

I particularly enjoyed our conversation about the developments in Kosovo, and I want to thank you for the proclamation, the copy of Alfred Bowers book, and the beautiful written prayer. This region of Europe has been at the center of a world war twice before. But as you so eloquently noted, we needn't look beyond the borders of the United States to understand the importance of ending this kind of tragedy before more lives are lost or uprooted.

Early in our history, the terror of ethnic cleansing touched the Native American community in a very painful and personal way. But today, we stand united against these heinous crimes and in defense of our common ideals and interests. I was profoundly moved by your commitment to this important cause -- your support means more than you can know.

Hillary and I are always happy to hear from you, and we send our best.

I actually had several calls yesterday on this from Chris McNeil, who represents many of the Alaskan natives, and is from there himself. We did a little investigation, and she is not going to a village, but is having the meeting at the home of a major Republican who is opposed to the subsistence issue. We called Susie George, and talked to Kitty Bartels, who said that the Secys. visit is not ever political, and pretty much refused to reconsider. I think the Indian issue is not on their screen. Anything Kris or others can do to help would be great. I got some paper from Chris on this late last evening.

Subject: Indian meeting video

I have made several requests for the VP to do larger Indian country venues, so that we can check the box. This was an opportunity to speak to over 350 tribal leaders, and came after we've turned them down three times this year for speeches. I find it hard to believe that anyone really cares about this constituency, which can make a difference in Arizona, New Mexico and other places--aside from the moral questions. I don't know what the other videos were, but I am convinced that given the number of African-American, Hispanic and other minority events we've done, this community doesn't count. I'm very disappointed, as I spend my life fighting for them and the President cares about them. I had hoped we'd have another President that did as well.

It would take twenty meetings to do what this one video could do---

what do you think of this draft?

Mr. Joseph Murray, Jr.
President
Elim Native Corporation
Box 39010
Elim, Alaska 99739

Dear Mr. Murray:

It is with great pride that I signed HR 3090 into law, which returns 50,000 acres of important land to the people of Elim. I commend the will and resolve you and the people of Elim have exhibited for the many years while pursuing the return of this land.

This bill addresses an injustice that should have been corrected many years ago. I am honored to be able to do my part in returning these lands to those who have subsisted on them for generations and generations. I appreciate your commitment to work collaboratively with the Department of Interior to pass this important bill.

This bill continues the Administration's policy to support Alaska Native self-determination. The Administration will continue to work with Alaska Natives advance Native self-governance, protect subsistence uses and implement the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act. Again, congratulations on the return of your land.

Sincerely,

Subject: Re: indian country nominees

unfortunately, most of the heroes that I know about in Indian country have done mostly Indian things and not a larger scope--I've given this alot of thought--many others are too young--may have some good candidates for citizen medals. It's important that there is a wide symbolism that all of Indian country can rejoice in--which is why I brought up Thorpe because this is an anniversary year and alot of discussion about him--
