Ms. Peters --

These are some extremely old dispatches that were sent out to various locales. We never got them back.

These are so old -- should they be OBEs?

Could you send the package back to me with whatever instructions are necessary?

Thanks,

Monsieur le Président,

Clu Bill,

J'ai été très sensible à l'aimable message de félicitations que vous avez bien voulu me faire parvenir à l'occasion de la Fête nationale française, et je tenais à vous en remercier très vivement.

Comme vous le soulignez fort justement, cette commémoration nous rappelle les fondements de l'amitié qui unit nos deux peuples, et qui leur a permis de coopérer de manière continue depuis plus de deux siècles en faveur du développement de la liberté, de la sécurité et du progrès économique partout dans le monde. Je forme des vœux pour que la collaboration entre la France et les Etats-Unis d'Amérique se révèle aussi fructueuse dans l'avenir qu'elle l'a été par le passé.

Dans l'attente d'une nouvelle occasion de nous revoir, et d'affermir encore le partenariat qu'entretiennent nos deux pays face aux défis de cette fin de siècle, je vous prie d'agréer, Monsieur le Président, l'expression de ma très haute considération.

Bien à vous et à votre famille

Monsieur le Président, Cher Bill,

J'ai été très sensible à l'aimable message de félicitations que vous avez bien voulu me faire parvenir à l'occasion de la Fête Nationale Française, et je tenais à vous en remercier très vivement.

Comme vous le soulignez fort justement, cette commémoration nous rappelle les fondements de l'amitié qui unit nos deux peuples, et qui leur a permis de coopérer de manière continue depuis plus de deux siècles en faveur du développement de la liberté, de la sécurité et du progrès économique partout dans le monde. Je forme des vœux pour que la collaboration entre la France et les Etats-Unis d'Amérique se révèle aussi fructueuse dans l'avenir qu'elle l'a été par le passé.

Dans l'attente d'une nouvelle occasion de nous revoir, et d'affermir encore le partenariat qu'entretiennent nos deux pays face aux défis de cette fin de siècle, je vous prie d'agréer, Monsieur le Président, l'expression de ma très haute considération. Bien amicalement vôtre.

Jacques CHIRAC

Mr President, Dear Bill,

I want to express my most sincere thanks for the warm message of congratulations that you so kindly extended to me on the occasion of the French national holiday ; I was very touched.

As you so aptly stressed, this commemoration serves to remind us of the foundations of the friendship that binds our two peoples, a friendship that has enabled us to cooperate continuously for more than two centuries in fostering liberty, security and economic progress throughout the world. It is my hope that the collaboration between France and the United States of America remains as fruitful in the future as it has been in the past.

Awaiting a new opportunity to see you and to reaffirm the partnership between our two countries in the face of the challenges confronting us at the end of this century, please accept, Mr. President, the expression of my highest consideration.

Cordially,

Jacques CHIRAC.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: ANTHONY LAKE

SUBJECT: Message Congratulating President Chirac on Release of French Pilots

Purpose

To congratulate Chirac on the release of the two pilots who were being held by the Bosnian Serbs.

Background

The two French pilots, who had been held since August, were released December 12 after weeks of mounting pressure by the French Government. We think Milosevic was instrumental in bringing pressure on the Bosnian Serbs to release the pilots.

RECOMMENDATION

That you approve the message to Chirac at Tab A.

MEMORANDUM FOR ANTHONY LAKE

THROUGH: ALEXANDER VERSHBOW N
FROM: MARY ANN PETERS MHP
SUBJECT: Presidential Message to Chirac on Release of Pilots

As you know, the two French pilots, who had been held by the Bosnian Serbs, were released today. We have told the press that the President plans to congratulate President Chirac on their safe return. The draft message makes two points: that the Bosnian Serbs must be held to international standards of behavior, and that Milosevic was instrumental in bringing about the release.

Concurrence by: John Feeley JF

RECOMMENDATION

That you approve the memorandum to the President at Tab I.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: ANTHONY LAKE lake

SUBJECT: Proposed Response to President Jacques Chirac
Regarding France's Contribution to the Korean
Energy Peninsula Energy Organization

98 FEB 1 AIO:12

Purpose

To respond to President Jacques Chirac regarding France's decision to join and contribute to the Korean Peninsula Energy Development Organization (KEDO).

Background

President Chirac wrote you in December to inform you that France has decided to join the Korea Peninsula Energy Development Organization (KEDO) and make a $2 million bilateral contribution. We understand from our diplomatic contacts that the French intend to earmark their bilateral contribution to spent fuel storage and shipping. President Chirac also pledges that France will continue to work towards a substantial, multiyear EU contribution to KEDO.

We recommend that you respond to President Chirac by expressing appreciation for France's decision to join and contribute to KEDO and for its continued support for a sustained EU role in KEDO. In particular, your proposed response reassures Chirac that the U.S. supports an EU role in KEDO decision-making and contracts comparable to its commitment to a substantial, multiyear contribution. We are currently working with the Europeans (in close coordination with the ROK and Japan) to work out arrangements to include the EU on the KEDO Executive Board and to allocate a portion of the LWR project to European contractors.

RECOMMENDATION

That you sign the proposed response to President Chirac at Tab A.

Dear Mr. Lake,

Please find herewith a message to President Clinton from the President of the Republic of France, Mr. Jacques Chirac, that I was asked to forward to him.

I would be grateful if you would be so kind to convey this message to the President.

Monsieur le Président,

Cher Bill,

J'ai bien reçu le message de condoléances que m'avez adressé au lendemain du décès du Président François Mitterrand.

Je vous en remercie bien vivement. J'ai été très touché par les termes de votre message. Il s'agit en effet d'une très lourde perte pour la France. J'ai été très heureux d'accueillir le Vice-Président Albert Gore à l'occasion des cérémonies organisées à Paris pour honorer la mémoire du Président Mitterrand.

En vous remerciant de nouveau, et en vous redisant le plaisir que j'aurai à vous retrouver prochainement à Washington à l'occasion de ma visite d'Etat, je vous prie de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'assurance de ma très haute considération.

Bien amicalement,

Jacques Chirac

UNOFFICIAL TRANSLATION

Dear Mr. President,

Dear Bill,

Now that I am back in Paris, after stopping in Chicago where, despite the harsh weather, I was able to pursue the itinerary of my State visit to your country under optimum conditions, I want to take this opportunity to express my very sincere thanks for the wonderful welcome that you and Hillary extended to me and Bernadette during our day with you in Washington.

The moving ceremony on the White House lawn, our very substantial discussions and finally, the splendid, gracious dinner that you hosted in our honor were the highlights of a particularly satisfying visit. Indeed, I have the feeling that it enhanced understanding of France and its messages in the United States while giving your economic decision-makers a better grasp of our country's assets.

I also believe that the quality of the personal relationship that has developed between us in recent months is an extremely precious element that will contribute to strengthening the friendship between our two nations.

Allow me to reiterating the pleasure and importance of this visit to the United States for Bernadette and myself. Please accept, Mr. President, this expression of my highest regards, and extend to Hillary, dear Bill, my very cordial greetings.

Monsieur le Président,

Cher Bill,

Dès mon retour à Paris, après l'étape de Chicago où j'ai pu, malgré les conditions climatiques sévères, poursuivre dans les meilleures conditions le programme de ma visite d'Etat dans votre pays, je tenais à vous exprimer mes plus vifs remerciements pour la qualité de l'accueil qu'Hillary et vous-même avez bien voulu réserver à Bernadette et à moi-même au cours de cette journée passée à Washington à vos côtés.

L'accueil émouvant sur la pelouse de la Maison Blanche, les entretiens très denses que nous avons pu avoir et enfin le dîner brillant et sympathique que vous nous avez offert ont constitué autant de moments forts et réussis qui m'amènent à vous redire toute ma satisfaction au terme de cette visite dans votre pays.

J'ai le sentiment qu'elle aura contribué à mieux faire connaître la France et ses messages aux Etats Unis, mais également à mieux faire appréhender par vos décideurs économiques les atouts dont la France est dotée.

Je crois aussi que la qualité des relations personnelles qui s'est instaurée au cours de ces derniers mois entre nous, est un élément extrêmement précieux dans le renforcement de l'amitié entre nos deux pays.

En vous redisant tout le plaisir et l'intérêt que Bernadette et moi-même retirons de cette visite aux Etats Unis, je vous prie de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'assurance de ma très haute considération, et de partager avec Hillary, Cher Bill, ma très cordiale amitié.

The President of the Republic

Paris, February 7, 1996

Mr. President [Handwritten: "Dear Bill"]:

Immediately upon my return to Paris, after stopping over in Chicago, where, despite the harsh weather, I was able to pursue the schedule of my State visit to your country under optimum conditions, I wanted to express my sincere thanks for the warm welcome that you and Hillary extended to Bernadette and me during our day with you in Washington.

The moving welcoming ceremony on the White House lawn, our very substantial discussions, and lastly, the splendid and gracious dinner you hosted in our honor, were all memorable moments for which I again, now that my visit to your country has ended, express to you my deep satisfaction.

His Excellency
William J. Clinton,
President of the United States of America.

I feel that my trip will have helped not only to increase the understanding of France and the messages it conveys in the United States, but also to give your economic decision-makers a better grasp of what my country has to offer.

I also believe that the quality of the personal relationship that has developed between us in recent months is an extremely valuable factor that will help strengthen the friendship between our two countries.

Please accept, Mr. President, together with the renewed expression of the pleasure and the interest Bernadette and I derived from our visit to the United States, the assurances of my very high consideration [Handwritten: "and please convey, dear Bill, my fond regards to Hillary"].

[Signature]

Jacques Chirac

Monsieur le Président,

Che Bill,

Dès mon retour à Paris, après l'étape de Chicago où j'ai pu, malgré les conditions climatiques sévères, poursuivre dans les meilleures conditions le programme de ma visite d'Etat dans votre pays, je tenais à vous exprimer mes plus vifs remerciements pour la qualité de l'accueil qu'Hillary et vous-même avez bien voulu réserver à Bernadette et à moi-même au cours de cette journée passée à Washington à vos côtés.

L'accueil émouvant sur la pelouse de la Maison Blanche, les entretiens très denses que nous avons pu avoir et enfin le dîner brillant et sympathique que vous nous avez offert ont constitué autant de moments forts et réussis qui m'amènent à vous redire toute ma satisfaction au terme de cette visite dans votre pays.

J'ai le sentiment qu'elle aura contribué à mieux faire connaître la France et ses messages aux Etats-Unis, mais également à mieux faire appréhender par vos décideurs économiques les atouts dont la France est dotée.

Je crois aussi que la qualité des relations personnelles qui s'est instaurée au cours de ces derniers mois entre nous, est un élément extrêmement précieux dans le renforcement de l'amitié entre nos deux pays.

En vous redisant tout le plaisir et l'intérêt que Bernadette et moi-même retirons de cette visite aux Etats-Unis, je vous prie de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'assurance de ma très haute considération,

*et de partager avec Hillary,
Che Bill, ma très cordiale amitié.*

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

May 6, 1996

Dear Jacques:

Thank you for sharing your thoughts on setting our objectives and preparing for discussions at this year's Summit. You raise important issues that warrant careful consideration in the two months that remain before Lyon.

Our fundamental aim should be to exercise leadership so as to extend the benefits of globalization to all people in our own countries and throughout the world. We must reject explicitly the arguments of those who would turn back the clock to a past that cannot meet our peoples' needs. We must also, however, act together and with others to meet the new challenges posed by globalization. In pursuit of these ends, we should continue to implement through concrete action the proposals for institutional reform and cooperation upon which we agreed at Halifax.

At the same time, we cannot lose sight of the fact that globalization is neither the answer to all of our difficulties nor the source of all of our problems. Sound, growth-oriented domestic economic policies are both indispensable to our citizens' well-being and the foundation for stable global economic growth.

Thus, for example, the best route to fostering exchange rate stability is to focus on the economic fundamentals and policies of our countries. We do not believe that the current exchange rate system needs reinventing, although we should continue to seek closer cooperation to manage risks in the international financial system.

Similarly, as our ministers concluded at the very useful G-7 Employment Conference which you sponsored at Lille, employment growth requires sound domestic policies, both microeconomic and macroeconomic. I hope that at Lyon we will have the opportunity to review the message that emerged from Lille.

Your call for definition of a new partnership for development is very timely. This partnership should be based on a commitment to integrate more effectively into the global economic system those countries that are being left behind. Indeed, the great success

THROUGH: ANTHONY LAKE ✓
 LAURA D'ANDREA TYSON LD

FROM: DANIEL K. TARULLO DKT

SUBJECT: G-7: Response to President Chirac's Themes Letter

Purpose

To respond to President Chirac's letter on G-7 Summit themes.

Background

President Chirac proposes that the Summit focus on making globalization benefit every country. He urges that the G-7 give globalization a purpose, steering it to benefit the greatest number while safeguarding against marginalization of the least developed countries. He expands this theme for five areas: economic cooperation, employment, development, countries in transition and global issues (terrorism, crime and environment).

The proposed response from you: (1) accepts globalization as a Summit theme, (2) counters Chirac's emphasis on the disadvantage of globalization, (3) points out the importance of growth-oriented domestic policies for achieving full employment and exchange rate stability and (4) endorses Chirac's call for further cooperation to deal with global challenges such as terrorism and environmental degradation.

We suggest that your letter signal that the United States intends to propose a G-7 initiative combating commercial bribery. Dan Tarullo will send a follow-up letter to his counterparts proposing the specifics of this initiative and providing more detailed comment on France's Summit themes.

RECOMMENDATION

That you sign the letter to President Chirac at Tab A.

Mr President,

In three months' time, we are due to meet together in Lyon for the annual Summit of the Major Industrialized Countries.

With that in mind, I would like to convey to you some ideas which could help to guide our discussions and serve as our common objectives.

I believe our thinking and the resulting lines of action ought to start from the powerful, and contrasting, impact of the extraordinary process of globalization which we are currently experiencing.

Together, we must work to tackle the challenges raised by globalization.

I would be happy to hear what you think of this approach.

Pleased be assured, Mr President, of my high consideration.

Monsieur le Président,

Cher Bill,

Dans trois mois, nous nous retrouverons à Lyon pour le Sommet annuel des Pays les plus Industrialisés.

Dans cette perspective, je souhaite vous faire part des idées qui pourraient orienter nos travaux et constituer nos objectifs communs.

Il me semble que notre réflexion et les lignes d'action qui en découlent doivent partir d'une analyse des effets, puissants et contrastés, de l'extraordinaire processus de mondialisation que nous vivons.

Ensemble nous devons relever les défis de la mondialisation.

Je serais heureux de connaître votre sentiment sur cette approche.

A CHALLENGE AND AN AMBITION FOR THE G7 :
« MAKING A SUCCESS OF GLOBALIZATION FOR THE BENEFIT OF ALL »

Globalization is without question the outstanding feature of the late 20th century.

The process has already been going on for some time. But its pace has quickened under the fourfold impact of the end of the cold war, the unification of the world capital market, the emergence of new economic and demographic powers, and, finally, technological progress, information technology in particular. This is a doubly global phenomenon : its geographical scope is increasingly, albeit unevenly, taking on a planetary dimension ; and it is affecting every aspect of economic and social life.

Globalization is, unquestionably, a factor contributing to growth, progress and hope. Over the past thirty years, world trade has grown to an unprecedented degree. It now concerns almost every country in the world. The pace of economic integration has accelerated, helped by the free movement of capital. We have witnessed the emergence of a worldwide market, and of worldwide competition. This process has also been driven by the generalized movement of people, ideas and information. All in all, globalization has considerably boosted the wealth and prosperity of most countries.

But globalization is not without its downside and difficulties. It is exacerbating competition, forcing States, firms and individuals to adapt continuously. In the poor countries, it is aggravating inequality ; it is accentuating the risks of marginalizing certain parts of the world. In our countries, it is imposing rapid, tough restructuring, whose effects are aggravating the problems of employment. Its impact on individuals lies at the heart of the crisis of confidence in our societies, where nobody can now feel safe from restructuring, unemployment or job insecurity.

It also goes hand in hand with greater instability in the financial markets. On several occasions in recent years we have experienced rate parities diverging significantly from the levels justified by economic fundamentals. On several occasions, also, sudden large-scale capital movements have been the cause of major shocks to the economies of certain countries, with negative effects on trade, investment and growth.

We must not allow these phenomena to come together in such a way as to hinder the adaptation of our economies and the opening up of our markets, and thus pose a threat to our prosperity. A more stable environment would help to restore confidence and so stimulate growth.

Since its creation 20 years ago, the G7 has made a decisive contribution to the progress of globalization. It must therefore assume special responsibility in ensuring that this process fully responds to the hopes it has aroused.

The task now before the G7 is to give globalization a purpose.

Globalization will be acceptable only if it is seen to serve people ; if it is perceived to be beneficial by the greatest number ; if we can succeed in diminishing the risk of excluding individuals or sections of society, and of marginalizing certain nations or regions of the world.

It is therefore our responsibility to guide the process of globalization as judiciously, by instituting safeguards, as we have begun to do. Further progress must be achieved through the adoption of fair rules, their extension to new players, and the capacity to manage crises of varying scale and nature.

We will thus be able to overcome the negative effects of globalization without undermining its positive effects, namely ; price stability ; growth in trade and capital flows ; the spread of technological innovation ; rapid growth of skilled jobs ; the opening of major demographic powers to world trade ; and helping today's insolvent countries to accede to the consumer society.

Our responsibilities are both collective and shared : they must concern the G7 as such, and also the major international organizations to which almost all of the world's nations belong, namely the United Nations Organization, the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the World Trade Organization.

I. STRENGTHENING ECONOMIC AND MONETARY COORDINATION BETWEEN THE G7.

In keeping with its original mission, the G7 has developed its role of economic and financial coordination. It has come to be an irreplaceable forum for exchanges of views, and the source of much of the impetus given to the major multilateral institutions.

Thanks to it, the crises experienced by the world economy over the past twenty years have been managed more successfully than between the world wars. And yet, in spite of the far-reaching transformations which have occurred since its inception, it has not succeeded in « reinventing » an international monetary system adapted to the new circumstances.

In the context of a globalized economy and growing integration between the world's major regions, it is the responsibility of the G7 to create the conditions for a more harmonious development of trade, by promoting stable, predictable currency parities. For we know that sizeable and prolonged exchange-rate distortions are detrimental to the development of world trade, and hence to growth.

The past and recent successes of the G7, such as the Plaza and the Louvre accords, and the orderly reversal of parities in 1995, are evidence that concerted action is possible in this sphere. The question before us today concerns the future of this cooperation, which expanding capital flows are making both more necessary, and more difficult. Needless to say, this is not a case of questioning the irreplaceable role of the markets. But there is room for improvements in the functioning of the international monetary system by :

- ♦ strengthening our economic policy coordination and exchange-rate cooperation ;

- ♦ enhancing supervision of the global financial markets through the development of prudential safeguards ;

- ♦ finally, consolidating international financial stability by reinforcing the means at the disposal of the IMF (quota increases, and increasing the amounts available under the General Agreements to Borrow).

2. DEVELOPING A CONCERTED APPROACH TO EMPLOYMENT PROBLEMS.

Globalization of the economy has unquestionably helped to raise the living standards of our people. Yet how can we fail to recognize the crisis of confidence in our societies, largely fueled by the deteriorating jobs situation, in the form of high levels of unemployment, increasing insecurity, and social exclusion ? Some people hold globalization directly responsible for the jobs crisis ; it is rarely perceived as a message of hope, despite its benefits.

It is therefore the responsibility of the G7 to devise more effective policies to stimulate growth and employment. We must find ways to generate jobs-rich growth from which everyone, and especially low-skilled workers, can benefit. We must identify guarantees needed to cope with phenomena of rising job insecurity and social exclusion. Those are the aims of the Ministerial Conference on Employment meeting in Lille on April 1 and 2, whose conclusions will make a useful and important contribution to our proceedings in Lyon.

3. ESTABLISHING A NEW PARTNERSHIP FOR DEVELOPMENT : AN AMBITION FOR THE 21st CENTURY.

Globalization has enabled a number of countries deeply engaged in international trade to emerge from under-development. However, it has accentuated the sidelining of those countries that have not succeeded in keeping up with the ever faster pace of adjustment imposed on them by competition.

The ambition of the G7 must therefore be to define a new partnership with the less developed countries and the major multilateral institutions in charge of development to ensure that globalization benefits everyone.

This commitment is not merely a basic duty of international solidarity. It is in our own enlightened self-interest, and represents the best means to avoid the crises and conflicts that arise from poverty, mass emigration and damage to the environment.

Shouldering our responsibilities entails :

- ♦ enhancing the effectiveness of our official development aid, notably by concentrating it on the poorest countries ;

- ♦ continuing to provide substantial, appropriate financial assistance, notwithstanding the fiscal problems we all face, through the national and multilateral instruments (replenishment of the World Bank IDA ; placing the International Monetary Fund's Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility on a permanent basis ; debt treatment) ;

- ♦ giving fresh impetus to reform of the major international institutions in charge of development, to improve their effectiveness and coordination.

That is why it is desirable, on the occasion of the Lyon Summit, for our group to discuss these issues with the Heads of the United Nations Organization, the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank and the World Trade Organization.

4. SUCCESSFULLY INTEGRATING THE COUNTRIES IN TRANSITION.

The end of the cold war has substantially speeded the process of globalization by creating an opportunity for the former socialist economies to integrate into the world economy.

The former Soviet-bloc countries, starting with Russia, have embarked on a course of far-reaching political and economic reforms. The transition to a market economy has already scored some important successes. It must be continued with determination.

It is both the responsibility and in the interest of the G7 to contribute to the success of the process, for it is a guarantee of greater stability, security and prosperity. That is why it is important to keep on providing appropriate aid to Russia and the other countries in transition, in order to accompany them in their transformation process. These countries should in particular be allowed to participate fully in the International Monetary Fund's Special Drawing Rights system.

5. WORKING TOGETHER TO TACKLE THE MAJOR GLOBAL ISSUES.

By facilitating international communications, globalization has conferred a planetary dimension on negative phenomena such as terrorism, organized crime, illicit drug trafficking, AIDS and other major pandemics. Nowadays, no country can escape their devastating impact.

The G7 must therefore pursue its existing actions in these different areas. Because of their disastrous consequences on our societies, drug trafficking and organized crime call for a determined and long-term collective response on our part. Therefore, it would be desirable for us to decide in Lyon to establish new mechanisms of cooperation in order to fight this scourge.

Finally, we must show determination in pursuing efforts, in consultation with the relevant organizations, to establish strict rules, respected by all, to safeguard our environment and thus ensure fair competition throughout the world./

UN DEFI ET UNE AMBITION POUR LE G7 :

« REUSSIR LA MONDIALISATION

AU BENEFICE DE TOUS »

La mondialisation est incontestablement le fait majeur de la fin de ce siècle.

C'est un processus déjà ancien mais qui s'est accéléré sous le quadruple effet de la fin de la guerre froide, de l'unification du marché mondial des capitaux, de l'émergence de nouvelles puissances économiques et démographiques, enfin du progrès des technologies, notamment celles de l'information. Ce phénomène est doublement global : son champ géographique s'étend de façon croissante bien qu'inégale aux dimensions de la planète; il affecte tous les aspects de la vie économique et sociale.

La mondialisation est incontestablement un facteur de croissance, de progrès et d'espoir. Au cours des trente dernières années, le développement des échanges dans le monde a été sans précédent. Il concerne aujourd'hui la quasi totalité des pays du globe. L'intégration de nos économies s'est accélérée, favorisée par la libre circulation des capitaux. Nous avons assisté à l'émergence d'un marché et d'une concurrence à l'échelle mondiale. Ce processus s'est également appuyé sur la circulation généralisée des hommes, des idées et de l'information. Au total, la mondialisation a permis un accroissement considérable de la richesse et de la prospérité dans la plupart des pays.

Mais la mondialisation ne se fait pas sans heurt ni sans difficulté. Elle exacerbe la concurrence et oblige à une adaptation continue des Etats, des entreprises et des individus. Dans les pays pauvres, elle aggrave les inégalités; elle accentue les risques de marginalisation de certaines régions du monde. Dans nos pays, elle oblige à des restructurations rapides et donc douloureuses, dont les effets viennent aggraver les problèmes de l'emploi. Ses conséquences sur les individus sont au coeur de la crise de confiance de nos sociétés où plus personne ne se sent à l'abri des restructurations, du chômage ou de la précarité.

Elle s'accompagne également d'une instabilité croissante des marchés financiers. A plusieurs reprises, au cours des années récentes, nous avons constaté que les parités de change pouvaient s'écarter sensiblement des niveaux justifiés par les données économiques fondamentales. A plusieurs reprises également, des modifications brutales et de grande ampleur dans les mouvements de capitaux ont été à l'origine de chocs importants pour les différentes économies du monde avec des effets négatifs sur les échanges, l'investissement et la croissance.

Nous devons éviter que ces phénomènes, en se conjuguant, freinent l'adaptation de nos économies et l'ouverture de nos marchés, menaçant ainsi notre prospérité. Un environnement plus stable permettrait de rétablir la confiance et favoriserait ainsi la croissance.

Le G7 qui, depuis sa création il y a vingt ans, a contribué de manière décisive aux progrès de la mondialisation, doit exercer une responsabilité particulière pour que ce processus réponde pleinement aux espoirs qu'il suscite.

Il revient au G7 de donner à la mondialisation une finalité.

La mondialisation ne sera acceptée que si elle est mise au service de l'homme, si elle est perçue comme bénéfique par le plus grand nombre, si nous parvenons à réduire les risques d'exclusion d'individus ou de groupes sociaux dans nos pays et de marginalisation de certaines régions ou de certains Etats.

Notre responsabilité est donc de conduire au mieux le processus de mondialisation en établissant des garde-fous, comme nous avons commencé à le faire. L'adoption de règles du jeu équitables, leur extension progressive à de nouveaux acteurs, la capacité de gérer des crises d'ampleur et de nature diverses doivent être les éléments déterminants de nouveaux progrès.

Nous pourrions ainsi surmonter les effets négatifs de la mondialisation, sans en réduire les aspects positifs : stabilité des prix ; développement des échanges et des flux de capitaux ; diffusion de l'innovation technologique ; multiplication des emplois qualifiés ; ouverture au commerce international de grandes puissances démographiques et accès à la consommation de pays aujourd'hui non solvables.

Nos responsabilités sont à la fois collectives et partagées : elles doivent concerner le G7 en tant que tel et les grandes organisations internationales qui regroupent la quasi totalité des pays du monde : l'Organisation des Nations-Unies, le Fonds Monétaire International, la Banque Mondiale, l'Organisation Mondiale du Commerce.

1. RENFORCER LA COORDINATION ECONOMIQUE ET MONETAIRE DU G7

Conformément à sa vocation première, le G7 a développé son rôle de coordination économique et financière. Il s'est affirmé comme un lieu irremplaçable d'échanges de vues, d'où provient une grande partie des impulsions données aux grandes instances multilatérales.

C'est grâce à lui que, depuis vingt ans, les crises traversées par l'économie mondiale ont pu être mieux gérées qu'entre les deux guerres mondiales. Cependant, malgré les mutations majeures intervenues depuis sa création, il n'a pas su "réinventer" un système monétaire international adapté aux nouvelles données.

Dans le contexte d'une économie mondialisée et d'une intégration croissante au sein et entre les grandes régions du monde, sa responsabilité est d'assurer un développement plus harmonieux des échanges en favorisant la stabilité et la prévisibilité des parités de change. Nous savons en effet que des distorsions importantes et prolongées des taux de change sont préjudiciables au développement des échanges mondiaux et donc à la croissance.

Les succès passés et plus récents du G7 (accords du Plaza puis du Louvre, retournement ordonné des parités en 1995) témoignent de la possibilité d'une action concertée dans ce domaine. La question est aujourd'hui posée de l'avenir de cette coopération que le développement des mouvements de capitaux rend à la fois plus nécessaire et plus difficile. Naturellement, il ne s'agit pas de revenir sur le rôle irremplaçable des marchés. Mais il est possible de progresser vers un meilleur fonctionnement du système monétaire international :

- en renforçant la coordination de nos politiques économiques et notre coopération en matière de changes ;
- en améliorant la supervision des marchés de capitaux mondiaux grâce au développement des garde-fous prudentiels ;
- enfin, en consolidant la stabilité financière internationale grâce au renforcement des moyens d'action du F.M.I. (augmentation des quotes-parts, accroissement des montants disponibles au titre des Accords Généraux d'Emprunt).

2. DEVELOPPER UNE APPROCHE CONCERTEE DES PROBLEMES DE L'EMPLOI

Il est incontestable que la mondialisation de l'économie a contribué globalement à l'amélioration du niveau de vie de nos populations. Comment ne pas reconnaître toutefois la crise de confiance de nos sociétés, largement alimentée par la détérioration de la situation de l'emploi, sous la forme d'un chômage important, d'une précarité accrue, d'un phénomène d'exclusion? La mondialisation est parfois rendue directement responsable de la crise de l'emploi; elle est rarement perçue comme porteuse d'espoir malgré ses effets bénéfiques.

La responsabilité du G7 est donc de rendre plus efficaces les politiques visant à soutenir la croissance et l'emploi. Il nous faut trouver les voies d'une croissance riche en création d'emplois et qui bénéficie à tous, notamment aux travailleurs non qualifiés. Il nous faut identifier les garanties nécessaires pour faire face aux phénomènes de précarisation et d'exclusion. Tels sont les objectifs de la Conférence ministérielle sur l'Emploi qui se réunit à Lille les 1er et 2 avril et dont les conclusions seront utiles et importantes pour nos travaux de Lyon.

3. METTRE EN OEUVRE UN NOUVEAU PARTENARIAT POUR LE DEVELOPPEMENT : UNE AMBITION POUR LE XXI EME SIECLE.

La mondialisation a permis à nombre de pays, pleinement engagés dans les échanges internationaux, de sortir du sous-développement. Elle accentue toutefois l'exclusion des pays qui ne sont pas en mesure de suivre le rythme toujours plus rapide des adaptations rendues nécessaires par la concurrence.

L'ambition du G7 doit être de définir un nouveau partenariat avec les pays pauvres et avec les grandes institutions multilatérales en charge du développement pour faire en sorte que la mondialisation bénéficie à tous.

Cet engagement ne relève pas seulement d'un élémentaire devoir de solidarité internationale. Il correspond à notre intérêt bien compris et constitue le meilleur moyen d'éviter les crises et les conflits qui trouvent leurs sources dans la pauvreté, l'émigration massive, la dégradation de l'environnement.

Assumer nos responsabilités signifie :

- accroître l'efficacité de notre aide publique au développement, notamment en la concentrant sur les pays les plus pauvres;

- maintenir un soutien financier puissant et adapté, malgré les difficultés budgétaires que nous connaissons tous, à travers les instruments nationaux

et multilatéraux (reconstitution de l'AID de la Banque Mondiale; pérennisation de la Facilité d'Ajustement Structurel Renforcé du Fonds Monétaire International; traitement de la dette).

- donner une impulsion à la réforme des grandes institutions internationales chargées du développement dans le sens d'une efficacité et d'une coordination accrues.

C'est pourquoi il est souhaitable, à l'occasion du Sommet de Lyon, que notre groupe puisse dialoguer avec les plus hauts responsables de l'Organisation des Nations Unies, du Fonds Monétaire International, de la Banque Mondiale et de l'Organisation Mondiale du Commerce.

4. REUSSIR L'INSERTION DES PAYS EN TRANSITION.

La fin de la guerre froide a sensiblement accéléré le phénomène de mondialisation en offrant la possibilité aux anciennes économies socialistes de s'insérer dans l'économie mondiale.

Les pays de l'ancien bloc soviétique, à commencer par la Russie, se sont engagés sur la voie de profondes réformes politiques et économiques. La transition vers l'économie de marché a déjà connu d'importants succès. Elle doit être poursuivie avec détermination.

Il est de la responsabilité et de l'intérêt du G7 de contribuer au succès de ce processus, gage de stabilité, de sécurité et de prospérité accrues. C'est pourquoi il convient de maintenir une aide adaptée à la Russie et aux autres pays en transition, pour accompagner leurs transformations. Ces pays doivent notamment pouvoir participer pleinement au système des Droits de Tirage Spéciaux du Fonds Monétaire International.

5. TRAITER ENSEMBLE LES GRANDES QUESTIONS GLOBALES

En favorisant les communications internationales, la mondialisation a élargi aux dimensions de la planète les phénomènes négatifs que sont le terrorisme, la criminalité organisée, le trafic illicite de stupéfiants, le SIDA et d'autres grandes pandémies. Aucun pays n'est aujourd'hui à l'abri de leurs effets dévastateurs.

Le G7 doit donc poursuivre les actions qu'il a engagées dans ces différents domaines. Du fait de ses conséquences désastreuses sur nos sociétés, le trafic de drogue et le crime organisé méritent de notre part une réponse collective déterminée et s'inscrivant dans la durée. C'est pourquoi il est souhaitable que nous puissions, à Lyon, décider la mise en place de mécanismes de coopération nouveaux pour faire face à ce fléau.

Enfin, nous devrions poursuivre avec détermination, en liaison avec les organisations concernées, la mise en place de règles strictes, respectées par tous, préservant notre environnement et assurant ainsi une concurrence équitable au niveau mondial./.

Unofficial Translation

Mr President,

In three months' time, we are due to meet together in Lyon for the annual Summit of the Major Industrialized Countries.

With that in mind, I would like to convey to you some ideas which could help to guide our discussions and serve as our common objectives.

I believe our thinking and the resulting lines of action ought to start from the powerful, and contrasting, impact of the extraordinary process of globalization which we are currently experiencing.

Together, we must work to tackle the challenges raised by globalization.

I would be happy to hear what you think of this approach.

Pleased be assured, Mr President, of my high consideration.

Yours truly,

Jacques CHIRAC

LE PRÉSIDENT DE LA RÉPUBLIQUE

Paris, le 27 mars 1996

Monsieur le Président,

Cher Bill,

Dans trois mois, nous nous retrouverons à Lyon pour le Sommet annuel des Pays les plus Industrialisés.

Dans cette perspective, je souhaite vous faire part des idées qui pourraient orienter nos travaux et constituer nos objectifs communs.

Il me semble que notre réflexion et les lignes d'action qui en découlent doivent partir d'une analyse des effets, puissants et contrastés, de l'extraordinaire processus de mondialisation que nous vivons.

Ensemble nous devons relever les défis de la mondialisation.

Je serais heureux de connaître votre sentiment sur cette approche.

Je vous prie de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'assurance de ma très haute considération.

Bien cordialement,

J. Chirac

Jacques CHIRAC

A CHALLENGE AND AN AMBITION FOR THE G7 :
« MAKING A SUCCESS OF GLOBALIZATION FOR THE BENEFIT OF ALL »

Globalization is without question the outstanding feature of the late 20th century.

The process has already been going on for some time. But its pace has quickened under the fourfold impact of the end of the cold war, the unification of the world capital market, the emergence of new economic and demographic powers, and, finally, technological progress, information technology in particular. This is a doubly global phenomenon : its geographical scope is increasingly, albeit unevenly, taking on a planetary dimension ; and it is affecting every aspect of economic and social life.

Globalization is, unquestionably, a factor contributing to growth, progress and hope. Over the past thirty years, world trade has grown to an unprecedented degree. It now concerns almost every country in the world. The pace of economic integration has accelerated, helped by the free movement of capital. We have witnessed the emergence of a worldwide market, and of worldwide competition. This process has also been driven by the generalized movement of people, ideas and information. All in all, globalization has considerably boosted the wealth and prosperity of most countries.

But globalization is not without its downside and difficulties. It is exacerbating competition, forcing States, firms and individuals to adapt continuously. In the poor countries, it is aggravating inequality ; it is accentuating the risks of marginalizing certain parts of the world. In our countries, it is imposing rapid, tough restructuring, whose effects are aggravating the problems of employment. Its impact on individuals lies at the heart of the crisis of confidence in our societies, where nobody can now feel safe from restructuring, unemployment or job insecurity.

It also goes hand in hand with greater instability in the financial markets. On several occasions in recent years we have experienced rate parities diverging significantly from the levels justified by economic fundamentals. On several occasions, also, sudden large-scale capital movements have been the cause of major shocks to the economies of certain countries, with negative effects on trade, investment and growth.

We must not allow these phenomena to come together in such a way as to hinder the adaptation of our economies and the opening up of our markets, and thus pose a threat to our prosperity. A more stable environment would help to restore confidence and so stimulate growth.

Since its creation 20 years ago, the G7 has made a decisive contribution to the progress of globalization. It must therefore assume special responsibility in ensuring that this process fully responds to the hopes it has aroused.

The task now before the G7 is to give globalization a purpose.

Globalization will be acceptable only if it is seen to serve people ; if it is perceived to be beneficial by the greatest number ; if we can succeed in diminishing the risk of excluding individuals or sections of society, and of marginalizing certain nations or regions of the world.

It is therefore our responsibility to guide the process of globalization as judiciously, by instituting safeguards, as we have begun to do. Further progress must be achieved through the adoption of fair rules, their extension to new players, and the capacity to manage crises of varying scale and nature.

We will thus be able to overcome the negative effects of globalization without undermining its positive effects, namely ; price stability ; growth in trade and capital flows ; the spread of technological innovation ; rapid growth of skilled jobs ; the opening of major demographic powers to world trade ; and helping today's insolvent countries to accede to the consumer society.

Our responsibilities are both collective and shared : they must concern the G7 as such, and also the major international organizations to which almost all of the world's nations belong, namely the United Nations Organization, the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the World Trade Organization.

1. STRENGTHENING ECONOMIC AND MONETARY COORDINATION BETWEEN THE G7.

In keeping with its original mission, the G7 has developed its role of economic and financial coordination. It has come to be an irreplaceable forum for exchanges of views, and the source of much of the impetus given to the major multilateral institutions.

Thanks to it, the crises experienced by the world economy over the past twenty years have been managed more successfully than between the world wars. And yet, in spite of the far-reaching transformations which have occurred since its inception, it has not succeeded in « reinventing » an international monetary system adapted to the new circumstances.

In the context of a globalized economy and growing integration between the world's major regions, it is the responsibility of the G7 to create the conditions for a more harmonious development of trade, by promoting stable, predictable currency parities. For we know that sizeable and prolonged exchange-rate distortions are detrimental to the development of world trade, and hence to growth.

The past and recent successes of the G7, such as the Plaza and the Louvre accords, and the orderly reversal of parities in 1995, are evidence that concerted action is possible in this sphere. The question before us today concerns the future of this cooperation, which expanding capital flows are making both more necessary, and more difficult. Needless to say, this is not a case of questioning the irreplaceable role of the markets. But there is room for improvements in the functioning of the international monetary system by :

- ♦ strengthening our economic policy coordination and exchange-rate cooperation ;

- ♦ enhancing supervision of the global financial markets through the development of prudential safeguards ;

- ♦ finally, consolidating international financial stability by reinforcing the means at the disposal of the IMF (quota increases, and increasing the amounts available under the General Agreements to Borrow).

2. DEVELOPING A CONCERTED APPROACH TO EMPLOYMENT PROBLEMS.

Globalization of the economy has unquestionably helped to raise the living standards of our people. Yet how can we fail to recognize the crisis of confidence in our societies, largely fueled by the deteriorating jobs situation, in the form of high levels of unemployment, increasing insecurity, and social exclusion ? Some people hold globalization directly responsible for the jobs crisis ; it is rarely perceived as a message of hope, despite its benefits.

It is therefore the responsibility of the G7 to devise more effective policies to stimulate growth and employment. We must find ways to generate jobs-rich growth from which everyone, and especially low-skilled workers, can benefit. We must identify guarantees needed to cope with phenomena of rising job insecurity and social exclusion. Those are the aims of the Ministerial Conference on Employment meeting in Lille on April 1 and 2, whose conclusions will make a useful and important contribution to our proceedings in Lyon.

3. ESTABLISHING A NEW PARTNERSHIP FOR DEVELOPMENT : AN AMBITION FOR THE 21st CENTURY.

Globalization has enabled a number of countries deeply engaged in international trade to emerge from under-development. However, it has accentuated the sidelining of those countries that have not succeeded in keeping up with the ever faster pace of adjustment imposed on them by competition.

The ambition of the G7 must therefore be to define a new partnership with the less developed countries and the major multilateral institutions in charge of development to ensure that globalization benefits everyone.

This commitment is not merely a basic duty of international solidarity. It is in our own enlightened self-interest, and represents the best means to avoid the crises and conflicts that arise from poverty, mass emigration and damage to the environment.

Shouldering our responsibilities entails :

♦ enhancing the effectiveness of our official development aid, notably by concentrating it on the poorest countries ;

- ♦ continuing to provide substantial, appropriate financial assistance, notwithstanding the fiscal problems we all face, through the national and multilateral instruments (replenishment of the World Bank IDA ; placing the International Monetary Fund's Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility on a permanent basis ; debt treatment) ;

- ♦ giving fresh impetus to reform of the major international institutions in charge of development, to improve their effectiveness and coordination.

That is why it is desirable, on the occasion of the Lyon Summit, for our group to discuss these issues with the Heads of the United Nations Organization, the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank and the World Trade Organization.

4. SUCCESSFULLY INTEGRATING THE COUNTRIES IN TRANSITION.

The end of the cold war has substantially speeded the process of globalization by creating an opportunity for the former socialist economies to integrate into the world economy.

The former Soviet-bloc countries, starting with Russia, have embarked on a course of far-reaching political and economic reforms. The transition to a market economy has already scored some important successes. It must be continued with determination.

It is both the responsibility and in the interest of the G7 to contribute to the success of the process, for it is a guarantee of greater stability, security and prosperity. That is why it is important to keep on providing appropriate aid to Russia and the other countries in transition, in order to accompany them in their transformation process. These countries should in particular be allowed to participate fully in the International Monetary Fund's Special Drawing Rights system.

5. WORKING TOGETHER TO TACKLE THE MAJOR GLOBAL ISSUES.

By facilitating international communications, globalization has conferred a planetary dimension on negative phenomena such as terrorism, organized crime, illicit drug trafficking, AIDS and other major pandemics. Nowadays, no country can escape their devastating impact.

The G7 must therefore pursue its existing actions in these different areas. Because of their disastrous consequences on our societies, drug trafficking and organized crime call for a determined and long-term collective response on our part. Therefore, it would be desirable for us to decide in Lyon to establish new mechanisms of cooperation in order to fight this scourge.

Finally, we must show determination in pursuing efforts, in consultation with the relevant organizations, to establish strict rules, respected by all, to safeguard our environment and thus ensure fair competition throughout the world./.

UN DEFI ET UNE AMBITION POUR LE G7 :

« REUSSIR LA MONDIALISATION

AU BENEFICE DE TOUS »

La mondialisation est incontestablement le fait majeur de la fin de ce siècle.

C'est un processus déjà ancien mais qui s'est accéléré sous le quadruple effet de la fin de la guerre froide, de l'unification du marché mondial des capitaux, de l'émergence de nouvelles puissances économiques et démographiques, enfin du progrès des technologies, notamment celles de l'information. Ce phénomène est doublement global : son champ géographique s'étend de façon croissante bien qu'inégale aux dimensions de la planète; il affecte tous les aspects de la vie économique et sociale.

La mondialisation est incontestablement un facteur de croissance, de progrès et d'espoir. Au cours des trente dernières années, le développement des échanges dans le monde a été sans précédent. Il concerne aujourd'hui la quasi totalité des pays du globe. L'intégration de nos économies s'est accélérée, favorisée par la libre circulation des capitaux. Nous avons assisté à l'émergence d'un marché et d'une concurrence à l'échelle mondiale. Ce processus s'est également appuyé sur la circulation généralisée des hommes, des idées et de l'information. Au total, la mondialisation a permis un accroissement considérable de la richesse et de la prospérité dans la plupart des pays.

Mais la mondialisation ne se fait pas sans heurt ni sans difficulté. Elle exacerbe la concurrence et oblige à une adaptation continue des Etats, des entreprises et des individus. Dans les pays pauvres, elle aggrave les inégalités; elle accentue les risques de marginalisation de certaines régions du monde. Dans nos pays, elle oblige à des restructurations rapides et donc douloureuses, dont les effets viennent aggraver les problèmes de l'emploi. Ses conséquences sur les individus sont au coeur de la crise de confiance de nos sociétés où plus personne ne se sent à l'abri des restructurations, du chômage ou de la précarité.

Elle s'accompagne également d'une instabilité croissante des marchés financiers. A plusieurs reprises, au cours des années récentes, nous avons constaté que les parités de change pouvaient s'écarter sensiblement des niveaux justifiés par les données économiques fondamentales. A plusieurs reprises également, des modifications brutales et de grande ampleur dans les mouvements de capitaux ont été à l'origine de chocs importants pour les différentes économies du monde avec des effets négatifs sur les échanges, l'investissement et la croissance.

Nous devons éviter que ces phénomènes, en se conjuguant, freinent l'adaptation de nos économies et l'ouverture de nos marchés, menaçant ainsi notre prospérité. Un environnement plus stable permettrait de rétablir la confiance et favoriserait ainsi la croissance.

Le G7 qui, depuis sa création il y a vingt ans, a contribué de manière décisive aux progrès de la mondialisation, doit exercer une responsabilité particulière pour que ce processus réponde pleinement aux espoirs qu'il suscite.

Il revient au G7 de donner à la mondialisation une finalité.

La mondialisation ne sera acceptée que si elle est mise au service de l'homme, si elle est perçue comme bénéfique par le plus grand nombre, si nous parvenons à réduire les risques d'exclusion d'individus ou de groupes sociaux dans nos pays et de marginalisation de certaines régions ou de certains Etats.

Notre responsabilité est donc de conduire au mieux le processus de mondialisation en établissant des garde-fous, comme nous avons commencé à le faire. L'adoption de règles du jeu équitables, leur extension progressive à de nouveaux acteurs, la capacité de gérer des crises d'ampleur et de nature diverses doivent être les éléments déterminants de nouveaux progrès.

Nous pourrons ainsi surmonter les effets négatifs de la mondialisation, sans en réduire les aspects positifs : stabilité des prix ; développement des échanges et des flux de capitaux ; diffusion de l'innovation technologique ; multiplication des emplois qualifiés ; ouverture au commerce international de grandes puissances démographiques et accès à la consommation de pays aujourd'hui non solvables.

Nos responsabilités sont à la fois collectives et partagées : elles doivent concerner le G7 en tant que tel et les grandes organisations internationales qui regroupent la quasi totalité des pays du monde : l'Organisation des Nations-Unies, le Fonds Monétaire International, la Banque Mondiale, l'Organisation Mondiale du Commerce.

1. RENFORCER LA COORDINATION ECONOMIQUE ET MONETAIRE DU G7

Conformément à sa vocation première, le G7 a développé son rôle de coordination économique et financière. Il s'est affirmé comme un lieu irremplaçable d'échanges de vues, d'où provient une grande partie des impulsions données aux grandes instances multilatérales.

C'est grâce à lui que, depuis vingt ans, les crises traversées par l'économie mondiale ont pu être mieux gérées qu'entre les deux guerres mondiales. Cependant, malgré les mutations majeures intervenues depuis sa création, il n'a pas su "réinventer" un système monétaire international adapté aux nouvelles données.

Dans le contexte d'une économie mondialisée et d'une intégration croissante au sein et entre les grandes régions du monde, sa responsabilité est d'assurer un développement plus harmonieux des échanges en favorisant la stabilité et la prévisibilité des parités de change. Nous savons en effet que des distorsions importantes et prolongées des taux de change sont préjudiciables au développement des échanges mondiaux et donc à la croissance.

Les succès passés et plus récents du G7 (accords du Plaza puis du Louvre, retournement ordonné des parités en 1995) témoignent de la possibilité d'une action concertée dans ce domaine. La question est aujourd'hui posée de l'avenir de cette coopération que le développement des mouvements de capitaux rend à la fois plus nécessaire et plus difficile. Naturellement, il ne s'agit pas de revenir sur le rôle irremplaçable des marchés. Mais il est possible de progresser vers un meilleur fonctionnement du système monétaire international :

- en renforçant la coordination de nos politiques économiques et notre coopération en matière de changes ;

- en améliorant la supervision des marchés de capitaux mondiaux grâce au développement des garde-fous prudentiels ;

- enfin, en consolidant la stabilité financière internationale grâce au renforcement des moyens d'action du F.M.I. (augmentation des quotes-parts, accroissement des montants disponibles au titre des Accords Généraux d'Emprunt).

2. DEVELOPPER UNE APPROCHE CONCERTEE DES PROBLEMES DE L'EMPLOI

Il est incontestable que la mondialisation de l'économie a contribué globalement à l'amélioration du niveau de vie de nos populations. Comment ne pas reconnaître toutefois la crise de confiance de nos sociétés, largement alimentée par la détérioration de la situation de l'emploi, sous la forme d'un chômage important, d'une précarité accrue, d'un phénomène d'exclusion? La mondialisation est parfois rendue directement responsable de la crise de l'emploi; elle est rarement perçue comme porteuse d'espoir malgré ses effets bénéfiques.

La responsabilité du G7 est donc de rendre plus efficaces les politiques visant à soutenir la croissance et l'emploi. Il nous faut trouver les voies d'une croissance riche en création d'emplois et qui bénéficie à tous, notamment aux travailleurs non qualifiés. Il nous faut identifier les garanties nécessaires pour faire face aux phénomènes de précarisation et d'exclusion. Tels sont les objectifs de la Conférence ministérielle sur l'Emploi qui se réunit à Lille les 1er et 2 avril et dont les conclusions seront utiles et importantes pour nos travaux de Lyon.

3. METTRE EN OEUVRE UN NOUVEAU PARTENARIAT POUR LE DEVELOPPEMENT : UNE AMBITION POUR LE XXI EME SIECLE.

La mondialisation a permis à nombre de pays, pleinement engagés dans les échanges internationaux, de sortir du sous-développement. Elle accentue toutefois l'exclusion des pays qui ne sont pas en mesure de suivre le rythme toujours plus rapide des adaptations rendues nécessaires par la concurrence.

L'ambition du G7 doit être de définir un nouveau partenariat avec les pays pauvres et avec les grandes institutions multilatérales en charge du développement pour faire en sorte que la mondialisation bénéficie à tous.

Cet engagement ne relève pas seulement d'un élémentaire devoir de solidarité internationale. Il correspond à notre intérêt bien compris et constitue le meilleur moyen d'éviter les crises et les conflits qui trouvent leurs sources dans la pauvreté, l'émigration massive, la dégradation de l'environnement.

Assumer nos responsabilités signifie :

- accroître l'efficacité de notre aide publique au développement, notamment en la concentrant sur les pays les plus pauvres;

- maintenir un soutien financier puissant et adapté, malgré les difficultés budgétaires que nous connaissons tous, à travers les instruments nationaux

et multilatéraux (reconstitution de l'AID de la Banque Mondiale; pérennisation de la Facilité d'Ajustement Structurel Renforcé du Fonds Monétaire International; traitement de la dette).

- donner une impulsion à la réforme des grandes institutions internationales chargées du développement dans le sens d'une efficacité et d'une coordination accrues.

C'est pourquoi il est souhaitable, à l'occasion du Sommet de Lyon, que notre groupe puisse dialoguer avec les plus hauts responsables de l'Organisation des Nations Unies, du Fonds Monétaire International, de la Banque Mondiale et de l'Organisation Mondiale du Commerce.

4. REUSSIR L'INSERTION DES PAYS EN TRANSITION.

La fin de la guerre froide a sensiblement accéléré le phénomène de mondialisation en offrant la possibilité aux anciennes économies socialistes de s'insérer dans l'économie mondiale.

Les pays de l'ancien bloc soviétique, à commencer par la Russie, se sont engagés sur la voie de profondes réformes politiques et économiques. La transition vers l'économie de marché a déjà connu d'importants succès. Elle doit être poursuivie avec détermination.

Il est de la responsabilité et de l'intérêt du G7 de contribuer au succès de ce processus, gage de stabilité, de sécurité et de prospérité accrues. C'est pourquoi il convient de maintenir une aide adaptée à la Russie et aux autres pays en transition, pour accompagner leurs transformations. Ces pays doivent notamment pouvoir participer pleinement au système des Droits de Tirage Spéciaux du Fonds Monétaire International.

5. TRAITER ENSEMBLE LES GRANDES QUESTIONS GLOBALES

En favorisant les communications internationales, la mondialisation a élargi aux dimensions de la planète les phénomènes négatifs que sont le terrorisme, la criminalité organisée, le trafic illicite de stupéfiants, le SIDA et d'autres grandes pandémies. Aucun pays n'est aujourd'hui à l'abri de leurs effets dévastateurs.

Le G7 doit donc poursuivre les actions qu'il a engagées dans ces différents domaines. Du fait de ses conséquences désastreuses sur nos sociétés, le trafic de drogue et le crime organisé méritent de notre part une réponse collective déterminée et s'inscrivant dans la durée. C'est pourquoi il est souhaitable que nous puissions, à Lyon, décider la mise en place de mécanismes de coopération nouveaux pour faire face à ce fléau.

Enfin, nous devrions poursuivre avec détermination, en liaison avec les organisations concernées, la mise en place de règles strictes, respectées par tous, préservant notre environnement et assurant ainsi une concurrence équitable au niveau mondial./.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

June 3, 1996

Dear Jacques:

Please accept my heartfelt thanks for France's efforts under difficult and dangerous conditions to assist in the evacuation of U.S. officials and private citizens from Bangui during the recent crisis in the Central African Republic. Many of the U.S. citizens evacuated from Bangui have warmly praised the professionalism and skill of French troops in conducting this operation.

Additionally, French armed forces were instrumental in coordinating the deployment of our Marine detachment to secure the American Embassy. They also rescued ten Peace Corps volunteers under attack from an armed mob. Thanks in no small part to French assistance, U.S. citizens suffered no casualties during this highly volatile, dangerous period.

We continue to support your government's efforts to assist in negotiating a lasting settlement to the dispute in the Central African Republic, and we congratulate France on helping the Patasse government and the rebels end the crisis.

On behalf of the American people, I would like to express our true appreciation for your assistance.

Sincerely,

FROM: ANTHONY LAKE

SUBJECT: Thank You Letter to French President Chirac for Assistance During Recent Fighting in the Central African Republic

Purpose

To thank French President Jacques Chirac for the assistance of his government in evacuating U.S. officials and private citizens during recent fighting in the Central African Republic.

Background

During recent fighting between mutinous troops and government soldiers in the Central African Republic capital of Bangui, French military forces were instrumental in helping our Marine detachment secure the American Embassy. At some risk to themselves, French forces also rescued ten Peace Corps volunteers under attack from an armed and stone-throwing mob.

The French government is assisting in mediating a settlement to the dispute between the two sides, the second such incident in as many months.

RECOMMENDATION

That you sign the letter to French President Chirac at Tab A.

UNOFFICIAL TRANSLATION

Mr. President, Dear Bill,

I want to extend my sincere thanks for the congratulatory message that you sent me on the occasion of the Bastille day ; I was very touched by it.

As you emphasized, our two countries, inspired by common ideals, have often worked side by side for peace in the world. There are still numerous occasions today for us to jointly demonstrate this spirit of cooperation.

I want to take this opportunity to say that I remain convinced of the permanence and solidity of the traditional friendship between our two countries, and of its essential contribution to the security and stability of our world. I personally attach great value to the strengthening of this friendship.

Please accept, Mr. President, this expression of my highest regard.

Cordially,

Jacques Chirac

Monsieur le Président, Cher Bill,

Je vous remercie sincèrement du message de félicitations que vous m'avez adressé pour la fête nationale française, auquel j'ai été très sensible.

Comme vous le soulignez, nos deux pays, inspirés par des idéaux communs, ont souvent oeuvré côte à côte pour la paix dans le monde. Les occasions sont encore aujourd'hui nombreuses de manifester conjointement cet esprit de coopération.

Je saisis cette occasion pour vous dire ma conviction de la permanence et la solidité de l'amitié traditionnelle entre nos deux pays, et de sa contribution essentielle à la sécurité et à la stabilité de notre monde. J'attache personnellement un grand prix au renforcement de cette amitié.

Je vous prie de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'assurance de ma très haute considération.

Bien cordialement,

Jacques Chirac

UNOFFICIAL TRANSLATION

Mr. President, Dear Bill,

I have just heard that a military transport plane in support mission for the White House had crashed in the Wyoming and that the nine passengers aboard the plane are reported killed in this accident.

Under these painful circumstances, I wish to extend my most sincere condolences and should be obliged if you would transmit my deepest sympathy to the families of the victims.

Please accept, Mr. President, Dear Bill, this expression of my highest consideration and my very cordial greetings.

Jacques Chirac

Monsieur le Président, Cher Bill,

Je viens d'apprendre qu'un avion de transport militaire en mission pour la Maison Blanche s'était écrasé dans le Wyoming et que les neuf passagers de cet appareil avaient trouvé la mort dans cet accident.

En cette pénible circonstance, je vous prie d'accepter mes plus sincères condoléances et vous serais obligé de faire part de ma profonde sympathie aux familles des victimes.

Veillez agréer, Monsieur le Président, Cher Bill, l'assurance de ma haute considération et de ma cordiale amitié.

Jacques Chirac

Address by M. Jacques CHIRAC
President of the French Republic

to the Palestinian Legislative Council

Ramallah, Wednesday October 23, 1996

Mr Chairman of the Palestinian Liberation Organisation and of the Palestinian Authority, Dear Yasser Arafat,
Mr Chairman of the Palestinian Legislative Council,
Ministers,
Members of the Legislative Council,

I feel it a great honour to be the first foreign Head of State to be invited to speak before the first Assembly to be freely elected by the people of Palestine, on its own Land.

Yesterday in Jerusalem, to-day in Ramallah, I measured how much every man and every woman of this land of Palestine is happy to welcome, on his, on her own soil, the representative of a country that is a friend. I could see the emotion in the eyes, the gestures. And this morning I share that emotion. The emotion of being with you in the building of long yearned for national institutions, of which this Legislative Council is one of the pillars.
The emotion of accompanying a dignified and brave people along the road to peace. And, last but not least, the emotion of meeting in his own Land the man who embodies that choice, Chairman Yasser Arafat.

Mr President,
Ladies and Gentlemen,

Franco-Palestinian relations go back a long time. At the darkest hours, France was by your side, supporting your will to achieve self-determination. President Arafat, you reminded me recently that on two occasions France saved your life. Since then, you have been a regular visitor to Paris. And you chose to break your journey in Paris on your return from the Washington Summit. A few weeks earlier, in Paris, it was you, Mr President of the Legislative Council, who launched the co-operation between our Parliaments.

In speaking before your Institution to-day, my intention is to register with due solemnity the importance France attaches to your Assembly, the expression of Palestinian democracy. You are one of the tangible achievements of the peace process. I wish to pay tribute to the exemplary work you are doing and to your role in building a democratic Palestinian State. And I know how attached you are to the freedom and to the human rights you were denied for so long.

Ladies and Gentlemen, as elected representatives of the people you now hold an indivisible part of the national Palestinian sovereignty. Your responsibility to your people and to history is therefore capital. Like us in earlier times, you are engaged in the apprenticeship of democracy. Your task is all the more important in that everything has to be created.

Like all democratic peoples, you are intent on pursuing your debates with dignity. Like them you strive to draw up the best possible legislation. Like them, you try to define the political options and to express them clearly. Those are the tasks all nations assign to its representatives. May you find the rules that will ensure the balance between the executive and the legislative power. Such are, Mr Chairman of the Palestinian Authority, Mr Chairman of the Legislative Council, your moral obligations towards the Palestinian people. I know that that is the road you are following.

This stands much to your credit. The respect for democratic principles is one of the assets that gives you wide international support and strengthens the confidence in you on the part of your partners.

Europe, which did a lot to help the holding of the general elections in January 1996, will continue to support you in the establishment of a State governed by the rule of law. There are still many difficulties on the way, but we are conscious of what has already been achieved, and we know how tenacious the Palestinians can be.

Your past has been marked by exile and sorrow. And sadly, the last few weeks have also seen tragedy and grief. Once again women, men and children have died. Palestinians, but also Israelis. For the sake of those who have died, for your own sake, for the sake of all of us who support you, do not give in when things are difficult! Resist the temptation of withdrawal and hatred! Keep your hope alive! Think of all the obstacles that have been overcome since the time - which was only yesterday - when many denied the very existence of the Palestinian people! Like others, your people has a history and a culture with roots in its own Land, a profound unity and a natural aspiration to choose freely its destiny, to have its own State.

Victims of a history that was not their own, the Palestinians became a people without a Land. You have known trials and exile, and yet you have held fast. Remain firm on the principles! Go on holding the olive branch! As you were already saying fifteen years ago, Dear President Arafat, and I quote you: "Victory is not won by arms, but by faith, determination, abnegation, and a just cause". The Palestine Liberation Organisation, in the difficult times it went through, gained legitimacy, and then international recognition. In accepting Israel's right to exist, the Palestinian people agreed to a sharing of the Land. And then, from Madrid to Oslo and Taba, Israel accepted the progressive exercise of your sovereignty.

I said it yesterday to your Israeli neighbours and partners, and I say it again to-day: the peace process is still fragile. It is true that decisive steps have been taken towards the "peace of the brave" that President Arafat called for, referring to General de Gaulle. But we are only at mid-stream. Time is not on the side of peace, therefore not on the side of the two peoples, the Palestinian and the Israeli, who alike both want peace. Each new confrontation shows the mortal danger that lies in not moving forward. I have come here with a feeling of urgency.

I am conscious of the frustrations and the humiliations you may feel. I know the daily suffering you endure. But it is vital to remain cool and calm. Despite disappointments, to keep a level head. Together we must fight the temptation of violence, that can always reappear. We must beat off all extremisms, throw back the forces of hatred. In rejecting violence as a way of expressing your claims you will be faithful to the action pursued indefatigably by President Arafat. You will also be faithful to those promoters of peace, President Sadate and then Itzhak Rabin, who died for having shown vision and conviction in wanting reconciliation and peace.

There are those who think that the past weighs too heavily. But it can also be the source of mutual knowledge, that must change into understanding and co-operation. Such co-operation will be made both necessary and difficult by the relative scarcity of natural resources, particularly Land and water. On both sides a lot of political courage will be needed. Peace has a price, but peace is priceless.

To-day, in order to move forward, first the agreements that have been signed must be respected, both in letter and in spirit.

The period of autonomy must enable the two parties to measure what has been accomplished by both sides, to learn to live side by side, and to show that peace and neighbourly relations are not utopias.

The status is transitory: it must not be unduly prolonged. As of now, new settlements must stop, because continuing the process would seriously impair the likelihood of harmonious co-existence between Israelis and Palestinians. The changes in the status quo in Jerusalem, the pulling down of houses, the expulsions, the construction and use of restricted highways must cease.

The unity of the Palestinian Territories must also be preserved. In compliance with what was agreed, there must be freedom of movement within the West Bank and between the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. And finally the Palestinians must be able to exercise their right to economic development, without which peace would be illusory. This implies that the Territories should no longer be closed off, but also that they should be free to develop external trade. The construction of a port at Gaza, that France has decided to support, with our European partners, is an economic and a political necessity.

You know that Europe is the biggest donor of aid to the Palestinian economy. Such assistance will continue. Our purpose is a political one: Europe wants the Palestinians, through development, to reap the dividends of peace.

This determined action is part of an unwavering perspective: from Venice, in 1980, to Florence this year, the European Union has constantly come out firmly in favour of the right of the Palestinian people to self-determination. We will continue to mobilise the Union to ensure that its political role be commensurate with its economic commitment, so that it becomes a co-sponsor of the peace process. Our message will remain based on the principles I set out a few months ago in Cairo: the settlement of the Palestinian question is the key, the heart of a just and comprehensive peace in the Middle East.

In order to achieve such a comprehensive peace, Israel's legitimate aspiration for security must everywhere be understood and accepted. Israel, assured of the peaceful intentions of its Arab neighbours, will become convinced that the existence of a Palestinian State, far from being a threat, will on the contrary be an element of its security. And then, as President Arafat put it, may the values of tolerance become the foundation of a new "culture of peace" that will "submerge the whole region"!

France is prepared to contribute to the definitive settlement by fostering political dialogue, by encouraging the setting up of institutions and by helping economic development. We do not forget the dispersed fragments of your nation, the majority in fact, who aspire to set eyes once more - for many for the first time - on their homeland. Due regard must be given to the rights of the refugees, which were asserted by the international community nearly fifty years ago, but never exercised. And lastly, there cannot be a peace that would exclude the "City of peace", Jerusalem. This was demonstrated by recent tragic events.

The whole world has its eyes on Jerusalem, the thrice Holy City. I can understand the passions it inspires. Its holiness, for the Muslims and the Christians, as for the Jews, cannot be dissociated from its existence as a City. That means that in order to retain its unique identity, its plurality must be preserved. The solution for Jerusalem cannot be solely religious, nor solely national. It is necessary that freedom of access for the faithful, all the faithful, be guaranteed everywhere. And any idea of sovereignty, from whatever quarter, must be fitted into the framework of the negotiated compromise planned by the Oslo agreements. This compromise solution will have to take into account the aspirations and the rights of all the parties concerned.

Mr Chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organisation and of the Palestinian Authority,
Mr Chairman of the Palestinian Legislative Council,
Ministers,
Members of the Legislative Council,

To consolidate and extend autonomy. To settle the question of refugees. To imagine the status of Jerusalem. To set up your State. These are so many goals to be attained, so many problems to be solved, but their difficulty should not frighten us. Let us rather measure what has been achieved. The fact is that the most difficult part has already been done: mutual recognition and agreement on the stages to be completed in order to reach peace.

You have been able to achieve such results thanks to the support of the international community, the courage and vision of true statesmen, but also thanks to the unity you have managed to demonstrate, despite your dispersal. More than ever, preserve that unity!

In this long quest, France will be by your side so that, in rediscovered harmony, all the peoples on this historic Land shall live in peace.

Thank you.

Speech given by M. Jacques CHIRAC
President of the French Republic

at the Technion Technological University Haifa, Monday October 21 1996

Mr President,
Ministers,
Members of the Faculty
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Dear Friends,

Can any people in the world have a greater call on human solidarity than the people of Israel? During the funeral of Itzhak Rabin, when Israel and the whole of mankind stood together in the same communion of silence and emotion, I felt the strength of the bond between us. I felt how much our two countries are called upon to work together for peace and progress.

Yes, France has always felt close to Israel. Close in terms of culture and thought. Close also in terms of the heart. There have been times when we have disagreed. But France and Israel have always found themselves together on the main issue: that your nation be assured of its existence and its security. For between our two peoples there is an intense and deep relationship.

In French hearts Israel awakens a twofold resonance: tragedy, and creative genius.

The tragedy is one to which no Frenchman can feel alien. Yes, the Shoah belongs to your history, our history, the history of humanity. A few weeks ago, in Auschwitz, I took full measure of the immensity of the suffering and the horror. I know I shall encounter them again to-morrow at Yad Vashem. But through the names of the men, women and children who were murdered, in the flames that keep their memory alive, we can see permanence, hope, and life reborn.

There we also see the other aspect of Israel, the creative obstinacy, the constant victory over adversity, the will and the ability to build on ashes and tears, the capacity to transmit, come what may, the values that have been those of your people since the beginning of time. It is on all this that our admiration is based.

Lastly, I should like to pay tribute to the Jewish community in France, which in terms of numbers outside Israel ranks second, and to which my country owes so much. These French men and women are as it were the link between our two nations. Loyal to France, and the strength of their loyalty has been mightily put to proof in times of need, they have strong fraternal ties with Israel and their spiritual roots. They are not alone in this. We are all of us deeply affected and moved by your past. We all of us admire your extraordinary talent when it comes to thinking, preparing and building the future.

It is about this future that I have come to talk to you, you who are scientists, researchers, technicians, students, and who represent so well the creative genius of Israel. You who carry the hopes of peace, of co-operation, of progress, of human well-being. You who by training never cease to bring yourselves into question and explore new ground. You have made Israel one of the greatest scientific nations of the world.

The number of scientists per capita in Israel is the highest in the world: twice the figure for the United States or Japan. Israel devotes 3% of its GDP to research that is largely open to the world. Your world-famous Institutes, Weizman, Volcany, Technion, have made numerous agreements with their foreign counterparts, including of course in France.

Our scientific and technological co-operation is at the heart of what our two countries can accomplish together. I want this to increase. In the Middle East, more perhaps than anywhere else, the scarcity of resources presents a serious threat to the populations, and also to the relations among countries. Let us overcome the legal and political squabbles. Let us bend our efforts to discovering new varieties of plants, better protection against diseases and parasites. Let us unite our efforts in order to improve still further water management, the fight against pollution, salinisation, desertification.

Let us put our common expertise at the service of the region, in particular in the field of water and the environment. Let our research teams join forces. Let us ensure that our enterprises are closely associated with this effort.

Your enterprises have for a long time worked hand in hand with your universities. To-day I call on French firms to work with yours. I urge them to invest in your market and to associate more closely with economic players in Israel.

Such co-operation fits in with the prospect of an association between Israel and the European Union. The fundamental agreement signed on November 20 1995 now only awaits the signature of our Parliaments for coming into force. France is proud of having played a decisive role in the conclusion of the agreement, in close liaison with Spain, the subsequent head of the European Union. This agreement, the second to be signed with a Mediterranean country since the Barcelona conference, is a major step towards the new partnership we want to set up.

This Euro-Mediterranean partnership gives all of us an opportunity to expand our trade and reciprocal investments. An opportunity to open up new areas for cultural and scientific co-operation, and to give more depth to our political dialogue. Israel naturally will have a major role to play in this new environment. This partnership should consolidate peace, which is still under threat.

My dear Friends,

Peace is the cornerstone of French policy. Some have thought at times that by defining its Arab and Mediterranean policy France ran the risk of bringing into question its privileged relationship with Israel. For me, the opposite is true.

France has always had a strong Mediterranean vocation. We have long-standing and fruitful relations with the Middle East. Our friendship with all the countries of the region is a plus for Israel and for peace. The ties we maintain with Syria and Lebanon proved their usefulness during the serious crisis last April. Thanks to those ties and to our constant friendship with Israel, France was able to play an important role on that occasion, alongside other partners. We shall continue to place our influences and favourable dispositions at the service of peace. As a friend to all sides, France can and must play its full part in the region.

The same is true for Europe. It cannot be content with being the main provider of funds and the main economic partner for the Middle East. It must increasingly contribute to the peace process,

Our friendship with Israel is both trustful and demanding. Yes, France expects a lot of your country. We understand that Israel should give pride of place in its preoccupations to the security of its citizens. We all remember vividly the terrible bomb attacks that caused so much suffering at the beginning of the year.

We know how much every one of you may feel threatened. The French have had terrorism on their soil. They share with you the same determination to fight it. That is why I took the initiative of a G7 conference on the subject. Nothing can ever justify having recourse to terrorism.

Be assured that we will be by your side every time your people are attacked by fanaticism, hatred and blind violence. In different forms, it is in fact the same enemy that we must fight all together.

And yet I am convinced that security cannot be guaranteed by force. If one's word is not kept, if agreements reached are not adhered to, there will be no peace. And if there is no peace, there will be no security.

If a fair, just and lasting peace is not assured for all the peoples of the Middle East, let us be under no illusion, violence and terrorism will return. The tragic events of last month show evidence of this. The absence of movement exacerbates frustrations and bitterness. Sooner or later, they explode.

Let us not allow the logic of confrontation to overcome the logic of reconciliation! Let us not allow history to slip backwards! Let us not allow the forces of the past, the suspicions, the fears, submerge the achievements of peace!

Consider the distance already travelled! I have in mind the statesmen of vision who with courage and lucidity have engaged the region along the path towards peace, sometimes at the cost of their lives. Menahem Begin and Anouar El Sadate. Itzhak Rabin and Yasser Arafat. King Hussein and President Mubarak. Let us listen to their message, and follow the path they have laid down. Let us move forward for the sake of the security and the future of your children. Let us measure fully the tremendous progress that has been accomplished.

Who could have imagined, only a few years ago, that Israel would manage to establish the foundations for harmonious coexistence with the Palestinian people, to make peace with Egypt and Jordan, to start the process of establishing normal relations with several other Arab States, to get its existence accepted by those who only recently were still refusing to do so?

As for the accords to be reached in the region, everyone knows on what principles they should be based: the right of peoples to self-determination, and the exchange of territories for peace.

From a historical standpoint, the Israelis and the Palestinians have done the most difficult part: they have recognised each other.

It called for courage on the part of Israel to overcome the dramatic events of the past, to extend a hand to the Palestinians and to accept them as a people.

It called for courage on the part of the Palestinian Liberation Organisation to recognise Israel. In electing their Legislative Council the Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza showed that they massively approved, and without mental reservation, the option based on confidence in reason and in the future.

The dialogue thus started has enabled spectacular progress to be made. There have also been moments of crisis, and dramatic events. Last month dozens of Israeli and Palestinian victims paid the heaviest price for the falterings of the peace that is still to come. But the dialogue continued. The meetings between the Prime Minister of the State of Israel, Mr Benjamin Netanyahu, and the President of the Palestinian Authority, Mr Yasser Arafat, show that the dialogue has survived despite the most serious difficulties.

However commitments must become reality. Strong gestures must be made. The autonomy of the Palestinians must be fully translated into facts.

The agreements entered into must be completely implemented. The Palestinians must be able to move about, work without let or hindrance, rebuild a ravaged economy. The tripartite plan of action, adopted jointly by Israel, the Palestinians and the international community, must be revitalised so that the Palestinian Territories can enjoy prosperity. And lastly the negotiations on the definitive status of the Palestinian Territories must get under way without delay, on all the issues that were planned. The Palestinians must be able to exercise their right to self-determination.

My Dear Friends

With you I shall not try to finesse. You know what our thinking is, we the French, and the Europeans, regarding the terms of a lasting settlement.

As long as the Palestinians are not be able to take charge of their own affairs, as long as they are not entitled to the dignity enjoyed by all other peoples, as long they have to make do with a second-rate collective existence, frustrations and bitterness will persist. And we all know the bitter fruits they produce.

On the contrary, a recognised Palestinian State would provide Israel with a true partner. Only such a partner will be capable of making, and adhering to, the commitments that are necessary for the security of Israel.

Lastly a just and balanced agreement will have to deal with the most difficult questions, Jerusalem, the situation of the refugees, and the future of the settlements. We must face reality squarely. Without a negotiated solution to these problems, peace in the Middle East can but be illusory. Such is the price of security.

I am saying this as a friend: you must accept, just as the French and the Germans have done, and after untold tragedy, the legacy of history. Palestinians and Israelis must live, and build, together. They can do it, and I am convinced that it will happen sooner than the present crisis would lead one to think. And despite the extremists. For no one can run counter to the march of history. And the course of history means the pursuit and the completion of the peace process between Israelis and Palestinians.

It also means, and I know that this is difficult, seeking a settlement with Syria. I have just come from Damascus. I had long talks with the Syrian leaders. I am convinced that they have opted for peace. And yet in Syria, like in Israel, there is still deep suspicion. Each Government questions the other's real intentions, and tends to see a gun behind the half-outstretched hand. We must put the era of mistrust behind us. The basic elements of the peace to come are clear to see. Israel is entitled to full recognition and to normal relations with neighbouring countries. Syria is entitled to the return of the Golan heights. The principle of Land for Peace was the basis of the Madrid Conference. It remains the basis of the negotiation.

France follows with attention the attempts to restore the interrupted dialogue. I discussed this with President Assad, and with Prime Minister Netanyahu. Solutions can be found. The sooner that will be, the better. Here again, time is not on the side of peace. Let us not allow to be undone what your efforts, and those of your opponents of yesterday, of your partners of to-morrow, have patiently built up.

Lastly, the quest for peace between Israel and the Arab countries must include Lebanon, both a stake and an unwilling participant in the Middle East conflicts. You know how much France is attached to the independence, the sovereignty and the territorial integrity of Lebanon. This engaging, creative, industrious country has paid a heavy price for the quarrels between its neighbours. It continues to be the first victim whenever the tension rises, as it still does, on its southern border.

True, the arrangement of April 26 and the setting up of the monitoring group - a French idea - have prevented the situation from getting out of hand. But we have so far only dealt with the immediate urgency. Peace and quiet will only really return when United Nations Security Council

The President of the French Republic

The Prime Minister of Japan

Tokyo, November 19, 1996

Mr. President:

You will recall that we, the Heads of State and Government of the seven major industrialized democracies and the President of the European Commission, held a constructive discussion last June in Lyon on development issues. The Summit participants pledged in their communiqué to implement a New Global Partnership for Development among developing countries, developed countries, and multilateral institutions.

This initiative has produced encouraging results under France's chairmanship of the G7, including decisions reached during the annual meetings of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank regarding the debt problem and the new actions taken by the Paris Club. In the same spirit, we also welcome actions undertaken in the OECD/DAC and by DAC members, as well as renewed efforts by international institutions engaged in development to coordinate their activities, as reflected in the "Joint Statement" on the development of Africa issued on September 19 by the heads of the United Nations, the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank, and the World Trade Organization.

On the occasion of the French President's state visit to Japan, we reconfirmed our political will to promote the New Global Partnership for Development adopted at the Lyon Summit. We should like to share with you and the other G7 leaders, and with the President of the European Commission, the following points which we announced in Tokyo on November 18, in order to advance this concept of a New Global Partnership for Development.

1. France and Japan recognize that development is essential for the stability and prosperity of the entire world, and emphasize the crucial role of development assistance in supporting the developing countries in their own efforts. Both countries reconfirm the need to maintain resources for developing countries at a sufficient level. Fulfilling their own mission of development assistance, they call upon other donor countries to continue their assistance efforts.

2. France and Japan are determined to implement the results of the Lyon Summit, which set the achievement of sustainable development as the fundamental objective of the New Global Partnership for Development, with priority attention directed towards development of the poorest countries.

3. France and Japan will promote the new development strategy adopted by OECD/DAC and will cooperate to implement it.

4. France and Japan remain determined to lend strong support to the multilateral financial institutions in their development assistance. They ask all industrialized countries not to curtail their development assistance and to respect their commitments to the replenishment of the concessional resources of the multilateral financial institutions. They will cooperate to ensure the success of all ongoing negotiations, including the ADF VII negotiation. They also encourage the “newly industrialized countries” to join, in accordance with their own capacity, the donor community and to permit the least developed countries to benefit from their successful development experiences.

We should like to strengthen cooperation on development issues among the members of the G7 and the European Commission, and we look forward to continuing our productive discussions when we meet in Denver next June.

Accept, Mr. President, the assurances of our high consideration.

The Japanese text of the above-mentioned letter has been examined and has been found to be identical in content to the English and French texts in all substantive respects. It should be noted, however, that where the English and French texts both read, in numbered point 4, "including the ADF VII negotiation," in the Japanese text, this appears as "including the ADF VI negotiation."

Tokyo, le 19 novembre 1996

Monsieur le Président,

Vous vous souvenez que nous, Chefs d'Etat et de Gouvernement des sept démocraties les plus industrialisées et Président de la Commission européenne, avons eu à Lyon, en juin dernier, une discussion constructive sur les problèmes du développement. Les participants au Sommet se sont engagés, dans leur communiqué, à mettre en œuvre un nouveau partenariat global pour le développement entre les pays en développement, les pays développés et les institutions multilatérales.

Grâce à cette initiative, des résultats encourageants ont été obtenus sous la présidence française du G7, notamment les décisions adoptées lors des réunions annuelles du Fonds Monétaire International et de la Banque Mondiale au sujet du problème de la dette et les nouvelles mesures prises par le Club de Paris. Dans le même esprit, nous accueillons avec satisfaction les actions entreprises dans le cadre du Comité d'Aide au Développement (CAD) de l'OCDE et par les membres du CAD, ainsi que les efforts renouvelés des institutions internationales engagées dans le développement pour coordonner leurs activités et qui se sont traduits par l'adoption d'une « Déclaration commune » sur le développement de l'Afrique le 19 septembre par les responsables des Nations Unies, du Fonds monétaire international, de la Banque mondiale et de l'Organisation mondiale du Commerce.

Son Excellence

Monsieur William J. CLINTON

Président des Etats-Unis d'Amérique

WASHINGTON

A l'occasion de la visite d'Etat du Président au Japon, nous avons réaffirmé notre volonté politique de promouvoir le nouveau partenariat global pour le développement adopté lors du Sommet de Lyon. Nous souhaitons vous faire part, ainsi qu'aux autres Chefs d'Etat et de Gouvernement des pays du G7 et au Président de la Commission européenne, des points que nous avons annoncés à Tokyo, le 18 novembre, afin de faire progresser ce concept de nouveau partenariat global pour le développement :

1. La France et le Japon reconnaissent que le développement est essentiel pour la stabilité et la prospérité du monde entier et soulignent le rôle crucial que joue l'aide au développement pour soutenir les pays en développement dans leurs propres efforts. Les deux pays réaffirment la nécessité de maintenir un niveau suffisant de ressources en faveur des pays en développement. Tout en s'acquittant de leur propre mission en matière d'aide au développement, ils invitent les autres pays donateurs à poursuivre leurs efforts.

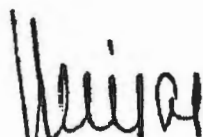

2. La France et le Japon sont résolus à mettre pleinement en œuvre les conclusions du Sommet de Lyon qui a assigné à ce nouveau partenariat global pour le développement l'objectif fondamental d'assurer un développement durable, en accordant une attention prioritaire au développement des pays les plus pauvres.

3. La France et le Japon promouvoir la nouvelle stratégie de développement adoptée par le CAD de l'OCDE et coopéreront pour la mettre en œuvre.

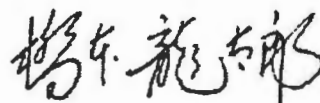

4. La France et le Japon restent déterminés à soutenir fermement les institutions financières multilatérales dans leur aide au développement. Ils demandent à tous les pays industrialisés de ne pas réduire leur aide au développement et de respecter les engagements pris pour la reconstitution des ressources concessionnelles des institutions financières multilatérales. Ils coopéreront pour assurer le succès de toutes les négociations en cours, notamment celle concernant le VIIème Fonds Asiatique de Développement. Ils encouragent également les « nouveaux pays industrialisés » à rejoindre, à la mesure de leurs moyens, le cercle des donneurs traditionnels et à faire bénéficier les PMA de leurs expériences réussies de développement.

Nous souhaitons intensifier la coopération entre les membres du G7 et la Commission européenne sur les questions de développement, et nous attendons avec intérêt la poursuite de nos discussions constructives lors de notre réunion à Denver en juin prochain.

Nous vous prions de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'assurance de notre haute considération.

本年六月、リヨンで、我々主要先進民主主義七カ国の元首及び首相並びに欧州委員会委員長が、開発問題について建設的な議論を行ったことを想起されることと思えます。サミット参加者は、リヨン・サミットのコミュニケに述べられていているように、途上国、先進国、多国間機関の間の開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップを実施することを誓約しました。

このイニシアティヴは、その後、フランスがG7議長を務める下で、国際通貨基金と世界銀行の年次会合における債務問題に関する決定やパリ・クラブによる新たな措置をはじめとして、勇気づけられる発展をもたらしました。また、同様の精神の下で、我々は、OECD開発援助委員会（DAC）及びDAC加盟諸国によりとられている行動、並びに九月十九日に国際連合、国際通貨基金、世界銀行及び世界貿易機関の長により発出されたアフリカの開発に関する「共同声明」の形で開発関係国際機関の活動を調整する新たな努力を歓迎します。

フランス大統領が国賓として日本を訪問した機会に、我々は、リヨン・サミットで合意を見た開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップを推進するとの政治的コミットメントを再確認しました。開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップの概念を前進させるため、我々が十一月十八日に東京で発表した以下の諸点を、他のG7諸国の首脳及び欧州委員会委員長にお知らせしたいと思います。

一、日仏両国は、途上国の開発が国際社会全体の安定と繁栄にとって重要な問題であることを認識するとともに、途上国の自助努力を支持する開発援助の主要な役割を強調する。両国は、途上国に向けられる資源を満足すべきレベルに維持する必要性を再確認する。両国は、開発援助に関する自らの責任を果たしつつ、他のドナー諸国にも援助努力の継続を呼びかける。

二、日仏両国は、持続可能な開発の達成を「開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップ」の基本目的としているリヨンサミットの結論を実

施することを堅く決意する。最貧国の開発が右パートナーシップの優先課題の一つである。

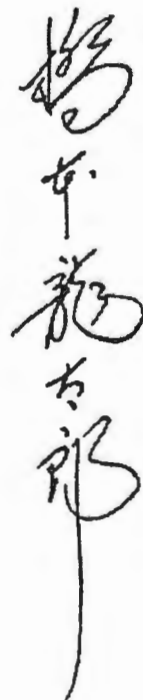

三、日仏両国は、OECDのDACにおいて採択された新開発戦略の普及に努めるとともに、同戦略を着実に実施するため協力する。

四、日仏両国は、多国間金融機関の開発援助を引き続き強く支持する。両国は、全ての先進国に対し、開発援助を縮小せず、多国間金融機関の譲許的資金の増資の約束を尊重するよう呼びかける。両国は、アジア開発基金第六次財源補充交渉を含む進行中の交渉が成功裡に終結するよう協力する。

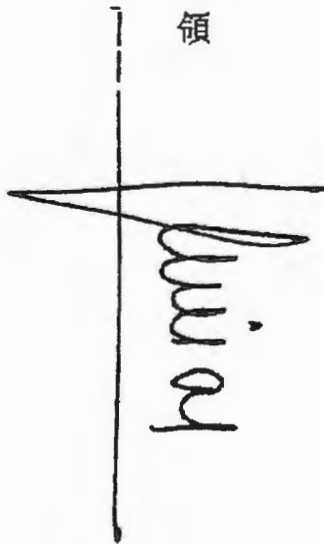

また、新興工業国に対し、それぞれの能力に応じて、ドナー・コミュニティに加わり、その成功の経験を後発開発途上国に享受させるよう懇願する。我々は、G7メンバー国及び欧州委員会の間で、開発問題に関する協力を強化していきたいと思えます。また、来年六月デンバーで再会する際に生産的な議論を継続することを楽しみにしております。

このイニシアティヴは、その後、フランスがG7議長を務める下で、国際通貨基金と世界銀行の年次会合における債務問題に関する決定やパリ・クラブによる新たな措置をはじめとして、勇気づけられる発展をもたらしました。また、同様の精神の下で、我々は、OECD開発援助委員会（DAC）及びDAC加盟諸国によりとられている行動、並びに九月十九日に国際連合、国際通貨基金、世界銀行及び世界貿易機関の長により発出されたアフリカの開発に関する「共同声明」の形で開発関係国際機関の活動を調整する新たな努力を歓迎します。

フランス大統領が国賓として日本を訪問した機会に、我々は、リヨン・サミットで合意を見た開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップを推進するとの政治的コミットメントを再確認しました。開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップの概念を前進させるため、我々が十一月十八日に東京で発表した以下の諸点を、他のG7諸国の首脳及び欧州委員会委員長にお知らせしたいと思います。

一、日仏両国は、途上国の開発が国際社会全体の安定と繁栄にとって重要な問題であることを認識するとともに、途上国の自助努力を支持する開発援助の主要な役割を強調する。両国は、途上国に向けられる資源を満足すべきレベルに維持する必要性を再確認する。両国は、開発援助に関する自らの責任を果たしつつ、他のドナー諸国にも援助努力の継続を呼びかける。

二、日仏両国は、持続可能な開発の達成を「開発のための新たなグローバル・パートナーシップ」の基本目的としているリヨンサミットの結論を実

施することを堅く決意する。最貧国の開発が右パートナーシップの優先課題の一つである。

三、日仏両国は、OECDのDACにおいて採択された新開発戦略の普及に努めるとともに、同戦略を着実に実施するため協力する。

四、日仏両国は、多国間金融機関の開発援助を引き続き強く支持する。両国は、全ての先進国に対し、開発援助を縮小せず、多国間金融機関の譲許的資金の増資の約束を尊重するよう呼びかける。両国は、アジア開発基金第六次財源補充交渉を含む進行中の交渉が成功裡に終結するよう協力する。

また、新興工業国に対し、それぞれの能力に応じて、ドナー・コミュニテイに加わり、その成功の経験を後発開発途上国に享受させるよう慫慂する。我々は、G7メンバー国及び欧州委員会の間で、開発問題に関する協力を強化していききたいと思えます。また、来年六月デンバーで再会する際に生産的な議論を継続することを楽しみにしております。

一九九六年十一月十九日

日本国内閣総理大臣

鳩山由紀夫

フランス共和国大統領

J. Chirac

ウィリアム・ジェファーソン・クリントン 閣下

You may recall that we, the Heads of State and Government of Seven major industrialized democracies and the President of the European Commission, had a constructive discussion on development issues in Lyon in June this year. The Summit participants pledged to implement a New Global Partnership for Development between developing countries, developed countries and multilateral institutions as set out in the Lyon Summit Communiqué.

This initiative has subsequently led to some encouraging developments under France's chairmanship of the G7, including decisions made during the annual meetings of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank regarding the debt problem and the new actions taken by the Paris Club. In the same spirit, we also welcome actions underway in the OECD/DAC and by DAC members as well as a renewed effort to coordinate activities of international institutions engaged in development in the form of the "Joint Statement" on the development of Africa issued on September 19 by the Heads of the United Nations, the International Monetary Fund, the World Bank and the World Trade Organization.

On the occasion of the President's state visit to Japan, we reconfirmed our political commitment to promote the New Global Partnership for Development as agreed at the Lyon Summit. We would like to share with other G7 leaders and the President of the European Commission the following points which we announced in Tokyo on November 18, in order to bring forward the concept of the New Global Partnership for Development.

1. France and Japan recognize that the development of developing countries is a significant matter for the stability and prosperity of the whole world, and emphasize the major role of development assistance in supporting the efforts of developing countries to help themselves. Both countries reconfirm the need to maintain resources for developing countries at a sufficient level. Fulfilling their own mission of development assistance, they call upon other donor countries to continue assistance efforts.

2. France and Japan are determined fully to implement the results of the Lyon Summit which set the achievement of sustainable development as the fundamental objective of the New Global Partnership for Development. One of the priorities of this partnership is the development of the poorest countries.

3. France and Japan will make efforts to disseminate the New Development Global Strategy adopted by OECD/DAC and cooperate to implement it steadily.

4. France and Japan remain committed to strongly support multilateral financial institutions in their development assistance. They call upon all developed countries not to curtail development assistance and to respect their commitments to the replenishment of the concessional resources of the multilateral financial institutions. They will cooperate for the successful conclusion of all negotiations underway, including the ADF VII negotiation. They also encourage "newly industrialized countries" to join the donor community in accordance with their own capacity and provide the experience of their success for the least developed countries.

We would like to strengthen cooperation on development issues among members of the G7 and the European Commission, and look forward to continuing our productive discussions when we meet in Denver next June.

UNOFFICIAL TRANSLATION

Mr. President, Dear Bill,

I received the message of condolence which you were kind enough to send me after the terrorist attack in the Paris RER, and thank you warmly on behalf of the families of the victims and in my own name.

I was very touched by this mark of solidarity and friendship.

In the face of such acts of barbarity, I should like to reaffirm France's determination to fight terrorism in all its forms and by every means.

I know that I can count on the commitment of your country and the international community as a whole to stamp out this scourge. We spoke about this in Lyons and I welcome the progress that has been made in this respect at the international level since then.

With best wishes,

Jacques Chirac

Dear Mr. Berger,

Please find herewith a message to President Clinton from Mr. Jacques Chirac, President of the French Republic, who asked me to forward it to him.

I would be grateful if you would be so kind as to convey this letter to the President.

With regards,

Monsieur le Président, Cher Bill,

J'ai bien reçu le message de condoléances que vous avez bien voulu m'adresser au lendemain de l'attentat terroriste qui vient de se produire dans le RER de Paris et je vous remercie vivement au nom des familles des victimes comme en mon nom personnel.

J'ai été sensible à cette marque de solidarité et d'amitié.

Devant ces actes de barbarie, je souhaite vous réaffirmer la détermination de la France à combattre, par tous les moyens, le terrorisme sous toutes ses formes.

Je sais pouvoir compter sur l'engagement de votre pays et de la communauté internationale dans son ensemble afin de venir à bout de ce fléau. Nous en avons parlé à Lyon et je me réjouis des progrès enregistrés depuis au plan international dans ce domaine.

Je vous prie de croire, Monsieur le Président, à l'expression de ma très haute considération.

Bien amicalement,

Jacques Chirac
